Substitute Cemetery Removal Ordinance Passed to Print by Board

The Board of Supervisors, at the meeting held last Monday, passed to print a substitute cemetery removal ordinance to take the place of the ordinance finally passed the previous week and which did not meet with the approval of the Mayor.

Under the provisions of the substitute ordinance the six months originally allowed lot owners as individuals to remove their dead is increased to fourteen months, and the two years and nine months allowed the cemetery associations to complete the general removal after three months' notice has been given them by the Board of Health is increased to three and one-half years. Counting in the period allowed individual lot owners to act, the three months' notice to the associations to begin the removal of bodies not already disinterred by lot owners, and the extended period allowed for this general removal, the entire period granted under the ordinance will be four years and eleven months, against a total of three and one-half years under the original ordinance.

City Presented With Pen Used in Signing Hetch Hetchy Bill.

John S. Dunnigan, clerk of the Board, presented to the Mayor and Board, on behalf of President Wilson, the pen used by the nation's chief executive in signing the Hetch Hetchy water bill. It is probable that the pen will be placed in the museum in Golden Gate Park.

The presentation of the pen was made the occasion by Mayor Rolph, Supervisors Vogelsang, Murdock and others to compliment Dunnigan for his seven months' work in Washington in the interest of the bill. On motion of Murdock the thanks of the board and the city were extended to Dunnigan, and he was authorized to prepare a historical sketch of the Hetch Hetchy enterprise to be incorporated in the next volume of the Municipal Reports.

In a brief statement Clerk Dunnigan referred to criticism which had been made in quarters adverse to the bill of the provision allowed for the irrigation districts, and quoted distinguished federal engineers as testifying that the supply of water which would be obtained would be ample for San Francisco and the neighboring cities and also for fully meeting the needs of between 200,000 and 300,000 acres of agricultural land in the San Joaquin Valley.

A resolution was presented by Supervisor Hayden requesting the Mayor, Chairman of the Public Utilities Committee and the Clerk of the Board to draw up and forward to President Wilson a letter of thanks for his action in signing the Hetch Hetchy bill; also letters to other officials and private citizens who assisted in the fight to carry the bill through Congress.

Another resolution was adopted commending the efficient work of Chief Deputy Clerk John W. Rogers while acting as Clerk during Dunnigan's absence in Washington, D. C.

Treasurer to Sell Municipal Railway Bonds.

An ordinance providing for the sale of certain Municipal Railway bonds by the City and County Treasurer was finally passed.

Believes Railroad Will Accept Ordinance.

A resolution from the Civic League of Improvement Clubs, asking the Board to hasten as much as possible the granting of a franchise to the Southern Pacific for terminal facilities in the vicinity of Third and Townsend streets, was read. Supervisor Murphy stated that he believed the ordinance passed to print would be accepted by the railway company.

To Appoint Delegates to Waterways Congress.

A resolution authorizing the Mayor to appoint five delegates and five alternates to the Internal Waterways Congress to be held in this city January 15 to 17 was adopted by unanimous vote.

Holiday Season Delays Action on Ordinances.

Owing to the fact that the Christmas holiday intervened to prevent the legal term of advertising no bills passed to print the meeting before were on the calendar to be finally passed.

ORDINANCE REGULATING ELECTRICAL CONSTRUCTION.

With the approval of the Superintendent of the Department of Electricity, the Building Committee of the Supervisors on Monday recommended for passage a new ordinance governing the sale of electrical fixtures and prescribing the manner in which installations must be made to safeguard against fire and possible loss of life.

One of the most important provisions of the new measure is that dealers in electrical supplies shall keep a record of all sales and require of persons purchasing from them notification when the fixtures or supplies so purchased are installed. This being done, the Department of Electricity will make an inspection of the work and determine if it has been done in the manner required by the regulations of the department.

The ordinance also provides that instead of a bond being required of contractors engaged in electrical work they shall pay an annual license fee to the city which will pay for inspection. The inspection will be a guarantee that the work has been properly performed and according to the standard required by the rules and regulations of the Department of Electricity.

The measure also provides that instead of specifying any one standard that the best ones shall be recognized by the department in passing upon the character of the work performed.

All dealers and contractors in electrical work or supplies must also register their names and places of business with the Department of Electricity.

MAY NOT USE THEIR OWN AUTOMOBILE.

City Attorney Long, in a communication to the Board of Health, has repeated his previously rendered opinion that it is not legal, under the charter, for city employees to use their own automobiles in connection with the performance of their official duties, and to charge the city for the same. The charter, he says, expressly forbids any municipal official or employee to have business "deals" of any character with the city.

FIRE COMMISSIONERS DISPOSE OF ROUTINE MATTERS.

The Fire Commissioners at their meeting on the 26th ult. forwarded a communication to the Civil Service Commissioners requesting them to apply the same rule as to physical condition, weight, height, etc., in the proposed examination for engineers of steam fire engines as was required of candidates in the examination for hosemen.

A communication was sent to the Board of Public Works asking that the necessary steps be taken to extend the high pressure water mains along Laguna street, from Market street to Golden Gate avenue.

A petition from the McKinley Square Improvement Association requesting that the Commission recommend to the Supervisors and the Board of Public Works the advisability of opening a street of easy grades between Rhode Island and Carolina and Twentieth and Twenty-second streets, in accordance with the plans submitted by the City Engineer, in order to afford more adequate fire protection to the residents of that district, was favorably acted upon, and referred with proper recommendation to the Board of Supervisors and Board of Public Works.

The Chief Engineer was authorized to make arrangements for one of the department fire boats to participate in the aquatic exhibition at the Exposition site on New Year's day.

It was agreed to recommend to the Supervisors that modern fireproof houses be erected for Engine Company 5 on Stockton street and Truck Company 2 and Chemical Company 5 on Broadway.

The attention of the Board of Public Works was called to certain streets that have not been put in good condition since having been torn up when laying mains of the high pressure water system.

The Chief Engineer reported the death by drowning of Richard Hutchinson, a probationary hoseman of Fireboat 2, while off duty on the 20th ult.

Charles Dougherty, a truckman of Truck Company 5, was ordered deprived of five days' pay for indulging in intoxicating liquor while on duty.

The complaint against James Reynolds, a hoseman of Engine Company 9, for having failed to report for duty at expiration of leave on the 21st ult., was dismissed upon showing that he had met with an accident while boarding a street car when on his way to quarters.

Edward Carter, a truckman of Truck Company 5, who had been under suspension for four days for having failed to report back for duty at expiration of meal hour, was fined one day's pay.

NEW STATE MOTOR VEHICLE ACT IN EFFECT.

City Attorney Long has advised the Fire Commissioners that under the provisions of the new State motor vehicle act, which becomes effective today, every person operating a motor vehicle of any kind in the Fire Department must secure either an operator's or chauffeur's license, according to the nature of his employment. He also advises that under section 2 of the act it is not necessary to register fire engines and fire patrol apparatus, police wagons, municipal or county ambulances and self-propelling vehicles, which are exempt from the provisions of the act.

ELECTION BOARD CANNOT HIRE CARPENTER.

The City Attorney has advised the Board of Election Commissioners that while the charter gives warrant for the employment of clerical assistants in the Department of Elections, it does not empower the Commissioners to hire a carpenter, even for the purpose of repairing election booths. Such work, it is pointed out, belongs properly to the Board of Public Works department.

The civic department of the California Club has asked the Board of Supervisors to install a sanitary drinking faucet in the main corridor of the temporary City Hall.

CHRISTMAS FESTIVAL AT PARK STADIUM.

The open air Christmas festival in Golden Gate Park stadium last Sunday afternoon was thoroughly enjoyed by fully 20,000 children, while thirty-five or forty thousand more persons crowded the space where the presents were being distributed.

When the children marched into the stadium from the Fulton street entrance the distribution of the sweets began. On the center of the green was an eighty-four foot Christmas tree erected in the middle of a circle of lesser evergreens.

With M. J. Hynes in the white beard and red robes of Santa Claus, and with May Irwin, the actress, acting as his consort in an ermine coat and holly berries, the distribution of the 30,000 Christmas bags to the children furnished a pleasing picture.

Some fifteen tons of candy, popcorn and gingerbread were distributed to the children.

A feature of the celebration was the planting of a perpetual Christmas tree for the children of San Francisco. The tree, a year-old fir, was planted by Mae Margaret Overdyke, a child.

May Irwin aided in the planting, and surrounding the actress was an eager group that included the members of the women's committee and the officers of the celebration.

The municipal band played while a chorus under the direction of John W. McKenzie sang "America," "The Star Spangled Banner" and "California." The McKenzie Musical Society and the Moose Glee Club swelled the chorus of the children.

Concerts by the League of the Cross band and drills by the cadets contributed to the interest.

The new Cathay band of young Chinese musicians serenaded Miss Irwin as she was leaving the park.

Supervisor J. Emmet Hayden was chairman of the day and Colonel James E. Power chairman of the committee that arranged the children's parade.

WORK TO BE RUSHED ON RAILWAY EXTENSIONS.

Proposals were received by the Board of Public Works on Wednesday for material to be used in the construction of the extensions of the Municipal Railway system. It is planned to begin work on these extensions not later than April 15 and that construction will be completed by the end of the year. Arrangements also are being made to have the delivery of the cars begin about September 1.

Protest has been made against the proposal to reduce sidewalk widths in Beacon street.

EXPLAINS DELAY IN OPERATING INCINERATOR.

City Engineer O'Shaughnessy has filed with the Board of Public Works the following communication explaining the delay in commencing the operation of the Islais Creek incinerator:

San Francisco, December 22, 1913.

To the Honorable, The Board of Public Works of the City and County of San Francisco.

Gentlemen:—

I return herewith Petition No. 22197 and the accompanying copy of a letter addressed to the Board of Public Works by the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors on the 16th instant, requesting a full report on the present status of the Garbage Incinerator, located at Kansas street, near Army street, and in particular reference to the reasons for the delay in the completion and operation of this incinerator.

The Destructor Company, the contractor to whom was awarded the contract for installing the incinerating units in this garbage incinerating plant, announced through their manager, the Power Specialty Company, that the plant was completed, ready for operation, last August, and on the 28th of last August the first garbage was burned in the incinerator.

The operations of the Power Specialty Company in burning garbage during the period following developed the fact that while the furnaces are apparently fully capable of incinerating the quantity of garbage for which they were designed, a number of mechanical problems in connection with the handling of the resulting clinker had not been solved in an entirely satisfactory manner, and on September 10th the City Engineer addressed a telegram to Mr. E. H. Foster, the Vice President of the Power Specialty Company, urgently requesting his immediate presence in San Francisco. In response to this telegram Mr. Foster promised to come to San Francisco at the earliest possible moment, but did not reach here until the latter part of November. Since that time the Power Specialty Company have, at their own cost and expense, made a number of alterations in the apparatus provided for handling clinker resulting from the operation of these garbage incinerating furnaces, and the plant is now sufficiently completed to permit of further tests. Fires were lighted in the furnaces last week and it is expected to again commence burning garbage on Tuesday, December 23rd.

Mr. Foster left San Francisco on the 19th instant to spend the Christmas holidays at his home and expects to return to San Francisco early in January. In the meantime preliminary tests will be made of the incinerating plant, so that, if no further defects in the furnaces or their equipment develop, the furnaces will be ready for the official tests upon his return.

While the preliminary testing of this garbage incinerating plant up to the present time has been very slow and exceedingly expensive, and numerous alterations in the mechanical equipment have been found necessary, all of the expense of this work has been borne by the Power Specialty Company. Up to the present time no defects have been discovered in the furnaces which lead the engineers of this office to doubt the ultimate completion and successful operation of the plant.

As has already been stated, the incinerating plant is now ready for further experiment and if no further defects are discovered the official tests will be commenced in January. These tests will require approximately 30 days, so that the plant should be ready for final delivery to and acceptance by the City some time during the month of February.

The responsibility for the delay in the completion and operation of this incinerating plant rests with the contractor who designed and installed the furnaces and the mechanical equipment, and he has, up to the present time, cheerfully made such alterations as experience in the operation of the plant has indicated to be necessary.

Respectfully,

M. M. O'SHAUGHNESSY, City Engineer.

ADVISES SUPERVISORS REGARDING HETCH HETCHY.

City Attorney Long has advised the Supervisors that an ordinance accepting the Hetch Hetchy grant on behalf of the City and County should be passed by the Board, approved by the Mayor and filed with the Secretary of the Interior. This formal acceptance, he holds, is a necessary condition to the complete vesting of title in the City and County under the terms of the grant.

The opinion concludes:

> Second—With convenient expedition copies of maps heretofore filed with the Secretary of the Interior showing proposed reservoir sites and rights of way, should be filed with the Department of the Interior, under the provisions of Section 2 of the Raker Act. As soon as surveys of the proposed conduit route over and through the Stanislaus National Forest and Government lands west of the said forest boundaries can be completed, maps showing the proposed location should be filed with the Secretary of the Interior for his approval. I have already made application for an executive withdrawal of lands west of the Stanislaus Forest pending selection of a route through such lands by the city.
>
> Third—Condemnation suits for rights of way over and through lands along the proposed conduit line now held in private ownership, should be filed so soon as the line of such right of way can be definitely surveyed.
>
> Fourth—I believe it to be very important for the city to commence some work immediately looking to the actual construction of this project. While our rights are apparently protected under the amendment to section 1414, Civil Code, passed in 1911, now that permission has been finally granted to us by Congress to go ahead, we should take every measure to protect our water rights against adverse claimants who may have made appropriations antedating the said amendment to the code. It will give the city an additional defense against such possible claimants if, within sixty days from the date the Raker Act became effective, some actual work is commenced having a direct relation to the construction of the project. "Good faith," "diligence" and "continuous work" (except when temporarily interrupted by snow or rain) are what the law requires of the ordinary appropriator. (Civil Code, section 1422.) In my opinion it would be well for the city to place itself in a position where it could show, if necessary, that it had complied with the requirements for an ordinary appropriator. The City Engineer, i. e., of course, the proper official to advise you as to what work can best be done first.
>
> Fifth—The matter of the administrative organization under which the Hetch Hetchy project is to be constructed is primarily one of policy, although various legal questions will arise in connection with any procedure which is adopted. When your Board has determined the policy to be followed in this respect, I shall be glad to co-operate with you in the solution of any legal questions which may suggest themselves. I urge upon you, however, that preliminary work be not delayed until a satisfactory solution of the last problem is reached. Sufficient measures should be taken at once to give our water titles every protection which can be afforded under the law. By such a policy, I believe much expensive litigation and delays incident thereto can be avoided.

PROCEEDINGS BEFORE POLICE COMMISSIONERS.

The Police Commissioners at a meeting held on the 29th ult. reprimanded Police Officer Charles F. Gartside for having reported late for duty.

Special Policeman Thomas Defty was found not guilty of a charge of "unofficerlike conduct" preferred against him by Owen Donnelly.

John E. Thompson, a stenographer-typewriter in the department, was dismissed, said dismissal to take effect immediately.

The appointments of the following special policemen were revoked: James M. Maguire, Municipal Clinic; William C. Sellier, Daniel Construction Co.; John H. Sawyer, Pacific Jewelry Company.

The following named were appointed special police officers: Louis W. Neustadter, 2521 Steiner street; Harry Hanson, water front; John A. McKinnon, Mills Building; Clifton E. May, American District Telegraph Company; Elmer E. Granger, Panama-Pacific Exposition grounds.

TO IMPROVE TRAFFIC CONDITIONS AT FERRY LANDING.

Mayor Rolph will call a conference to arrive at a solution of the congested conditions of traffic at the foot of Market street. An overhead loop appears to be the most feasible solution of the problem, but to the end that the best plan may be adopted the Harbor Commissioners, the United Railroads and business organizations will be invited to meet with the Supervisors and City Engineer at the Mayor's office and agree upon some plan of action which may be made effective before the opening of the Panama-Pacific Exposition.

PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION NOTES.

"A million dollar impression of nature's millionaire wonders of the Yellowstone" is Frederic Thompson's delineation of the great Yellowstone Park concession just granted the Union Pacific system by the committee on concessions and admissions of the exposition.

That the reproduction of the famous government park on a scale commensurate with the exposition requires the skill of a genius is evidenced by the preparations for this stupendous attraction.

Thompson, the originator of Luna Park on Coney Island, the New York hippodrome, "Toyland," at the exposition, and a score or more wonderful attractions, wrote the scenario and designed the new Yellowstone Park spectacle.

The Union Pacific system has secured a space 450x610 feet and the artificial production of one of nature's wonders will be worthy of that railroad. The Yellowstone Park concession is to be located at the Van Ness avenue entrance to the concession district. In conjunction with the Geyserland Spectatorium and Great Falls, Old Faithful Inn will be reproduced on an eminence three hundred feet high and overlooking the famous valley. This will not be a hotel, but an immense restaurant, private dining-rooms and quarters for a club house for the Union Pacific system.

A preliminary study for the plans of the Inside Inn, the greatest hostelry that will be maintained within the walls of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, has been made by Architect Edward T. Foulkes of San Francisco, who has designed a stately structure, ample for the accommodation of about twenty-five hundred persons. It will surmount a terrace beneath which is to be a band stand. The terrace and its approaches are the design of E. F. Champney of the exposition's department of architecture.

The curbs have been installed throughout the big district of the exposition grounds assigned to the pavilions of the foreign nations and states of the American Union. The roadways are nearly completed and are being smoothed and pressed by big steam rollers. The roadbeds are of crushed rock, a part of the general scheme of color of the exposition.

Eight out of the eleven main exhibit palaces are roofed and walled to a greater or less degree. The palace of machinery is completely roofed and walled and is now receiving the finishing touches of its stucco covering and other details. The palaces of mines and metallurgy, varied industries, manufactures, liberal arts, education, food products and agriculture are in various stages of roofing and walling, and are receiving their stucco covering.

The steel frames of the palace of fine arts are now being fabricated in the East and will begin to arrive in this city by January 15th next. The foundation and flooring of the palace are being laid at the present time. The palace of fine arts will be a fireproof class A structure, its body built of steel and concrete. It will be temporary with a wooden foundation, as it must be removed at the close of the exposition, as its site is upon the United States military reservation.

The first frame of the palace of transportation has been erected and the flooring for this building has been completed. The total cost of the palace of transportation will be $481,677, making the most costly of the eleven exhibit palaces except the fireproof palace of fine arts ($580,000) and the great palace of machinery ($659,665). Its floor area is 314,000 square feet.

The dictaphone has been installed as the official dictating machine of the exposition. A contract has just been entered into between the exposition company and the Columbia Graphaphone Company whereby the latter are to completely furnish the different divisions of the exposition with dictaphones.

It is planned to secure for permanent record speeches delivered by commissioners and distinguished visitors to the exposition. This will be done by having them dictate their speeches or messages on a cylinder, which will be kept and later made a part of the Columbia Graphaphone Company's exhibit at the exposition.

W. S. Gray, Pacific Coast manager of the Columbia Graphaphone Company, declares that the exhibit of the graphaphones and dictaphones in the palace of liberal arts will be a remarkable one. It is their plan to have an exhibit that will show the whole process of making the machines and records.

CITY UNABLE TO GIVE WORK TO UNEMPLOYED.

The Supervisors have found it necessary to discontinue the employment of the unemployed owing to a scarcity of funds and the fact that the wage paid, $1.50 for four hours work, had resulted in an influx of strangers from all sections of the State, who were attracted here by the high wage.

Steam heat connections were made on Tuesday in the upper floor of the Marye building at the corner of Market street and Marshall Square to furnish warmth to the unemployed who find shelter there at night time.

ASKS FOR REMOVAL OF STREET INSPECTOR.

The Building Trades Council has urged the Board of Public Works to remove Street Work Inspector Joseph Murphy, charged with having allowed the G. W. McGinn Company to use inferior material in paving San Bruno avenue, Twenty-fifth and Army streets; also to compel the company to do the work over again. As the result of tests of the material made by the department chemist, the work did not show it to be as bad as the reports made upon it by the complainant's chemist. President Judell of the Board of Public Works will go over all the evidence taken in the inquiry before acting on the request.

Vol VII—No. 2. SAN FRANCISCO, THURSDAY, JANUARY 8, 1914.

City Accepts the Terms and Conditions of Hetch Hetchy Grant

The Supervisors at their regular weekly session last Monday afternoon received the following report from the Public Welfare Committee regarding the unemployed:

San Francisco, January 5, 1914.

To the Honorable Board of Supervisors, City and County of San Francisco:

Gentlemen—Your Committee on Public Welfare would respectfully report in regard to the resolutions in regard to the unemployed referred to it on December 22:

On Tuesday, December 23, the committee took up the matter and in connection with it was waited upon by a delegation representing the body of the unemployed and various organizations acting for their relief. Mr. Albert Ergott, the vocational employment secretary of the Y. M. C. A., had been made chairman of the delegation and presented forcibly, but temperately, the gravity of the situation. He was followed by various other delegates, and it was determined to call a special meeting of the Board on the following day at 10 a. m. The Mayor and several Supervisors being unable to attend at that hour, an adjourned meeting was held at 2 p. m., at which it was announced that immediate relief would be given in the matter of meals and shelter—to extend until the following Monday morning. A registration of the unemployed was ordered and assurance was given of earnest effort to find employment. Arrangements were perfected for the employment of 200 men at the Relief Home, beginning December 29, at $2 for a six hour day, alternating the registered men so that the largest possible number should find relief. The Mayor was authorized to appoint a special committee to co-operate with the committee appointed by the unemployed and the organization associated for their relief. He named the members of the Public Welfare Committee and Supervisors Hilmer, Hocks and Koshland.

Pursuant to this action meals were furnished at the San Francisco Co-operative Employment Bureau, 331 Main street, under Superintendent Mr. Harry R. Bogart, from Wednesday night. On Christmas day about 7600 were furnished, and for the two following days about 16,000.

Under the direction of Mr. T. A. Reardon, Superintendent of Buildings, shelter was provided in the building formerly occupied by the Marshall Hotel. The registration of the unemployed for the first two days showed 3132. By Saturday at 12 o'clock it had reached 3570 and was temporarily discontinued.

On Friday morning, December 26, a meeting of the committee was held, at which Mr. Bogart urged that as many men as possible be put to work on the following day—not waiting for the 29th as arranged for. On Friday afternoon a conference with the Finance Committee, the City Attorney, the President of the Board of Public Works, the Auditor and the Treasurer, resulted in arranging for working 500 men Saturday morning and 500 men Saturday afternoon, payment of $1.50 for the half day to be made on the job. This was carried out successfully. On Sunday the Mayor authorized the continuance of food until Monday noon. On Monday morning at a meeting of the committee the feeding was guaranteed until the following morning, pending action by the Board. It was determined to hold a meeting of citizens on Friday with the purpose of enlarging the committee. At the conclusion of the regular Board meeting a conference was held at the Mayor's office. After a full survey of the situation, and consultation with the Board of Public Works, it being learned that no productive work could be given, and the amount of money available for any relief being found very small, it was determined to discontinue the employment on municipal work, excepting that at the Relief Home, which was to be continued for the remainder of the week. At the meeting called for Friday at 11 a. m. there was little response on the part of those invited. A statement was made expressing plainly that the resources of relief in the control of the city were very limited, and that the only hope of control lay in the organization of a Citizens' Committee with which the city might co-operate.

On motion unanimously adopted the formation of a citizens' committee with Edward J. Hanna, Bishop Auxiliary of San Francisco, as president, Mr. Jesse W. Lilienthal as vice-president, and Mr. Albert Ergott, secretary, was approved by the committee.

Friday afternoon at 3 a preliminary meeting was held, a list of names was agreed upon, and before the close of the day an appeal for service was mailed to about one hundred citizens.

A meeting was held this morning at 10 o'clock and was largely attended by representative citizens. The committee was fully organized and a disposition was shown to act immediately in relieving the trying conditions.

The following committees were appointed by the president:

Finance—Raphael Weill, Chairman.
Work—Walter MacArthur, Chairman.
Lodgings—T. A. Reardon, Chairman.
Food—Harry R. Bogart, Chairman.
Blankets—Mrs. E. K. Stevenot, Chairman.
Unemployed Women—Dr. Blanche L. Sanborn.

James D. Phelan was elected treasurer of the General Committee. An executive committee, consisting of the chairmen of the various subcommittees, with Jesse W. Lilienthal as chairman, was also appointed.

The Public Welfare Committee and the added Supervisors will act with this Citizens' Committee and promote to the utmost the co-operation of the Municipal Government in the effective handling of the difficult situation.

Too much cannot be said in praise of the service rendered by the San Francisco Co-operative Employment Bureau. To care for the horde of unemployed the normal work of the organization by which one hundred men, or more, saw wood or perform some service for meals and lodgings, has been given up and a dining room seating fifty has been kept in almost continuous service, sometimes without cessation from 6 in the morning to 12 at night, serving over 7000 meals.

There has now been added an auxiliary kitchen and dining room at 932 Folsom street where 400 can be accommodated at one time.

From December 24 to January 4, inclusive, there have been served about 80,000 meals, and at least shelter has been found for all. Over 1900 individuals have been given a half day or more of work, receiving from $1.50 to $2 each.

Respectfully submitted,
HENRY PAYOT,
CHAS. A. MURDOCK,
A. J. GALLAGHER,
J. EMMET HAYDEN,
A. H. GIANNINI,
Public Welfare Committee.

On motion of Supervisor Murdock a resolution was adopted directing the Public Welfare Committee to report on the methods employed by other cities in caring for the unemployed, and also the best system for treatment of the drones and vagabonds who refuse to work and swell the ranks of petty criminals.

FIRE COMMISSION DISPOSES OF MANY MATTERS.

The Fire Commissioners at their meeting on the 2d inst. received a communication from the Superintendent of Engines calling attention to an overdraft of $505.49 for salaries of Corporation Yard employes during the first six months of the present fiscal year. He explained that the overdraft was mainly due to an error made when computing the salaries of blacksmith's helpers when preparing the budget estimate. The communication was filed.

A communication from the Board of Public Works submitting an estimate of the cost of repairing certain street fire cisterns and also recommending that the cisterns at Mission and Third and Bush and Sansome streets be abandoned, as it is impossible to make the same water tight, was filed.

Frederick Woods, lieutenant of Engine Company 34, and Daniel P. Haggerty, gateman of the high pressure water system, were allowed salary during the time they were incapacitated by injuries received while on duty.

On recommendation of the Chief Engineer, hydrants no longer required, as the districts in which they are located are covered by the high pressure system, were ordered removed, as follows: Southeast corner Eddy street and Van Ness avenue; southeast corner Van Ness avenue and O'Farrell street; north side Ellis street, 174 feet east of Van Ness avenue; south side Market street, 270 feet east of Eighth street.

The Chief Engineer was instructed to recommend a suitable site for temporary quarters for Engine Company 12, pending the erection of a new fire house at Drumm and Commercial streets.

The secretary was instructed to communicate with the Department of Electricity and urge that fire alarm box 965, at Holloway avenue and Ramsdell street, recommended some months ago, be installed as soon as possible.

A request was forwarded to the Spring Valley Water Company to install fire hydrants at southwest corner Twenty-sixth avenue and Drake street; north side of Seacliff avenue, opposite west line of Twenty-sixth avenue.

A communication was received from Battalion Chief Bailey reporting the suspension of Harry Hock, driver Chemical Company 6, on December 27, for failing to report for duty to his company on that date, as directed to do by Second Assistant Chief Engineer Layden. Hock appeared and stated that his physician had advised him not to report on duty. Department Physician Lagan testified that he had visted Hock on that date and after an examination found him to be physically fit for duty and so advised Chief Layden.

The Commissioners were of the opinion that Hock had wilfully disobeyed orders and ordered that he be deprived of pay during the time of his suspension, from December 27th to 30th.

Denis E. McGee and Edward M. O'Donnell were appointed hosemen from the civil service eligible list.

The American-La France Fire Engine Company was granted an additional 30 days' extension of time in its contract to furnish two front drive motor steam fire engines to the department.

Alexander Lafferty, a hoseman of Engine Company 29, found guilty of having been under the influence of liquor while on duty on December 23, was fined three months' pay, ordered restored to duty and transferred to another company. In addition Lafferty was ordered to write out his resignation, with the understanding that if he is ever brought before the board and found guilty on the same charge the resignation is to become operative at once.

CONTRACTS AWARDED FOR RAILWAY EXTENSIONS.

Contracts for materials and cars for the extensions of the municipal railway system were awarded last Friday by the Board of Public Works. The bids were received on December 31, and in order to have them tabulated and in form to make the awards on Friday a force of clerks in the City Engineer's office worked all of New Year's day and late into the night.

Following are the contracts awarded:

Contract No. 1—Furnishing and delivering steel rails, rail joints and fastenings; United States Steel Products Company, whose bid under Proposition No. 1 amounts to $145,514.22, and under Proposition No. 2 to $159,118.98. The United States Steel Products Company will be informed later as to whether the Board of Public Works desires the contract to be entered into under Proposition No. 1 or No. 2. The Board of Supervisors requested to set aside $166,000 to meet the expenses of executing this contract, which are estimated as follows: $159,118.98 contract price; $4,500 possible bonus, and $2,381.02 cost of inspection.

Contract No. 2—Furnishing and delivering steel tie rods and nuts; Payne Bolt Works of San Francisco; $3514.15.

Contract No. 3—Furnishing and delivering tie plates, brace plates and rail braces; Eccles & Smith, f. o. b. San Francisio; $15,164.32 contract price, and $335.68 expense of inspection.

Contract No. 4—Furnishing and delivering rail spikes; United States Steel Products Company, $2550.

Contract No. 5—Furnishing and delivering redwood cross ties; Caspar Lumber Company of San Francisco, f. o. b. wharf at San Francisco; $37,990 contract price, $1010 cost of inspection.

Contract No. 7—Sections A and B, for furnishing and delivering track special work; United States Steel Products Company, 863,500 pounds, for $87,738 f. o. b. cars at place of manufacture. The Board of Supervisors was asked to set aside $97,000 to meet the expenses of executing contract, estimated as follows: Contract price, $87,738; possible bonus, $6600; expenses of inspection, $2662.

Contract No. 13 A, for furnishing and delivering car bodies for 100 or more street cars; Jewett Car Company whose bid of $2800 each or $280,000 for 100 car bodies delivered f. o. b. cars at place of manufacture, was the lowest. The Board of Supervisors was asked to set aside $300,000 to meet the expenses of contract, estimated as follows: Contract price, $280,000; possible bonus, $15,000; expenses of inspection, $5,000.

Contract No. 13 B—Furnishing and delivering trucks for 100 or more street cars; Baldwin Locomotive Works, whose bid of $580 for each set of trucks delivered f. o. b. cars at place of manufacture, or $58,000 for 100 sets, was the lowest. Supervisors to set aside $62,000 as follows: Contract price, $58,000; possible bonus, which the contractor may earn, $3000; cost of inspecting, $1000.

Contract No. 13 C—Furnishing and delivering motor equipment for 100 or more street cars; Westinghouse Electric Manufacturing Company, whose bid of $2176 for each motor equipment, using Westinghouse 306, box framed 50-60 H. P. street railway motors, with type H. L. control and emergency device, or $217,600 for all of the motors, was the most desirable, Supervisors to set aside $236,000 to meet the expenses of executing contract, estimated as follows: Contract price, $217,600; possible bonus, $16,600; cost of inspection, $3400.

Contract No. 13 D—Furnishing and delivering air brake equipment for 100 or more street cars; Westinghouse Traction Brake Company, whose bid of $210 for each air brake equipment, or $21,000 for all. Supervisors to set aside $23,000 to meet expenses of contract as follows: Contract price, $21,000; possible bonus, $1500; and cost of inspection, $500.

The Supervisors at their meeting last Monday passed to print a resolution setting aside the necessary amount required to carry out these contracts.

The total of bids received was $66,224.25 below the estimates and assurance was given by the contractors that in order to make any money on the contracts they would be obliged to earn the bonuses offered for early delivery, which means that the actual work of road construction can probably begin a month earlier than was figured.

The big item of saving below the estimates was on the contract for the construction of cars, which will cost the city but $6600 each, or $1100 cheaper than the cars of the Arnold type now in use on the Geary line, which cost the city $7700 each.

These cars are each 2000 pounds lighter in weight, are of stronger construction and much greater carrying capacity than the ones in use.

INVITE PROPOSALS FOR MUNICIPAL BONDS.

The Board of Supervisors on Monday invited sealed proposals to be received January 19 for the purchase of $927,500 of Municipal Railway bonds and $264,000 of the City Hall bonds. The bonds bear 5 per cent interest.

FEES MUST BE TURNED INTO COUNTY TREASURY.

County Clerk Mulcrevy received information on Monday that the Supreme Court of the United States had ruled that all fees collected by him in the naturalization bureau, which is a department of his office, must be turned into the County Treasury.

Mulcrevy claimed one-half of all the fees collected in the naturalization bureau, having based his claim on an act of Congress passed in June, 1906, which provided that half of the fees should be turned over to the United States Government and the other half retained by the County Clerk.

Four years ago a friendly suit was instituted in the Superior Court against Mulcrevy by City Attorney Long. From the Superior Court the case was appealed through the different courts until it reached the Supreme Court of the United States.

About $19,000 was involved in the decision.

FINDING WORK FOR CITY'S UNEMPLOYED.

The Citizens' Relief Committee of One Hundred, Bishop Edward J. Hanna chairman, has the "unemployed" situation well in hand and expects to be able to give work to all of the men who now are idle. Registration will close tonight (Thursday), and it is expected that the roll will total in the neighborhood of 5000.

The relief committee's offer is 20 cents an hour, with eight hours' work a day. In fixing this rate the committee did so with a view to discourage an influx of idle men from other parts of the State.

The Board of Public Works has arranged to furnish emergency jobs for 400 of the men at Buena Vista Park, McKinley Park, Lincoln Park, the ocean beach and 100 on the proposed new Presidio-Lincoln Park boulevard. It is expected that the Presidio-Lincoln Park work will ultimately furnish employment to 1000 of the men.

To secure funds the finance committee of the relief board has addressed the following appeal to the citizens:

> Men and Women of San Francisco:
>
> Five thousand men are asking you for a livelihood. They have tried in vain to get regular employment. These men have families. Our duty is to help them. The present situation calls for immediate action. The work to be done, connecting the Presidio with Lincoln Park by a boulevard, will add materially to the beauty of our city, and will be one of the great attractions of the Panama-Pacific Exposition.
>
> San Francisco, our beloved city, has never failed to stand for all that is generous and human. It will rise to the emergency now.
>
> Let the subscriptions to the fund for the relief of the unemployed come in quickly and bountifully.
>
> RAPHAEL WEILL, Chairman Finance Committee.

Roughing in of plumbing, gas and electric work in the two wings is completed and toilet stalls are set in the girls' lavatory. The first coat of interior plastering is about 60 per cent completed. Iron fire escapes are being erected. The plastering strike is delaying the work considerably.

Interior partitions are set and roughing in of plumbing and electric work is about 85 per cent completed. Exterior finish and tin work of new building is being put on.

CITY HALL—The United States Steel Products Company, the contractors for the fabrication of the structural steel, have delivered that portion of the material, to and including the roof, thirty-three days ahead of their contract time, and from present indications will deliver the remaining portion of the material almost a month ahead of their contract time.

The Blume Contracting Company, the contractors for the erection of the structural steel, have completed the work of setting the bases and grillage; they have delivered to date to the site 6391 tons of steel; have sorted to date to the field derrick 6104 tons; have erected to date 3890 tons and have bolted and fitted 2400 tons of material.

The erection of steel has not progressed as rapidly as it should have, owing to the heavy storms during the past month; but, if the weather clears during the coming month, we expect the fireproofing and reinforced concrete work to commence and the McGilvray-Raymond Granite Company to commence setting of the granite. Two shipments of granite have already been received in San Francisco and the remainder will be shipped regularly.

MUNICIPAL RECORD
CITY AND COUNTY OF SAN FRANCISCO

1c. Paid
San Francisco Cal.
Permit No. 145

Vol. VII—No. 3. SAN FRANCISCO, THURSDAY, JANUARY 15, 1914.

Supervisors Pass Ordinance Accepting Hetch Hetchy Grant

The Supervisors at their meeting last Monday finally passed the ordinance accepting the terms and conditions of the Hetch Hetchy grant.

Mayor Rolph, in naming Supervisors Hayden, Hilmer, Hocks, Power and Suhr to represent the city at the Waterways Congress to be held here during the last three days of the week urged upon them the need of attending the sessions, as it was possible that matters might be discussed relating to Hetch Hetchy.

Directed to Dismiss Condemnation Proceedings.

A resolution was adopted directing the City Attorney to dismiss the condemnation suit brought by the city against John H. Spring to acquire certain lands adjoining the Relief Home. This action was taken as the controversy has been settled out of court.

Tells How Seattle Controls Utilities Rates.

Oliver T. Erickson, a member of the City Council of Seattle, addressed the Board on municipal problems. After referring to the Cedar River municipal water supply system which Seattle owns and controls, Erickson said, in part:

> In reference to the municipal water supply which we inaugurated some fifteen years ago. I notice that you have been opposed in every step you have taken for the acquirement of a supply in the Hetch Hetchy by the same class of corporations and individuals who have opposed us in the same matter.
>
> I want to congratulate you on having been at length victorious. I assure you that with the municipality owning its own water and power plants, you will be able to give cheaper service. No householder using the ordinary amount of water in Seattle pays more than 50c per month. Our power plant is not large enough to supply the entire needs of Seattle, but it has been large enough so that we have been able to regulate the rates of all electric power concerns doing business in the city. We have reduced the rates for electric lighting, for instance, from 20c per kilowatt hour to 6c per kilowatt hour and the rate for power from 10c per kilowatt hour to 4c, and for some kinds of service as low as ½c per kilowatt hour.

Parents Must Support Their Children.

The following resolution introduced by Supervisor McCarthy was passed by unanimous vote:

> Whereas, the attention of the Board has been directed to the fact that little attention is being directed to the enforcement of the law in compelling the fathers of dependent children to contribute to the support of such children; and
>
> Whereas, the city is being compelled to meet extraordinary demands for the support of children, many of whom have fathers reasonably able to support their children; therefore
>
> Resolved, That the attention of the Chief of Police, the District Attorney and the Judges of the Police Courts be directed to the present situation above set forth, and that they be requested to use their utmost endeavors to securing the proper enforcement of the law by prosecuting such fathers of dependent children as are able but who refuse to contribute to the support of their children.

AUDITOR DIRECTED TO CANCEL OLD DEMANDS.

A resolution was passed by the Supervisors last Monday directing the Auditor to cancel forty-eight demands, several of which have remained unclaimed since 1909. The smallest one was for 25 cents and the largest for $55.20.

HEALTH BOARD NAMES EMERGENCY SURGEONS.

At a meeting of the Board of Health on the 13th inst. Dr. James F. Peattie was appointed as a surgeon in the Emergency Hospital Service, vice Dr. H. Naffziger, resigned, and Dr. Lionel D. Prince was appointed an emergency surgeon, vice Dr. Russel C. Ryan, resigned.

A strong protest having been filed relative to the premises at 718 Tennessee street (an old abandoned church building), the Board reconsidered its action taken at a previous meeting and named April 15 as the time limit for demolition of said structure, and fixed February 13 as the date before which said building must be demolished.

A petition was made for extension of time in the premises known and designated as 213, 217-227 Minna street, and the Board granted until April 1 in which to vacate and demolish the temporary structures.

The Board decided to recommend to the Supervisors the desirability of this city having an exhibit at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, and expressed a wish that the Health Department be represented in said exhibit.

The city of Sacramento, California, has adopted a meat inspection ordinance along lines similar to that of San Francisco and upon inspection and report of the veterinarian of this department to the effect that same is satisfactory, the inspection stamp of said city will in future be duly recognized.

A resolution was adopted calling attention of the Board of Public Works to conditions existing at Second and Harrison streets, where a large depression exists and sewer facilities are inadequate. The Board of Works will be requested to fill in the depression and install a sewer at that point.

A resolution was adopted calling the attention of the Board of Supervisors to the advantage to be derived from motor-driven street cleaning machines and the desirability of introducing the same into this city.

Births registered for the week ended January 10, 180; deaths, 128.

HAVE RIGHT TO SEWER GREAT HIGHWAY.

City Attorney Long has advised the Board of Public Works that the Supervisors in the exercise of their police power to protect the health and general well-being of the community have the right to sewer the Great Highway notwithstanding the fact that the general management and control of the highway are vested by the charter in the Park Commissioners. The cost is to be assessed upon the owners of adjoining property, except that the city will pay for that part of the highway which crosses Golden Gate Park at the ocean beach.

SCHOOL DIRECTORS NAME GALLAGHER PRESIDENT.

The School Directors, at a meeting last Tuesday, elected George E. Gallagher, the newly appointed member, president of the board. Gallagher was placed in nomination by the retiring chairman, Dr. D'Ancona.

NEW FIRE COMMISSIONER TAKES HIS SEAT.

Andrew J. Martin, appointed by Mayor Rolph to succeed Eugene E. Pfaeffle as a member of the Board of Fire Commissioners, presented his credentials at a meeting held on the 9th inst. and was seated. Martin served as a Fire Commissioner from 1891 to 1897 and is familiar with the duties of the office.

The Secretary was instructed to present a claim for $100 to the United Railroads for damages to a department wagon which was struck by a car at the crossing of Francisco and Stockton streets.

The Chief Engineer reported having assigned Denis E. Magee and Edward M. O'Donnell, probationary hosemen, to the fire boats.

A communication was read from the Secretary of the Board of Fire Pension Fund Commissioners reporting that the following members of the department had been retired on pension: Samuel E. Kennard, captain Engine Co. 28, and James J. Tyrrell, hoseman Engine Co. 12, for full time of service, and F. C. Gerlach, hoseman Engine Co. 5, for physical disability.

James Reynolds, hoseman of Engine Company 9, was granted six months' leave of absence, without pay, owing to sickness. John Cunningham was given leave of absence for thirty days, with pay, owing to illness.

The Chief Engineer was instructed to confer with the Board of Public Works regarding repairs to the quarters of Engine Companies 30, 45, 27, 15, 29, 41, 11, 16, 42, 7, 37, Truck Company 5, Water Tower Company 2 and Chemical Company 7, reported to be in leaky and bad condition.

Battalion Chief Boden reported that some member of Engine Company 35 or of Truck Company 8, which jointly occupy quarters at 38 Bluxome street, had thrown a missile at the captain of the truck company; also that a sealed letter addressed to the Chief Engineer containing reports, etc., had been opened. After investigation the complaints were dismissed, as it was not possible to secure sufficient evidence to lay the blame on any member of either of the companies.

John J. O'Brien having satisfactorily completed the probationary term prescribed by the Charter was permanently appointed blacksmith's helper in the department.

The Chief Engineer was instructed to have red globes installed over the electric lights in front of company quarters to the end that the fire houses may be easily located at night.

Edward Dullea was transferred from driver of Chemical Company 5 to hoseman of Engine Company 31; David Levy from driver of Engine Company 31 to driver of Chemical Company 5 and O. H. Lippert from probationary hoseman to driver of Engine Company 31.

Request was made of the Southern Pacific Company to reimburse the department for a length of hose belonging to Engine Company 16, which was destroyed by a locomotive running over it while it was stretched across the tracks at a fire at the intersection of Kentucky and Army streets.

A communication was read from I. W. Dean, statistician of the Industrial Accident Board of the State of California, requesting that it be furnished with a report of all accidents to employees of the department, as prescribed by the rules of that Board. The Secretary was instructed to comply with the request if it be practicable for him to so do.

The following appointments were made from civil service eligibile lists: George H. Thomas, captain; Henry J. Donnadieu, lieutenant, to be assigned by the Chief Engineer.

The Board of Public Works has been requested to take immediate steps for the repair of the sewer in Washington street opposite the Hall of Justice, which is subject to an overflow of sewage during every heavy rain.

CHANGES ARE MADE IN CITY COMMISSIONS

Mayor Rolph on Monday last announced the appointment of J. C. Kortick to the Playground Commission, to fill the vacancy created by the retirement of Timothy A. Reardon, selected to succeed C. S. Laumeister on the Board of Public Works. Commissioner Reardon took his seat in the Public Works Board on Monday.

J. J. Tierney, head carpenter in the department, was named as acting superintendent of public buildings in succession to Reardon, who held that position until his elevation to the commissionership.

A. J. Martin, who succeeds Eugene E. Pfaeffle on the Fire Commission, also was seated on Monday, and was chosen president of that body.

J. K. Prior Jr. and C. J. Collins, the new members of the Board of Election Commissioners, took their seats on Monday. Commissioner McDevitt was chosen president of the commission, to succeed John P. Hare, term expired.

The Police Commission was reorganized on Monday night by the election of Max Kuhl as president of the Board.

With the completion of Engine House 24, at the southwest corner of Hoffman avenue and Alvarado street, the Board of Public Works has requested the Fire Commissioners to take over the building so that a company may be placed in commission.

NEW SUPERVISORS TAKE SEATS IN BOARD.

The Board of Supervisors met on the 8th inst. to receive the credentials and seat the new members elected last November to succeed Supervisors Caglieri, Giannini, Koshland, Mauzy and Murphy.

Mayor Rolph reviewed the work accomplished during the last two years, and outlined the gigantic projects to be carried out by the Board during the next two years. He complimented the retiring Supervisors on the efficient services rendered by them, and in closing extended a welcome to the incoming members.

Supervisor A. J. Gallagher, on behalf of the new members, pledged support to the Mayor on all progressive and constructive policies.

The new members who were seated are Fred Suhr Jr., James E. Power, John O. Walsh, Cornelius J. Deasy and Charles A. Nelson.

Supervisor J. Emmet Hayden then proposed a list of committee assignments, which was adopted after considerable discussion. The committees follow, the first named member being the chairman of each committee:

Electricity—Suhr, McCarthy, ———.
Expositions— ———, McCarthy, Jennings, Vogelsang, Power.
Finance—Jennings, McCarthy, Payot.
Fire—McLeran, Nelson, Deasy.
Judiciary—Nelson, McLeran, Vogelsang.
Lands and Tunnels—Deasy, ———, Gallagher.
Lighting and Rates—Nolan, Nelson, Payot.
Police—Hocks, Hilmer, Nolan.
Public Buildings—Bancroft, Payot, McLeran.
Public Efficiency and Civil Service—Murdock, Suhr, Walsh.
Public Health—Walsh, ———, Murdock.
Public Utilities—Vogelsang, Hilmer, Bancroft, Hayden, Gallagher.
Public Walfare—Payot, Hayden, Nolan, Murdock, Gallagher.
Publicity and Interurban Relations—Hayden, Hocks, Walsh.
Streets and Sewers—McCarthy, Bancroft, Suhr.
Supplies—Hilmer, Murdock, Hayden.
Telephone and Rates—Power, Hilmer, Hocks.
Water Service and Rates—Gallagher, Power, Deasy.

Owing to the fact that a successor had not been appointed in place of Supervisor George E. Gallagher, who resigned to become a member of the Board of Education, the committees were not completed. The blank spaces in several committees indicated the assignment of Gallagher's successor.

An ordinance presented by Supervisor A. J. Gallagher, fixing the street railroad fare of persons under 18 years of age at 2½ cents, was referred to the Public Utilities Committee.

The Board then adjourned to meet on the 12th inst.

POLICE COMMISSION HOLDS BRIEF SESSION.

At the meeting of the Police Commissioners held last Monday night, Dr. Thomas B. Shumate presented his certificate of reappointment for the term of four years from the 8th inst.

Philip G. Lindecker and Edward P. Sullivan were appointed regular police officers subject to the usual probationary period of six months.

The warrants of appointment of special officers Charles E. Sivell and John E. Fisher were revoked.

The following named were appointed special policemen: Noah W. Workman, for Workman Packing Co., 180 Erie street; Saul P. Clayburgh, for Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co.; Frederick N. Christenson, for the following beat: Eighteenth street from Guerrero to Church; Nineteenth and Twentieth; Liberty and Twenty-first from Guerrero to Noe; Guerrero, Dolores, Church, Sanchez and Noe from Eighteenth to Twenty-second streets.

Henry Buler and Niels A. E. Stabluem were refused appointments as special policemen.

The Board of Public Works has directed the Street Repair Department to place the yard of the James Lick School in proper condition.

PREPARING FOR MUNICIPAL RAILWAY EXTENSIONS.

The Board of Public Works has notified the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, which is furnishing electric power for the Geary Street Municipal Railroad, to prepare to supply additional power for the extensions to be made to the city's railway system.

The City Engineer reported to the Board that power will be needed as follows: On August 1, for the Van Ness avenue and Chestnut street extensions; September 1, for the Potrero avenue line; September 15, for the Fort Mason extension; October 1, for the Columbus avenue line; November 1, for Stockton street; December 1, for California street, and on January 1, 1915, for the Church street extension.

To Superintendent Cashin was referred a letter from the R. C. Scott Advertising Company, which has the advertising privilege on the city cars, offering $8,025 a year for the seventy-two cars in use on the Geary street and Union street lines, with a proportionate increase when more cars are put in service.

The City Engineer's plan for creating a new street east of Church, between Eighteenth and Twenty-second, to which the Church street line shall be diverted for an easier grade, was approved, also the proposed assessment district and suggested rate, $22.50 for each 25-foot lot. The amount necessary to be raised is $153,589.

POLICE COMMISSION GRANTS SEVERAL PERMITS.

At a meeting of the Police Commission held on the 5th inst. the following petitions of retail liquor dealers were granted: Rossi & Sambuck, to remove from 219 to 213 Washington street; Frederick Lankenau, to remove from 590 Pacific street to 75 Jackson street; Albert L. Ross, to remove from 709 to 702 Turk street.

Paul D. Pongides was granted permission to open a billiard parlor at 163 Mason street; Abraham Pastel, a second-hand store at 111 Sixth street.

Philip Warshawski was denied permission to open a second-hand store at 493 Third street.

MUNICIPAL JOTTINGS OF GENERAL INTEREST.

A bill authorizing the Board of Public Works to enter into a contract for the construction of a pumping plant to control sewage in Commercial street has been passed to print by the Board of Supervisors.

Specifications have been approved, and it has been declared expedient by the Board of Public Works, to pave, where not already paved, Edinburg street between Brazil and Persia avenues; Sears street from Sickels avenue to southerly termination; to asphalt, pave and sewer at Geary street and Twenty-second avenue; to pave where not already paved on Twenty-sixth avenue between Clement and California streets; to pave with basalt blocks and asphalt, Gladys street from Santa Maria street to Appleton avenue.

WHAT OTHER MUNICIPALITIES ARE DOING.

Chicago, Ill.—Chicago's children of the street are to have a municipal Christmas tree for the first time this year. The tree is to stand in Grant Park, facing the lake front, and is to be placed in position long enough before the holidays so that it can be sprayed with water and make a spire of glistening ice. According to plans of the Municipal Christmas Tree Association the lake front is to be a blaze of light during the week or more the tree will be in position. Christmas carols will be sung and presents distributed.

Chicago, Ill.—L. E. McGann, commissioner of public works, has discovered that the output of Chicago garbage has decreased 50 per cent in two years. Then he learned, and so informed Mayor Harrison, that the economy in garbage was due to the high cost of living. Commissioner McGann said that the shrinkage in garbage is a good thing. This was discovered when the city was recently compelled to dispose of its garbage. Heretofore a company disposed of it under contract. It was an easy contract with the decline in output increasing steadily. According to the commissioner, the amount of garbage grows less with each increase of taxes and grocers' charges. According to reports on refuse collection just turned in to the department there are 50 per cent less of fats and meats thrown away by Chicago housewives than two years ago.

Panama-Pacific International Exposition Notes of General Interest

President Woodrow Wilson has notified the Exposition that he will give a cup for the twelve meter international yacht race to be held on San Francisco Bay in April, 1915. Two entries have been received thus far for the event—Sir Thomas Lipton having declared his intention to compete and a syndicate of local yachtsmen headed by Thomas L. Miller, president of the West Coast Life Insurance Company. Other entries are looked for, from not only European countries, but from all over the United States. The twelve meter boat is to be built under the international rules.

Visitors attending the Panama-Pacific International Exposition in 1915—Will not be charged excessive prices for their meals, if the San Francisco Restaurant Men's Association can prevent it. This association has gone on record as being opposed to exorbitant charges at any time, and particularly during the exposition period.

In the preamble to its constitution, recently adopted, the association announces, among other beneficent purposes of its organization, that it is formed "to promote the civic and commercial welfare of the City and County of San Francisco by making adequate provisions for the reception of the many visitors incident to the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, and to use every means to prevent the charging of exorbitant prices by restaurants and cafes during the holding of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition in 1915, and to prevent as far as possible unjust and unreasonable charges for services and food".

The association declares that it will "do all things within its power to aid in the movement looking toward the lowering of the cost of living." The leading restaurants and cafes of San Francisco are included in the association, and they do not wish to be included among those who may anticipate killing the goose that lays the golden egg in 1915.

One of the most interesting of the numerous engineering novelties that will be included in the equipment of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition in 1915 will be the new nitrogen-filled electric lamp, developed by Dr. Irving Langmuir of the research laboratory of the General Electric Company at Schenectady, New York. This lamp will be used for the first time in general useful practice, in the standard lighting in all the small courts of the Exposition, and throughout the Court of the Sun and Stars, including the fountains in that great Central Court. The lamps will vary in candle power between 1525 and 2500 and there may be a few as high as 5000 candle power.

The bulbs of the lamps are filled with nitrogen to increase their efficiency. For years efforts have been made earnestly to produce lamps of greater efficiency than the ordinary tungsten lamps. For a long time it was found impracticable to improve the lamps much more than ten to twenty per cent in life by various means, corresponding to a possible improvement in efficiency of only a few hundredths of a watt per candle. The melting point in the filament of the tungsten lamp prevented any increase in efficiency more than 0.2 of a watt per candle, for beyond that figure the bulb blackened.

Work is progressing rapidly upon the Palace of Fine Arts at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition. This will be the only one of the main exhibit palaces that will be wholly fireproof, its material being steel and concrete, to prevent the destruction of the priceless art treasures it will contain. The foundation, however, will be of wood, and large quantities of this lumber are now arriving at the palace's site by train over the Exposition's own standard gauge railway tracks, which lead from the ferry slips and docks directly into the exhibit palaces.

The convenience of this railway is appreciated everywhere on the Exposition grounds, but nowhere more at present than about the Palace of Fine Arts, which is the westernmost of the main exhibit palaces, being located at the Presidio military reservation, the land of which was loaned by the Government to the Exposition. Its steel frames are being fabricated in the East.

Dazzle Patch, the fastest colt in the world, has been entered by M. W. Savage, owner of the famous Dan Patch, in the race meets to be held on the track of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition in June and October, 1915.

He has also entered horses for the 2:06 class pace and for the 2:10 trot in both meets. Among other entries are Electric Patch.

In a circular just published by Savage, who is also the owner of the International 1:55 Horse Farm of Minneapolis, Minnesota, he gives an interesting account of Dan Patch, the sire of Dazzle Patch, who holds the world's record of 1:55 and who has paced 132 miles in an average time of 2:04¾ and who has lowered the world's record for the mile fourteen times. Describing Dazzle Patch, Savage declares that at the age of 28 months the colt paced a half mile in 59 seconds, and at 49 months did the half in 56 3-4 seconds and the mile in 2:02½. Savage declares that the directors of the Exposition should be praised for offering equal opportunities for pacers and trotters, as shown by the two purses of $20,000 each hung up for the 2:06 pacers, an innovation in harness racing.

The Festival Hall at the Exposition is the result of the study of the Theater des Beaux Arts type of French architecture and has the usual theater arrangement of a foyer in front, and the stage with its accessories behind a circular auditorium. The details are from the French Renaissance ornament, particularly from Le Petit Trianon and Le Grand Trianon.

The building is 386 feet long and 376 feet wide at the central part. The dome, which forms the dominant feature of the design, is 221 feet high and 170 feet in diameter on the outside.

Prizes aggregating $25,000 for the musical competitions at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition were announced by the 1915 Eisteddfod Association. The first prize amounts to $10,000 and will be given for the chief choral competition for mixed choirs of not less than 150 voices. This will be competed for by many of the greatest choral societies in the world.

The program consists of fourteen musical events, including women's choral competitions, children's choral competitions and instrumental music. In the military band competition $2,000 will be awarded as a premium.

J. R. Hanify, special yachting commissioner for the Exposition, left last Saturday for New Orleans, Cuba and New York. From New York Mr. Hanify will journey along the Atlantic Coast visiting all yachting and shipping people with a view to studying the most approved types of boats to be entered in the 1915 yacht races. These races will be held in San Francisco Bay in April. The principal events will be held with the 12-metre boats, for which a cup has been offered by President Wilson.

Sir Thomas Lipton is building a boat to compete in the races. The 12-metre boats which have become so popular in the East and Europe average 39 feet 4 inches on the water line and 60 feet over all. It is expected that representatives of the royal families of Europe will send their 12-metre boats to participate in the contest.

SUGGESTS MUNICIPAL MILK STATION.

The Mayor of Jamestown, N. Y., Samuel A. Carlson, sent a message to common council recently suggesting that the city establish a municipal milk station for handling and delivering all the milk used in the city. He does not, however, ask that any hasty action be taken upon the recommendation, but asks for serious consideration. He refers to the fact that epidemics are traceable to two principal sources, milk and water. The water contamination has been eliminated by centralizing the supply of water in one source and controlling that source. But the danger of disease from milk supply is still imminent in consequent of the present disorganized system. At present seventy-five milk dealers deliver throughout Jamestown milk which is procured from 250 dairy farms; and in delivery each of these dealers travels over a large territory of the city, thus considerably increasing the cost of delivery by duplicating the area covered.

Mr. Carlson's message concludes with the following suggestion as to the municipal milk station proposed:

> At the municipal milk station most of the milk could be brought up to the required standard by pasteurization and then placed in properly sterilized receptacles and delivered in vehicles equipped in a sanitary manner for milk carrying purposes.
>
> The surplus milk, if any, could be made into butter and sold at a profit.
>
> By this plan the element of waste which is now chargeable to the consumer under the present system would be entirely eliminated.
>
> The steam necessary for sterilization at the milk station, as well as electric power, could be obtained advantageously in connection with the municipal lighting plant.
>
> The estimated cost of a milk plant I am informed would be $20,000, the entire amount of which could be paid from the first year's revenue, after which a substantial reduction in the price of milk could be made.

COMPETITIVE TESTS OF POLICE DOGS.

The breeding and use of dogs as auxiliaries of the police service have for many years been practiced with marked success in Belgium. While this practical use of dogs has not become so general in France, much interest is shown in the occasional contests arranged between dogs specially trained for police duty. Such a competition was held at Sanvic, a suburb of Havre, under the auspices of the Club Normand du Chien Pratikue (Norman Club of the Practical Dog) recently. The dogs entered in competition were subjected to the following test:

1. To follow at the heel, with or without lead (10 points). The dog must not rove or leave his master.
2. To sit or crouch down and to stand (15 points). The dog must execute these movements at the order of his master.
3. To refuse food (20 points). The dog must refuse food offered to him in the absence of his master.
4. To find and bring a hidden object (20 points.) The dog to find and bring back to his master an object of some sort hidden in the ring.
5. Jumping over a fence (20 points). The fence must be at least 6.56 feet high and not higher than 8.2 feet.
6. Jumping over a hedge (10 points). The dog must clear a height of 3.93 feet.
7. Distance leap (15 points). The dog must clear two hedges representing a ditch 9.84 feet broad.
8. Keeping guard over an object (20 points). The dog must guard an object in the absence of his master, neither abandon it nor permit anyone to take it.
9. Defending his master, attacked unexpectedly (20 points). The master taken by surprise, must be defended by his dog who must commence and end the attack without word of command.
10. Running attack (20 points). The dog will be ordered to attack a man walking, and must begin and end his attack at the word of command.
11. Sham attack (25 points). The dog about to attack a man must be stopped when within a few feet of him and not touch him.
12. Hunting for the malefactor (20 points). A man is hidden in a place designated by the jury while the dog is absent with his master. The dog must then discover the supposed evildoer and indicate his whereabouts by barking but not biting him.
13. Following a man into a house, and being fired on (25 points). A man enters a house and the dog must follow by jumping through an opening 6.56 feet high. The man escapes and closes the door behind him. The dog follows, leaving the house in the same way he entered it, runs after the man while being fired at, and ceases his pursuit at the word of command.
14. Conducting one or more prisoners (15 points). The dog must keep watch of the prisoners in charge of his master, attack without being ordered to do so anyone who tries to escape, and cease the attack at the word of command.
15. The call for help (20 points). The dog, placed in a house, shall, when his master calls for help, make his exit through an opening 15.7 inches in diameter, 6.56 feet from the ground, and defend his master if necessary.

For general qualities 25 points are accorded, so that the maximum number obtainable is 300. The dog classed first by the jury received a total credit of 285 points.

MUNICIPAL RECORD

Permit No. 145

Vol. VII—No. 4. SAN FRANCISCO, THURSDAY, JANUARY 22, 1914.

Board of Supervisors Disposes of Municipal Bonds at Good Premium

The Supervisors at their meeting last Monday sold $264,000 City Hall bonds and $927,500 Municipal Railway bonds to the Harris Trust and Savings Bank of Chicago at a premium of $10,485.20 and accrued interest, the bid being the highest received.

Supervisor Jennings, chairman of the Finance Committee, stated that this sale would render unnecessary the offering of any more bonds for thirty days.

Construction of Oriental School Is Ordered.

The ordinance providing for the construction of the Oriental school was finally passed. One property owner and a number of other protestants appeared before the Board protesting against the location of the school. Supervisor Gallagher continued to oppose it on the ground that the fund of $145,000, with which the school is to be built, had been taken from money formerly set aside for the construction of the Le Conte School. In the end all objections were overruled by the majority of the Supervisors and the Board of Works ordered to secure bids on the cost of construction.

To Organize Branch of Municipal League.

City Attorney Long, president of the League of California Municipalities, sent in a letter apprising the Board of a meeting which is to be held in the City Hall February 12 at 10:30 o'clock a. m. to organize a branch of the league among the bay cities.

City to Carry Its Own Liability Insurance.

The Finance Committee presented a resolution advising that the city carry its own liability insurance for city employes. Under the ruling of the attorney for the State Accident Board, San Francisco policemen and firemen are exempt from the provisions of the act, but the annual premiums on the rest of the city payroll would amount approximately to $67,000. The Finance Committee believes that the city will save money by carrying its own insurance. The resolution also provides that city employes who are injured in the performance of their duties shall be treated at the city emergency hospitals. The resolution was adopted.

New Ordinances and Resolutions Are Introduced.

An ordinance providing that horsedrawn, as well as motor, vehicles shall carry tail lights after dusk was referred to the Streets Committee.

Supervisor Deasy introduced a resolution, which was adopted, directing that the Board of Public Works prepare plans and report in one week upon proposed extensions of water mains. These mains are to be paid out of the sale of Hetch Hetchy bonds to the districts which are in need of water.

Supervisor Nolan presented an ordinance, which is in effect a duplicate of the State law, requiring all contractors on steel buildings to provide planking at each story during construction for the safety of steel workers. It was referred to the Judiciary Committee.

Supervisor Power offered a resolution, which was adopted, directing the clerk of the Board to report on the condition of all the bond funds.

Supervisor Walsh introduced a resolution directing the Board of Works to report on all municipal street railway work, the status of construction, the capacity of each line when finished, with especial reference to Exposition traffic. This resolution was adopted. Walsh also introduced an ordinance for the regulation of stables and other industrial establishments. The resolution was referred to the Health Committee.

Supervisor Gallagher introduced a resolution providing that the duties of the Water Rates Committee should hereafter be performed by the Public Utilities Committee. This was referred to the Public Welfare Committee.

Ordinances Finally Passed.

Ordering the completion of the City Morgue in the County Jail building on Washington street and Dunbar alley.

Ordering the furnishing and installing of pumps, motors and automatic control devices at the Commercial street sewage pumping station.

Providing for the opening and extension of Vulcan street into Ord street.

REPORT OF DEPARTMENT OF ELECTRICITY.

Superintendent Nixon of the Department of Electricity reports having collected $1397.65 during last month for inspection and fire tapper service.

The central fire alarm office handled 205 alarms, 4932 police calls and 1121 signals on the joker system. 583 of the 610 boxes in service were tested, 37 causes of line trouble were removed and 264 complaints were investigated.

All fire alarm wires on Grant avenue, between Bush and Jackson streets; on Pine street, from Grant avenue to Kearny street, and on Post street, between Powell and Jones streets, were removed.

New fire alarm box 27 at Clay and Montgomery streets was installed on the underground cable and posts and laterals were installed for new boxes at Sutter and Sansome, Sutter and Mason, Sansome and Pine and Sansome and Sacramento streets.

PLAYGROUND COMMISSION REORGANIZED.

At the last regular meeting of the Playground Commission, the resignations of T. A. Reardon, who was recently apointed a Commissioner of the Board of Public Works, and Dr. A. A. D'Ancona, who is succeeded by George E. Gallagher, the newly elected president of the Board of Education, as ex-officio member of the Playground Commission, were accepted with regret. A vote of thanks was extended to the retiring members for their generous work in the interest of the department.

Rev. D. O. Crowley was re-elected president of the Commission for the ensuing year.

Mayor Signs Cemetery Removal Ordinance and It Becomes Law

Mayor Rolph on Saturday last signed the cemetery removal ordinance, and in returning the new law to the Board of Supervisors issued the following communication explaining his position:

San Francisco, January 17, 1914.

To the People of San Francisco:

After much thought and investigation, I have approved Ordinance No. 2597 (New Series), providing for the ultimate removal of the cemeteries, within the boundaries prescribed by said ordinance.

This legislation was approved by the Board of Supervisors after two years' deliberation.

I feel that the labor and attention given by them to this subject are entitled to the greatest weight.

No responsibility cast upon me since I have been Mayor has given me greater concern.

No feeling is more honorable or creditable than respect for the dead.

The appeal of this sentiment has deeply touched my sympathies. The duty of government, however, is always more to the living than to the dead.

We must provide for the expansion of our city; it must be a city of homes. To this end, sentiment must yield to progress.

The law, for the last 13 years, has prevented burials within the city limits. Necessarily, therefore, members of families cannot be buried together in these cemeteries.

It is conceded by all that, at some time, these cemeteries must be removed. Why not prepare for that occasion now, when the living who have relatives and friends in these cemeteries, are present to insure reverence and delicacy in the removal and reinterment of their dead?

All the ground within San Francisco is required for living inhabitants. To contribute to that end we must, where necessary, lay aside sentiment. The city belongs to the generation now living and to those who come after.

For these reasons I have approved this ordinance.

While thus expressing my views, I am conscious of the marked division of opinion that exists in the community on this question, and feel that the importance of this matter justifies a submission of the subject to the people.

With these considerations in mind, I shall, within a reasonable time, availing myself of the authority given me by the charter, cause to be placed on the ballot of the general election in November the question in such form as will call for a full expression of the will of the people.

Respectfully,

JAMES ROLPH JR.,
Mayor of the City and County of San Francisco.

At the request of many readers of the "Municipal Record," the ordinance is herewith printed in full:

Bill No. 2853, Ordinance No. 2597 (New Series). Providing for the exhuming, taking up, removal and reinterment of the human remains interred in the cemeteries located within the following boundaries:

Commencing at a point formed by the intersection of the westerly line of Broderick street with the southerly line of California street; thence running westerly along said southerly line of California street to the easterly line of Arguello boulevard; thence southerly along said easterly line of Arguello boulevard to the southerly line of Fulton street; thence easterly along said southerly line of Fulton street to the westerly line of Broderick street; thence northerly along said westerly line of Broderick street to the southerly line of California street and point of commencement, including the Laurel Hill, Calvary, Masonic and Odd Fellows cemeteries.

Prescribing the procedure for accomplishing such exhumations, removals and reinterments; providing that an assessment may be levied on property from which said removals have been made at public expense; and providing for the sale of property subject to such assessment and for the disposition of the proceeds from such sale.

Every person, corporation or association owning or claiming any cemetery lot or lots situated within the above described cemeteries shall, in compliance with the above notice, proceed within fourteen months from the date this Ordinance takes effect remove any and all bodies which may be interred in said lot or lots and reinter or otherwise dispose of the same in accordance with law, outside of said limits, and if such persons, corporations or associations do not complete said removals in accordance with said notice then further proceedings shall be taken, as herein provided.

Section 4. If, at the expiration of fourteen months from the date this Ordinance takes effect, there shall still be bodies left in any one or more of said cemeteries, then the Board of Health shall serve upon the person, corporation or association owning or controlling the cemetery or cemeteries in which such bodies remain interred a written notice directing them and each of them to commence, within three months from date of service of such notice and proceed continuously thereafter, to remove all bodies which may still remain interred in their respective cemeteries above described and to complete such removals within three years and six months thereafter. Said notice shall also state that if such removals are not commenced within three months from service of such notice or continuously proceeded with thereafter or completed within the time above specified, that the Board of Health will proceed to make such removals and that further proceedings will be taken in accordance with the provisions of this Ordinance.

Section 5 Within three months after receipt of such notice the persons, corporations or associations owning or controlling such cemeteries are hereby ordered to commence and to proceed continuusly thereafter to remove all bodies which may still be interred in their respective cemeteries, and to complete said removals within the time specified in said notice. All bodies removed shall be reinterred outside of said cemeteries, or otherwise disposed of, in accordance with law.

Section 6. Section 7. The City Engineer shall, upon request of the Board of Health, forthwith prepare a map of any one or more of said cemeteries, which map shall be entitled and known as the "Map of Cemetery Lands." The City Engineer shall cause necessary surveys to be made with corresponding delineations upon such map, to subdivide said cemeteries into convenient tracts for sale purposes, making proper provision for the future extension of public streets through said cemeteries. Said subdivisions shall be numbered consecutively. The City Engineer shall transmit said map to the Board of Health, who shall file the same with the County Recorder in the manner provided by law, after approval by the Board of Public Works. Reinterments made by the Board of Health or its contractors shall be made in lands now owned or hereafter to be acquired by the City for cemetery purposes situated outside of the limits of the City and County. Provided, that any person having the right to the possession of any one or more bodies buried within the above cemeteries shall at any time prior to its actual disinterment and removal have the right to make such disinterment and removal by so notifying the Board of Health, the cemetery association, or the contractor charged with such work and proceeding forthwith to make such distinterment and removal. The Tax Collector shall keep an accurate record of the levy and payment of said assessments and shall pay all moneys received by him in payment thereof or from sales under this Ordinance to the Treasurer to the credit of a fund to be known as the Cemetery Removal Fund.

Section 11. If said assessment shall not be satisfied within thirty (30) days from the date of levy as aforesaid the Tax Collector shall cause to be published in a daily newspaper, published in this City and County, for a period of not less than ten (10) days, notice of a public sale of the subdivision or subdivisions upon which payment thereof may be delinquent to be held at his office on a date not less than fifteen (15) days from and after the first date of publication between the hours of 9 a. m. and 4 p. m. of said day, and that on said date and at said place and hour said subdivision or subdivisions will be sold to the highest bidder over the amount of said assessment plus the costs of said publication and sale. At any time prior to the date of said sale the person or association owning or controlling the cemetery in which said subdivision is situated shall have a right to discharge the assessment on the same by paying the amount thereof as aforesaid plus the costs of publication.

Section 12. EDUCATIONAL RIGHTS OF CHILDREN.

Several inquiries have been received regarding the special acts regarding the educational rights of children, and in reply to them the following excerpts are given from the State laws:

Section 1 of "An act to enforce the educational rights of children," amended March 4, 1907, reads:

> EACH CHILD MUST ATTEND SCHOOL.
> Section 1. Unless excused, as hereinafter provided, each parent, guardian, or other person, in the State of California having control or charge of any child between the ages of eight and fifteen years, shall be required to send such child to a public school, during the time in which a public school shall be in session, in the city or city and county or school district in which said child resides.

Unless the child is excused from attendance, for one of several reasons enumerated in the law, the parent, guardian or other persons having control or charge of the child is punishable by fine or imprisonment for failure to comply with this provision of the act.

The act "regulating employment of children," approved June 2, 1913, provides as follows:

> MINOR UNDER SIXTEEN MUST NOT WORK DURING SCHOOL HOURS.
>
> Sec. 7. No minor who is under sixteen years of age shall be employed or permitted to work at any gainful occupation during the hours that the public schools of the city, town or school district in which his place of employment is situated are in session, unless he or she has completed the prescribed grammar school course, or unless he or she is a regular attendant for the then current term at a regularly conducted night school; provided, however, that if the bodily and mental condition of said minor is such as to render inadvisable attendance at school or application to study, a certificate from any licensed physician that said minor should not attend school shall be sufficient excuse for such non-attendance.

BRIEF SESSION OF FIRE COMMISSION.

The Fire Commissioners at their meeting on the 14th inst. requested the City Attorney to take action to enforce a claim against the United Railroads for damages done to Truck 7 when a car of that corporation collided with the fire apparatus at the corner of Mission and Seventeenth streets last October. The railroad company refused to settle the claim and contends that the collision was not due to any carelessness on the part of the motorman in charge of the car.

Charges were ordered filed against H. J. Gannon, a hoseman of Engine Company 34, accused of having been under the influence of liquor on the 10th inst., while on duty.

The following applications for transfers were granted, to take effect from the 10th inst.: James Bridgewood from lieutenant Water Tower Co. 1 to lieutenant Engine Co. 25; Theodore Trivett from Captain Engine Co. 12 to captain Engine Co. 28.

A communication was read from the Chief Engineer reporting having made the following assignments for duty of probationary employees of the pumping stations, who were appointed at the last regular meeting of the Board, to take effect from the 10th inst.: E. R. Hubenette to pumping station No. 2 as assistant engineer; C. W. Plitch, J. J. Murphy, Patrick Cull and John Walsh to pumping station No. 2 as firemen; Michael Hurley to pumping station No. 1 as fireman.

Also reporting having made the following reassignments of employees of the pumping stations, to take effect from the 10th inst.: George Comstock, from chief engineer pumping station No. 1 to chief engineer pumping station No. 2; George Edwards, from assistant engineer pumping station No. 1 to assistant engineer pumping station No. 2; Chas. Derham, from assistant to chief engineer of pumping station No. 1; E. L. Baker, from fireman pumping station No. 1 to fireman station No. 2. The action of the Chief was approved.

The Chief also reported having made the following assignments of members promoted at the last meeting: George Thomas to captain Engine Co. 12, Henry Donnadieu to lieutenant Water Tower Co. 1, Edward J. Rosenberg to Engine Co. 12 as hoseman, A. E. Birdsall to Engine Co. 5 as hoseman.

Jeremiah J. Coughlan was appointed a hoseman from the civil service eligible list.

MUNICIPAL JOTTINGS OF GENERAL INTEREST.

The New Era Club has suggested to the Supervisors that in addition to street signs the names of the streets be painted on the sidewalk curbs at all intersections.

The Street Committee will investigate the workings of the ordinance which provides that lights shall be displayed on all vehicles at certain hours between sunset and sunrise.

Enclosing a clipping and picture of motor-driven street cleaning machines, the Chief Sanitary Inspector has addressed a letter to the Supervisors calling attention to the desirability of installing such machines in San Francisco.

The Board of Health, in calling attention to the insanitary condition of Mateo street, between Arlington street and the Southern Pacific tracks, requests the Supervisors to have Mateo street brought to official grade and a sewer constructed in the street to connect with the main Arlington street sewer.

The Visitacion Valley Improvement Club has sent a communication to the Supervisors in which it is stated cars on the Kentucky street line do the "Tango" because of the condition of the street. It is sugested that the city take steps immediately to have the United Railroads join in much needed repair to the thoroughfare.

The Board of Public Works has been directed to expedite the improvement of streets, under the provisions of the ordinance which permits improvement by assessment on abutting property, to be paid in ten annual installments. It is contended that many more streets could be improved if more diligence was shown in making recommendations to the Supervisors.

Marquette, Mich.—The establishment of a municipal truck garden is planned by Poor Commissioner Powers of Escanaba. The city is the owner of twenty acres convenient to town. Commissioner Powers believes that this ground can be farmed with the prisoners in the city jail as the workers, and that the vegetables and other produce it is possible to raise will materially reduce the cost of caring for the municipal poor. It is proposed to have the two city justices, instead of sentencing "drunks" and "bums" to two weeks or thirty days' board at the county jail at the expense of the taxpayers sentence them to the same time, at hard work on the city farm. The project will be given a trial next summer.

PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION NOTES.

There will be an expenditure of $800,000 by China at the Exposition. Of this amount not less than $300,000 will be used for the Chinese Pavilion, according to an estimate made by Dr. T. C. Chu, Commissioner of China, who recently arrived in San Francisco.

"The preparation going on in China for this Exposition is universal, but is particularly noticeable in Central China, where there is great enlightenment and industrial civic development," said Dr. Chu.

"The pavilion which will be built by China may be a permanent gift to the United States. Its type of architecture will be typically Chinese and an architect from my country will arrive in San Francisco soon to design the structure.

"In no country is greater enthusiasm over a national exhibit at the Exposition being displayed than in China, and commissions are organized in every province for the purpose of cooperating with the Chinese Government in making ours the greatest exhibit ever displayed by China at any Exposition.

"The Commissioners constitute a bureau aud will maintain headquarters in every part of the republic and there arrange for the exhibits and create additional interest in the Exposition."

"When I left for Europe I was confident that the Fine Arts Department would have an exhibition as strong as any ever seen in this country," said John E. D. Trask, chief of the Department of Fine Arts of the Exposition.

"On my return I am not only confident, but positively assured that there will be in San Francisco in 1915 the very best exhibition of paintings and sculpture that has ever been seen on the Western hemisphere, and in many respects the most interesting fine arts exhibit that has ever been held in the world."

Trask brought back to President Charles C. Moore and Director in Chief Frederick J. V. Skiff silver plaques, replicas of the golden plaque presented by the Exposition to Baron Pierre de Coubertin, as a trophy to be contested for the modern pentathlon, one of the leading athletic events at the Swedish Olympian games.

Trask visited ten foreign countries, and while abroad conferred with the leaders in art of the world. He was highly successful in his mission and is enthusiastic over the art exhibit which is to be presented on the Exposition grounds in 1915.

As a preliminary step to the meeting of the Transcontinental Passenger Association in this city on March 25 to take final action on railroad rates to San Francisco in 1915, a conference was held recently in the offices of A. M. Mortensen, Traffic Manager for the Exposition.

At this meeting a schedule of 1915 railroad rates prepared by Mortensen was submitted to the local passenger traffic managers for their consideration. This was an important step in advance of the meeting in March, when representatives of all the railroads west of Chicago will assemble in San Francisco.

The matter of railroad rates to San Francisco in 1915 is of the utmost importance to prospective visitors and exhibitors throughout the United States and abroad and the action of the railroad companies in this matter is being watched eagerly. The Exposition officials have taken an intense interest in the matter of railroad rates and are anxious to see equitable rates to San Francisco fixed by all of the lines coming into San Francisco.

With the removal of the miles of staging from the walls of the Palace of Machinery at the Exposition, which is now almost cleared, the visitor to the Exposition has now a favorable opportunity to admire the massive architecture of that huge building and to realize what its appearance will be when the color work on it is finished. A considerable amount of this work has already been done and the richly toned marble covering for the six great columns before the main entrance is now being put in place. The sixteen flagpoles tipped with their many pointed gold stars now decorate the entire front of the building. Within, the interior finishing is progressing rapidly.

The two hundred and first convention to meet in San Francisco during the Panama-Pacific International Exposition in 1915 was booked when James A. Barr, Manager of the Bureau of Conventions and Societies of the Exposition, received a telegram announcing that the Phi Kappa Sigma National Fraternity had accepted the invitation to convene in San Francisco during the Exposition. Final action was taken by the fraternity at its annual convention in Nashville, Tennessee, after four of its California members, officially delegated by President Charles C. Moore of the Exposition, had renewed the invitation to hold its next convention in San Francisco.

MUST REPORT ACCIDENTS TO CITY EMPLOYES.

All of the municipal departments, bureaus and officers have been directed by resolution of the Board of Supervisors to report to the clerk of the Board, on proper forms, all accidents which may come under the Workmen's Compensation Act, and give the information required by the State bureau.

ITEMS OF INTEREST FROM OTHER MUNICIPALITIES.

Cleveland, O.—In response to inquiries from officials in New York, Boston, Buffalo, Louisville and other cities, Mr. Meyers, dance hall inspector, has prepared a statement of the arrangement under which Cleveland's municipal three-cent dance halls are operated. He says the Cleveland scheme may be adopted in a few, if not all, of the cities. Since their establishment, two years ago, the municipal dance halls have entertained 175,000 dancers. The net profit this year was approximately $7,000.

Columbus, O.—Basing his opinion on a statute which requires that contracts for public improvements costing over $500 must be awarded by competitive bidding, Attorney General Hogan holds that it is illegal for the director of public service to allow individual departments to carry to completion improvement work by hiring day laborers. The opinion rendered by the attorney general, it is declared, will have great political bearing in many cities, in that it will effect to a great extent that end of machine politics affecting the wholesale employment of laborers.

Paducah, Ky.—The General Council has taken steps to prohibit the serving of free lunches in saloons, contending that they are unsanitary. While some of the saloon proprietors object to the proposed law, there are a number who favor it, claiming that the free lunches are costly and forced upon them because their competitors serve them. A number of proprietors are arranging to evade the law by selling the lunches at a nominal price, while others say they will sell the lunches at the price of a drink and give away the drink.

E. M. Hecht has been chosen president of the Board of Censorship for the present year, to succeed J. S. Webster.

City Attorney Reports to Supervisors on Water Extension Question

The Supervisors, at their regular weekly meeting held last Monday, received the following communication from City Attorney Long, in reply to a request that he confer with the City Engineer and formulate a plan of procedure under and by which water mains and pipes shall be laid in the streets of the city and county:

> A procedure adopted by some municipalities owning water works for the laying of water mains is to charge the whole or a part of the cost thereof upon private property according to frontage, or upon districts according to benefits. Laying of mains is put in the same category as laying of sewers, paving of streets and the ordinary street improvements, the cost of which is chargeable against the property benefited.
>
> Subdivision 10 of Section 2 of the Los Angeles charter provides that the city of Los Angeles shall have the right and power to levy assessments on property, according to frontage, or on a district, according to benefits, for laying water mains.
>
> The theory underlying the assessment plan is that it is as much the duty of property owners and as much to their benefit to defray the whole or part of the cost of laying water mains as to defray the cost in ordinary street improvements, such as sewers, paving, etc. The objection to this plan is that the city, ducting a water works, engage therein for purpose of profit, and the business should carry the burden of its cost. The answer made to the objection is that the city does not, in conducting a water works, engage therein for purpose of profit, but solely to furnish a necessary service at the smallest expense to the consumer, and that profit is only justifiable to pay the cost of extension to the main system and to cover future deterioration and replacement in the system and things of a kindred nature.
>
> In further support of the theory it is urged that if the city is to defray the cost of laying mains it will result that there will be in the ground many miles of pipe from which there is no return on the capital invested. This loss of interest on the invested capital must be borne by the rate payers in general who derive no benefit from the mains laid. The whole theory is to take municipal water works out of the category of a profit paying business and to place its conduct and management upon the same plane as ordinary governmental activities.
>
> If the plan should be carried out it will have the effect of materially lowering water rates, making the cost of water its actual cost of production.
>
> Another plan that has been followed is that whenever property owners desire the extension of mains the property owners shall pay the cost of such extensions into the city treasury, and when upon a proper survey it is shown that a permanent annual income of a given per cent is being derived from such mains, the money shall be returned to the property owners paying the cost of the mains into the treasury.
>
> A third plan is the assessment plan to which is coupled the plan of paying back to the assessed property owners money advanced by them for the cost of the extensions whenever the returns from the extensions shall warrant such return. This plan is different in theory from the straight assessment plan, since ultimately the cost is to be paid out of the profits of the business. It saves loss of interest on capital invested, and obtains the capital invested from the returns of the business.
>
> The value of this plan is that it provides a method for paying the cost for the laying of mains without the issuance of bonds and saves the interest on the investment. This plan likewise results in a lowering of water rates, but not so materially as in the straight assessment plan.
>
> A fourth plan is for the city itself to lay the mains and entirely assume the cost thereof through issuance of bonds. The objection urged to this plan is that either the sinking fund and interest must be obtained from rates collected on the whole system, or must be paid through yearly taxation on property in general. If the entire system, including water mains, is to be paid out of future revenues it is urged that water rates during the early years of the municipal ownership of the system must necessarily be high and a burden on the rate payers.
>
> I do not undertake to advise you on what is the best plan, since that is a matter of policy which must be decided after a careful study of the subject from the standpoint of the rate payers, the property owners and the best plan for the financing the municipal water project.
>
> The charter, as it is now framed, permits only of the fourth plan. Chapter II of Article VI provides for the improvement of streets by levying the cost thereof upon property fronting on the improvement, or upon a district benefited by the improvement. The street improvements, however, the cost of which can then be charged against private property, is defined in Section 26 of Chapter II, as follows:
>
> "The word 'improvement' shall be held to include grading, paving, planking, macadamizing, piling and capping; and the construction of repairs of sewers, cesspools, manholes, culverts, drains, sidewalks and curbs."
>
> In order for the Supervisors to levy assessments upon property for the construction of water mains the charter must be amended so as to confer upon the Supervisors that power. The only method laid down by the charter to construct a public utility is to pay the cost thereof out of current revenues or by the sale of bonds. Extensions can be made from the same sources or from the surplus of the earnings. None of the foregoing plans are therefore available to the city except the latter plan. The charter, however, may be amended so as to permit mains to be laid under the first, second or third plan outlined, or any other plan that may be devised. The plan to be adopted, if a plan other than the one permitted by the charter is to be followed, is a matter of policy to be determined by your Board and submitted to the people in the shape of a charter amendment.

The communication was referred to the Public Utilities and Water Rates Committee for consideration.

Suggest That City Share Street Opening Costs.

In regard to the proposed street opening for the construction of the Church street branch of the Municipal Railway, Supervisor Gallagher suggested that the city pay at least half of the expense out of the general fund, as many people in the proposed assessment district are also in the Twin Peaks Tunnel assessment district. The Streets and Tunnels committees will consider the matter.

To Settle Claims of Lynch and Conlon Heirs.

An ordinance was passed to print, on advice of the City Attorney, authorizing him to settle the claims of the heirs of James Conlon and Patrick Lynch, city employes who were asphyxiated in a sewer, in accordance with his recommendation. The heirs brought suit, the charter compelling such course. The suits are to be compromised on a basis of what the heirs would receive had the accident occurred subsequent to the passage of the industrial insurance act. The sums as thus determined are $4,500 for the heirs of Conlon and $3,600 for the heirs of Lynch.

County Clerk Turns Over Naturalization Fees.

A communication was read from City Attorney Long stating that $20,668.50 had been paid by County Clerk H. I. Mulcrevy and deposited with the City and County Treasurer. This is one-half the amount collected by the County Clerk as naturalization fees. The United States Supreme Court decided recently in a friendly suit that this proportion of the fees received belong to the counties in which they are collected.

Various New Matters Favorably Acted Upon.

A resolution was adopted asking the City Engineer for a report on the valuation of all properties of the Spring Valley Water Company necessary to a municipal system.

An invitation of the League of California Municipalities, to be present on February 12, in the City Hall, at which time it is proposed to organize a bay cities branch of the league, was accepted.

A resolution providing that property owners along unimproved streets shall pay for the cost of the paving between the tracks of the municipal railway when built, and for two feet on either side of the tracks, was adopted.

An ordinance was passed to print directing the City Engineer to compile and file with the Federal authorities maps of the proposed site of the dams in Hetch Hetchy and the grants made to the city by Congress. This is part of the routine of accepting the grant.

A resolution was unanimously adopted congratulating Supervisor Charles A. Murdock on the seventy-third anniversary of his birthday. Supervisor Murdock responded to calls for a speech.

EMERGENCY HOSPITAL FOR EXPOSITION GROUNDS.

The Exposition Company has advised the Supervisors that an emergency hospital service will be established in the Exposition grounds within the next ten days. Two motor ambulances have been ordered, one of which is on the way and the other about to leave the factory. In this connection the Board of Health advises the Supervisors that no matter what may be done by the Exposition company, there is urgent need that the city establish a branch emergency hospital in that section of the city.

Brown of the National Civil Service Commission, asking for co-operation by the city in working out a general plan for the pensioning of all employes who hold positions on a civil service basis. Commissioner Walcott has been appointed to make the desired investigation and recommendations.

The Fire Commissioners at their meeting on the 21st inst. directed that H. J. Gannon, a hoseman of Engine 34, be suspended for thirty days from the 10th inst., on which date he was relieved from duty for being under the influence of liquor and for using vulgar language over the telephone.

A communication was received from the Exposition Valley Improvement Club requesting the use of the Fire Department lot on the south side of Vallejo street, between Laguna and Octavia streets, for a children's playground and that it be turned over to the Playground Commission for that purpose. It was agreed that the request be granted upon application by the Playground Commission with the proviso that said permission be only temporary and at the pleasure of the Board.

Battalion Chief Bailey submitted a report of an accident whereby a car of the United Railroads collided with the apparatus of Monitor Battery 1 at Larkin and Sutter streets while the latter was responding to an alarm of fire on the 8th inst. CONSIDERING PROPOSED NEW STABLE LAW.

The Public Health Committee of the Board of Supervisors has fixed next Wednesday morning, February 4, at 10:30 o'clock, as the time for considering a proposed new ordinance to regulate the conduct of stables. The ordinance, as drafted, requires that a permit be secured from the Supervisors before operating any stable within the City and County. The ordinance would not go into effect, however, until six months after its passage.

PROCEEDINGS BEFORE PUBLIC BUILDINGS COMMITTEE.

The Building Committee of the Board of Supervisors has taken favorable action on the application of the Registrar of Voters acting also in behalf of the Auditor and Treasurer, that a sign be placed on the Market street frontage of the old City Hall, indicating to the general public the location of the offices therein.

Action on the suggestion from the Board of Education that it desired the space occupied on school property at Pine and Larkin streets by the Building Repair Department and the request for an appropriation to construct buildings and shops for the Building Bureau in the corporation yard at Eleventh and Bryant streets, was laid over for one week.

MOTOR BUS PRIVILEGES MUST BE GENERAL.

City Attorney Long has advised the Public Utilities Committee of the Supervisors that the Board may not grant an exclusive franchise to operate motor buses over the streets of the city. He holds that the streets are common property and open to all and that while certain licenses and restrictions may be imposed by ordinance, these provisions must be applicable to all.

In view of the fact that several companies plan to run motor buses to accommodate Exposition traffic, the decision is interesting at this time. The opinion follows:

Gentlemen:

I am in receipt of your communication of January 22nd, asking to be advised as follows:

> "The Public Utilities Committee desires you to report legal powers of the Board of Supervisors to grant or refuse permits for the operation of motor buses as public conveyances on the streets of the City of San Francisco.
>
> "The accompying letter is self-explanatory and is the subject on which this request is based.
>
> "The Committee is desirous to know what power the Board of Supervisors has to control rates of fare, service and operation of a motor bus line should one be operated."

From the letter accompanying your request it appears that your Honorable Board has been asked to issue a permit for seven years for the operation of a motor bus line upon certain designated streets, the City and County after the first six months to receive a percentage of the gross receipts.

OPINION:

The Charter, Article II, Chapter II, Section 1, Subdivision 7, provides that "the Board of Supervisors shall have power:

> 7. To regulate the use of hackney carriages and public passenger vehicles, and to fix the rates to be charged for the transportation of persons or personal baggage."

Subdivision 15 of the same section gives the Board of Supervisors power "to impose license taxes and to provide for the collection thereof".

Under Subdivision 7, above quoted, and as a means of regulating the use of that particular class of public passenger vehicles, your Honorable Board has power to enact an ordinance requiring a permit to be obtained for the operation of any bus line in the City and County and to impose any reasonable requirements and restrictions. Under Subdivision 15 a license tax might be imposed on all such bus lines, and this tax might properly take the form of a certain percentage of the gross receipts. In accordance with the terms of such a general ordinance a permit would properly issue for the conduct of this proposed motor bus line.

In the absence of such a general ordinance I am satisfied that your Honorable Board is without power to issue such a permit as is here requested. If your Board has the power to grant or refuse this permit on the terms proposed, you might equally grant or refuse another permit upon different terms But the right to the use of the public streets is common to all, and such reasonable regulation and restriction as may be placed on that use must not discriminate between members of the same class. It follows that any regulation that may be adopted with regard to motor bus lines must operate upon all alike. A general ordinance such as I have suggested would not be open to this objection.

In answer to your second question I will say that under Article II, Chapter II, Section 1, Subdivision 7 of the Charter, above referred to, your Honorable Board has the power to make any reasonable regulation with regard to rates of fare, service and operation of all bus lines in the city and county.

MUNICIPAL JOTTINGS OF GENERAL INTEREST.

The Board of Public Works has accepted the offer of J. P. Holland to dispose of street sweepings delivered at Fourth and Channel streets.

The Woman's Progressive Club of the Mission has addressed a communication to the Supervisors asking that more street signs be placed in the club's territory.

On recommendation of the Mayor, Auditor and Treasurer, the rate to be paid by banks holding city money on deposit has been fixed at 2 per cent per annum.

Plans and specifications for the ramp to be constructed on Vallejo street, to overcome the grades between Taylor and Jones streets, have been approved by the Supervisors.

R. Estecourt in complaining to the Supervisors of the muddy condition of Spring Valley water asks the corporation be required to filter all water before delivery to the consumer.

The Central Sunset Improvement Cub has sent a petition to the Board of Supervisors asking that Ninteenth avenue be redesigned as a boulevard and that the usual restrictions as to uses govern.

A request from Supervisor Power that the Telephone Company be given an allowance of $1000 to secure expert assistance in the investigation to be made preparatory to establishing telephone rates has been referred to the Finance Committee.

The Supervisors have been petitioned by the South of Army Street Improvement Club not to abandon the idea of constructing island parks in Dolores street, between Thirtieth street and San Jose avenue.

A resolution directing the United Railroads to improve the service on its Hayes and Masonic avenue line has been referred to the Public Utilities Committee for consideration and recommendation.

The ordinance presented by Supervisor Nelson requiring temporary flooring to protect workmen in all buildings of more than two stories in height has been passed to print by the Supervisors.

The clerk of the Board of Supervisors has been directed to arrange for the loan of a city automobile for two hours each day to assist in the collection of clothing for the use of the needy and unemployed.

The South of Army Street Improvement Club has asked that the curve at Twenty-sixth and Mission streets be replaced and Bryant street cars routed out Mission street to Twenty-ninth and Noe streets during the rush hours.

Full acceptance has been made by the Supervisors of the roadway of Eighth avenue, between Kirkham and Lawton streets, and the conditional acceptance of street crossings on Eighth avenue at the intersection of Lawton and Kirkham streets.

W. J. Hasselbrock has addressed a communication to the Supervisors suggesting that instead of an assessment district the proposed new street to enable the Municipal Railroad to encompass the Church street grades be provided for in the next budget.

Specifications for the grading and sewering of Rhode Island street, between Twentieth and Twenty-second streets, have been approved by the Board of Public Works and the Supervisors asked for authorization to have the work done. The estimated cost of the improvement is $20,465.

The City Engineer has been requested by the Board of Public Works to prepare resolutions of expediency for the improvement of Florida street by grading between Sixteenth and Seventeenth streets, and the construction of a sewer in Oregon street, between Washington and Jackson streets.

William Doll, learning of a movement to have a "Kitchen Inspector" appointed by the City to inspect the kitchens of all hotels, restaurants and cafes, has filed an application for the position with the Supervisors, stating he would be a good man for the reason that he is "up to all the tricks of the kitchen".

City Engineer O'Shaughnessy has advised the Supervisors that specifications for all city work contain a clause requiring contractors and builders to construct bridges and passageway for vehicular or pedestrian traffic, and that he has instructed the supervising engineer and inspector to enforce this requirement.

Members of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals have begun a campaign against the use of blind animals. As a result two blind horses were destroyed last week by agents of the society. This is the first time the society has taken an active personal interest in the enforcement of the law which forbids working blind animals.

Ordinances ordering the construction of the Cooper School building at the southwest corner of Jones and Lombard streets, Engine 12 at Drumm and Commercial streets, and the improvement of Shotwell street, between Fourteenth and Sixteenth streets and Fifteenth street from Howard to Folsom streets, have been passed to print by the Supervisors.

Pittsfield, Mass.—Special ballots are being prepared by the ballot law commission for use by the voters in Pittsfield, the first city to take advantage of the constitutional amendment adopted two years ago, permitting the use of voting machines. The machines were used in Pittsfield a few years ago, but were discarded after the Supreme Court had decreed their use to be unconstitutional.

City Engineer Files Valuable Report on Municipal Railway Extensions

City Engineer O'Shaughnessy, in compliance with a resolution of the Board of Supervisors, has filed the following report covering the exact routes which have been decided upon for municipal street railway extensions, the progress made in their construction and the number of persons these roads can carry to and from the Panama-Pacific International Exposition site:

January 29, 1914.

To the Honorable, the Board of Supervisors of the City and County of San Francisco.

Gentlemen:

By Journal Resolution No. 1073 the City Engineer is instructed to report to the Board of Supervisors the exact routes which have been decided upon for the street railways which are to be constructed under the Bond Issue authorized August 26, 1913, what progress has been made in the construction of these street railways, when they will be placed in operation, what number of persons can be carried to or from the site of the Panama-Pacific Exposition by these street railways, and whether the transportation so furnished will be sufficient.

A full discussion of each of the questions embodied in the above resolution is contained in the latter part of this report. Briefly, the questions asked may be answered as follows:

1. The exact routes of the proposed street railways are shown on the accompanying map.

2. The Van Ness Avenue and Chestnut Street railways, which will be the first completed, will be placed in operation on or before September 1st, 1914, and the Church Street line, if all proceedings for opening that street are expedited by the Supervisors, which will be the last to be finished, will be placed in operation on or before February 1, 1915.

3. Ninety per cent of the material necessary for the construction and equipment of the street railways has been ordered and is now in process of manufacture. The remainder of the material will be ordered within 30 days.

4. The carrying capacity of the proposed street railways will be limited by the number of cars operated. With the 100 cars which it is proposed to purchase and the 43 cars now owned by the City a maximum of 19,125 persons per hour can be transported to or from the Exposition.

5. The transportation so furnished will be sufficient during days of average attendance at the Exposition, provided passengers are willing to put up with some slight discomfort during the hours of heavy traffic owing to the crowded condition of the cars. It will be entirely inadequate during special days when the attendance is in excess of 100,000 persons.

The Bond Issue authorized August 26, 1913, provided the sum of $3,500,000 for the construction and purchase of double track street railways aggregating 16.35 miles in length, together with the equipment necessary therefor.

ROUTES UPON WHICH PROPOSED STREET RAILWAYS ARE TO BE CONSTRUCTED, AND PROBABLE DATES OF COMPLETION.

The streets upon which the proposed street railways are to be constructed, the dates upon which work will be commenced and the dates when the street railways will be finished and the lines placed in operation are as follows:

Van Ness Avenue Line—

To be constructed on Van Ness avenue from Market street to Chestnut street, length 1.89 miles; work will be commenced not later than April 15th, 1914, and completed on or before September 1, 1914.

Chestnut Street Line—

To be constructed on Chestnut street from Van Ness avenue to Scott street, thence on Scott street to Greenwich street, thence on Greenwich street to Steiner street, thence on Steiner street to Union street, where connections will be made with the tracks of the Union Street line; length 1.22 miles; work will be commenced not later than April 15th and be completed on or before September 1st.

Potrero Avenue Line—

To be constructed from Market street and Van Ness avenue, across Market street to Eleventh street, thence along Eleventh street to Division street, thence along Division street to Potrero avenue, thence along Potrero avenue to Twenty-fifth street; length 1.99 miles; provided there is no delay in the proposed widening of Division street from Seventh to Sixteenth streets, work on this line will be commenced not later than June 1st and be completed on or before October 1st.

Union Street Line—

The property of the Ferry and Presidio Railway Company was acquired during December, 1913, and placed in operation as a Municipay Railway on the 11th of December last. This street railway is operated along The Embarcadero from the Ferry to Jackson and Washington streets, thence to Columbus avenue, thence on Columbus avenue to Union street, thence out Union street to Larkin street, thence to Vallejo street, thence to Franklin street, thence to Union street, thence out Union street to Baker street, down Baker street to Greenwich street, thence on Greenwich street to the Presidio Military Reservation. The total length of this line is approximately 3.9 miles, of which slightly over one-half mile will have to be reconstructed. It is expected to commence this reconstruction not later than August 1st, and complete it on or before December 1st.

Columbus Avenue Extension to Union Street Line—

To be constructed on Columbus avenue from Union street to North Point street, thence on North Point street to Van Ness avenue, thence on Van Ness avenue to Chestnut street, where connections will be made with the tracks of the Van Ness avenue line; total length 1.26 miles. Work on this extension will be commenced not later than June 1st and completed on or before November 1st.

Fort Mason Extension to Union Street Line—

Connection is to be made with the tracks of the Columbus avenue extension to the Union street line at Bay street and tracks are to be constructed through the Fort Mason Military Reservation to a terminal on Laguna street between Jefferson and Beach streets; total length .48 miles. Work on this extension will be commenced not later than August 15th and completed on or before October 15th.

Stockton Street Line—

To be constructed on Stockton street from Market street to Columbus avenue, where connection will be made with the tracks of the Union street line; total length .97 mile. The construction of this street railway is dependent upon the completion of the Stockton street tunnel. At the present time it is the expectation that work can be commenced not later than August 1st and completed on or before November 1st.

California Street Line—

To be constructed as an extension to the Geary street line. Tracks will be laid on Second avenue from Geary street to Cornwall street, thence on Cornwall street to its junction with California street at Fifth avenue, thence on California street to Thirty-third avenue; total length 2.1 miles. Work will be commenced not later than September 1st and be completed on or before January 1st, 1915.

Church Street Line—

To be constructed from Market street and Van Ness avenue out Market street to Church street, thence on Church street from Market street to Thirtieth and Church streets; total length 2.54 miles. The consthruction of this street railway is dependent upon the construction of the Mission boulevard, which has been designed at the request of the adjacent property owners to overcome the steep grades of Church street between Eighteenth and Twenty-second streets. It is the present expectation that work on this street railway will be commenced not later than September 1st and completed on or before February 1st, 1915.

The location of all of the above described street railways is indicated graphically on the accompanying map.

PROGRESS OF WORK.

Contracts contemplating the expenditure of $871,811.04 were entered into on January 2nd for the following materials and equipment to be used in the construction of the street railways:

The amount named opposite each contract includes the contract price and the bonus which the contractor may earn by delivering the material before the date specified.

Contract No. 1, with the United States Steel Products Company, for steel rails and rail joints..........	$150,014.22
Contract No. 2, with the Payne Bolt Works, of San Francisco, for tie rods........................	3,514.50
Contract No. 3, with Eccles & Smith, of San Francisco, for tie plates............................	15,264.32
Contract No. 4, with the United States Steel Products Company, for rail spikes.......................	2,550.00
Contract No. 5, with the Caspar Lumber Company, of San Francisco, for redwood ties.................	37,990.00
Contract No. 7, with the United States Steel Products Company, for track special work................	94,338.00
Contract No. 13A, with the Jewett Car Company, of Newark, Ohio, for car bodies......................	295,000.00
Contract No. 13B, with Baldwin Locomotive Works, of Philadelphia, for car trucks....................	61,000.00
Contract No. 13C, with Westinghouse Electric Mfg. Co., of Pittsburgh, for car motor equipments....	232,600.00
Contract No. 13D, with Westinghouse Traction Brake Co., of Pittsburgh, for air brake equipment......	22,500.00
Total	$871,811.04

Work has been commenced on all of these contracts, and it appears probable that all of the material will be delivered before the dates specified in the contracts for such delivery.

Specifications for the remainder of the material required and for the construction of tracks and car barn are being prepared and will be completed as needed. At the present time I see no reason why all of the work should not be completed on or before the dates mentioned above.

NUMBER OF PERSONS WHO CAN BE TRANSPORTED TO OR FROM THE EXPOSITION BY PROPOSED STREET RAILWAYS.

Terminal Loops—

By reference to the accompanying map it will be seen that the tracks on Van Ness avenue from Vallejo street to Chestnut street, on Chestnut street from Van Ness avenue to Scott street, on Scott street from Chestnut street to Greenwich street, on Greenwich street from Scott street to Steiner street, on Steiner street from Greenwich street to Union street, on Union street from Steiner street to Franklin street, on Franklin street from Union street to Vallejo street, and on Vallejo street from Franklin street to Van Ness avenue, form a double loop, differing from the terminal loop of the United Railroads at the Ferry only in its size, over which southbound cars from the Ferry or Stockton street, via Columbus avenue, or northbound cars from Geary street or south of Market street, via Van Ness avenue, can be operated past the gates of the Exposition on Chestnut street and back to their points of origin, without loss of time other than that necessary to discharge or receive passengers.

The Fort Mason extension is also to be constructed with a terminal loop on Laguna street.

In other words, the arrangement of tracks of the proposed street railways will be such as to provide three single track terminal loops at the Exposition.

At the present time 263 cars per hour are operated over the two loops at the Ferry during the rush hours, notwithstanding the obstruction caused by the heavy traffic on the Embarcadero. By giving the Traffic Squad of the Police Department proper authority and making suitable provision for loading and unloading passengers on Chestnut street, it will be possible to operate as many or more cars (130 per hour) over each single track loop as are at present operated over each of the Ferry loops. With three loops we will then be able to operate 390 or say 400 cars per hour past the gates of the Exposition.

Capacity of Tracks—

Mr. Arnold, in his report on Transportation to the Exposition (see pages 59 and 60 of the Report on Transportation Facilities of San Francisco), estimated the capacity of a double track street railway at 120 cars per hour. Since Mr. Arnold's report was written, however, the operations of the Traffic Squad have so facilitated the movement of the street cars on Market street that the United Railroads are at the present time averaging 180 cars per hour over these tracks during the rush hours.

Taking into account the steeper grades on Van Ness avenue and on Columbus avenue and North Point street, it appears probable that the capacity of the Van Ness avenue and Columbus avenue lines will be somewhere between Mr. Arnold's estimate and the present capacity of Market street, or say 150 cars per hour, for each route, or say 300 cars per hour for both routes.

Capacity of Cars—

The City at the present time owns 43 cars, which are in use on the Geary Street Railway. One hundred additional cars have been ordered, so that there will be available for use on the Municipal Railways at the time of the Exposition, 143 cars. Assuming that 13 of these cars will be held in reserve, 130 cars will be available for the transportation of passengers.

The number of trips to the Exposition which can be made by these cars depends upon the method of routing which is adopted. The following is a method which it is believed will prove satisfactory:

From the Ferry via Columbus avenue to the Fort Mason terminal.

From Market and Stockton streets, via Columbus avenue, to Fort Mason terminal.

From the Ferry, via Geary street and Van Ness avenue, to Chestnut street terminal.

From Thirty-third avenue and Geary street and from Thirty-third avenue and California street, via Geary street and Van Ness avenue, to Chestnut street terminal.

From Potrero avenue and Twenty-fifth street, via Van Ness avenue, to Chestnut street terminal.

From Thirtieth and Church streets, via Van Ness avenue, to Chestnut street terminal.

At the present time the cars on the Geary Street Municipal Railway are operating at an average speed of slightly less than 11 miles per hour. For the purpose of this estimate, it is assumed that cars on all of the Municipal Railways can be operated at an average speed of 9 miles per hour. This will enable us to maintain a headway of 2 minutes and 20 seconds on each of the above routes. The headway on each of the three loops at the Exposition will then be 1 minute and 10 seconds. In other words, 51 cars per hour will pass over each loop or 153 cars per hour over 3 loops.

The maximum capacity of the cars at present in use on Geary street is 125 persons. The maximum capacity of the proposed new cars is 150 persons. Assuming that during rush hours cars will carry to the Exposition an average of 125 persons per car, the maximum capacity of the proposed equipment of cars to the Exposition will be 19,125 persons per hour.

Summarizing the above statement, the capacity of the terminal loops at the Exposition is 400 cars per hour or 50,000 persons per hour. The capacity of the tracks of the proposed Municipal Street Railways to the Exposition is 300 cars per hour or 37,500 persons per hour. The capacity of the cars contemplated is 153 cars per hour, or 19,125 persons per hour.

In other words, the capacity of the terminal loops and tracks of the proposed street railways is far in excess of the number of cars which it is probable the City will own at the time of the Exposition.

Adding to 19,125 (the maximum number of persons transported by the Municipal Railways) 12,000 (the maximum number of persons transported by private lines), we have 31,125 persons per hour as the maximum number which can be transported to and from the Exposition by municipal and private lines combined.

It is to be noted that the above estimates contemplate operating cars in a crowded condition. They should be reduced by 20 per cent or to 24,100, to arrive at the comfortable carrying capacity of the cars. It is also to be noted that to secure this maximum carrying capacity it will be necessary to abandon through service on Geary street.

SUFFICIENCY OF TRANSPORTATION PROVIDED.

From estimates as to the probable attendance at the Exposition (see page 30 of City Engineer's report of April 5, 1913, on Transportation for the Panama-Pacific Exposition), it appears probable that on days of average attendance at the Exposition it will be necessary to provide transportation for from 20,000 to 25,000 persons per hour and that on special days when the attendance at the Exposition is greatest, it may be necessary to transport as many as 62,500 persons per hour.

Bearing in mind the fact that through traffic on Geary street cannot be abandoned except on special days without causing unreasonable inconvenience to the public, it appears probable that the transportation which can be furnished to and from the Exposition by means of the Municipal Street Railways in conjunction with privately owned street railways, will, even on days of ordinary attendance, necessitate the public enduring the discomfort of riding in overcrowded cars during the periods of heavy travel. It is also apparent that on days of maximum attendance, the transportation furnished will not be sufficient to meet the demand.

Respectfully submitted,
M. M. O'SHAUGHNESSY,
City Engineer.

PROPOSED NEW LICENSE FOR DANCES.

The Police Committee of the Supervisors has drafted an ordinance imposing a flat rate of $5 for each public dance, or $25 a quarter, irrespective of the size of the place where the dance is held. It was at first proposed to have a graduated license, according to the size of the hall, and other restrictions as well, but the flat rate was finally agreed to, and the question of regulation left to the Board of Police Commissioners, from whom a permit must be secured. The ordinance has been submitted to the City Attorney for an opinion as to its validity.

PUBLIC CONTRACTS ARE AWARDED.

Church & Clark have been awarded the contract for the grading, leveling and filling of the yards and streets at the San Francisco Hospital, their bid of $13,999 being the lowest received.

The contract for completing the City Morgue, to be located in the new County Jail building in the rear of the Hall of Justice, has been awarded to T. W. McClanahan & Co.; cost $34,330.

Seven horses, one goat and 151 cats were destroyed in addition to the dogs.

The receipts from the redemption and sale of dogs and large and small stock was $329.30.

HEARING OF STREET EXTENSION PROTESTS.

The Board of Public Works has filed with the Supervisors a plat showing the land to be taken, the assessment district, the blocks and lots to be assessed to pay for the damages, costs and expenses and acquisition of land for the extension of streets from the City Land Association Tract into Ingleside Terraces, and a tabulated report of each piece of property to be taken or injured or assessed therefor, together with the name of the owner of claimant, the value or damage and the amount to be assessed.

The Supervisors have fixed Monday, March 9, at 3 p. m., as the time for hearing any objections made to the confirmation of the report.

Protest to Supervisors Against Proposed Street Opening Assessment

The Supervisors at their meeting on Monday last heard several property owners in protest against the proposed assessment district contemplated in the Church street opening. The street is to be opened primarily to secure a proper grade for a branch of the Municipal Street Railway in that district, but, as is usual in the case of street openings, it is proposed to make the property owners stand the cost, or the major portion of it. The property owners contended that since the street is to opened primarily for street railway purposes, all the expense should be borne by the Municipal Railway bond fund.

After considerable discussion, further hearing was postponed until the 16th inst.

Asks That Budget Estimate be Submitted Early.

Supervisor Gallagher introduced a resolution asking that the Finance Committee prepare its estimates at least thirty days before the budget would go to print. Supervisor Jennings stated that the committee would try to secure estimates from all departments of the city so as to give the Supervisors ample time for its consideration.

Ordinance Is Dead Letter on Water Front.

The Mayor called attention to the fact that though the State has authority on the docks and upon The Embarcadero, a municipal ordinance forbids the soliciting of baggage men and hotel runners within 200 feet of the docks. He stated that though this ordinance is on the books, the police are without power to enforce it on State property, and that baggage men and other solicitors have permission of the Harbor Commission apparently to do the thing forbidden by ordinance. He suggested that this ordinance needed revision, and the Police Committee will take up the matter.

Another Amendment to Traffic Ordinance.

The traffic ordinance was amended to permit of higher rates of speed in the downtown district and in other districts of the city. At present the police arrest speeders only when they are exceeding the limit of ten miles per hour by as much as eight miles per hour. That is, the speeders are permitted to run their machines at the rate of eighteen miles per hour on lower Market street before the police will interfere. Likewise on streets where the limit is fifteen miles per hour, arrests are rarely made except when the speed exceeds twenty-five miles an hour. The motorists represented to the Police Committee that the present speed limits are unreasonable, and desired that the law should be amended to conform with the present police interpretation of the ordinance. The Board passed the amended ordinance to print.

MUNICIPAL RECORD

Permit No. 145

Vol. VII—No. 7. SAN FRANCISCO, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 12, 1914.

Supervisors Transact Considerable Business of Routine Character

The Supervisors at their meeting on Monday deferred action for two weeks on resolutions providing for the closing and abandoning of certain portions of Michigan, Georgia, Louisiana, Maryland, Delaware, Eighteenth, Nineteenth and Twentieth streets to the end that all persons interested may be given a hearing. The segments of the streets proposed to be closed are included in the properties of the Union Iron Works and have been built upon by that corporation.

Several members of the Board expressed doubts regarding whether these streets had ever been open. It was questioned whether the city would have the right to close them in any event as the subject involves grave questions of public policy and owing to the fact that the records relating to the district have been destroyed and considerable research may be necessary to establish the status of the property occupied the resolutions were put over two weeks for further investigation.

Spring Valley Company to Furnish Inventory.

A resolution was adopted directing the Spring Valley Water Company to furnish an inventory of all its property actually used in supplying San Francisco with a supply of water, the inventory to set forth in detail each and every component of its system so used, together with a summary of the cost, showing in connection with each source of supply and the city distributing system, the cost of the lands, water rights, reservoir sites, improvements, works and personal property. The company was also called upon to furnish, in a manner similar to that above set forth, an inventory of its properties not now actually used in supplying San Francisco with water, but which have been heretofore so used, and also of all its properties which are capable of development into source of water supply for the city and county.

Call Upon Departments for Budget Estimates.

A resolution was adopted directing all municipal officials, departments and bureaus to file budget estimates for the next fiscal year, on or before March 16.

New Fee Schedule for Public Pound.

An ordinance was passed to print amending ordinance No. 115, providing for a public pound, by fixing the following fees to be collected by the Poundkeeper for services actually rendered by him:

> For every horse, mare, mule, ass, ox, cow or bull impounded by him, the sum of three dollars, and one dollar additional for every day such animal is necessarily held by him.
>
> For every colt, calf, sheep, lamb, goat or hog impounded by him, the sum of one dollar and fifty cents, and fifty cents additional for every day such animal is necessarily held by him.
>
> For every dog impounded by him and redeemed or sold as hereinbefore provided, the sum of two dollars and fifty cents, and ten cents additional for every day such dog is necessarily held by him, and for every dog impouned by him, and destroyed as hereinbefore provided, the sum of one dollar.
>
> For every cat impounded by him and destroyed the sum of twenty-five cents.
>
> For every other animal impounded by him the sum of two dollars and fifty cents, and fifty cents additional for every day such animal is necessarily held by him.

Southern Pacific Franchise Ordinance Postponed.

The Southern Pacific franchise ordinance was again put over for one week to permit of further conferences between the city officials and the officers of the corporation with a view to securing an amicable adjustment of disputed points.

Call Upon Police to Enforce Laundry Ordinance.

A resolution was adopted requesting the Chief of Police to direct the men under him to more rigidly enforce the ordinance which prohibits the carrying on of any kind of work in public laundries between the hours of 6 p. m. and 7 a. m.

Ordinances Finally Passed.

FIRE COMMISSION DISPOSES OF ROUTINE MATTERS.

The Fire Commissioners met on the 4th inst., and decided to enter into a lease for eight months for premises at the northeast corner of Drumm and Sacramento streets, to be used as temporary quarters for Engine No. 12, while a new building is being constructed for the company.

The following transfers were made on recommendation of the Chief Engineer: Lieut. Percy Creed, from Truck 1 to Engine 20, and Lieut. H. J. Donnadieu from Water Tower 1 to Truck 1.

The Civil Service Commission was requested to certify one captain, one lieutenant, one hoseman and two truckmen.

G. A. Handlon, claim agent of the United Railroads, in a written communication to the Board, offered $65 in settlement of a claim for $100 for damages to Auto Truck 7, on December 29th last. The secretary was instructed to confer with Handlon and make the best arrangements possible.

W. Griffin, hoseman of Engine 13, was transferred to Engine 40, and J. W. Doherty, from Engine 40 to Truck 10.

It was agreed to permit one of the fireboats and other apparatus of the department to take part in a celebration to be held at the Exposition site on the 23d inst.

The chief engineer reported having assigned Lieutenant Joseph McGinn to Water Tower 1, and Probationary Hoseman W. J. Smith to Engine 10.

Complaints against C. W. Plitsch, assistant engineer at Pumping Station 1, for failing to report for duty on time, and H. J. Donnadieu for failing to properly respond with his company to an alarm of fire were heard and dismissed.

The chief engineer submitted a report from Battalion Chief Radford complaining of the incompetency of N. N. Mathewson, lieutenant Engine Co. 33, and of the physical condition of John Finnigan, hoseman Engine Co. 33, and also recommending the transfer of John Douglas, engineer Engine Co. 33, to some company where he would obtain more active fire service.

After an investigation it was recommended in the case of Lieutenant Mathewson, that the matter be taken under advisement pending further report from the battalion chief; in that of Hoseman Finnigan, that he be directed to report to the department physician for examination as to his physical condition, and that the matter be taken under advisement pending the report of such examination.

In the case of Engineer Douglas it was recommened as a precautionary measure that the chief engineer be directed to detail him for duty to some company where he will be more likely to receive active fire duty for a period not to exceed one day in each week.

An investigation showed that the collision between the buggy of Battalion Chief Murphy and an automobile belonging to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals was unavoidable, as was also a collision between a Geary street municipal railroad car and a motor delivery truck of the company driven by B. A. Davis.

The Comptroller of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition Company submitted a list of department members who have not paid their stock subscriptions to the company, and requested that some means be devised for compelling the men to pay the same without recourse to legal proceedings in the courts.

The Commission took the view that the transaction was a private arrangement between the men and the Exposition Company, and that the rule of the department requiring members to pay their just and lawful debts didn't apply in the matter.

For the same reason the Commission placed on file a communication from a law firm requesting that William Dunning, a hoseman of Engine Co. 29, be directed to pay his wife $50 instead of $40 a month out of his salary.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATIONS SCHEDULED.

For chief inspector in the Department of Electricity and for engineers in the Fire Department on March 14.

SUGGESTS ANOTHER MUNICIPAL RAILWAY EXTENSION.

Three tentative propositions, involving the extension of the Municipal Railway line from Stockton street across Market and thence down Fourth street to the Southern Pacific depot over tracks of the United Railroads, has been submitted to the Supervisors by the North Beach Promotion Association.

With the United Railroads occupying Fourth street and assuming that the five-block limitation will prevent the city from going the entire distance, three different plans are suggested, as follows:

First—The outright purchase of the right of the city to run municipal cars over Fourth street, or

Second—Payment to the United Railroads of part of fare collected for every passenger traveling on Fourth street, or Third—An exchange of rights, allowing the United Railroads to run a certain number of cars over the Stockton street line from the Southern Pacific depot to the Exposition grounds.

The association say that if this scheme should be adopted passengers for the Exposition could be taken through without change of cars from the Townsend street depot.

INCINERATOR CONSTRUCTORS ASK FOR BONUS.

The Finance Committee of the Supervisors has under consideration the claim of McLean, Haggans & Aden for $1150 bonus for the construction of the Islais Creek incinerator.

The Board of Public Works recommended payment of the bonus, stating that the contractors could have completed their building contract well within time to secure a bonus if they had not been delayed by the Destructor Company, which is installing the machinery in the plant.

The Finance Committee inclines to the opinion that if the Destructor Company was responsible for the delay it should also assume the payment of the bonus.

PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION NOTES.

Two hundred and six conventions have been formally booked to meet in San Francisco in 1915 during the progress of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition. The last convention to be secured by James A. Barr, manager of the Bureau of Conventions and Societies of the Exposition, is that of the National Conference on Weights and Measures, which is composed of State weights and measures inspectors, city inspectors of weights and measures, manufacturers of weighing and measuring apparatus and federal officials.

Three of the other most recent conventions assured to San Francisco in 1915 are the American Association of Masters, Mates and Pilots of Steam Vessels; the American Druggists' Syndicate, and the American National Live Stock Association.

* * *

President Charles C. Moore has received official notice from the Department of State, in Washington, D. C., confirming the prior unofficial announcement that the Republic of Venezuela will participate officially in the Exposition.

* * *

Live stock breeders of England have organized in an effort to urge Parliament to consider their request for financial help in exhibiting at the Exposition, according to advices received by I. D. Graham, assistant chief of the Department of Live Stock of the Exposition.

* * *

Charles Holloway, Edward Simmons and Frank Du Mond, the famous American artists engaged to paint the mural decorations that will adorn the interior courts of the Exposition, are in San Francisco preparing to complete their canvasses in a studio provided in the huge Palace of Machinery.

Other painters contributing to the mural decorations will assemble here shortly to complete their canvasses on the Exposition grounds, so they can tone their paintings to the color scheme of the Exposition.

* * *

The Missouri commissioners to the Exposition, who visited San Francisco recently in the interest of their State's participation, were surprised at the rapid progress of the Exposition builders, both in actual building construction and in the perfection of other plans. They were elated with the site of the Missouri pavilion, bordering San Francisco bay, and declared that the construction of their State's building would be commenced as soon as possible.

* * *

Bids for the construction of Festival Hall, which is to be one of the most magnificent buildings of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, were opened February 2. The construction will be rushed.

The South of Army Street Improvement Club has petitioned the Supervisors to take favorable action on the movement to widen Virginia street to a uniform width of 60 feet between Mission and Coleridge streets. The improvement is recommended as being more desirable and the cost will not be a burden on the property owners if they are permitted to pay for the work in ten annual installments.

POLICEMEN NOT GUILTY OF CHARGE.

At a meeting of the Police Commissioners held on February 9 Sergeant John Herlihy, Police Officers Thomas Doyle and James J. Farrell were found not guilty of the charges of "unofficerlike conduct" preferred against them by Charles Monestier and William E. Delehanty and the charges were dismissed.

CITY ATTORNEY ADVISES MUNICIPAL OFFICIALS.

In opinions to the Tax Collector, the City Attorney has advised that a license fee for an amusement may not be collected from hotels and cafes where entertainment, such as a cabaret show, is given for the benefit of guests; also that where an owner opens up offices for the purpose of selling off a tract of his land, he is not subject to a license as a real estate operator.

In response to an inquiry from the Supervisors as to the legality of a single ordinance imposing licenses taxes on certain businesses, callings, trades or employments, which it is desired to pass, the City Attorney has advised that it would be legal.

Street improvements have been completed on Thirty-eighth avenue, between Anza and Balboa streets, to the satisfaction and acceptance of the Board of Public Works.

MUNICIPAL JOTTINGS OF GENERAL INTEREST.

The Board of Public Works has notified the Superintendent of Street Repairs to raise Oregon street east of Battery street to official grade.

The Board of Public Health has condemned the stables at the Branch County Jails and recommended the immediate construction of new stables.

The City Engineer has been requested to make an estimate of the cost of extending Twenty-ninth avenue from California street to the ocean beach.

The Hayes Valley Improvement Association has requested the Supervisors to extend the high pressure system for better fire protection into the club's territory.

The South Central Improvement Association has asked the Board of Supervisors to repave Tenth street with bitumen, from Market to Channel street.

The City Engineer has recommended to the Board of Public Works that the protest against grading Lippard street southerly from Bosworth street be denied.

The City Attorney has been requested to render an opinion as to the liability for damages and benefits to be secured by proposed changes in the grade of Main street.

The Board of Public Works has directed the City Engineer to prepare resolutions of expediency for the paving, where not paved, of Harper street, between Thirtieth and Randall streets.

Superintendent Nixon of the Department of Electricity has recommended to the Supervisors that the ordinance fixing fees for electrical dealers include an annual license fee of $10 for master electricians.

The Board of Public Works has asked the supervisors for authority to advertise for bids for paving with asphalt the westerly half of Thirteenth avenue from Clement to Geary streets and from Geary to Anza streets.

City Engineer O'Shaughnessy reports that a detail of his office is busily engaged in preparing resolutions of expediency on all streets of the city where the work was been partly performed by the property owners.

At the request of the Board of Public Works the Supervisors have granted authority to advertise for bids for the furnishing and delivery of underground conduits for the wires for the extension to the Municipal Railway system.

The attention of the Chief of Police has been called to the lighting of some of the motion picture places in various parts of the city. It is alleged that some of the places are not lighted to the extent which is demanded by city ordinance.

It has been recommended to the Supervisors that an appropriation be made to place a sign on the Market street side of the old City Hall to announce that the Offices of the Auditor, Treasurer and Registrar of Voters are in the old building.

Complaint has been made to the Board of Supervisors that scavenger wagons stand for a considerable length of time on Mission street, between Twenty-ninth and Thirtieth streets, and create a nuisance. The attention of the police has been called to the matter.

REPORTS INCREASED ATTENDANCE AT SCHOOLS.

With a school attendance of 44,217, the largest in the history of San Francisco, Superintendant of Schools Roncovieri estimates that the population of San Francisco is approximately a half million people. Statistics show that multiplying the school attendance by 11.2 gives the entire number of persons in a community. This computation makes the exact population 495,230. The largest school attendance before the fire was 41,951. After the fire it fell off considerably for a few years and then began gaining until at the close of the schools last year there was an average daily attendance of 42,830. The latest school census shows a considerable increase over that number.

MUST EXPEDITE DELIVERY OF MATERIALS.

It has been decided by the Board of Public Works that the shipment of material from Eastern manufacturers, for the extensions to the Municipal Railway System, shall be by rail rather than by water. The saving in freight charges if shipped by water is slight. Immediate delivery that the roads may all be constructed and ready for operation is so important that the board, on the advice of the City Engineer, has decided on the quickest method to secure deliveries in San Francisco.

Omaha, Neb.—A third reduction of water rates by the board of directors of the metropolitan water district since the plant became public property was made. At the end of the first six months of municipal ownership the rate was reduced 10 per cent. Another 10 per cent reduction was made at the end of the second six months. The first of this year saw the end of the third six months, but the reduction this time was 13 1-3 per cent, making the rate 23⅓ cents per 1,000 gallons.

Pasadena, Cal.—Pasadena is to go scientifically into the water question, which involves the quality of the local supply. City Chemist Marks is commencing a series of analyses covering each of the different sources of water supply. It is the present plan to make monthly tests of the water through the city chemist's office. Whether these tests will also go into the bacteriology of the water is not stated. The purpose of the tests is to find out from which source, that is, from which well or source of gravity supply, the best water chemically, is being obtained.

A. G. Shiotto has made application to the Board of Supervisors for permission to establish a garage in the premises occupied by him as a blacksmith shop at 4555 Mission street.

Vol. VII—No. 8. SAN FRANCISCO, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 19, 1914.

Supervisors Discuss Church Street Extension of Municipal Railway

The Supervisors at their meeting last Monday afternoon took the first definite step toward opening a new street for the extension of the Church street branch of the Municipal Railway. Two resolutions were adopted, one declaring the intention of the Board to open a new street easterly from Church street, extending from the southerly line of Eighteenth street to the northerly line of Twenty-second street, and the other declaring the intention to change the grade at Eighteenth and Church streets and providing that the entire cost of such change of grade shall be paid out of a fund to be designated later, but which it is generally understood will be taken from the bond issue for this particular branch of the railway. The part of the cost to be borne by the city for change of grade and damage to property owners will be approximately $125,000.

Supervisors Vogelsang and Jennings voted "No" on the proposal that the city should pay part of the expense. Vogelsang objected that the street was to be opened not only to make possible the extension of the municipal railway system but was also for the purpose of giving this district a new thoroughfare for vehicular traffic of easy grade and saving a long roundabout haul over the Church street hill. He declared that such course was to establish a bad precedent, since the Stockton street tunnel, which is being built for the principal purpose of enabling the city to extend its municipal car lines into the North Beach district, is being paid for by assessment plan, and that there is no good reason to discriminate in the case of the Church street opening.

Other Supervisors argued that in many cases there would be a double assessment on the Church street property owners —one for the Twin Peaks tunnel and a second for the street opening—and that these assessments aggregated more than the district could hope to gain in the way of higher property values due to the improvement.

Want Delegate Sent to Unemployed Conference.

A resolution was read from the Labor Council requesting that the city be represented at the National Conference of the Unemployed which is to be held in Washington. Supervisor Gallagher stated that it seemed highly advantageous for the city to have a representative at this conference and asked that the expenses of the delegate be paid by the ctiy. The Finance Committee objected. It was finally decided that the Mayor should communicate with the Governor and ascertain whether the State was to have a representative at the conference and if so the city would not send one. If none was to be sent by the State, Supervisor Gallagher said that the labor organizations would be willing to pay half of the estimated expense of $500.

City Planning Exhibit Is Commended.

Owing to objections the Board decided not to appropriate any money for the purpose of bringing the city planning exhibit recently collected and displayed in New York to this city. The cities of Alameda county and private individuals of the transbay communities have raised $3100 for the purpose of bringing the exhibit to Oakland in March. It would require about $2500 to bring the exhibit to San Francisco.

Supervisor Jennings said that there was no fund out of which an appropriation could be made. The sum asked for was $1000, various other organizations to raise the rest of the money needed. Supervisor Murdock then introduced a resolution, which was adopted, commending the purposes of the exhibit.

Bill No. ——, Ordinance No. —— (New Series), Providing for the issuance of Revocable Permits by the Board of Supervisors for the Construction and Maintenance of Stables in the City and County of San Francisco.

Be it ordained by the people of the City and County of San Francisco, as follows:

Section 1. It shall be unlawful to construct and maintain a stable, or to maintain an existing stable for one or more horses, donkeys, mules, cows, goats, or live stock without a permit therefor from the Board of Supervisors.

Section 2. Anyone now conducting a stable of the kind herein designated must secure such permit within a reasonable time not to exceed six months after the passage of this ordinance.

Section 3. No permit shall be granted for a stable hereafter to be constructed and maintained, or for the future maintenance as a stable of a building not used as such, except on the report of the Board of Health, or other satisfactory evidence, that the proposed place of construction or maintenance of such stable is unobjectionable from the point of view of sanitation and of the health and physical welfare of the inhabitants of the immediate neighborhood of its location.

Section 4. The Board of Supervisors shall not refuse a permit for the maintenance of a stable in a building now constructed and maintained as a stable except upon satisfactory evidence that such stable is conducted in an insanitary manner and the failure to remove the objection to the manner of its maintenance within a time to be prescribed by the Board of Supervisors.

Section 5. A permit granted hereunder is subject to revocation by the Board of Supervisors.

Section 6. No permit shall be refused or revoked by the Board of Supervisors except after a full hearing, and then only in the exercise of a sound and reasonable discretion by said Board.

Section 7. Any person, firm or corporation, violating any provision of this ordinance shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punishable by a fine of not more than five hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the County Jail for not more than six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Section 8. All ordinances, or parts of ordinances, in so far as they may conflict with the provisions of this ordinance, are hereby repealed.

ADVISES AUDITOR TO PROTECT TEACHERS' SALARIES.

The following self-explanatory opinion has been received by Auditor Boyle from his attorney, Edward F. Moran, in reply to a request for legal advice relative to the demand made by school teachers for certain sums of money due them for services rendered during the present fiscal year under the salary schedule adopted by the school directors:

San Francisco, Cal., February 14, 1914.

Hon. Thos. F. Boyle, Auditor,
City and County of San Francisco.

Dear Sir—I am in receipt of your request to advise you relative to the demand made on you by the various school teachers of the San Francisco School Department for certain sums of money due them for services rendered during the present fiscal year under the salary schedule adopted by the Board of Education.

An examination of the records of the Board of Education shows that at a meeting of that Board held June 13, 1913, a schedule of salaries for the ensuing fiscal year (which is the present fiscal year) was adopted by a unanimous vote, all the four school directors being present. The schedule contains the following paragraph covering allowance for "outside experience":

"Allowance for all those teachers in the elementary schools who did not receive remuneration during the school year 1912-13 for experience and teaching gained outside of this city, and for all teachers appointed to positions in the elementary schools hereafter, the amount of compensation for experience approved by the Board of Education to be one-half of the amount allowed in the various grades for experience in San Francisco."

At a meeting of the Board held on January 13, 1914, a resolution was adopted amending the salary schedule for 1913-14 by eliminating from it the paragraph quoted above. It is apparent that it was the purpose of the January resolution to reduce the amount of the salaries as fixed by the schedule by deducting therefrom the allowance for outside experience. I understand that none of the protesting teachers have been paid in accordance with the schedule, and that all have accepted under protest the reduced sums tendered them monthly. Under this statement of facts, what is the duty of the Auditor in relation to the conservation of the school moneys to the end that the salaries of teachers shall be protected?

As San Francisco is a separate school district and as its schools are part of the school system of the State, the Board of Education is governed by general laws and by the provisions of the charter when the latter are in extension of and not in conflict with general laws. It is the policy of the State, as expressed by general law, to fix annually the salaries of school teachers. This policy is carried out in the Charter by Article VII, Chapter III, Section 4, which provides that the Board of Education, in May of each year, shall adopt a schedule of salaries for the next ensuing fiscal year for teachers and all employes of the school department. The complaining teachers were employed for this fiscal year under the schedule adopted last June. I am of the opinion that the fixing of the salaries by the adoption of the schedule, and the employment of the teachers by the department for the year for which the schedule was adopted, constituted a contract of employment, of the benefits of which the teachers cannot be deprived without fault on their part. * * * Section 1617, P. C., provides for the payment of the teachers "by the calendar month in twelve payments, instead of by the school month," and "continuing such payments from month to month," until the teachers have been paid the full amount due to them. This clearly carries out the idea of a yearly salary, fixed previous to the beginning of the fiscal year during which it is to operate, and payable in monthly installments. It is not subject to alteration. * * *

Section 1861, P. C., also provides that the State school fund must be used for no other purpose than the payment of the salaries of teachers of primary and grammar schools.

Section 1818 (a), P. C., creates a special fund for the payment of teachers' salaries. * * * Any officer who audits or allows a demand against the teachers' salary fund in violation of Section 1818, is made personally liable to any teacher whose salary is payable from the fund and who has been damaged by the officer's act.

I am of the opinion that the Board of Education has no authority to arbitrarily deprive the teachers concerned herein of any part of their salaries fixed by the schedule adopted last June for the current fiscal year. All the laws upon the subject of teachers' salaries show clearly the intent of the people to protect such salaries from arbitrary reduction.

I would therefore advise you, as Auditor, that you should protect the salaries of the teachers concerned herein by withholding sufficient money from the common school fund without regard to any segregations attempted to be made by the Board of Supervisors in the budget adopted by it for the current fiscal year, until (in the language of the charter) "all salaries for the fiscal year have been fully paid or provided for."

Respectfully submitted,
E. F. MORAN.

Vol. VII—No. 9. SAN FRANCISCO, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 26, 1914.

Supervisors Consider Plans to Relieve Congestion at Ferry Landing

The Supervisors at their meeting last Monday afternoon considered several suggested plans for the relief of traffic congestion at the foot of Market street, but didn't arrive at a solution of the problem.

City Engineer O'Shaughnessy explained his plan for the elevated loop with inclines ascending to and descending from a platform in front of the ferry building, while J. J. Dwyer presented the objections raised by the State Board of Harbor Commissioners to this plan.

It was suggested that the Sacramento street cars be rerouted as a means of temporary relief, so that they could return one or two blocks by way of Clay street into Drumm and thence up Sacramento street, instead of going directly into the latter street from The Embarcadero, forming what is known as the "death curve" and interfering seriously with the traffic already congested on the loop.

A proposal also was made that the city open up new streets through the block bounded by The Embarcadero, Market, Mission and Steuart streets. These streets, or street, to parallel Market street, would give much of the teaming south of the Ferry building an outlet and to that extent relieve congestion at the foot of Market.

City Engineer O'Shaughnessy estimated that if the city purchased all the property recommended by the Board of Harbor Commissioners in the vicinity of The Embarcadero it would require $6,000,000.

All the plans heretofore considered were finally referred to the Public Utilities and Street Committees jointly for investigation and recommendation.

Southern Pacific Franchise Again Goes Over.

The Southern Pacific franchise was put over another week to permit of some minor changes desired both by the City Attorney and attorneys for the Southern Pacific.

To Relieve Sections Lacking Water Supply.

A resolution providing for the laying of water mains by the city in sections which are suffering for lack of water and proposing that the cost of the work be met out of the sale of Hetch Hetchy bonds was referred to the Public Utilities Committee for consideration.

Date Set for Hearing Protests of Property Owners.

A resolution was passed providing for hearing formal protests on March 16 on the part of property owners against the assessment levied for the purpose of changing the grade of Main street.

Exposition Resolution Referred to Committee.

The following resolution was referred to the Exposition Committee:

"Whereas, The Panama-Pacific Exposition opens in less than a year, making it necessary for the City of San Francisco, if it is to be in any way represented, to without delay begin preparations for whatever is to be done, therefore be it

"Resolved, That the Committee on Expositions be asked to fully consider the matter, reporting to the Board at its earliest convenience its recommendations as to what action, within the power of the city to finance, can be taken to insure an adequate and creditable display of municipal activities and achievements."

Ordinances Finally Passed.

ROUTINE MATTERS BEFORE SCHOOL BOARD.

The School Directors, at their meeting on the 17th inst., transacted considerable business of routine nature.

Mrs. B. M. Mellers, representing the James Lick Parents' and Teachers' Club, requested better facilities in the way of a new school building, or at least three more class rooms, for the James Lick School. She was advised that the necessary improvements would be considered for next year.

Mrs. E. T. Floyd, representing the Columbus Mothers' Club, requested that when the new school building is finished a new piano be installed. She was advised that allowance is made in every bond school for a piano. It was suggested that owing to the similarity of the name of Columbus School with one other school in the department it might be wise to change the name of the Columbus School. Mrs. Floyd said she would place the subject before the club at the next meeting in order to suggest several names to present to the Board.

Mrs. Frank Bragg and Miss Florence Musto, representing the Congress of Mothers, were given the privilege of the floor and requested the return of the ungraded teacher to the Yerba Buena School and to all others in the department. They were advised that the issue was a closed one at the present time.

Mrs. Hammer requested that the Board of Education recommend that an estimate be allowed in the next budget for the return of the ungraded teachers.

Mrs. J. Noonan of the Bryant Mothers' Club asked if the Board had arrived at any decision concerning its permission to allow supervised dancing in the school auditoriums. She was informed that the matter would be taken up later.

A communication was received from the Chief of Police advising that orders had been issued by him directing the enforcement of the laws regulating the sale of tobacco to minors, as per request of the Board.

A communication was received from the president of the Theta Chi Fraternity enclosing copy of resolutions passed at its twentieth annual convention revoking all charters from public schools in this State; also declaring that the initiation of any person enrolled in any public school into this fraternity be unconstitutional and announcing that the Theta Chi Fraternity has no clubs, societies or other organizations affiliated with it. The letter was referred to the Schools Committee.

A communication from the North Beach Promotion Association containing copy of resolutions, in which the Board of Education is asked to request the Finance Committee of the Supervisors to make provision in the next budget for paving Kearny street, between Greenwich and Filbert streets; also that the Board take some action looking to the improvement of the old Garfield site, and, failing in this, to lease it to some responsible person, was referred to the Buildings and Grounds Committee.

The following leaves of absence were granted: Mrs. Emilie Heinemann, Lincoln Evening School, from February 17 to the beginning of the fall term; Mrs. M. C. Dunn, Starr King School, from February 16 to March 16, 1914; Mary E. Walsh, extension of leave of absence from February 28 to end of June; Laura D. Pierson, Jean Parker School, January 21 to March 1; Charlotte Estes, Emerson School, from May 4 to the beginning of the fall term, with privilege of returning to the Emerson School.

Miss E. G. Leary of the Bryant Cosmopolitan Primary School, having completed her term of probation in a satisfactory manner, was elected a regular elementary teacher in the department.

Miss Maybelle Develey was transferred from the Washington Evening School to the Lincoln Evening School vice Mrs. E. Heinemann.

Miss Laura Elizabeth Smittle was assigned temporarily to substitute duty in the Polytechnic High School during the leave of absence of Miss Marca Van Vleck, beginning March 1.

Miss Jeanette Clayton was instructed to report to the Starr King School for duty during the leave of absence of Mrs. M. C. Dunn.

It was decided to rent a store at 1830 Mission street for the use of the Marshall Primary School.

On motion of Director D'Ancona the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

> Resolved, That the City Attorney be requested to give this Board his opinion in the following matter:
>
> The statute relating to the pensioning of teachers requires that one dollar be deducted from the monthly salary of each teacher, "subject to the burdens of the Act." In this department there are many substitutes serving during the absence of regular teachers, filling vacancies so caused for a few days or a few weeks. Are such substitutes subject to the burdens of said Act, and should one dollar be deducted from the monthly salaries of said substitutes so filling temporary vacancies?

In an opinion addressed to the Board of Park Commissioners, City Attorney Long has advised that there is nothing which would invalidate the title to Hamilton Square if a portion of it should be transferred to the jurisdiction of the Playground Commission for the reason that it would still be used as a recreation center.

In another opinion addressed to the same body, the Commission is advised that a portion of Jefferson Square may be used as a site for a central fire alarm station for the reason that whatever Charter objections may have existed were brushed aside when the Charter amendment providing for the use of the park for such a purpose was ratified by the State Legislature.

Vol. VII—No. 10. SAN FRANCISCO, THURSDAY, MARCH 5, 1914.

Southern Pacific Franchise Passed to Print by Board of Supervisors

The Supervisors at their meeting on Monday last passed to print the amended ordinance granting improved terminal facilities to the Southern Pacific Railroad at Third and Townsend streets.

Following the passage of this ordinance, a resolution was adopted authorizing the Mayor to enter into an agreement with the Southern Pacific Company regarding the deed and improvements to be made upon a strip of land through Bernal cut which is to be used as a city thoroughfare, forming another outlet for the Mission district. This was originally one of the conditions imposed in the franchise, but the company satisfied the demands of the city by agreement to give the city a right of way and to grade the same, upon passage of the franchise. Other conditions imposed by the city were satisfactorily compromised.

Municipal Cars Must be Ready on Time.

Supervisor Nelson raised a question regarding the specifications for the new cars. He declared that if possible these cars should be constructed in San Francisco. The Mayor stated that he had been somewhat surprised by the statement that a local company could not bid on municipal cars owing to the fact that the specifications were so drawn as to preclude their bidding.

Assistant City Engineer Ransome explained that the specifications had been drawn with the utmost care to give the local builders the best chance in the bidding. California hardwoods were specified, and other materials were specified such as might most easily be obtained in this city.

Supervisor Vogelsang stated that he had understood that the reason the local company would not bid was because of the time limit set when the cars must be delivered, and in view of the fact that the hundred cars must all be delivered by the first of September, in order that the city might be prepared in season for the Exposition rush. He did not see how the specifications could be changed in this respect.

Hospital and Jail Bonds Are Sold.

The Finance Committee announced that hospital and jail bonds, aggregating $300,000, had been sold at par. A resolution was passed directing the Board of Public Works to draw plans and prepare estimates for the completion of the City and County Hospital.

Funds Provided for Hetch Hetchy Work.

A resolution was passed to print appropriating $5000 from moneys derived from the sale of water supply bonds for the purpose of covering the expense incident to making certain gaugings and hydrographic measurements of the flow of the Tuolumne river and its tributaries, in accordance with the provisions of the Hetch Hetchy grant.

Advertising in Municipal Railway Cars.

A resolution was adopted declaring it to be to the best interest of the city that it accept the compromise offer of $8,025 made by the R. C. Scott Advertising Company for the advertising space in the municipal cars. The City Attorney, in an opinion, has advised the Board that it has the power and authority to authorize the Board of Public Works to accept the offer. The Board of Public Works was accordingly authorized and directed to accept the offer and to enter into a contract with the R. C. Scott Advertising Company in accordance with the offer.

Move Made to Secure Better Water Service.

A resolution was adopted directing the City Engineer to prepare plans and specifications and estimates of cost for the boring of wells and the extensions of the mains in districts now inadequately supplied with water.

The Clerk of the Board was directed to confer with the commanding officer of the Department of California and request the Secretary of War to grant permission to the city to construct, maintain and operate a line of standard gauge, overhead electric railway, on and over the United States Military Reservation at San Francisco, California, commencing at the entrance of said reservation at Van Ness avenue and Bay street, thence following generally on the south side

THIS MAY BE YOUR LAST OPPORTUNITY

To the People of San Francisco and Everywhere:

By direction of the Board of Supervisors, I will sell to the public, at the Treasurer's office, tomorrow and until sold, $1,305,000 of $1,000 bonds of the City and County of San Francisco. These bonds are described as follows:

$500,000	4½%	Hospital-Jail Completion Bonds, maturing 1917 to 1932;
450,000	4½%	Water Bonds, maturing 1920 to 1964;
50,000	4½%	Polytechnic High School Bonds, maturing 1928 to 1937.

Par and accrued interest.

The full faith and credit of the City and County of San Francisco is back of these bonds.

Remember, these bonds are free from all taxation within the State of California, and United States Income Tax.

Marketability—No security possesses such marketability as a high-class municipal bond issued by a city like San Francisco. Good at any time to sell.

Always good for highest loan value.

If you are interested, give this your immediate attention.

Further information: I will cheerfully explain in every way the great value of these bonds.

JOHN E. McDOUGALD,
City and County Treasurer.

of the road now constructed to Laguna street, as shown on the maps on file in the office of the Board of Public Works.

The Supervisors held another sesion on Tuesday to finally pass demands and dispose of other routine matters.

The charge that the specifications for building additional cars for the municipal railway system had been so drawn that local firms were precluded from bidding was again taken up.

A. S. Gunn, representing the Union Iron Works, stated that his firm did not bid, as, owing to the time limit, it was feared the works would not be able to make deliveries on time.

So far as the specifications regarding materials were concerned City Engineer O'Shaughnessy stated that California woods had been specified throughout. Gunn acquiesced in this statement.

It developed during the discussion that, with the exception of the car bodies, all the materials, including motors, brakes, wheels and trucks, had to be obtained from Eastern manufacturers, and that the principal work of a local contractor in construction would be the building of the car bodies and the assembling of the various parts.

Commend Work of Inland Water Ways Association.

A resolution commending the work of the Inland Waterways Association and endorsing the bill pending in Congress to appropriate several millions for the improvement of the Sacramento Valley flood conditions was adopted.

TAX COLLECTOR GOES AFTER DELINQUENTS.

Tax Collector Bryant has sent notice to all apartment house owners that if licenses are not paid into his office promptly he will institute suits for collection of the various amounts due. The license is $3 a quarter for every house doing an annual business of more than $5000 a year and $2 additional per quarter for every increase of $2000 or more. In some cases apartment house owners are delinquent for a period of nearly two years and it is the purpose of the Tax Collector to force all delinquent payments.

CITY HALL STEEL WORK PROPERLY DONE.

Mayor Rolph, at a meeting of the Board of Supervisors held on Tuesday last rendered the following findings on the charge that the steel work on the new City Hall had not been performed in accordance with specifications:

To the Public and the Honorable Board of Supervisors, San Francisco—

In the matter of the charges of Supervisor Charles A. Nelson, against the sufficiency and efficiency of the construction of the new City Hall, and asserting a disregard of specifications in the building.

These charges, presented by Supervisor Charles A. Nelson, were based on a statement furnished to him by one W. W. Breite, a civil engineer.

The testimony of this witness clearly established that his personal examination of the structural iron work of the City Hall had been so limited in time, considering the immensity of the building, that his knowledge must, necessarily, have been superficial.

This witness gave, as the foundation of his expert qualifications, a collegiate course in engineering at Columbia University, New York, but, on examination under oath, when confronted with a list of the graduates of that institution, admitted that he had not attended there in his own name, and refused, positively, to tell the public under what name he did attend and graduate.

Notwithstanding the questionable circumstances under which the charges were presented, the importance of the question—the fact that these buildings must be not only the best possible but that the public must be thoroughly satisfied that they are the best possible—caused the Board, and me as Mayor, to ignore the origin of the charges, and to make a full and minute investigation.

At the hearing the best engineering and scientific testimony obtainable in this State was heard, after the witnesses had made a very careful examination of the buildings.

Among others, hereafter named, were:

Professor Derleth, of the University of California, employed by our State to instruct those who would graduate in engineering at this, our highest educational institution—a man who, throughout the United States, is second to none. And, not to encumber this report with details, the following men of high repute in engineering and construction:

H. J. Brunnier, consulting structural engineer.

Willis Polk, architect.

Edward Noble, iron and steel manufacturer.

It was established by the testimony of these disinterested witnesses that the municipal buildings, now rising, are being erected on the most scientific principles of engineering and in accordance with the best rules of construction; that the material and workmanship are of the highest class; that the people are getting the best for their money; that the trifling alleged defects, selected for criticism by those instigating the charges, are not defects at all, but the ordinary matters, inseparable from any construction whatever—things that appear in all similar buildings, and are only imperfections to the extent that the science of structural engineering is itself imperfect; that they do not constitute weaknesses.

The result of this investigation is that, on the highest testimony obtainable, the people are assured that they are receiving the best work that can be done.

While the results of this investigation are highly satisfactory, it is deeply regrettable that any men, whether connected with the government, or otherwise, should, in the hope of obtaining temporary political or other advantage, try to hinder the great and necessary improvement and development of the city that gives them a living, by slandering her efforts to advance.

Until San Francisco can develop a class of public service that will place patriotism above politics and selfishness, her welfare will never be safe and her greatness never be assured.

Respectfully,

JAMES ROLPH, JR.,
Mayor, City and County of San Francisco.

Permit No. 145

Vol. VII—No. 11. SAN FRANCISCO, THURSDAY, MARCH 12, 1914.

Supervisors Again Defer Final Action on Southern Pacific Franchise

The Supervisors at their meeting last Monday again deferred final action on the ordinance granting additional franchise rights to the Southern Pacific Company at Third and Townsend streets, as the company's officials would not agree to the section providing for the waiver by the company of its right to protest as a property owner against street improvements that might be ordered by the Board.

After considerable discussion, the Supervisors, by unanimous vote, decided to let the matter stand over for another week, in the hope that in the meantime the railroad officials would withdraw their objections.

Extending the Municipal Railway System.

After hearing protests from property owners who objected to the proposed extension of the Municipal Railroad on Second avenue, between Geary and California streets, and also a delegation who were in favor of the line, the Board decided Second avenue the proper street for the extension, and so voted.

A bill was passed to print directing the Board of Public Works to prepare plans, specifications and contracts, and advertise for bids for furnishing and delivering the necessary material therefor, and constructing the extensions of the Municipal Street Railway System, for which funds were provided in the bond issue authorized August 26, 1913.

Officials Ask for Additional Help.

The City Treasurer asked that a bond and bank deputy be appointed at a salary of $3600 per annum, while the Tax Collector asked that a tunnel accountant and cashier be appointed.

The request of the Treasurer was referred to the Finance Committee for consideration, and a bill was passed to print providing for the positions asked for by the Tax Collector.

Provides Funds for Hetch Hetchy Survey.

Inasmuch as the city is required to meet the expense of certain geological survey work in the Hetch Hetchy Valley that will be conducted by the Department of the Interior, $5,000 was appropriated out of the 1910 water supply bonds to cover the cost incident to the work.

Ordinances Finally Passed.

Ordering the construction of sewers and appurtenances in the Junipero Serra boulevard and former Ocean avenue, and directing the Board of Public Works to enter into contract for said construction.

Ordering the improvement of Fifteenth street, from Beaver street easterly in front of City property, by the construction of granite curbs, basalt block gutters and basalt block pavement, and directing the Board of Public Works to enter into contract for said improvement.

Regulating the construction and use of buildings to be used as automobile supply stations and providing for the storage and use of gasoline in connection therewith.

Prohibiting the placing of advertising signs on telegraph, telephone or electric light poles, lamp posts or upon any public sidewalk or roadway, and excepting street and hospital signs.

Fixing the width of sidewalks on Twenty-seventh avenue, Twenty-eighth avenue, Twenty-ninth avenue, Thirtieth avenue, Thirty-first avenue, Thirty-second avenue and Thirty-third avenue.

Providing for conditional acceptance of the roadway of Third avenue, between Parnassus avenue and Irving street.

Ordering street work done in Twenty-fifth avenue, between Geary and Anza streets; Jules avenue, between Ocean and De Montford avenues; States street, from Castro to Levant streets; Grove street, between Central and Masonic avenues; Madrid street, between Excelsior and Brazil avenues; Rhode Island street, between Eighteenth and Nineteenth streets.

The course for the globe-girdling aeroplane race to be a feature of the Exposition has been decided upon by the Bureau of Aeronautics of the Exposition and a special map prepared upon a new projection for the guidance of the aviators has been adopted. The map was made by B. J. S. Cahill, Fellow Royal Geographic Society.

Arnold Kruckman, manager of the Bureau of Aeronautics of the Exposition, left San Francisco on February 25, accompanied by Lowell Hardy of the Division of Exploitation, for the purpose of looking carefully over the route that the racers will follow and to locate control and supply stations.

Prizes have been offered for the best inventions by nurses shown at the Exposition. The contest will be in connection with the convention of nurses' associations in June and may be entered by nurses of any of the 15 nations represented in the International Association of Nurses. The invention of any hospital appliance or mechanism for the simplification of procedure in nursing may be entered provided that the inventor is a nurse.

Yachting clubs in every part of the world are responding to the invitations of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition to participate in the international regatta to be held from April 5 to 24, inclusive, as a feature of the universal celebration. This regatta will be held under the auspices of the Exposition and cups will be offered as prizes. A. M. Mortensen, traffic manager of the Exposition, has returned after a trip through the East, during which he negotiated successfully for great reductions in freight rates on exhibits to the Exposition.

On his trip Mortensen completed arrangements for the meeting of the Transcontinental Passenger Association, representing the railroad lines west of Chicago, which will be held in San Francisco March 25. Decision on the passenger rates to San Francisco from all points west of Chicago will be made at this meeting.

Mortensen arranged with the American-Hawaiian Steamship Company for a liberal reduction from the usual rates on exhibits. Another result of his trip was the announcement by the Southern Pacific steamship lines from Atlantic coast points of great reductions in freight rates from New York pier to San Francisco on certain classes of domestic and foreign building materials and exhibits.

Among the most interesting working exhibits in the palace of machinery at the Exposition will be those of a large elevator manufacturing concern, which intends building a series of elevators at one end of the huge building. These will carry visitors free of charge to a platform near the roof, from which a full view of the entire building can be gained.

Construction of the exposition auditorium which is being erected in the Civic Center by the Exposition Company, is progressing rapidly. Frederick H. Meyer, one of the architects, reports that the steel is all in place and that the building is 25 per cent completed from a time standpoint.

Former Governor David R. Francis of Missouri, who was president of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition in St. Louis in 1904, delivered an enthusiastic address on the Exposition on the floor of the Chamber of Commerce recently, after having been shown over the Exposition grounds and tendered a luncheon by President Moore and the Exposition directors. He declared that the Exposition promises to be the greatest the world has ever seen and spoke of the educational benefits which will result from this celebration.

"The ten months of your Exposition," said he, "will be as much for the young people as will two years in the University of California or in any of the best universities throughout the world."

Speaking of the progress of the Exposition builders, he said, "Your Exposition now is much nearer to completion than was ours, a year before the opening. Your progress is greater at this stage than was that of any other exposition and it will be the greatest exposition of all time."

Supervisors Hear Vigorous Protests Against Proposed Grade Changes

The proposed changes of grade on Main street, between Folsom and Bryant streets, and on Harrison street, between Spear and Beale streets, was the subject of lengthy discussion before the Supervisors at their meeting last Monday afternoon.

Representatives of property owners living on the top of Rincon Hill argued that the proposed grade changes would materially decrease the value of property.

It was finally agreed to defer further consideration of the matter for one week.

Proposed Exchange of Sutro Property.

A resolution was adopted authorizing the Building and Lands and Tunnels committees to act jointly with the heirs of the Sutro estate in the matter of the proposed exchange of the city's holdings on Van Ness avenue, a frontage of 275 feet, for acreage property belonging to the Sutro heirs adjoining the Sutro baths. The two committees are to act jointly, but are to take no action committing the city to an exchange. They are to receive any proposals in this matter which might be made and submit them to the Board.

To Stop Filling In Tide Lands.

A resolution was referred to the Judiciary Committee, calling upon the District Attorney and the United States District Attorney to take appropriate steps to stop the filling in of tide lands at the foot of Van Ness avenue. It was set forth in the resolution that the recent decision of the Supreme Court had given the State an easement on this property and that its filling in is illegal.

Southern Pacific Franchise Again Goes Over.

Action on the Southern Pacific franchise ordinance was again postponed a week, in order to give that company an opportunity to reach a decision regarding the provision objected to, which provides that the company waive its right as a property owner to protest against street improvements.

Weights and Measures Ordinance Re-referred.

The ordinance proposed by the Sealer of Weights and Measures, designed to regulate the sale of bread, meat, milk, coal, butter, ice, hay, wood and other commodities, was re-referred to the Judiciary Committee, following a protest of many bakers. The ordinance proposes to establish three standard loaves, weighing 8, 12 and 16 ounces respectively. Bakers objected that this precluded selling loaves of 10, 11, 13, 14 or 15 ounces for a nickel, depending, as has been the case in the past, on the cost of flour and labor.

Ordinance Finally Passed.

Ordering the construction of Central Auxiliary Fire Alarm Station on that portion of Jefferson Square Park bounded by Golden Gate avenue, Turk, Octavia and Gough streets, and authorizing and directing the Board of Public Works to enter into contract for said construction.

Ordering the construction of buildings, foundations, hopper bins and tanks for Municipal Asphalt Plant at Florida street and Treat avenue; authorizing and directing the Board of Public Works to enter into contract for said construction.

Tully vs. City and County of San Francisco, filed in the Superior Court, by waiving the right of the city and county to appeal from a judgment rendered against it, and tendering nine thousand dollars in full payment to the plaintiff Thomas J. Tully of any and all of his demands, as set forth in his complaint in the said action.

Ordering the cutting and dressing of curbing from granite on the old City Hall site, and authorizing and directing the Board of Public Works to enter into contract for said work.

The International Association of Machinists has sent a petition to the Supervisors asking that the switchboards, instruments and apparatus for the Police and Fire Telegraph and Signal System be manufactured by city employes. It is said that before the fire the switchboards then in use, made by the city employes, were the equal of any in the country.

The Secretary of the Interior has advised the Supervisors that with the appropriation of $5000 by the city available, engineers of the Geological Survey will shortly begin the work of establishing gauging stations to determine the flow of water in the Hetch Hetchy district.

OPINIONS FILED BY CITY ATTORNEY.

The City Attorney has rendered an opinion at the request of the Supervisors advising them of certain objectionable features in the proposed ordinance requiring a record to be kept and filed weekly with the Chief of Police of all furniture, trunks and personal effects moved from place to place in the city and county. The Board asked to be advised with regard to their powers in several particulars.

In his opinion the City Attorney says:

1. In so far as these proposed ordinances undertake to control and regulate transactions between private individuals not regularly engaged in the business of hauling for hire I am doubtful of their validity. To require any one who may chance to trasnport the goods of another within the city and county to make out and file such a report as is here contemplated might well be held to place an unreasonable and oppressive burden upon the individual. However, if the ordinance confines itself to the regulation of those who are in the business of hauling for hire, I believe that it will be within your power. Such persons who are in the business of hauling for hire are common carriers (Civil Code, 2168), and common carriers have always been subject to reasonable public regulation. The Board of Supervisors are invested with the entire police power of the State within the limits of the city and county, subject only to general laws. Odd Fellows Cem. Assn. v. San Francisco, 140 Cal. 226. Under this power I believe that the proposed regulations if confined to common carriers would be valid.

2. The regulations requiring a written contract for every such transaction is entirely outside the powers of your Honorable Board. It would apparently serve no reasonable purpose and seems to be an unwarranted interference with individual liberty.

3. Under the Charter, Chapter II, Section I, Subdivision 1, your Honorable Board is empowered "To ordain, make and enforce within the limits of the city and county all necessary local, police, sanitary and other laws and regulations."

As a reasonable means of enforcing this proposed ordinance your Honorable Board may require the Chief of Police to keep a register and issue blank forms as provided.

In Lawson v. Connolly, 141 N. W. 623, the Supreme Court of Michigan upheld an ordinance requiring public moving van drivers to keep a record almost precisely similar to that required by the proposed ordinance here. I enclose a draft of an ordinance modeled upon that one, which is free from the objectionable features found in the ordinance submitted, and at the same time should accomplish every purpose for which those ordinances were designed.

The City Attorney has advised the Board of Fire Commissioners that the employees of the Corporation Yard who hold their positions from a time antedating the new Charter, remaining after reorganization in the capacity of mechanics, are so continued unless appointed to a different rank under the rules and regulations of civil service. The appointments of 1904 are valid only if made in conformity to the rules of civil service.

Regarding the return of $250 forfeited bail to James P. Sweeney, the City Attorney advises the Finance Committee of the Supervisors that Section 1305 of the Penal Code governs the subject. Under this the time is limited within which the forfeiture may be discharged to a period of twenty days after entry in the minutes. It appears that the bail deposit in question was duly declared forfeited on December 4, 1913, and that the order vacating and setting aside the forfeiture was not made until March 8, 1914. A period of more than twenty days having elapsed, the court was without power to set aside the order of forfeiture.

The Richmond Central Improvement Club has called attention to the excessive number of poles on California street, and urges the placing of wires underground or the use of community poles.

Boston, Mass.—City department heads must pay their own traveling expenses if they wish to attend conferences of congresses in other cities is the latest edict from the finance commission. Mayor Fitzgerald stated that he had been informed of that fact by City Auditor Mitchell when the Auditor was instructed by the finance commission to hold up the payment of all bills for traveling expenses by the department officials the time the Mayor wanted Deputy Penal Commissioner Dennis D. Driscoll to attend the prison congress at Indianapolis. When the Mayor learned of the finance commission's attitude against the payment of such bills, he called upon Corporation Counsel Corbett for advice and was told that a similar question had been raised in the city of Holyoke and that it would be unwise to attempt to force the city to stand such bills.

CITY'S NEW SIGNAL ALARM SYSTEM.

Bids are to be called for on April 1 by the Board of Public Works for the construction of a central station in Jefferson Square for the fire and police signal alarm system. The city engineers, with the assistance of leading experts, are planning to give to San Francisco the most perfect and modern system in the world.

This is in line with the decision reached by the Board of Electricity a short time ago, when President Kuhl, of the commission, requested Chief Nixon of the Department of Electricity, and the City Engineer, to co-operate to work out the best system possible, and to this end to consult with all persons who have had experience in such matters, that San Francisco might have the latest, most modern, scientific and efficient system in the world.

The City Engineer has called into council and has been promised the assistance of the best local and national engineers, who have expressed their cheerful willingness to aid the city by giving it the benefit of their experience and counsel, the result of years of investigation and study along the lines required.

Those who have been asked to aid and consult with the city engineers and Chief Nixon of the Department of Electricity are: George Booth of New York, chief engineer of the National Board of Fire Underwriters; Engineer Johnson of the Fire Protection System of the Panama-Pacific Exposition, and Engineers Robertson and Mitchell of the Pacific Coast Board of Fire Underwriters, together with fire chiefs and experts of other large cities of the country, who have responded to the request to make suggestions that will tend to aid in the work.

With such assistance, it is intended to combine all the reports into one, which will embody the best features which are suggested. In so doing confidence is expressed that the final result will be the installation of a system which will be as near perfect as possible.

SEALER OF WEIGHTS DOLAN MAKES REPORT.

Sealer of Weights and Measures Dolan has reported to the Supervisors that since the bureau was established 7,247 weighing devices and instruments have been inspected and sealed or marked out of order. In the same period of time 337 scales have been condemned and 217 confiscated.

Dolan announces that his force is acquainting merchants and dealers with the provisions of the net containers act, passed by the Legislature, and the various city ordinances affecting weights and measures.

The net container act becomes effective on April 1, and the merchants of San Francisco are vitally interested in it, as it affects every tradesman engaged in the selling of any article that is ate or drank by the people of San Francisco. When the Legislature enacted this "bill" it allowed a year's time before it should become effective, in order to enable the merchants to prepare their goods under the requirements of the "act" or dispose of the stock on hand not conforming thereto.

The prime feature of the law is that every container of a commodity which is eatable or drinkable, such as cans, bottles, glass jars, packages, bags, sacks, kegs, barrels, or anything holding or covering food stuffs, shall plainly show on the outside of such container the "net quantity" in avoirdupois pounds or ounces, the "net liquid quantity" or numerical count of any article of food consumption in the State of California offered for sale to the purchasing public.

Merchants who have not prepared their goods to meet the requirements of the "Net Container Law" will be vigorously prosecuted and their goods confiscated April 1.

The Supplies Committee of the Supervisors has notified the heads of departments that single buggies for the use of city officials may be had at $40 per month, and has served notice that no bills in excess of that sum will be honored. The prevailing rate has been $45 monthly.

Paul E. Denivelle, supervisor of texture and modeling of the Exposition, on his return from the East, said: "In artistic and architectural circles of the East the impression now is firmly fixed that the Exposition will represent the greatest achievement in the world of art. The evolution of a silk gown from the actual spinning of the cocoon by the silk worm to the fitting and finishing of costly dresses on beautiful living models will be illustrated by an extensive working exhibit in the palace of manufactures at the Exposition. First the silk worms will be shown in their cases and the method of killing them so that not a strand of the silk is broken will be illustrated.

In another booth workers will be seen catching up the filaments of the cocoon on a fine brush and winding them through an eyelet into reels of thread. The various weaving processes will be portrayed and then the finished products will be turned over to modistes who will fit and make silk gowns upon attractive young women in full sight of the visitors. A long promenade will extend over the end of the exhibit and along this beautiful women in silk gowns will walk to and fro, displaying their robes.

The modern pentathlon, one of the most important events of the Olympic games, has been secured for the Exposition through the efforts of James E. Sullivan, director of athletics. This is the first time that the event has been awarded outside of the regular Olympic games and a special Olympic plaque will be awarded the winner by the International Olympic games committee.

This event consists of duel shooting, swimming, fencing, riding and cross-country running. One day will be reserved for each event in the order given.

BRIEF SESSION OF POLICE COMMISSION.

The Police Commissioners at their meeting last Monday night appointed Gordon L. Lee a regular policeman from the civil service eligible list.

Edwin Gissler and Albert P. Glidden were appointed stenographer-typewriters to fill the vacancies caused by the resignation of Frank P. Bonham and the removal of Frank J. Raway.

The appointments of Richard J. Ellis, Samuel Less and Angelo W. Granucci, special policemen, were revoked.

Frank D. Rees, engineer at the Hall of Justice, was refused appointment as a special policeman.

City Attorney Long has informed the Supervisors, relative to the petition of the Union Iron Works to close Eighteenth street, that the city may, if public convenience and necessity require, close the portion of 75 feet over which it has control. The other 75 feet of the street, which is 150 feet wide from Illinois street to the water front, is under the jurisdiction of the State Board of Harbor Commissioners.

MUNICIPAL JOTTINGS OF GENERAL INTEREST.

The Twin Peaks Association of Improvement Clubs has written to the Supervisors that there is a demand for more sewers in the Eureka Valley district.

H. S. Tittle has been awarded the contract for the construction of concrete trolley poles for the Van Ness avenue extension to the Municipal Railway System.

John F. Jackson and other property owners have requested that street work be done in front of city property on the east line of Nineteenth avenue, between California and Lake streets.

The Street Committee of the Supervisors has recommended that an appropriation be made and the Board of Public Works authorized to advertise for bids for the paving of Third street, from Townsend street to Market street, with vitrified brick.

CHICAGO TO GET REDUCTION PLANT.

Chicago, Ill.—Victory for the city in its two years' war to force an equitable agreement with the officials of the Chicago Reduction Company for disposing of garbage came when Mayor Harrison told the members of the City Council finance committee that the company had made an offer to have the city buy its property, plant and equipment. The Mayor told the committee that the company had agreed to take $275,000 for a clear deed to its land and reduction plant. Acceptance of the offer would nullify all condemnation proceedings and make the plant a municipally owned and operated reduction works. As the annual budget provided for a fund to acquire the plant and the council endorsed it, he told the committee that it was the best thing for the city to accept the offer. The committee concurred, and the mayor intimated that the necessary papers would be signed in a short time.

Elberfeld, Germany.—A German street car line operating between cities in Rhenish Prussia charges only about half the regular passenger rates to those who stand. The fare from Elberfeld to Werden, a distance of about ten miles, is 30 cents for those having seats and 17 cents for those standing. The round trip rate costs 50 cents if the passenger has a seat, while those who remain standing pay only 25 cents. The trip from Elberfeld to Werden takes 1 hour and 50 minutes.

AUTOMATIC FIRE ALARM SYSTEM DEMONSTRATED.

San Diego, Cal.—To demonstrate the working of an automatic fire alarm system a match was applied to several gallons of gasoline in an open receptacle in a storeroom in the Express block. Thirty-five seconds after the match was applied the alarm had been automatically sounded at the Second and E streets fire station. One minute and five seconds after the alarm had been received a motor fire apparatus reached the storeroom and firemen were ready to extinguish the blaze. The fundamental principle is that detectors having a strand of copper wire through them are installed in the room. When heat is generated by fire the copper wire expands, a plunger in the detector drops into a slot and makes a contact on the circuit which flashes the alarm to the fire station. The demonstration was for the purpose of showing the Council the workings of the system. It is probable that the Council will order the system on account of the protection it would give valuable records in the building.

Gloucester, Mass.—Gloucester patrolmen will no longer be permitted to band together for mutual protection or otherwise. They must not walk together, they must not talk together, and in general way they are to speak only when asked for information. City Marshal Charles S. Marchant has issued a general order to the force requiring that patrolmen must attend strictly to business when they are on duty, keeping their eyes to the front and not stopping to pass the time of day with anyone.

Vol. VII—No. 13. SAN FRANCISCO, THURSDAY, MARCH 26, 1914.

Supervisors Grant Depot Franchise to Southern Pacific Company

The Southern Pacific depot franchise, which has been the subject of negotiations between the officers of the railroad company and the Supervisors, was finally granted by the Board at its meeting last Monday. Representatives of the company stated that they were satisfied with the terms imposed, and that the work of constructing a new passenger station at Third and Townsend streets would commence immedately. The purpose of the franchise is to permit the laying down of an additional number of tracks across Fourth, Fifth and Sixth streets and in Townsend street, so as to enable the company to handle the large number of passenger trains that will be necessary to handle the traffic to the Exposition in 1915.

An ordinance was passed amending section 5 of the building law making it unlawful to commence the erection of any building, including all public buildings, unless a permit so to do shall have been first obtained from the Board of Public Works, and exempting the Federal Government, the State and the municipality from the payment of fees therefor.

"FIRE. PREVENTION DAY."

Mayor Rolph Fixes April 18th as a Day for Inspection and Cleaning Up.

Mayor Rolph has issued the following proclamation:

"March 23, 1914.

"Complying with the request of many citizens, and with the approval of the honorable Board of Fire Commissioners of this city, I hereby proclaim and designate April 18 'Fire Prevention Day' in the City and County of San Francisco.

"In doing so, I especially request ahat all owners or tenants of houses or buildings, of whatever kind, within the city, give careful thought on that day to the possibility of fire upon their premises, and ask that they carefully inspect their own homes or places of business, with a view to the removal of any unnecessary inflammable material which may be found needlessly stored or carelessly left about, constituting a menace to property.

"Let it be remembered that a great proportion of the fires occurring in any large city could, by forethought and attention, be easily prevented, with consequent saving, not only to owners of the property involved, but to the city also, as each response to an alarm of fire means a considerable expense to the Fire Department.

"With these facts in view, and, although every day should be a fire prevention day, I, as Mayor, have designated the anniversary of the great fire of 1906 especially as 'Fire Prevention Day', in order that the subject of fire prevention may, at that time, be given general public attention.

"JAMES ROLPH JR.,
"Mayor of the City and County of San Francisco."

COURT OF APPEALS RENDERS IMPORTANT DECISION.

The right of the city to insist that all printed matter shall bear the imprint of the union label was upheld by the Court of Appeals in a decision handed down this week.

The controversy grew out of the award for printing the municipal reports and a strike of union pressfeeders in the establishment of the lowest bidder, which deprived him of the right to use the label of the Printing Trades Council.

Many years ago the Supervisors adopted a resolution requiring the union label to appear on all printed matter used by the city, but the validity of the resolution has always been doubted. Judge Sewell, of the Superior Court, held that it was invalid, and ordered the Mayor to execute a contract notwithstanding the fact that the contractor could not use the label. The Appellate Court reverses this judgment.

SALE OF JUNK AT AUCTION.

Next Monday the city will sell at auction a quantity of old material, at 9:30 a. m., at the Corporation Yard, Francisco and Stockton streets. The following property will be offered: Four tons of old iron; two tons of brass and borings, containing some iron; 400 pounds of old tires and suctions; seventeen wagon wheels; three battery wheels; one express wagon wheel; ten buggy wheels; six lengths of old 2¾-inch cotton hose.

At 11:30 at the Drill Tower, Seventeenth and Division streets, the following property will be offered: Fifty tons miscellaneous scrap iron, including old horseshoes, etc.; fifty old hydrants; miscellaneous lot of old rubber hose and tires; 4000 old grain sacks.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATIONS.

April 27 has been set by the Civil Service Commission when examinations will be held for telephone operators and granite cutters. Experience and physical ability will be the only tests. The commission has set May 2 as the date when examinations will be held for bailiffs, guards and jailers in the Sheriff's office, and May 9 as the date when examinations will be held for clerical positions in the same office.

APPORTION 8,000 TREES.

Crowds of applicants for a share in the 5,000 elms and 3,000 maples to be apportioned by the city of Denver property owners have filled the office of the Commissioner of property last week. Under the agreement a number of trees proportionate to the size of the property of the applicant are allotted to him. They are then delivered by the city and planted by the owner along his street frontage. Heretofore many of the allotted trees have died through improper care. This year those who receive trees will be pledged to attend to them properly, and instruction in the method of setting them out will be given to insure their successful growth.

THE NET CONTAINER LAW.

For the benefit of those who have business with the Bureau of Weights and Measures, the law relating net quantity of food stuff exposed for sale in containers is here published.

An act to provide for the indicating of the net quantity of food stuffs and stuffs intended to be used or prepared for use as food for human beings when sold or offered or exposed for sale in containers and providing penalties for the violation thereof.

[Approved May 27, 1913.]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

Section 1. This act shall be known as the net container act.

Sec. 2. This act is designed to protect purchasers of any commodity within its provisions against deception as to the quantity or amount of the commodity purchased, and as against the seller shall be strictly construed with a view to effect its object.

Sec. 3. The provisions of this act apply to food stuffs and stuffs intended to be used or prepared for use as food for human beings and shall apply to any commodity intended to be eaten or drunk by human beings; provided, that it shall not apply to any commodity intended so to be used solely for medicinal purposes.

Sec. 4. Whenever any of the commodities within the provisions of this act are sold, or offered or exposed for sale, in containers, the net quantity of the contents of the container shall be plainly and conspicuously marked, branded, or otherwise indicated on the outside or top thereof or on a label or tag attached thereto.

Sec. 5. The designation of the quantity of the commodity required by section four of this act shall be according to weight, measure or numerical count, subject, however, to the following provisions:

(a) The designation used shall be such as is most feasible and suitable to the character of the commodity, or, if there is a trade custom as to the measure of the quantity of the commodity, the designation shall be in accordance with the custom.

(b) If the designation is by weight, it shall be in terms of pounds, ounces, or fractions of either, avoirdupois, standard of this State.

(c) If the designation is by liquid measure, it shall be in terms of gallons, quarts, pints or fractions of any of said units, standard of this State for liquid measure.

(d) If the designation is by solid measure, it shall be in terms of bushels, pecks, or quarts, or fractions of any of said units, standard of this State for solid measure.

(e) If the designation is by numerical count, it shall be in English words or Arabic numerals.

The words "net contents" or the words "net weight" or the words "net measure" or the words "net count" shall appear with and as a part of the designation of the quantity of the commodity as required by the provisions of this act.

Sec. 6. The provisions of this act shall not apply:

(a) To any sale of a commodity within the provisions of this act when such sale is made from bulk and the quantity is weighed, measured, or counted for the immediate purpose of such sale.

(b) To a sale of any container of an ornamental or symbolic character with which a quantity of some commodity is sold as merely incidental.

(c) To a sale of a commodity in a quantity that is sold for less than eleven cents, at retail.

Sec. 7. It shall not be held to be a violation of the provisions of this act when a commodity in a container is sold, or offered or exposed for sale, and there is a discrepancy between the actual quantity of the commodity in said container and the net quantity of the contents thereof indicated on the container as herein prescribed, provided such discrepancy is due to unavoidable leakage, shrinkage, evaporation, waste, or causes beyond the control of the seller acting in good faith.

Sec. 8. It shall not be held to be a violation of the provisions of this act when a commodity in a container is sold, or offered or exposed for sale, and there is a discrepancy between the actual quantity of the commodity in said container and the net quantity of the contents thereof indicated on the container as herein prescribed; provided, that the seller purchased said commodity in said container, in good faith relying upon the said indication of the net contents thereof, and sold said commodity in said container without altering the contents thereof or the indication of the contents thereof; and provided, further, that the exemption of this section shall not apply to any sale unless the container had the name of a packer, manufacturer, wholesaler, or jobber thereon at the time the seller purchased it.

Sec. 9. The term "person" used in this act shall include every person, firm, company, copartnership, society, association and corporation.

Sec. 10. The term "container" used in this act is hereby defined to be any receptacle into which a commodity is packed or put for sale or to be offered or exposed for sale.

Sec. 11. Every person, who by himself or his agent, servant or employee violates or causes or permits to be violated, any of the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be punished by a fine of not less than twenty-five dollars nor more than five hundred dollars, or shall be imprisoned in the county jail for a term not exceeding six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Sec. 12. This act shall be in force and effect from and after April 1, 1914.

"HELP-THE-CITY" COMPLAINT BUREAU IS KEPT BUSY.

The Help-Your-City Complaint Bureau, conducted by the Bureau of Municipal Research, received 348 complaints in ten days. The Mayor of New York has promised to assist the bureau in handling complaints, and the bureau plans to follow up each one and show that conditions can be improved in this way. By this means it hopes to convince city officials that there is a demand among citizens for a city-operated, city-wide complaint bureau that will receive complaints on all matters concerning city service. Typical complaints were those of a man who protested that conductors should not wet their thumbs with saliva when tearing off transfers, but instead use a sponge which might easily be fastened near the box in which the fares are placed, while two persons called attention to cellar doors which are left open on the sidewalk throughout the city, making passage dangerous for pedestrians. There is a city ordinance which requires that all such openings shall be guarded by bars or chains, but after an inspection of a few districts fifty-four cases were found in which these cellar openings were inadequately guarded, including fourteen which were positively dangerous. A physician complained that he found difficulty in obtaining certain supplies at the health stations. Investigation showed that the supplies desired were not furnished because the official in charge of their distribution was away on his vacation. Another complaint suggested an inspection of the candy stores on the East Side. Samples were purchased by the bureau. The candy was colored red, green, orange and yellow with cheap dyes dangerous to the health of children. Other suggestions received by the bureau were for signs on streets asking persons not to expectorate on the sidewalk, for the installation of automobile ash carts of improved type, for guard rails along surface car tracks at the loop of the Brooklyn bridge, for a rule compelling lawyers to pay a fee for adjourning cases in inferior civil courts, for smoking cars in the subway, for schools for cure of defective speech, for use of recreation piers in winter, and for the establishment of comfort stations throughout city.—Municipal Journal.

Rome, N. Y.—The gross profit from the Fish Creek water system in 1913 was $54,695.06. Interest on the sinking fund investment, money in banks and from delinquent consumers brought that sum up to $56,329.29. The interest on the bonded indebtedness was $25,148.34, the taxes were $2,672.88, and the net profit from the water system was $28,508.07. It is expected that all the outstanding bonds, amounting to about $600,000, can be retired in about 15 years, thereby freeing the system from existing debt.

SEATTLE'S MUNICIPAL STREET RAILWAY.

A municipally owned and operated street railway has at last become a reality in Seattle and within six weeks "Division A" of the city car line will be running on regular schedule from Third avenue west and Nickerson street from Fourth avenue and Pine street. The trolley lines are up, the tracks are down, the cars have been in Seattle for several weeks and examinations are being held daily by the civil service commission to provide an operating force for the system. All that remains before regular service can be started is the installation of a motor generator in the power sub-station at Dexter and Aloha streets.

Four miles of double track and seven-tenths miles of single tracks of the most modern type with correspondingly modern equipment constitute the present system. Extensions are planned for the near future.

The Municipal street railway will be operated under the supervision of the Board of Public Utilities. The fare will be five cents with the privilege of six tickets for a quarter. Children on their way to or from school will be given ten tickets for a quarter upon presentation of a card signed by the principal of their school and Superintendent Valentine.

The cars are powerfully motored. They are of the "pay-as-you-enter" type, with an inside seating capacity of forty-eight and with standing room for twenty-seven more. All rails laid down are of the latest pattern, known as the groove rails. There are no other rails of this type in the city. The trolley system is also unique in that there will be two trolley wires in each direction, one for the transmission of the current from the power house to the car motor and the other to carry the current back to the sub-station. This will entirely do away with the necessity of using the rails, water main, gas pipes, etc., as a conductor, which so frequently happens under the other system.

PROCEEDS FROM SALE OF WASTE PAPER FOR POOR.

The proceeds from the sale of waste paper in Pittsburg net $800,000 a year. This fact was made known at a meeting held in that city to devise means of providing for the city's poor. It was declared by business men that a fund sufficient to support many indigent families could be realized if a quarter of the paper could be conserved for sale for charitable purposes. The owners of the large office buildings of the city have pledged the return of all the waste paper from their property to the Pittsburg Association for the Improvement of the Poor. The association will collect this material in wagons and sell it in carload lots. Mayor J. G. Armstrong has issued orders that all waste paper from the buildings and offices of the city should go to the association.

THE MUNICIPAL BOND MARKET.

The authority on bond selling and buying which we have previously quoted, The Bond Buyer, states in its issue of March 21 that "there seem to be no signs of a halt in the steady decline of municipal bond prices. The demand continues unabated, and dealers are apparently confident that the outlook for the next six months, at least, warrants the payment of the present high prices. A rough estimate places the increase in the market value of a fairly large city issue carrying 4½ per cent for thirty years, at from three and a half to four and a half points, or from a 4.50 to a 4.15 per cent basis. Within the last two weeks Detroit has sold over four million dollars' worth of bonds on a 4.18 basis; Louisville, Ky., a million dollars' worth on a 4.23 basis; Elmira, N. Y., sixty-five thousand dollars' worth on a 4.26 basis; Grand Rapids, Mich., $106,500 on a 4.29 basis; while a number of other cities did nearly as well.

As we have previously stated, there would seem to be good reason for believing that municipal bonds will continue to find favor in the eyes of investors, on account of the clause of the federal income tax law, "The interest upon obligations of a state or any political subdivision thereof is exempt from the federal income tax, and no certificate of ownership is required in collecting said interest."—Municipal Journal.

Owing to the rain last Sunday there was no Municipal Band concert at Balboa Park, and the same was postponed until April 5. The concert scheduled for the Ocean Beach on next Sunday has been cancelled.

BUSINESS TRANSACTED BY THE BOARD OF EDUCATION.

At the regular meeting of the Board of Education, held on March 18, a communication was received from the City Attorney with his opinion that substitute teachers, not being regular public school teachers and deriving no benefit from the Teachers' Retirement Fund Act, cannot be required to bear the burdens of the scheme.

Director D'Ancona presented the following resolution: Resolved, That no deduction be made from the salaries of substitutes on account of the pension fund, which was adopted by unanimous vote.

A communication was received from the Park-Richmond Improvement Club requesting that the unoccupied school lot bounded by Twelfth and Thirteenth avenues, between Balboa and Cabrillo streets, be transferred to the Playground Commission for playground purposes. Secretary instructed to notify correspondent that transfer of this property to the Playground Commission will not be considered by the Board of Education, but temporary use may be made of it for playground purposes under proper supervision until such time as the Board of Education will require it, or at the pleasure of the Board.

Josephine Bryan was given an extension of leave of absence until April 6th.

On March 28, at a special meeting, the following resolution was adopted:

> Whereas, On account of the increased enrollment of pupils in both the elementary and high schools, the extension of the curriculum in the intermediate and high schools, the repair of the school equipment, the cost of supplies and general maintenance, the expense of the department as now conducted would exceed the budget allowance, and
>
> Whereas, For the above-named reasons the Board felt constrained to attempt to keep within the budget allowance by reducing the expenses for maintenance and supplies to the lowest amount possible and reducing the salaries of teachers where they have been specially increased in the salary schedule of the present year, and
>
> Whereas, In the judgment of the State Superintendent of Public Instruction this action is not within the legal powers of the Board, therefore, be it
>
> Resolved, That the salary schedule as adopted June 12, 1913, be carried out in all its parts, and be it further
>
> Resolved, That the Schools Committee be requested to report to the Board at its earliest convenience a list of the teachers entitled to allowance for outside experience in accordance with the above-named salary schedule in order that the Board may approve the experience of those entitled thereto and determine the amounts to be allowed.

FIRE PERILS CHECKED BY INSPECTION.

Fire Commissioner Adamson of New York recently ordered a monthly inspection of buildings by members of the uniformed force of the department. The first report has been recently submitted by Chief Kenlon. Between January 26 and February 26, 104,621 inspections were made. In 84,228 cases conditions were found to be good. In 20,333 cases violations were found, and of these 12,645 were remedied at once. Unusually dangerous conditions were found to exist in 1,020 cases, and these were at once referred to the Bureau of Fire Prevention. In some cases it was found that highly inflammable material was stored in houses where dozens of families lived. "The inspection system convinces me," said Commissioner Adamson, "that it was needed, and it will be continued. In one month the firemen have made nearly as many inspections as the Bureau of Fire Prevention made last year. They reported only dangerous conditions. Nearly all the bad conditions they found were corrected by verbal order. I am sure that a few months more of such careful inspection and the fire conditions in this city will be improved greatly."

The second installment of municipal taxes is now due and payable at the office of the Tax Collector. Taxpayers are earnestly requested not to delay payments until the last moment as they will suffer the inconvenience of delay in being waited upon and will be compelled to stand in line for hours. The congestion that usually results on the last day can be avoided by early payments.

Miller, chairman of Mayor Mitchels' Food Commission, New York city's food supply would be exhausted in fifteen days if the city should be entirely cut off from the rest of the country. FIRE COMMISSION ATTENDS TO ROUTINE MATTERS.

The Board of Fire Commissioners at its meeting on March 25 received the report of its administrative committee, setting forth the particulars of its activities during the preceding week.

Several charges involving minor infractions of the rules were dismissed.

One fireman was suspended for thirty days and another was deprived of twenty days' pay for intoxication.

Wm. Danby and Edward McGrory were assigned to Engine 28.

In memoriam resolutions were adopted in respect to Daniel Newell and L. O'Neil.

In the matter of the petition of the gatemen connected with the high pressure water system to be allowed to sleep at home nights, your committee recommend that the following plan, which meets with the approval of the petitioners, be adopted: That two men be constantly on duty at night, one stationed at certain quarters in the upper zone and one in the lower zone, each to be provided with a horse and buggy and lights.

SAN MATEO HIGHWAY CONSTRUCTION.

San Mateo county is making the fastest progress in road construction in the history of the state, according to figures just prepared by County Surveyor J. V. Neuman. Although it was only four months ago that the first bonds of the $1,250,000 issue for good roads were sold, $249,000 worth of work is now under construction, and specifications have been adopted for $250,000 more. The work under way represents six different contracts. It included the paving of the state highway through the cities of San Mateo and Redwood City, the paving of roads from Redwood City to Menlo Park and from San Bruno to South San Francisco and the grading of the ocean boulevard from Colma to Edgemar and San Pedro to Montara. Rights of way are now being secured by District Attorney Swart for the mountain boulevards. At the rate the work is going ahead, San Mateo county will have for the 1915 visitors a 175-mile system of boulevards costing $1,500,000 and including 125 miles of paved roads.

WATER EARNINGS FOR SINKING FUND.

Louisville, Ky.—An administrative policy that will reduce city taxes and make possible the levy of an additional estimated $200,000 a year for the reconstruction and repair of streets and the construction of sewers by the transfer of the net earnings of the Water Company to the sinking fund of Louisville, has been announced by Mayor Buschmeyer. The policy is based primarily on figures showing that Louisville water rents are the lowest in the country, making it a necessity no longer to decrease the net earnings of the company by additional discounts and placing the city owned water company on a dividend paying basis to the city direct instead of to the individual consumers through lowered water rents. The last annual report of the Water Company, made January 1, 1913, shows net earnings of $384,887.57 over all expenses of operation, including interest charges on the company's small bonded debt.

Where to Make Complaints

Citizens can benefit themselves and at the same time expedite the transaction of public business by observing the following general rules regarding the transmission of complaints.

TO THE SUPERVISORS.

All requests for new legislation or changes in the ordinances, for appropriations, for such permits as the board can grant, in relation to the conduct of public service corporations, for the installation of street lights, or for any service beyond the power of any other department to grant.

TO THE BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS.

All matters relating to streets, including grading, opening, improvement, repair or cleaning thereof, to sewers, to the construction of buildings, or any other construction work under its charge, to house numbering, to the maintenance of public buildings and all matters of an engineering nature.

TO THE BOARD OF HEALTH.

All matters relating to sanitation and the enforcement or non-enforcement of sanitary regulations, the abatement of nuisances, etc.

TO THE DEPARTMENT OF ELECTRICITY.

All matters relating to electrical installations either in buildings or streets.

TO THE WATER AND LIGHT INSPECTOR.

All complaints as to improper service or charge for gas, electricity or water.

TO THE FIRE DEPARTMENT.

All requests for additional fire protection, including fire alarm boxes, complaints against such things as increase the fire hazard and the enforcement of fire protection ordinances.

TO THE POLICE DEPARTMENT.

All complaints of non-enforcement of ordinances and requests for such permits as the Police Commissioners may grant.

Communications relating to education, parks, playgrounds, civil service, should be transmitted directly to the commissions having control of the subject.

In case any department or officer fails to acknowledge the receipt of the communication or fails to give attention to the matter stated therein, then such dereliction should be brought to the attention of the Mayor.

WHAT OTHER MUNICIPALITIES ARE DOING.

Fort Worth, Tex.—The city commissioners have reached an agreement whereby every department will pay whatever bills it incurs with other departments. The first payment under the agreement was made when the police department paid the water work department $715 for heat and water furnished the workhouse. Heretofore when no such agreement was in vogue the infringements of one department on another has been the cause of many protests from different commissioners.

New York, N. Y.—The increase in the number of playgrounds throughout this country and Canada shows the serious attention given by municipalities to recreation work. There are now 642 cities actively interested in the playgrounds movement and many others are alive to the need of establishing play centers. Formerly private philanthropy was largely relied upon, but during 1913 in 111 cities the support was entirely municipal and in 115 cities the maintenance of playgrounds was effected by both municipal and private funds. There are still 110 cities in which work is wholly supported by private benefactors. The total expenditure for recreation work in 1913 was $5,700,000 in 342 cities where paid supervision obtained. This is a gain of $1,500,000 over 1912.

Cincinnati, O.—Definite action, looking to the establishment in Cincinnati of a municipal wholesale market, has been taken at a meeting, in which Lew Shank, former mayor of Indianapolis, former Mayor Hunt, ex-City Solicitor Battman and representatives of women's and civic organizations took part. Steps were taken for the formation of a permanent body, to be city-wide in its scope, which will push the movement. The working theory of the organization will be to bring such pressure to bear on the Council as to assure the passage of au ordinance providing for a municipal market, where consumers can buy direct.

Chicago, Ill.—Coincident with the creation of the new public utilities commission by Governor Dunne at Springfield, Chicago felt the first effect of its loss of home rule when the curtailment of the practice of granting city employees engaged in the transaction of the city's business free street car rides, was announced. This new ruling will cost the city employees hundreds of thousands of dollars yearly.

Atlanta, Ga.—Mayor Woodward is leading a campaign to rid Atlanta of unsightly fences and billboards. The first opposition encountered was with the Fulton county authorities in connection with a large fence, covered with posters, around the new court house. The Mayor, however, finally won out and the fence is to be taken down.

Cincinnati, Ohio—Mothers are up in arms over a proposed ordinance to be enacted by the Common Council whereby all baby carriages must be provided with lamps at night if propelled through driveways in park or city streets. The attendant must carry lanterns or some other lights that will make them visible to auto drivers under terms of the ordinance. The regulations are aimed to decrease accidents.

Vassar, Mich.—At a meeting at the public school building a committee was appointed to lease the Wonderland Theater building and equip it for a municipal playhouse and gymnasium. Almost every business man in Vassar has contributed to the fund and there is great enthusiasm over the project. School students, young people, business men and women will be taken into membership. The building is 100 by 30 feet, is on the ground floor, and is centrally located.

Milwaukee, Wis.—A private "unlimited" telephone system for communication between all the schools of the city, with a "central" at the new school headquarters, is being installed, and will be ready for operation some time this month. It is also for a general connection between school headquarters and the general telephone system of the Wisconsin Telephone Company.

GARBAGE INCINERATOR PRODUCES ELECTRICITY.

Milwaukee, Wis.—The city engineering department is making Milwaukee garbage productive of electricity in quantities sufficient to operate large pumps. For ten days a new generating plant has been in operation, experimentally, and if estimates made on the basis of the few days of the experiment are fulfilled, the city will save a big sum in operating expense of one of its necessary utility plants. The development of electricity from the steam produced by incinerating the city garbage is only the latest phase of Milwaukee's garbage disposal work, the incineration plant having been accepted as a model for the last three years, and being widely copied in other American cities. The garbage is made to destroy itself, for about 15 per cent of the substance collected is fuel for the destruction of the balance, which is rated as moisture. The incineration plant thus is operated almost entirely without purchase of outside fuel. The electricity produced is conducted across the city to operate pumps which flush the Milwaukee river, keeping a current down the stream.

At the same time preliminary steps were taken to secure the removal of certain tracks in Stockton street to make way for the proposed municipal line in that street.

The ordinance creating a City Planning Commission was finally passed and sent to the Mayor for his approval. The ordinance provides for the appointment of a commission of nine persons, of which the City Engineer, City Attorney and City Architect are ex-officio members. The remaining members are to be appointed by the Mayor.

Another ordinance was finally passed amending the building law in relation to partitions.

TO REMOVE OBSTRUCTIONS IN STOCKTON STREET.

The Public Utilities Committee of the Board of Supervisors has favorably considered a proposition looking to the removal of the tracks of the Uuited Railways in Stockton street which will then permit the city to construct and operate the proposed Stockton street railway without the interference which would result if such tracks were retained. The United Railways proposes to remove the old cable duct in the street between Washington and Clay and a single line of track between Broadway and Union and to relay the latter in Powell between the same streets. The cost of this work to the United Railways will approximate $24,000. If the city were to reconstruct the tracks so as to permit of the joint occupancy of the street it would cost the city nearly $20,000 and would be objectionable from an operating standpoint. The United Railways is agreeable to the removal of its tracks from the street and it is probable that the municipal authorities will likewise agree to the plan.

His offer is governed by only two conditions—the couple must have been married for fifty years and must be happy.

If more than one couple claims the trip, committees of newspaper men in the various cities will be appointed to inquire into the lives of the respective couples. Their findings concerning the happiness of the couples during their marital relations will be forwarded to Thompson and the contest finally will be decided by a San Francisco board of judges.

In their communication to A. M. Mortensen, traffic manager of the exposition, the directors of the Hamburg-American company say that they have been moved to make their offer by a desire to assist in making the 1915 celebration a success and to encourage the exhibition of German wares at the exposition.

They offer to carry bona fide German exhibition goods to and from San Francisco free of charge for freight, subject to several conditions. All goods enjoying such privileges must be strictly of German origin. The shipper at Hamburg must pay the freight charges to San Francisco. At the close of the exposition the goods are to shipped back to Hamburg, where the freight charges for transportation both ways will be refunded. Should the exhibitor sell his exhibition goods, he must forfeit the freight charges from Hamburg, as these will not be refunded.

Where to Make Complaints

Citizens can benefit themselves and at the same time expedite the transaction of public business by observing the following general rules regarding the transmission of complaints.

TO THE SUPERVISORS.

All requests for new legislation or changes in the ordinances, for appropriations, for such permits as the board can grant, in relation to the conduct of public service corporations, for the installation of street lights, or for any service beyond the power of any other department to grant.

TO THE BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS.

All matters relating to streets, including grading, opening, improvement, repair or cleaning thereof, to sewers, to the construction of buildings, or any other construction work under its charge, to house numbering, to the maintenance of public buildings and all matters of an engineering nature.

TO THE BOARD OF HEALTH.

All matters relating to sanitation and the enforcement or non-enforcement of sanitary regulations, the abatement of nuisances, etc.

TO THE DEPARTMENT OF ELECTRICITY.

All matters relating to electrical installations either in buildings or streets.

TO THE WATER AND LIGHT INSPECTOR.

All complaints as to improper service or charge for gas, electricity or water.

TO THE FIRE DEPARTMENT.

All requests for additional fire protection, including fire alarm boxes, complaints against such things as increase the fire hazard and the enforcement of fire protection ordinances.

TO THE POLICE DEPARTMENT.

All complaints of non-enforcement of ordinances and requests for such permits as the Police Commissioners may grant.

Communications relating to education, parks, playgrounds, civil service, should be transmitted directly to the commissions having control of the subject.

In case any department or officer fails to acknowledge the receipt of the communication or fails to give attention to the matter stated therein, then such dereliction should be brought to the attention of the Mayor.

SWIMMING TANK IS VERY POPULAR.

The swimming season commenced April 1 at the bathhouse on the North Beach Playground. About one hundred boys were present to take "the first swim."

These baths proved so popular last year that the Playground Commission is planning to install a bathhouse at Nineteenth and Angelica streets, in the Mission district. As soon as sufficient funds are available it is intended to have tanks on all the grounds that are under the supervision of the commission.

An amendment to the "Tunnel Procedure Ordinance," providing for the segregation of assessments in any subdivision assessed as a whole has been passed to print by the Supervisors.

Peoria, Ill.—With the purchase of ten large dump wagons the free collection of garbage in an experimental way has been begun. While no definite plan has been decided upon it has been practically agreed that the best method of procedure would be to begin by starting one or two wagons in certain limits, by seeing that each performed a full day's work and by noting the tonnage of collection. For the first six months the system will be in an experimental stage. The districts will be arranged and the collection capacity of the wagons in downtown and residence districts ascertained; likewise what crew is required with each to average the best results in amount of garbage collected.

Vol. VII—No. 16. SAN FRANCISCO, THURSDAY, APRIL 16, 1914.

Supervisors to Provide Water Supply for the Outlying Districts

At the meeting of the Board of Supervisors on Monday afternoon measures were inaugurated for increasing the water supply of the city, particularly in those sections of the city that now have a very meager supply at the best. The action of the Board was based upon a report of the City Engineer, who has been making a study of the problem for some time past, which report is published in full in this issue.

An appropriation of $25,000 was made for the purpose of putting down experimental wells and the Board of Public Works was instructed to prepare plans and specifications and advertise for bids for doing this work. It is proposed to utilize vacant school and fire lots in the Sunset and Richmond Districts as the sites for these wells.

In addition the city was instructed to negotiate with the owners of real estate at Eleventh avenue and Quintara street and Lone Mountain to be acquired by the city as future reservoir sites. The first location has an elevation of over 700 feet and the latter nearly 400 feet and the plan as outlined by the City Engineer is to pump water from the wells into these reservoirs and from them distribute it through mains to be laid in the districts. It is estimated that a supply of approximately 3,000,000 gallons daily may be obtained, which will go far to alleviate the water famine that now exists.

It was also reported to the Board that necessary extensions would soon be made to the municipal system now located near the county line. Additional pipe and machinery has been ordered and as soon as it is on hand the work of installing it will proceed rapidly.

Protests Acted Upon.

The protest in the matter of the extension of Vulcan street was overruled and the action of the Board of Public Works was sustained.

The protest against the assessment for the improvement of Kansas street was set for hearing on April 27.

The protest against the assessment for the change of grade of Main street was continued for four weeks and the protest against the assessment for the improvement of Iowa street was continued for two weeks.

Ordinances Finally Passed.

The tunnel procedure ordinance was amended by providing a means of segregating assessments on lots that have been subdivided since the assessment map was made so that owners of the various lots could determine the amount of their respective assessments.

Section 12 of the Bulding Law was amended by prescribing a fee for permits for structures having a value less than $500.

An ordinance was passed requiring persons owning or operating moving vans, furniture cars, transfer wagons, express wagons, delivery wagons, or any other vehicle engaged in moving for hire, to file with the Chief of Police of the City and County of San Francisco weekly statements giving a record of removals made by them in the City and County of San Francisco.

Appropriations Made.

Among the appropriations made were: $30,000 for the purchase of paving brick for the repaving of Third street, $50,000 for the improvement of Sloat boulevard, $2,533 for additional work in the foundation of the Marshall School. The construction of a lead sink in the battery room and an automatic device in the main elevator of the new hospital were also ordered.

Street Work Ordered.

The improvement of the following streets was ordered:

REPORT OF CITY ENGINEER ON LOCAL WATER SUPPLY.

April 13, 1914.

To the Public Utilities Committee, Board of Supervisors,
San Francisco.

Gentlemen:

In compliance with your verbal request that this office submit a method of procedure through which suitable means may be provided at the earliest possible moment for supplying water to present and prospective residents of the outlying districts of this city, the following is submitted for your consideration:

San Francisco is now engaged in the development of a water supply system which is designed to draw water from the Hetch Hetchy Valley in the watershed of the Tuolumne River, and distribute the same in this city through suitable reservoirs and distribution mains, and proceedings are also being prosecuted for the acquisition by condemnation of the properties of the Spring Valley Water Company, and it is proposed, if the properties are acquired, to use them in conjunction with the Hetch Hetchy water supply system for supplying the entire city with water for domestic and fire protection purposes.

Whether the properties of the Spring Valley Water Company are acquired or not it will be necessary, in order to provide a fully adequate water supply, that additional reservoirs be constructed in this city and distribution mains be laid in the streets of the outlying districts. These reservoirs can be more economically acquired if the properties on which they are to be located are purchased at once while still uninhabited and the distribution mains can be more cheaply constructed if installed before the roadways under which they are to be laid are paved. The construction of those portions of the distribution system which do not depend upon the acquisition of the properties of the Spring Valley Water Company contemporaneously with the development of the primary source of supply will enable the city to complete the entire system and place it in service at an earlier date than if the primary source of supply and the distribution system are constructed separately, and will therefore considerably reduce the loss of interest during construction, especially if means can be found to secure even a small supply of water for temporary purposes from local sources.

It has been definitely determined that it will be necessary to construct one reservoir at an elevation of approximately 750 feet and another at an elevation of between 350 and 400 feet. An excellent site for the higher reservoir is in the Sunset District between Pacheco and Quintara streets and Eleventh and Fourteenth avenues, and for the lower reservoir on the top of Lone Mountain in the Richmond District.

On page 150 of a "Report on the Underground Water Supply of San Francisco County," prepared under the direction of the City Engineer during the early part of the year 1913, it is stated that possibly 3 million gallons of water per day in addition to the present supply may be pumped from wells in the Sunset and Richmond Districts.

The city owns a number of school and fire lots in the Richmond and Sunset Districts which will not be needed for school or firehouse purposes for a number of years to come. By boring wells on some of these lots (preferably those located in uninhabited portions of the districts), installing temporary pumping plants in connection therewith, securing the reservoir sites mentioned above and constructing reservoirs or tanks thereon, constructing pipe lines through which water may be pumped from the wells into the reservoirs and laying distribution mains in the Sunset and Richmond Districts as needed, the city will be able to furnish an adequate water supply in these districts, thus making them available for residence purposes, and building up a business, which, when the Hetch Hetchy water supply system is completed, will increase the revenue derived from the sale of water.

Obviously it is advisable to definitely determine that a sufficient supply of water can be derived from the sources mentioned before proceeding with the construction of a distribution system in these districts.

The recommendation of this office is therefore that the Board of Public Works be authorized to immediately prepare plans and specifications, advertise for bids for boring and testing wells in locations to be determined by the City Engineer in the Sunset and Richmond Districts, that the City Attorney be requested to negotiate with the owners thereof for the purchase by the city of reservoir sites in the Sunset District betwen Pacheco and Quintara streets and Eleventh and Fourteenth avenues, and in the Richmond District on the top of Lone Mountain, that as soon as it has been definitely determined that a sufficient supply of water can be obtained from the above wells the necessary reservoir sites be purchased and the city proceed at once with the construction of pumping plants, reservoirs and distribution mains.

We estimate that the cost of constructing that part of the distribution system outlined above should not exceed $1,000,000. The cost of boring and testing wells will probably not exceed $25,000.

Your attention is directed to the fact that there are approximately 57 miles of streets in the Richmond District and approximately 116 miles in the Sunset District. The greater part of these streets are neither paved nor graded. In a report to your Board on August 14, 1912, the City Engineer stated that to lay 71 miles of distribution mains in the outlying districts would cost approximately $1,250,000. Assuming that 173 miles of mains in the Sunset and Richmond Districts will cost approximately the same per mile as these 71 miles of mains, the laying of mains on all of the streets in these districts would involve the expenditure of approximately $3,000,000, evidently a greater sum than the city would be justified in expending at the present time. Therefore, before the construction of distribution mains in these districts is undertaken, it is desirable that your Board determine and define in unmistakable terms the policy to be followed in deciding what portions of the district shall be provided with a water supply system.

Very respectfully yours,

M. M. O'SHAUGHNESSY,
City Engineer.

The following street work has been accepted by the Board of Public Works: Crossing of Sixteenth and Castro by resetting curbs and catchbasins and construction of sidewalks; the west half of Masonic avenue, between Hayes and Grove streets, by paving of roadway.

FLIES COST MONEY.

The Merchants' Association of New York is already putting out a warning that if the common housefly is not killed now there will be innumerable billions later on.

It recites that the extermination of the winter fly is the duty of everyone, including the housewife. Now is the time to capture and kill all possible.

It is estimated that flies cost the United States $350,000,000 a year, and anyone who has time to make a calculation which should involve practically all the factors, would probably agree that the estimate is within reason.

For the sake of health and civilization in general, it is well to begin early fighting the flies as well as every other element of pollution in society.

As a result of a general protest against the opening of a new street at Twentieth and Church streets for the accommodation of the Church street line, the project has been abandoned and the City Engineer has been instructed to suggest some other plan for overcoming the excessive grade at this point. This action was taken at a special meeting of the Board of Supervisors last Monday evening.

MUNICIPAL THEATERS IN FRANCE.

The cities of France quite generally subsidize theaters and exercise watchful supervision over the administration. In Havre (and probably in most other cities) the director is chosen by the city council and a citizen commission passes judgment on the candidates for the leading parts. This theater seats about 1,400. The stock company contains 10 actors and 8 actresses for drama and for light opera 22 singers and a chorus of 18. During the past few years the attendance has been diminishing, owing to moving picture theaters and the habit of the more wealthy to visit Paris; and the season of 1912-1913 showed a loss of $1,930, which the city had to pay. The Havre Council a few weeks ago voted $9,650 subsidy for next winter. The prices range from 10 cents in the top gallery for all performances to from 77 cents to $1.16 for orchestra chairs, the latter price for grand opera. In 1912 Lyons gave a subsidy of $57,900 a year for opera; Lille, $21,230 for opera; Nantes, $37,635 for opera; Toulouse, $30,880 for opera; St. Etienne, $4,825 for drama, comedy and lyrics; Havre, $7,720 for drama, comedy, light and grand opera; Rouen, $23,160 for lyrics; Nancy, $14,475 for lyrics and comedy. These all have more than 100,000 population. At least fifteen other smaller cities also have municipal theaters, the smallest being Boulogne-sur-Mer, with 53,000, which gave $4,439 subsidy.

A BILLION IN SCHOOLS.

The common school property in the United States is worth $1,221,695,730 and the annual expenditure for the education of 18,035,118 pupils enrolled is $446,726,929.

NOT ALL SKYSCRAPERS.

The average number of stories in buildings on Manhattan is 4.8. In the downtown district, where most of the skyscrapers are, the average is but 6.4 stories.

WATER DISTRICT ON EAST SIDE OF BAY.

The option given by Frank C. Havens to Alameda county for the purchase of the People's Water Company was made valid last Monday when the Supervisors set Tuesday, June 2, as the date for the election to decide whether the metropolitan water district is to be formed.

The formal call for the election will be issued on April 27. The action, taken by the Supervisors only after a hot debate, settles the question as to whether or not the people shall say if they want the water district.

A second writ of mandate was issued Monday morning by Superior Judge Brown ordering the Board of Supervisors to call the election on or before April 27.

Denver, Colo.—Denver will be rid of its billboard pest for all time if the City Council acts favorably upon the recommendation which City Attorney I. N. Stevens will make to it, as a result of the victory won against the city by the billboard companies. In the contest against the new billboard ordinance before Judge Ira C. Rothgerber of the County Court, the City Attorney said: "I am in favor of abrogating billboards entirely. They are unqualified nuisances and can be abolished on three grounds: first, that they are a menace from fire; second, that they hinder the police in the protection of its citizens from thugs and thieves; third, that they menace the health of the people."

WHAT OTHER MUNICIPALITIES ARE DOING.

Pittsburgh, Pa.—The Superintendent of the Bureau of City Property of Pittsburgh has discovered that the city owns nearly 8,000 pieces of property from which practically no revenue is derived. While much of the land is in unopened streets and alleys and is occupied for storage purposes, there nevertheless is some improved with buildings which are occupied by "tenants" who pay no rent. In the abandoned "back channel" of the Allegheny river which has been filled in between what was formerly Wainwright's Island and the mainland, there is a strip more than 100 feet wide and several blocks long, which is said to be worth $250,000. This is used by railroads and manufacturing firms for yards, storage space and assemblying grounds and for years they have had its use gratis. Pittsburgh Council has called for an investigation of the property with a view of deriving a revnue therefrom.

North Reading, Mass.—A campaign to change the name of North Reading has been begun by the Board of Trade. Postal cards were sent to the voters and, if the majority favor the change, an article will be drawn for consideration at the next town meeting. The reasons given for the change are that the prefix "North" is detrimental to the growth and business interests of the town, that people outside the town are of the opinion that North Reading is a part of Reading and that the name causes delay in the transfer of mail, express and freight.

Jersey City, N. J.—By a unanimous vote the City Commissioners have gone on record in favor of municipal ownership of transportation service on the boulevard and against the proposition of the Auto Coach Company for a franchise to operate a line of auto coaches on the boulevard. The City Commission furthermore has declared in favor of a municipal auto line with a three-cent fare. Mayor Fagan heartily endorsed the idea and said it well reflected public opinion.

Bristol, Tenn.—A new police signal system, intended to improve the service by enabling the public to get the police more hurriedly at night, has just been installed in Bristol, Tenn., by Chief of Police Odel. Red and green lights have been placed on State street which will be flashed on by the central operators of the telephone exchange. When an officer is desired at night all that is necessary is to call central, who will flash on the light, which can be seen readily from any point on State street. The officer who sees it will go to the nearest telephone and call night headquarters on Fifth street.

WHERE RENTS ARE HIGH.

The most expensive apartment in the world is a certain floor of the twelve-story building at Eighty-first street and Fifth avenue, the rental of which is close to $25,000 a year. The building stands on the most costly land available for such houses, and contains every known device to render it safe and comfortable. Land on Fifth avenue is worth about $100 a square foot, and the site of No. 998, which is the number of the apartment house, contains 12,800 square feet. No other building of equal size in the metropolis has so heavy a ground charge to carry. The property represents an investment close to $5,000,000. Divided between the twelve floors gives $250,000 a floor.

BUSINESS TRANSACTED BY THE BOARD OF HEALTH.

At a meeting of the Board of Health, held on April 16th, 1914, a committee from the "San Francisco Association for the Treatment and Cure of Drunkenness and Drug Habit" addressed the Board, petitioning for the establishment of a ward in the new San Francisco Hospital for the treatment of confirmed inebriates. Mrs. Louis Hertz, Police Judge Shortall and William E. Nicholl, probation officer, pointed out the necessity for such action, and the Board of Health expressed itself as being in favor of a plan along these lines that would be in the nature of a temporary measure, pending the establishment of an institution for the care of this class of patients in order that they may ultimately become useful citizens. Further consideration of the matter was laid over until Thursday, May 21st, 1914, when a conference will again be held by the parties interested.

J. Collins, a dairyman of Napa Junction, California, cited to show cause why permit to ship milk into this city should not be revoked, was granted four weeks in which to comply with the requirements of the department.

J. S. Beruardo, a dairyman of Mountain View, Cal., was also cited to appear, on proposed revocation of permit. The report of the dairy veterinarian indicated that this dairy was in a very poor condition from the viewpoint of sanitation and cleanliness, and Mr. Bernardo was given fifteen days in which to comply with the requirements, or his permit to ship milk into San Francisco would stand revoked forthwith.

A committee from the South of Viaduct Improvement Club appeared before the Board relative to conditions that exist in the district between Lake Geneva and Cayuga and Onondaga streets, an open trench carrying the sewage discharges from Lake Geneva to Cayuga street and then entering the Bond sewer at the last named point, and finally emptying from the Bond sewer into Islais Creek, beyond the Mission Viaduct. A resolution was ordered drafted and forwarded to the Board of Public Works urging upon that department the vital necessity of closing up the existing gap in said sewer and the continuation of same from the viaduct to a proper outlet.

The acting health officer reported that special inspections had been made of 104 restaurant and hotel kitchens in various parts of the city during the month of March, and with the exception of eight, all were found to be in sanitary condition.

A resolution was ordered drafted to be directed to the Board of Supervisors asking that body to adopt an ordinance regulating the muzzling of dogs and that same be made a permanent law. The director of laboratories reported that the number of rabid dogs appears to be constantly increasing.

The resignation of Wm. J. O'Brien, ambulance driver, emergency service, was accepted, to take effect April 30, 1914.

Under the terms of the Workmen's Compensation Act, the Board approved the claims of Hospital Steward E. L. Purdum in the sum of $74.50 and Ambulance Driver Adam Baker in the sum of $33.50, both of these employees being injured in the line of duty.

The committee on equipment of San Francisco Hospital submitted a report to the effect that they have been meeting regularly twice a week for some months past and are progressing to such a point that they will have practically the major portion of equipment estimates ready for submission to the Board of Health and the Board of Supervisors in a few weeks.

The finance committee of the Board of Supervisors will be petitioned to provide for the sum of $80 per month in the budget for 1914-15 in order to enable the department to grant nurses in the Emergency Hospital service one day off in seven.

The director of laboratories submitted a report to the effect that the number of food samples, etc., examined during the month of March totaled 2020. The chemical division undertook an interesting work in the way of chemical analyses of certain candies. Forty samples were submitted and only one of these was found to be colored with a substance, the use of which is forbidden under the Pure Food law. This is a remarkable showing, as formerly most all of these candies were colored with prohibited dyes.

Births recorded for week ending April 18th, 1914, 163; deaths, 133.

Following is a list of contagious diseases reported to this department during the week ended April 18, 1914: Diphtheria 14, measles 80, mumps 7, whooping cough 59, pneumonia 11, scarlet fever 12, tuberculosis 38, typhoid 2, chickenpox 50, glanders (animal) 1.

The Seattle Charter Revision Committee has adopted a preferential voting system for municipal elections which will obviate the necessity of any primaries. It is expected that this plan will necessitate only one municipal election every two years, and will save the city between $40,000 and $50,000 per year.

Panama-Pacific International Exposition Notes of General Interest

The Panama-Pacific International Exposition has just announced that $100,000 has been appropriated to bring the first world polo tournament to San Francisco in 1915. The event which will attract the best polo teams of all countries will extend over a period of six weeks, from March 15th to May 1st, and four wonderful fields have been obtained. It is expected that 500 of the best ponies in the world will be shipped to the exposition grounds for this fascinating sport. Queen Eleanora, King Ferdinand and Crown Prince Boris of Bulgaria, have signified their intention of attending the exposition and King Alfonso and Queen Victoria of Spain are among the other followers of polo who are expected to come. The tournament will be under the auspices of the American Polo Association, which has collaborated with President C. C. Moore in appointing committees of the foremost players of the United States.

* * *

Railway passenger agents from all the principal lines of the United States have just finished a meeting in San Francisco at which the rates for the exposition were agreed upon. The exceptional rate of one way fare for the round trip was announced after several days' deliberation and this affords the best opportunity from an economic standpoint for those who have long been planning a western trip. The railroads are expecting to carry a million people from the Eastern States to the exposition in 1915. The American Association of Traveling Passenger Agents has also selected San Francisco for the meeting November 9, 10, 11 and 12, 1914.

* * *

The executive committee of the Traveling Passenger Agents visited the exposition grounds last week and, in the words of the secretary, Elliott T. Monett, "everybody was simply dumbfounded upon finding 70 per cent of the buildings completed, which, without doubt, when completed will be the most beautiful picture ever witnessed in this or any other country."

* * *

The greatest feature of the new rates for 1915 is that they are good for 90 days and will be on sale at any station on any day.

* * *

There will be two great religious displays at the exposition, which are now being planned. A reproduction of St. Peter's Church in Rome, to cost a quarter of a million dollars, will be the exhibit of the Roman Catholic Church. One of the exhibits of the Protestant denominations will be a building in the form of a Bible, open, standing on end and with the entrance at the back of the book and surmounted by a cross-crowned tower. The cross will bear a text in electric lights. It is estimated that a half million dollars will be spent on this and the other Protestant exhibits in the department of social economy.

* * *

The Iowa and Nebraska commissions, headed by Governor Clark of Iowa, arrived in San Francisco April 3rd, to dedicate the site for the Iowa pavilion. Nebraska's site has already been chosen. Governor J. B. Morehead of Nebraska was unable to come and he was represented by Lieutenant Governor F. R. McKelvie.

* * *

The first of the great wooden ribs that are to form the dome of the Palace of Manufactures was set in place on April 1st. This dome is the last to be completed of all the exhibit structures of the same material and the delay was caused by the storm of last February, which blew down parts of the structure left over night without more than temporary supports.

* * *

The demands for space in human welfare exhibits to be placed in the Palace of Social Economy and Education have been so heavy that arrangements are already being made for the overflow. Nearly three-quarters of an acre more will be necessary to provide room for the exhibits that have been culled from those for which application for space was made.

* * *

Plans for the pavilions of Massachusetts and the Philippines were approved March 31, and the actual work will begin in a few days. Idaho's building is almost completed, and New York probably will have the distinction of having the second State pavilion to be finished. Honduras has completed her pavilion, which is on a site commanding the foreign and state areas.

* * *

Richard Bergstrom, commissioner general of Sweden to the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, has made arrangements for receiving the Swedish exhibits, which will be brought through the Panama Canal. He was pleased with the Exposition terminal railway, which will take the exhibits from the ship and carry them into the exhibit buildings.

* * *

Henry Bacon, one of the leading architects of New York, is now on his way to San Francisco to superintend the finishing of the great Court of the Four Seasons, which will be the first of the five courts to be completed.

* * *

The petition of Oregon organizations to have a "Cherry Day" during the exposition has been granted, and July 1 has been named. Carloads of Oregon's cherries have been offered the exposition for this day, and there will be a cherry deluge if the Oregon people have their way.

* * *

In addition to the temporary fire station already installed on the Exposition grounds with a complement of men, horses and apparatus, a city fire tug has been assigned to the Exposition, and a wharf is being built especially for it along the esplanade of the Marina.

* * *

The Panama-Pacific International Exposition, from September 20 to 25, 1915, will be the meeting place of the largest body of distinguished engineers ever assembled in one place, and Col. George K. Goethals will preside over the first international engineering congress. As Colonel Goethals will be the hero of the achievement which the Exposition is to commemorate, this meeting will be one of the most important of the probable 500 that will be held in San Francisco at the time of the Exposition.

SOLICITING AT REGISTRATION OFFICE PROHIBITED.

The Registrar of Voters has received many complaints of citizens of the annoyance caused by persistent solicitors for signatures to all kinds of petitions. So many of these complaints have been made that he reported the matter to the Election Commission, with the result that the Commission has framed an ordinance prohibiting the solicitation of such signatures within a prescribed distance of any place of registration. The ordinance has been transmitted to the Board of Supervisors, with a request for its speedy enactment.

Vol. VII—No. 18. SAN FRANCISCO, THURSDAY, APRIL 30, 1914.

A PUBLIC HEARING ON THE BUDGET WILL BE HELD AT THE CHAMBERS OF THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS ON TUESDAY, MAY 5th, AT 2:00 O'CLOCK P. M.

Report of Finance Committee on Budget Estimates, 1914-1915

San Francisco, April 27, 1914.

To the Honorable Board of Supervisors of the City and County of San Francisco.

Gentlemen: The Finance Committee presents the budget estimates for the forthcoming fiscal year earlier than has been the practice heretofore. Presenting the report at this time will give the members of the Board and the public ample time to analyze the amounts recommended and the apportionment of funds before the budget is finally passed.

During the year about to close the Committee has at all times sought to promote efficiency in the several departments, and at the same time conserve the funds of the taxpayers in the hope that the compulsory increase in the rate of taxation might be kept to a minimum. The desire to keep down expenditures is not parsimony, nor an intention to delay necessary civic improvements and the betterment of municipal conditions. The anxiety of the Committee has been based solely upon a foreknowledge that each year will bring an increased tax burden upon the community. It is therefore prudent that the annual increases shall be held at the lowest possible point, and that the city, while progressing in growth and in enlarged social activities, shall at the same time not be overwhelmed with a tax rate which will deter manufacturing and commercial development.

It must be borne in mind that the city is now beginning to feel the heavy burden of the losses of 1906. Large bond issues were authorized soon after the disaster and maturities were postponed as long as possible. These maturities are now multiplying. and beginning with 1915, and then on to 1920, the redemption account alone—not to include interest—will amount to several hundred thousand dollars additional each year, even if no more bonds are authorized and sold.

Increases must necessarily come for the additional expense for maintenance of schools, streets, public lighting, fire department, police department and other municipal functions.

Pensions for different department employes and automatic increases of salaries, both of which were voted by the people, require large additional sums each succeeding year.

State Laws Increase Taxes.

In recent years the State Legislature has passed laws, notably the Workmen's Compensation Act, the Widows' Pension Act, the Maintenance of Minors, etc., which force the Supervisors to levy taxes which already amount to hundreds of thousands of dollars annually.

These general observations are made, not in criticism of the laws or charter amendments, but only to show that the trend of modern thought as expressed in legislation leads invariably to greater public expenditures.

The financial history of every city shows that with growth of population comes a commensurate cost of government.

Your Committee reiterates its comments of last year and the year before, that the increase in assessment valuations does not and cannot keep pace with the increase in cost of maintaining the city at the standards required by the people.

Governmental policies will undoubtedly change this rule, but until those policies are adopted and in operation, the tax fixing body must be governed by the laws in force at the time the budget is made and the tax levied.

Municipal Railways Successful.

San Francisco, pioneering the way in municipal ownership and operation of street railways, has achieved results that are intensely satisfying to those who make a study of municipal finances. Our municipal railways already in operation show extraordinary profits under normal conditions. Ultimately, should this success continue, there is no reason why the tax rate should not be automatically reduced by the profits from our railways and other municipal utilities.

Budget Appropriations.

The Finance Committee recommends budget appropriations amounting to	$14,917,145.16
Estimated assessment roll	536,000,000
Tax rate on each $100	2.27

Increases Over 1913-1914.

Increase in the budget	$642,063.16
Increase in the tax rate	.07

To the city and county tax rate (estimated) of $2.27 must be added 4 cents State tax for Exposition purposes.

This will make the total tax rate $2.31 as against $2.24 in 1913-1914.

The Assessor informs the Committee that it is impossible to give the exact amount of increase in the assessment roll, but be advised that it would probably be about $10,000,000, making the total $536,000,000. The Committee has, for the purpose of preparing the rate, taken the Assessor's estimate.

Following the usual custom the Committee compiled all the requests from the various departments and had conferences with the Commissioners, bureau chiefs and experts of the various departments before making final recommendation. These conferences have been held practically daily for six weeks. Some measure of the work involved in preparing a budget for the City of San Francisco may be imagined by the following:

Requests of Departments and Improvement Clubs.

The total requests of the several departments of the city government was $16,802,722, which on the same assessment valuation here used would have meant a tax rate of $3.14.

The total requests of the numerous improvement clubs and civic organizations were $19,652,250 (exclusive of salaries and fixed charges) which would have meant a tax rate of $3.61, without providing for the payment of salaries, bond interest, park appropriation and other governmental charges.

The principal increases recommended are as follows:

Maintenance of minors and widows' pensions	$ 85.000
Lighting streets and public buildings	20.000
Special funds for street improvements, etc.	33.500
Employees' accident insurance	60.000
Health Department	54.519
Fire Department	56.680
School Department	125,860
Bond interest and redemption	187,235

The remainder of the increase—$29.269—is composed of numerous items which provide for normal increases in maintenance of different departments.

Railway Earnings and Credits from Bond Account.

Reverting to the successful operation of municipal railways, the bond interest and redemption account is credited with $339,605, representing $150,000 surplus earnings of the Union street line and $189,605 of the Geary street line. To these two sums is added a surplus in the bond interest and redemption account of $165,659, making a total credit to bond interest and redemption of $505,264. Without these credits the bond interest and redemption account for 1914-1915 would have totaled $3,425,037—in other words, the credits from the earnings of the railways and the surplus in bond interest represent 9½ cents which would had to have been added in the tax rate.

The Finance Committee feels entirely justified in reporting that constant attention to the financial affairs of the city, and careful manipulation in the sale and delivery of bonds produced the surplus of $165,659, and places the city's financial affairs in the best possible shape. It will be remembered by the Board that the current year was full of many difficulties when it came to selling bonds. Great patience and careful observation of financial conditions were necessary for a period of eight months, and the Committee feels that its work in this connection has been of large benefit to the city.

Increases in redemption for the forthcoming year are:

Sewer construction, 1908	$100,000
Geary and Market Street Railways	101,000
Exposition bonds	200,000
	$401,000

Increase Only 7 Cents.

Considering all the increases required by law, the Committee feels that an addition of only 7 cents to the present tax rate is the best that possibly could be done. When it is remembered that the increase of 1913 over 1912 was 15 cents, this year's proposed rate shows an earnest desire and a persistent effort to prevent the tax rate going beyond reasonable bounds; at the same time your Committee feels that the amounts recommended for the next fiscal year are amply sufficient to meet the requirements of the city. Effort has been made to apportion the funds with due regard to the needs of each district, and it is felt that the various departments will be supplied with sufficient money to properly conduct the affairs of the city, to keep pace with normal growth, if proper efficiency and rigid economy are required of all the departments which have control of disbursements.

Importance of Street Work.

Probably the most important work to be continued is the repair, reconstruction and construction of streets. In the past year the street repair department has completed a great deal of urgent street work and satisfactory results are reported. Much more still remains to be done. Therefore, the Committee recommends the same appropriation for street work—$1,150,000—as was fixed by the Board last year. This amount is intended to cover the street repair work, the sewer work, building, repairs and other necessities as they arise. During the current year there has been a uniform appropriation of $60,000 per month for street repair work; it is earnestly hoped that the same amounts may be appropriated for another year, at the end of which the streets of this city ought to be in good condition.

Telephone Operators Increase of Salary.

In the interest of efficiency and to promote larger satisfaction, the Committee recommends an increase of $5 per month in the salaries of all the telephone operators who have been receiving less than $80 per month. Other increases in salaries have been approved as will be shown in the analysis of the budget, which is a part of this report.

For convenience in comparison, and for the information of the members, an explanation of the changes suggested is made of each subdivision of the budget.

The Committee recommends an increase of $50 monthly in the salary of the clerk. We believe that the Board should approve this in view of the extraordinary work performed by him during his enforced stay of seven months in Washington. Through his knowledge of parliamentary procedure, his personal acquaintance with members of Congress, and his ability, more than to any single individual, was due our success in the Hetch-Hetchy fight. Our only regret is that we cannot recommend a more substantial reward for the great service he has rendered the City and County of San Francisco.

The Committee respectfully refers back to the Board the Journal Resolution proposing an increase of salary to the chief assistant clerk of the Board, and has recommended the salary of $2700 per year as fixed at present. In this connection the Committee thinks it proper to suggest to the Board that other clerks of the office have performed their duties satisfactorily and some of them have requested increases. The Committee does not feel that these increases ought to be recommended at this time. In the case of the chief assistant clerk, who very satisfactorily performed the work of the clerk during the latter's absence in Washington, the Committee feels that the present salary is commensurate with the position and with the duties performed. It is true that the chief assistant performed the clerk's duties for a period of seven months, but the added burden, if there were any, was shared by the other employes of the office.

Clerk's Office Force.

Observing the work of the office of the clerk during the past year, the Finance Committee believes that there are an unnecessary number of employees. The procedure has been simplified, division of duties has been arranged so that the office could be properly and efficiently conducted with three less employes than are at present engaged. It is not desired nor recommended that this excess number of clerks be dismissed from the city's service, and their salaries have been included in the budget recommendation; but the Finance Committee recommends to the Board that the Committee on Efficiency take up this question and arrange for the transfer of three assistant clerks to other departments in the city government, which departments may require clerical assistance. Provision for this procedure was made in a charter amendment which was adopted by the people, and it seems entirely possible that the Efficiency Committee should be able to arrange with the Civil Service Commission for the transfer of three assistant clerks who would, of course, go into another department at the same salary they are now drawing.

It has been thought wise to merge three items, printing public documents, printing law and motion calendar and municipal reports into one budget item. The item, stationery, books and printing is to include purchase and repair of typewriters. These are mere clerical changes.

$107,000 for Widows' Pensions.

The increases under the caption "Board of Superivsors" are as follows:

Clerk	$ 600
Printing public documents, etc. (merged account)	12,000
Interment U. S. soldiers	1,000
Stationery	1,000
Stationery for the Assessor (new item)	8,000
Grand Jury expenses	1,000
Premium on official bonds	500
Widows' pension, maintenance (new item)	107,000
Lighting public streets and buildings	20,000
Telephone operator, Superior Court	120
Purchase of rights of way	2,000	$153,220

Against these increases are the following deductions:

Printing Law and Motion Calendar (merged account)	$ 5,000
Printing Municipal Reports (merged account)	5,000
License tags	500
Purchase of Directories	600
Purchase of book typewriters	500
Investigation of public utilities	5,000
Rents	3,500
Maintenance of minors	22,000
Maintenance of Magdalen Asylum	2,500
Gasoline for city automobiles	500	$ 45,100
Net increase		$108,120

The omission of the $600 item for purchase of Directories is to get out of the budget an unnecessary item. Departments that require Directories may purchase them through the Supplies Committee and charge to the maintenance account of the department making the requisition.

The reduction of $22,000 in maintenance of minors is caused by the transfer of children to the Widows' Pension Bureau.

Practically all of the net increase is caused by the $107,000 for widows' pensions.

There has been a necessary rearrangement of the special funds for the reason that work provided for last year has been completed largely, and where it has not been completed, additional appropriations are recommended. New work is itemized.

New Detention Home.

Under the special funds there appears a new item—$50,000—for plans and specifications and initial construction for a Juvenile Detention Home. This institution is now in rented quarters that are utterly inadequate and unsuitable for the purpose. The city is obligated by humanitarian impulse alone to provide more suitable housing for the inmates of the Detention Home. It is thought better to begin construction under annual appropriations and thus save a possible bond issue, interest on bonds, etc., and at the same time get the building constructed as quickly as possible.

It is not estimated that $50,000 will complete the building required, but this amount will provide for the plans, foundations and possibly a unit of the structure which can be used while the remainder of the building is being erected.

The Board of Education has transferred to the Board of Supervisors the Peabody School site on Otis street (formerly West Mission street) for the site of the Detention Home.

Library Sites Mission and Sunset Districts.

The special fund also contains recommendation of $14,000 for the purchase of a library site in the Mission district, and $7500 for the purchase of a library site in the Sunset district. The library trustees recommend the location of branch libraries in these districts. The duty of selecting locations rests upon the library trustees, and the Committee has followed their judgment.

Other special appropriations are $15.000 for completing and equipping the Central Fire Alarm Station in Jefferson Square; $20,000 for the construction of shops for the Department of Electricity; $60,000 accident insurance; $65,000 Spring Valley litigation.

An increase of $25,000 is made to the item for construction and repair of school buildings, and $10,000 is added for the cleaning of streets.

School Department Increase.

To provide for the requirements of the public schools, your Committee has recommended an extraordinary increase of $125,860. During the year new schools have been established and many new classes are now in operation. The increase recommended this year may well be measured by the additional allowance of the 1913 Budget over 1912, which was $20,000. It appears to the Committee that an increase in one year of $125,860 ought amply to provide for any possible growth in the schools.

POLYTECHNIC HIGH SCHOOL: The Committee has omitted recommendation of an appropriation for the completion of the Polytechnic High School for the reason that there is abundant ground for the belief that this school can be completed out of possible surpluses at the end of the current fiscal year. Should the Board approve the judgment of the Finance Committee and permit the use of such surpluses as may be available there is no doubt but that the Polytechnic High School can be completed promptly, without any increase to the tax rate, and without delaying this important work until another bond issue can be authorized. While it is not possible at this time to accurately estimate the amount of surplus balances, the Committee is reasonably sure that sufficient funds will be available on or before July first so that contracts for completion of this school may be awarded.

Avoid Future Bond Issues.

Generally the School Department has been pretty thoroughly re-established, and the interruptions caused by the 1906 disaster are now practically only memories. If the School Board gets through the forthcoming year in good shape, as it ought to, it seems entirely possible that the future construction of schools may be taken care of out of each year's tax levy, and thus avoid subsequent and burdensome bond issues. The Board of Education earnestly urges the immediate completion of the Polytechnic High School even though the erection of other schools may be necessarily delayed for a time. Were it not for the necessity of completing this technical institution it would be good financing to provide $150,000—which sum will complete the Polytechnic—for the construction of more schools.

Recognizing the needs of the School Department, and in an effort to provide for immediate school construction, the Committee recommends an addition of $25,000 to the annual appropriation for construction and repairs; in addition to this sum there is recommended $75,000 for the immediate construction of new schools or additions where required. These amounts may well be used for either the construction of permanent buildings or temporary buildings that would serve the purpose, for the time, in the most congested districts, where school room facilities are inadequate.

The Committee also has in view the repair and improvement of existing schools, and particularly desires to aid the School Department in making betterments.

Fifteen Additional Policemen.

Much pressure was exercised this year, as in every other year, for a large increase in the number of policemen. After carefully analyzing arguments, and recommendations of the Police Board, the Committee recommends 15 additional policemen. Considering the Charter provisions that there shall be one policeman for every 500 inhabitants, and as corporals and sergeants may be considered policemen, the limit is already exceeded.

The need of street signs is apparent. Last year the Board appropriated $2500 to the Board of Public Works for additional signs, and during the forthcoming year the Committee will, of course. approve recommendations for additional expenditures for this purpose. Funds are available in the general appropriation, and it is not necessary to set aside a special amount.

Another appropriation of $50,000 towards furnishing the new City Hall is included in the Budget. The Committee believes, as did the Board, that this is a proper way to provide for this expense, and not have the full amount fall upon the Budget of a single year.

Tubercular Hospital.

One of the serious problems confronting the city is the care of victims of tuberculosis. Each year the Tubercular Hospital becomes overcrowded, no matter what provision is made for increase. In the present estimate allowance is made for the maintenance and care of 200 patients—a considerable increase over the current number of patients. It is presumed that the bonds voted for the Tubercular Hospital will be sold and a new building constructed as quickly as circumstances will permit.

Street Work Provided for.

The general appropriations contain in the judgment of the Commitee, sufficient funds for the reconstruction of Howard street from Sixteenth street southerly, the completion of walls, copings and sidewalks around Holly Park, sidewalks at Jackson Square, grading city's portion of Vermont street, street work around Lowell High School, sidewalks at Seventh and Harrison streets playground and the completion of the island parks in Dolores street from Eighteenth to Twentieth and from Thirtieth to San Jose avenue. Last year the Committee recommended that improvements of this character be not specially itemized in the Budget, but that the work be done. And it was done; on Dolores street and in other places as promised.

Upon the recommendation of the other Committees of the Board the Finance Committee will always endeavor to find appropriations for work of this character.

During the year $5000 a month was set aside for City's portion of street work and sidewalks in front of city property. An immense improvement was made in various parts of the city by this regular appropriation. Another year's continuance of this monthly appropriation idea and all the urgent work in front of City property will be done.

Tourist Association Request.

The Committee has omitted recommendation of an appropriation for advertising to be expended under the auspices of the San Francisco Tourists' Association. The reason for this omission is that the Committee can find no legal justification for this appropriation, and further that the City Attorney has orally advised the Committee that the proposed appropriation and appropriations of similar character would not be legal.

So far as the Committee is advised, there is only one way in which this appropriation can be lawfully made, and that is by the Board of Supervisors levying a special tax for advertising purposes—which special tax we understand is permissible under recent statute. Notwithstanding this permissive legislation the Committee is of the belief that an appropriation of this character in the Budget would establish a far reaching and too elastic a precedent.

Inasmuch as this City and County has never made appropriations of this kind it is not deemed advisable at this time to begin the diffuse use of public funds by disbursing money to promote special purposes not of a purely municipal character.

Auditor's Estimates too Low.

Comparisons are likely to be made between the Budget estimates and the tax rate estimate prepared by the Auditor and the estimates and rate recommended by your Committee. The Auditor evidently based his conclusions upon the expenditures of the past year and did not take into consideration several very important factors which of themselves would create a larger tax rate than that estimated by him. In the first place the Auditor's proposed allowances for street work is considerably less than that of your Committee, and he does not take into consideration other important and urgent improvements. He does not include anything in his Budget for accident insurance, which is required by State law, and his estimates for the Health Department and School Department are lower than estimates of the Committee. Besides these items the Auditor has increased the estimate of receipts from other sources—which receipts are constantly and annually diminishing as compared with preceding years. Finally, the Auditor in his estimate absorbs all the probable and possible surpluses and does not provide for outstanding judgments and has not considered the completion of the Polytechnic High School out of these possible surpluses. The Auditor's Budget is $605,135 less than the Committee's estimate, and he estimates the rate on an assessment of $540,000,000, whereas the Assessor's estimate at this time is $536,000,000.

Segregation of Funds.

The following table shows the segregation of funds and rates of the proposed Budget:

TWIN PEAKS TUNNEL SALE.

Tax Collector Bryant yesterday completed the list of parcels of property to be advertised for sale in the Journal of Commerce (official newspaper) on May 22 for non-payment of Twin Peaks tunnel assessments. The list comprises 2300 parcels on which payment was not made on April 13. Since that date there have been 400 payments made, either in full or by installment, with the addition of only a nominal advertising fee, and the number of delinquents will be greatly reduced before the day of sale. Bryant believes that less than 500 lots will be actually offered for sale because, under a new ordinance, segregation of tunnel assessments may now be adjusted where lots have been subdivided since the levy was made. All the owners in severality of such lots must agree as to their pro rata which must be signed on application blanks furnished by the Tax Collector, accompanied by a diagram of the respective portions aggregating the total assessment for the entire parcel. Bryant says the final delinquencies will be mainly of non-resident owners whom it is impossible to locate, or of residents who are not aware that their lots are in the district assessed. This applies to owners, some in Lakeview, City Land, Sunset and downtown blocks, and they should consult the delinquent list and assessment maps posted in the Tax Office.

MAINE CITIES MAY HAVE MUNICIPAL COAL YARDS.

The constitutionality of the statute empowering any city or town to maintain permanently a yard for the purpose of selling at cost to its inhabitants coal, wood and other fuel has been upheld in a rescript handed down from the Supreme Court of Maine. The rescript, drawn by Associate Justice Leslie C. Cornish, in part states: "We do not regard it (the act) as a departure from previous legislation, but in line with it, although perhaps one step further. The direction, however, is the same, and the advance is caused by the development of a new want which has called for a new exercise of legislative power, not an exercise of new legislative power, and such an advance is both legitimate and commendable."

The Fire Commissioners have recommended the construction of fifteen cisterns in the Richmond District as a means of fire protection.

The Civil Service Commission has approved a list of 466 experienced clerks who passed the recent examination and a list of seven eligibles for appointment as assistant engineers in the Fire Department.

The City Engineer has recommended that three expert electrical engineers be appointed to study the electric power development in connection with the Hetch Hetchy water supply.

Vol. VII—No. 19. SAN FRANCISCO, THURSDAY, MAY 7, 1914.

Supervisors Sanction Scheme for Developing Local Water Supply

At the regular meeting of the Board of Supervisors last Monday an appropriation of $2500 was authorized to enable the Board of Public Works to sink test wells in the Sunset and Richmond districts in order that it may be definitely ascertained whether a sufficient water supply can be found which will justify the installation of pumping plants and a system of distributing mains to supply the districts named with an adequate supply of water. The City Attorney advised the Board that it was a legal and proper charge to incur against the water construction fund, inasmuch as the works to be constructed are designed to become a part of the Hetch Hetchy system.

Another resolution was adopted instructing the City Engineer to make a study of the water conditions prevailing in the Columbia Heights District and if possible to augment the present meager supply by putting down a well in Balboa Park and by installing a pumping plant in connection therewith.

A further resolution was adopted authorizing the chairmen of the Public Utilities Committee to approve of applications for extensions of water pipes to be connected with the Spring Valley system; it being understood that that company will supply water to the extent of its capacity.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.

At the regular meeting of the Board of Supervisors last Monday the proposed dog-muzzling ordinance received considerable discussion. The Mayor was authorized to sell the structure in the Civic Center known as Scottish Hall.

PLAYGROUND COMMISSION NOTES.

Miss Gertrude Freese has been promoted to the position of director of girls at the North Beach Playground, vice Miss Edna Hayward, resigned. A vote of thanks was tendered Miss Hayward for the efficient manner in which she has conducted the girls' section of the North Beach Playground during her regime.

A report was received from Boese Brothers stating that plans and specifications for the bathhouse at Nineteenth and Angelica streets would be presented to the commission on May 13, 1914.

Preparations are under way for the celebration of Independence Day on the playgrounds. The details of the programs will be announced at a later date.

MEETING OF THE FIRE COMMISSIONERS.

At a meeting of the Fire Commissioners on May 6 transfers were made as follows: Geo. H. Murray, from Fireboat 2 to Engine 41; T. J. Crowe, to Engine 29; Frank Powers, to Engine 9; W. F. Boynton, to captain water tower.

W. J. McKenna and H. J. Gregory were granted leaves of absence.

Chas. B. Rogues was reported to have been retired temporarily on account of disability.

John McNaboe was deprived of six days' pay for violating the rules of the department.

The chief engineer called attention to the efficient services of Battalion Chief Bailey and Captain Mitchell at a fire on Hyde and California streets on April 29, and recommended that they be commended.

The Civil Service Commission certified a list of eligibles for the positions of first and second assistant engineers, but no action was taken.

RUSSIAN MUNICIPAL ENTERPRISES.

Municipal enterprises in Russia embrace a large variety of business. Russian towns undertake the direct management of waterworks, sewerage, lighting, slaughter-houses, scavenging, dispensaries and baths, the manufacture of bricks, stone quarries, butchers' and bakers' shops, pawnshops, flour mills, the building of country roads, warehouses for wood, oil, fuel and coal, printing offices, cheap restaurants, dairies and night shelters. There are municipal banks in 285 towns.

The Russian laws encourage rather than impede towns from undertaking municipal enterprises, first, because of the absence of sufficient private capital and enterprise; and, second, because of the necessity for revenue which the towns cannot otherwise obtain owing to the restrictions on their powers of taxation. The charge for these municipal enterprises is generally a large one. The price of water ranges from 5 to 10 cents per 100 gallons; electric lighting from 14 to 18 cents per kilowatt; municipal pawnshops levy from 18 to 24 per cent on loans. The net profits derived from the municipal pawnshops for 1911 amounted to $230,000, although their nominal capital was $5,350,000.

STREET WORK UNDER PRIVATE CONTRACT.

The Board of Public Works has granted applications to perform street work under private contracts as follows:

LIBRARIAN'S REPORT.

The growing population of San Francisco is again indicated in the progressive figures of the Librarian's report, submitted at the regular meeting of the Board of Trustees, which shows that the increased circulation for the last ten months was greater than the combined increase for the past three years. During the month 80,808 volumes were drawn for home use and the card holders now number 43,903. Records for circulation and registration have been larger than at any other period in the history of the institution. A somewhat rare item has recently been purchased by the library in a file of the San Francisco Examiner from 1887.

PROCEEDINGS OF POLICE COMMISSION.

At a meeting of the Board of Police Commissioners held on May 11, 1914, Sergeant Henry Cills was granted a leave of absence of seven days in addition to his annual vacation, said leave to commence June 17, 1914, and to be without pay.

The following named special police officers were removed: John Weber, Clayte Welch, John McKinnon.

The following was appointed special police officer: Franklin M. Leavy.

The San Francisco Municipal Civil Service Association has completed a permanent organization by the election of the following officers: President, John W. Rogers (Asst. Clerk Supervisors); vice-president, Harry F. Morton (Carpenter, Board of Works); recording secretary, E. M. Coffey (Health Department); financial secretary, Chas. PAYMENT OF TWIN PEAKS TUNNEL ASSESSMENT.

Tax Collector Bryant has reported the following collections of Twin Peaks tunnel assessments to date:

Payments in full	$798,575.01
Installment payments	161,072.97
Interest on deferred payments	20,939.47
Advertising charges	107.75
Total	$980,695.20

The payment by the Spring Valley Water Company of its installment assessments will add $135,400 to this sum and this, with the payment on segregated assessments on large parcels under ordinances of the Supervisors, will increase the total cash collections to more than $1,100,000. This means that practically $3,800,000 of the $3,955,501.29 total assessment will be accounted for either in full or by installment agreements during the next six days.

Bryant is making extraordinary efforts to locate owners who have not yet paid and in the last week more than 300 have responded with the additional payment of only a nominal advertising fee. His efforts have been ably supplemented by the Twin Peaks Tunnel Property Owners' Association. He is looking forward confidently to a net delinquency of less than $100,000 out of nearly $4,000,000 on about 500 out of 16269 parcels on May 22nd, when the collection will end and delinquent parcels will be put up for sale. Only six days more remain to pay up and after that it will cost an additional 25 per cent of the assessment to redeem the property from the sale.

EXPOSITION NEWS NOTES.

Although the steel auditorium that the Exposition is presenting to the city of San Francisco is 40 per cent completed the cornerstone was laid April 23, with special ceremony. The structure represents an outlay of $1,300,000, and is an important feature of the new Civic Center. It will seat 12,000 persons, and will be used during the Exposition for great congresses and conventions.

* * *

"Drug Week" at the Exposition in 1915 will extend for a period of two weeks, and the date has been set for July 12 to July 24. More than 50,000 druggists will be represented, and word has just been received that the delegates from the American Druggists' Syndicate will charter a steamer and come through the canal. Their business will be transacted on the boat, and their entire time at the Exposition will be at their pleasure.

The date for the ground-breaking exercises of the California building has been set for May 7th, and a special program has been prepared. Governor Johnson is to be one of the speakers. The California building will represent an expenditure of $2,000,000 when completely furnished. It will be the host building, and will contain a ballroom finer than any in the entire State.

* * *

One of the prettiest ground-breaking ceremonies on the Exposition grounds was that of the Orange Blossom site in the concessions district, when a great orange popped open and little girls rushed out to distribute candies and fruits. The building on this site will be made almost entirely of glass.

* * *

The Venezuelan commissioner to the Exposition, Octavio Escobar Vargas, was in San Francisco getting plans for the pavilion that is to represent his country. The ground was broken for this building April 30, before his return to make a report to the government. The appropriation of Venezuela depends on the amount recommended by the commissioner.

The two hundred and twenty-third convention or congress to choose San Francisco for 1915 is the National Top Notch Farmers' Club. The delegates will represent every corn producing county in thirty-three States, and will be chosen by the governors. Eligibility to boy and girl members is based on a production of 100 bushels of corn to the acre, or better.

* * *

Arnold Kruckman, manager of the Bureau of Aeronautics for the Exposition, and his secretary, Lowell Hardy, have just returned from an interview with President Wilson and government officials. They were assured the government's interest in the around-the-world aviation race as a matter of benefit to science, and official government recognition of the race was given.

United States Commissioner Colvin B. Brown has just returned from a visit to the Balkan States and Spain and Portugal, and these nations are all much interested in the Exposition according to his report. Bills are now before the parliaments for extensive participation. Mr. Brown reports that the wars have increased the national spirit and that all of the countries are anxious to make a creditable showing with exhibits and troops in 1915, and especially to gain the friendship of America. Royalty showed the commission every courtesy, and the most distinguished people of Europe are already planning to come.

Los Angeles, by a substantial majority, has approved a proposition to issue $6,500,000 bonds for the completion of a municipal electric system in connection with its water supply.

PASS STREET SIGN BOARD REGULATION.

Providence, R. I.—Stringent regulation of sign boards suspended from buildings over the sidewalks of public highways is provided in a resolution adopted recently by unanimous action of the Common Council. The measure has gone to the Board of Aldermen for action in concurrence. It provides that no sign extending more than twelve inches over the sidewalk shall be erected without the permission of the inspector of buildings. No sign shall be erected which does not relate directly to the business conducted within the building to which it is attached. This clause is to prevent the use of such signs as billboards for miscellaneous advertising. The ordinance further provides that all signs shall be constructed in a manner satisfactory to the inspector of buildings. The signs shall be placed upon the buildings in such a way as not to interfere with any street lights, and if any signs do interfere with the street lighting they must be removed at the order of the public service engineer.

NEW YORK CITY MAY ESTABLISH INDUSTRIAL ZONES.

Governor Glynn has signed the Conkling bill, amending the New York charter. The text of the new law follows:

The Board of Estimate and Apportionment shall have power to regulate and limit the height and bulk of buildings hereafter erected and to regulate and determine the area of yards, courts and other open spaces. The board may divide the city into districts of such number, shape and area as it may deem best suited to carry out the purposes of this section. The regulations as to the height and bulk of buildings and the area of yards, courts and other open spaces shall be uniform for each class of buildings throughout each district. The regulations in one or more districts may differ from those in other districts. Such regulations shall be designed to secure safety from fire and other dangers and to promote the public health and welfare, including, so far as conditions may permit, provision for adequate light, air and convenience of access. The board shall pay reasonable regard to the character of buildings erected in each district, the value of the land and the use to which it may be put to the end that such regulations may promote public health, safety and welfare and the most desirable use for which the land of each district may be adapted, and may tend to conserve the value of buildings and enhance the value of land throughout the city.

The board shall appoint a commission to recommend the boundaries of districts and appropriate regulations to be enforced therein. Such commission shall make a tentative report and hold public hearings thereon at such times and places as said board shall require before submitting its final report. Said board shall not determine the boundaries of any district nor impose any regulation until after the final report of a commission so appointed. After such final report said board shall afford persons interested an opportunity to be heard at a time and place to be specified in a notice of hearing to be published for ten consecutive days in the "City Record."

CANNOT REFUSE PERMITS FOR EXISTING STABLES.

As there is a popular impression that the Board of Supervisors may deny permits to maintain stables that were in existence prior to February 24, it is desirble to call public attention to the section of the ordinance relating to this subject. The section reads as follows:

> Section 4. The Board of Supervisors shall not refuse a permit for the maintenance of a stable in a building now constructed and maintained as a stable except upon satisfactory evidence that such stable is conducted in an insanitary manner and the failure to remove the objection to the manner of its maintenance within a time to be prescribed by the Board of Supervisors.

MILLIONS SPENT IN FIRE PROTECTION.

According to the census, 195 cities with a population exceeding 300,000 have spent $47,385,546 on their fire departments during the year 1912. These cities spent $59,776,622 for police protection during the same period, which is 25 per cent more than for fire protection. Cities having a population greater than 600,000 spent more for police than for fire protection and where the population ranges from 30,000 to 300,000 the opposite was true. Three cities spent more than $3 per capita on their fire departments; Omaha spent $3.65; San Francisco, $3.60, and Atlantic City, $3.56.

CITY WINS FIRST ROUND IN GAS RATE FIGHT.

Master in Chancery W. B. Wright, appointed by Judge Van Fleet to take evidence in the case of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company vs. San Francisco, rendered a decision Saturday morning in favor of the city.

About ten months ago the Board of Supervisors decided that 75 cents was a sufficient charge for gas supplied to patrons of the company within the city and fixed the minimum charge at that figure.

The Pacific Gas and Electric Company obtained a restraining order enjoining the city from enforcing the new rate. The case was taken before Judge Van Fleet, and by him referred to Master in Chancery Wright.

In the meantime the gas company continued to charge its patrons 85 cents, being 10 cents above the charge fixed by the city.

Master Wright holds, in the decision rendered, that the rate of 75 cents is reasonable and sufficient and orders the gas company to refund to its patrons the extra 10 cents per 1000 feet collected during the past ten months.

The amount of this refund is estimated at about $300,000, and this sum must be divided between the thousands of users who have paid their gas bills at the 85-cent rate.

The Master in Chancery also decided that the value of the property of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, instead of being $19,937,267.05, as claimed by the company in the court proceedings, is really only $12,442,598.46. The company based its claim to charge the higher rate for its gas upon the valuation stated above. The Master measures a reasonable charge from a valuation fixed at the lower figure.

The decision is a distinct victory for the city authorities, and the report will be taken before the court for confirmation as soon as possible.

NEW PASTEURIZING PROCESS FOR MILK.

A milk-treating plant has been opened at Clayburn, B. C., in the heart of the fertile Matsqui Prairie district. Its product will supply the Vancouver market. Milk and cream will be treated and butter made. The initial capacity of the plant is 1,000 gallons daily, which will be ultimately increased to 5,000 gallons. The Laurentia process is used. Milk received must contain at least 3.6 per cent butter fats.

The milk is first passed through a fine sieve and then heated, after being tested for acidity and butter fat. This is to facilitate its passage through the clarifier, which removes all impurities. It is then pasteurized at a temperature of from 155 to 165 degrees. This process arrests the development of the acid in the milk and destroys the bacteria.

The milk then passes into the "homogenizer," one of the most important processes in the Laurentia treatment. Here is it forced under a pressure of 3,500 pounds through tiny tubes into an agate and bronze device, which grinds each separate globule of butter fat into fine particles and makes the liquid of the same consistency throughout. It is then ready for cooling and bottling or canning. The sterilizing is done after the fluid has been sealed.

The most up-to-date appliances are used and everything is arranged from a hygienic point of view. All the machines are electrically driven. The manufacturers claim that the various processes through which the milk passes destroy absolutely all bacteria, preserve the product, materially improve its digestive properties, and leave its nutritive values and flavor unimpaired. In the hermetically sealed bottles and cans the milk will keep in perfect condition for years, and when opened will not deteriorate as quickly as the ordinary product.

"CITY MANAGER" PLAN GROWING POPULAR.

There are now at least ten well known cities being governed under a city manager system and a score or more towns and villages throughout the United States have hired competent business men to manage their affairs.

Dayton, Ohio, was the first big city to attempt the city manager form and its new charter, which is regarded as a model, is being copied to some extent in Seattle. After three months of the city manager plan, reports from Dayton give every evidence of the worth of the system.

Other cities which adopted the same scheme are Staunton, Va., which was one of the pioneers in the city manager field; Springfield, O., Sumter, S. C., Lockport, N. Y.; Phoenix, Ariz., Amarillo and Terrell, Tex., Cadillac, Manistee and Hancock, Mich.

Plans for the city manager form are being worked out in Salem, Ore., Alameda and Berkeley, Cal.

Delegates of several improvement associations and citizens appeared before the Board relative to the transfer of Hamilton Square to the Playground Commission. City Engineer Makes Report on Condition of Garbage Incinerator

In response to an inquiry the City Engineer has transmitted the following report covering the history of the construction of the Islais Creek garbage destructor:

Department of Public Works, Bureau of Engineering, Room 724, City Hall.

May 18, 1914.

Public Welfare Committee, Board of Supervisors, San Francisco.

Gentlemen:

In reply to a letter addressed to this office on the 13th instant by the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors, requesting a report on the status of the Islais Creek incinerator at the present time, I beg leave to submit the following:

Brief History of Construction of Garbage Incinerators.

On May 11, 1908, an election was held for the purpose of authorizing the issuance of bonds in the sum of $1,000,000 for the purpose of constructing a garbage disposal system for the City of San Francisco and the proposed bond issue was approved by the voters.

On October 1, 1908, an investigation was begun for the purpose of determining the quantity, composition and heat values of the refuse collected in this City.

In June, 1910, the specifications for the Islais Creek and North Beach incinerating furnaces and appurtenances were completed by the City Engineer, approved by the Board of Public Works and an appropriation was made for their printing. These specifications were so worded as to place all of the responsibility for the design, construction, erection and testing of the incinerating plants upon the contractor to whom the contract for their construction might be awarded. The contractor was required to guarantee the results which would be secured and heavy penalties for failure to fulfill the guarantees were provided.

On August 12, 1910, proposals were invited for the construction of the mechanical equipment of the North Beach and Islais Creek incinerators, to be opened on November 16th.

On November 18th, 1910, the contract for the construction of these incinerators was awarded to the Power Specialty Company, agents for the Destructor Company, who proposed to furnish and install furnaces of the Heenan-Froude type.

On December 19, 1910, the contract between the Power Specialty Company and the Board of Public Works was signed.

Preparation of plans for the construction of the furnaces and their appurtenances was thereupon begun by the Power Specialty Company and of plans for the buildings to house the incinerators by the City Engineer. These plans were practically completed on October 30, 1911.

On October 30, 1911, the Power Specialty Company suggested a change in the manner of handling garbage from the garbage wagons to the incinerator furnaces.

On January 3, 1912, after a careful investigation of the merits of the proposed change, the Board of Public Works, at the recommendation of the City Engineer, passed a resolution accepting the proposal of the Power Specialty Company upon the condition that the bondsmen of the Power Specialty Company should file a stipulation approving the change.

This change necessitated the discarding of the plans which had previously been made for the construction of the buildings to house the proposed machinery. New plans for these buildings were accordingly commenced immediately.

On February 5, 1912, the contract was awarded for grading the site of the Islais Creek incinerator.

On May 12, 1912, contracts for the construction of the Islais Creek incinerator buildings were awarded to McLean-Haggans & Aden and the Judson Manufacturing Company.

On July 3, 1912, the foundations for the furnaces of the Islais Creek incinerator were ready for the Power Specialty Company to commence the work of installation and, as required by the specifications, the Power Specialty Company were notified to that effect in Board of Public Works Resolution No. 18922. The date of this resolution automatically fixed the date upon which the contractor should be ready to commence testing the Islais Creek station at October 24, 1913, and the date upon which the station should be completed at January 22, 1914. Under another clause of the specifications, however, this date upon which the station is to be completed has been automatically extended until such time as the Power Specialty Company shall complete such alterations and further tests as have been found necessary.

On August 28, 1913, the Power Specialty Company commenced testing the Islais Creek incinerator and continued testing until October 14, 1913. During this period 947.3 tons of garbage were burned. During these tests it developed that the grab bucket which had been furnished by the Power Specialty Company for the purpose of handling garbage between the garbage storage pit and the incinerator furnaces was not entirely satisfactory and that the bucket elevator which had been provided for handling crushed clinker from the clinker crusher to the clinker storage bins was not suitable for the purpose.

On October 14, 1913, the plant was shut down for the purpose of installing a new grab bucket and bucket elevator.

On December 23, 1913, the necessary changes had been completed and the Power Specialty Company again commenced to burn garbage.

On December 24, 1913, after 26 tons of garbage had been delivered, the scavengers declined to deliver any more garbage until the road to the incinerator should be placed in a passable condition.

On January 19, 1914, the road had been repaired and the burning of garbage was again commenced and continued until February 27th, during which period 1070.9 tons of garbage were consumed.

The operation of the incinerator during this test showed that the machinery for handling the ashes and clinker resulting from the burning of the garbage was unsatisfactory and after numerous experiments, the Power Specialty Company decided to give up the attempt to make this machinery satisfactory and to re-design the clinker handling portion of the plant.

On February 27, 1914, the garbage incinerator was shut down and since that time the Power Specialty Company's engineers have been engaged in making various plans for the handling of clinker between the incinerating furnaces and the clinker storage bins.

On May 1, 1914, after a consideration of all of the plans which had been prepared by the Power Specialty Company, the Power Specialty Company and the City Engineer finally selected what appears to be the most desirable plan and the Power Specialty Company were authorized to proceed with the necessary alterations. These alterations are now being made.

At the conference recently held in the office of His Honor the Mayor, the Power Specialty Company stated that they could have the plant ready for operation again in two months, or about July 1st. The engineers of this office are of the opinion, however, that a somewhat longer time will be required to make the necessary alterations and do not expect the plant to be ready for further trial before the first of August.

As has already been stated, the contract between the Power Specialty Company and the City definitely places all responsibility for the design, construction, erecting and testing of the proposed garbage incinerators with the contractor, who is required to guarantee the results which will be secured from the operation of the incinerators, under heavy penalties for failure to fulfill these guarantees.

This being the case, the activities of this office have been confined to the inspection of the manner in which the work has been performed by the Power Specialty Company, all responsibility for the design of the incinerating plant having been assumed by the Company under the contract. This responsibility the Power Specialty Company fully recognizes and are cheerfully making the necessary changes in the incinerator at their own expense.

It is but fair to the Power Specialty Company to state that there does not appear to be any serious difficulty in burning garbage in a manner which is entirely satisfactory and without the emission of any considerable quantity of smoke from the chimney. The difficulty up to the present time has been in handling the resulting ashes and clinker. These contain a large quantity of tin cans which have prevented the successful operation of the clinker handling machinery. This clinker handling machinery is a new departure in garbage disposal and one which has not been experimented on to any considerable extent by any other city. It was adopted, I understand, at the advice of Mr. Rudolf Hering, the Consulting Engineer under whose advice the specifications were prepared with the idea of minimizing the cost of operating the incinerator. While I cannot state that the method of handling clinker which is now being installed will be successful until it has been tried, I see no reason to doubt that the plant can ultimately be made to comply with the requirements of the specifications in every particular.

There is attached hereto a statement of the expenditures which have been made under this bond issue up to April 1, 1914. Your particular attention is directed to the fact that the original estimate did not contemplate the purchase of the Sanitary Reduction Works and the $400,000 which was used for the purpose has reduced the amount available for the construction of additional plants by just that amount.

In reference to the North Beach incinerator, it is not proposed to proceed with its construction until it shall be proven by actual operation that the plant upon which we are now experimenting can be made to fully meet the requirements of the specifications. The plans for the North Beach station will then be revised to such an extent as is shown to be necessary, and contracts let for its construction as soon thereafter as possible.

Respectfully yours,

M. M. O'SHAUGHNESSY,
City Engineer.

Letter From the Destructor Company.

The following letter explaining the present status of the incinerator has been received from the president of the Destructor Company:

San Francisco, Cal., May 15, 1914.

Hon. John S. Dunnigan, San Francisco, Cal.

Dear Sir: In reply to your favor of May 13th, I have the honor to advise you that the delay in placing the Islais Creek incinerator in full operation is due to the unexpected difficulty encountered in designing the mechanical means for handling the clinker, as called for by the specifications.

Our people have been manufacturers of refuse destructors for over twenty years. We have some three hundred successful plants to our credit, extending throughout all countries, and including the principal cities abroad, such as London, Manchester, Dublin, Brussels, Rotterdam, Paris, St. Petersburg and Rio de Janeiro.

In America we have built the modern plants in the cities of New York, Milwaukee, Paterson, Buffalo, West Mount (Montreal), Vancouver, Seattle, Montgomery, Atlanta, Savannah and Havana.

Our contract with the City calls for the construction of incinerators which, when finished, will be the most complete and the most economical in operation yet attempted. Necessarily they involve some novel features in design. Your engineers will confirm our statement that no difficulty whatever has been experienced in satisfactorily burning the garbage delivered to the plant, the sole difficulty being with the clinker handling machinery. We have no hesitation in stating that this part of the problem can be satisfactorily solved and that we will deliver to you an incinerating plant which will be a credit to the City as well as to ourselves.

At the hearing in the Mayor's office toward the end of April, we promised his Honor to have the plant in full operation within three months, and it is our intention to keep that promise.

Respectfully,

E. H. FOSTER.

REPORT BILL TO PREVENT CROWDING ON CARS.

A bill, unique in its character, has been reported to the Massachusetts legislature, designed to prevent the crowding of street cars. The bill requires that the passengers standing after the seats are filled shall not be more than 50 per cent of the seating capacity of the car, and that capacity shall be posted publicly in the car, so that it will be a simple matter for any man with complaint to count and see if the law is violated. Then, if he can get nine others to sign with him a complaint to the local authorities, he can go ahead with his case.

Supervisors Take Action on Appeals in Street Improvement Cases

A large part of the session of the Board of Supervisors last Monday was taken up in hearing appeals from the decisions of the Board of Public Works in various cases in valuing the improvement of streets.

The appeal from the assessment in the matter of the improvement of San Bruno avenue was denied and the decision of the Board of Public Works was sustained.

A similar order was made in the matter of the appeal from the improvement of Beach street, between Taylor and Jones streets.

In the matter of the improvement of Wisconsin street and in the matter of the improvement of Mohawk avenue a resolution was adopted delaying the work of improvement for a period of one year.

Opening Streets in City Land Association.

The proposition of opening eleven streets in the tract of the City Land Association to connect with Holloway avenue will receive a public hearing before the Board on June 29th.

The ends of the streets have been separated from a cross street by a strip of land 115 feet in width and it is necessary to purchase eleven places sixty feet in width to connect the streets and give them an outlet through the Ingleside Terrace.

Municipal Asphalt Plant to Be Improved.

A bill was passed to print authorizing the Board of Public Works to enter into a contract for enlarging the municipal asphalt plant, and approving specifications therefor.

Also, the Board of Public Works was authorized to enter into contract for installing pumping machinery for sewage at Forty-eighth avenue and Fulton street.

Street Work Ordered.

The improvement of streets was ordered as follows:

The crossing of Anza street and Twenty-third avenue, by grading, curbs, sidewalks, catchbasins and connections and asphalt roadway.

Cook street, from Geary street to Laurel Hill Cemetery, construction of curbs and asphalt pavement.

Vicksburg street, between Jersey and Twenty-fifth streets, by construction of curbs and asphalt pavement.

Intersection of Douglass and Jersey streets, construction of curbs, sidewalks and asphalt pavement.

Balboa street, between Twenty-seventh and Twenty-eighth avenues, by construction of concrete curbs and asphalt pavement.

Downey street, from Ashbury street northerly, by grading.

Tenth avenue, between Moraga and Noriega streets, by construction of asphalt pavement, with center strip of basalt blocks.

Nineteenth avenue, between Anza and Balboa streets, by construction of curbs and asphalt pavement.

Miscellaneous Matters.

The Mayor was authorized to sell at public auction a building in the Civic Center on the south line of McAllister street, 60 feet easterly from Polk street.

The clerk was directed to advertise for bids for publishing the Municipal Record, the calendars of the Board of Supervisors, the law and trial calendars of the courts, etc.

Monday, June 1st, was fixed as the time of hearing of the appeal in the matter of the assessment for the improvement of Twenty-first avenue, between Lincoln way and Irving street.

The State Board of Medical Examiners has addressed a communication to the Board of Supervisors disapproving of a proposed ordinance for the license of anatomical museums, and suggesting that an ordinance for the regulation of such institutions as drafted by the City Attorney be adopted.

TUBERCULOSIS HOSPITAL SITE.

In view of the many protests which have been made against the location of the Tuberculosis Hospital either in the new City and County Hospital or at a proposed site near the Isolation Hospital in the new Potrero district, the Building Committee of the Board of Supervisors has asked the City Attorney for two opinions on the subject of removal. First, he is asked if the hospital may be located in some other portion of the city, at a place yet to be selected, other than the present site in the new City and County Hospital grounds, and, secondly, if the hospital can be located on ground outside of the City and County of San Francisco. In connection with this matter, the Board of Health has informed the Building Committee that the proposed site in the new Potrero district is not approved by that bureau.

TO PREVENT TEARING UP THIRD STREET.

Preparations are being made by the Board of Public Works to repave Third street at an early date. The pavement is to be vitrified brick and the design is to make it as permanent as possible. To obviate the necessity of excavating in the street as soon as the pavement is laid, in order to lay service pipes and sewers, all public service companies and the property owners along the street have been served with the following notice:

You are hereby notified that the Board of Supervisors passed Ordinance No. 2700 (New Series), approved March 18, 1914, "Prohibiting excavation in Third street and damage to the pavement thereof for a period of two years, and providing a penalty for the violation thereof".

You are further notified that it is the intention of the Board of Public Works to repave Third street for its entire length with a brick pavement, and that it is essential that such pavement shall not be torn up for a period of two years thereafter. The repaving work will be commenced July 1, 1914.

You are therefore required to construct side sewers, gas, electric, water, telephone or steam services in front of your property, or to perform and complete any other construction or repair work that will necessitate the opening of the roadway of Third street. All such work must be completed before July 1, 1914.

CHECKS PAVING DEFECTS.

A post card system of checking pavement defects has been adopted by the street improvement committee of the Commercial Club of Duluth. The card provides a street intersection diagram on which the user may note the streets and avenues involved and locate the exact point of the defect. Space is also provided for detailing the complaint.

Thus far, the effort to control municipal noise may be divided into regulation of certain occupations, which include peddlers, itinerant musicians, exhorters and hawkers for motion picture shows, restrictions on the noise of motor vehicles and steam whistles; rules for keeping raucous animals and fowls, and the establishment of "zones of quiet."

GOVERNMENT MONOPOLY REVENUES IN JAPAN.

State monopolies and undertakings in Japan yield an annual revenue of about $64,000,000, of which $25,000,000 comes from posts, telegraphs and telephones, $25,000,000 profits from tobacco, $5,000,000 from salt and $5,000,000 from forests.

FLIES.

Killing flies is of little permanent benefit. So long as there is abundant food for them in the shape of putrescible dirt, and breeding places in the shape of manure, garbage, etc., nature will see to it that a sufficient supply are on hand to clean up after careless humans. Theoretically one pair of flies which have escaped the swatter could in a season become the ancestors to enough to give even New York or Chicago its customary swarm. The only remedy for the fly pest is to remove the breeding places, as it is the only remedy for the mosquito pest. When our stagnant ponds are all drained, and all the city free from decaying garbage and manure, then we may hope for a flyless town.—Municipal Journal.

Reports of Committees on Unfinished Business.

The Special Committee appointed at the last meeting to report in regard to the co-operation of the Board of Education in the erection of the mothers' monument, recommends for your consideration that the following letter be sent to principals:

"Enclosed will be found a copy of a recent communication from State Superintendent Hyatt. The Board of Education has decided to co-operate in this general movement in memory of pioneer motherhood in general. You are therefore requested to read and explain to the children Superintendent Hyatt's letter. Later prepare a sealed box with an opening for the dropping of coin at a time designated by yourself and at some suitable place in the yard. Permit entirely voluntary donations to be dropped into the box, and when all shall have had an opportunity to make contribution, count the deposits and bring same to Miss Anderson, Assistant Financial Secretary of the Board of Education, before May 29th, 1914. It will be very helpful to Miss Anderson if you will as far as possible exchange with your local dealers the pennies and other small coins for coin of larger denominations." Report approved.

The Schools Committee reported concerning the application of Alice Lewis for leave of absence until such time as her health may permit of return to her class in the Franklin School that under the rules she may be excused until the close of the term, June 5th, 1914. If not able to return to her duties at the opening of the fall term, 1914, she may renew her application stating definite dates. Report approved.

The Superintendent presented the following resolution:

Resolved, That Miss E. A. Jones of the Fairmount Grammar School, having completed her term of probation in a manner satisfactory to her principal and to the office of the Superintendent of Schools, be and is hereby elected a regular teacher in the elementary schools of this department.

Referred to Schools Committee.

Resolved, That the Schools Committee be given full power to act concerning the details of the teachers' competitive examination to be held in June, 1914.

At the meeting held on May 21st the salary schedule for the ensuing year was adopted. The schedule does not allow compensation for experience gained outside of the city schools.

Vol. VII—No. 23. SAN FRANCISCO, THURSDAY, JUNE 4, 1914.

Supervisors Order Overhead Wires Removed in Underground District

At the regular meeting of the Board of Supervisors last Monday, resolutions were adopted directing the removal of all poles and overhead wires in the so-called underground districts. The order affects the following companies: City Electric Company, Western Union Telegraph Company, California Special Messenger Service, San Francisco Special Messenger Service, American District Telegraph Company, Pacific Auxiliary Fire Alarm Company, Pacific Gas and Electric Company, Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company, Postal Telegraph Company, and Ocean Shore Railway Company.

Budget Finally Passed.

The annual budget was finally passed by a vote of fifteen ayes to three noes. The ordinance now goes to the Mayor for approval.

A resolution was adopted by a vote of 17 to 1 to transfer the sum of $48,971.20 from the net earnings of the Union street division of the Municipal Railway to the general fund for the purpose of paying the city's assessment for the construction of the Stockton street tunnel. It is proposed to operate a branch of the Union street line through the tunnel as soon as the same is completed.

Non-Resident Expert.

The Board adopted a resolution declaring that the position as chief of the Department of Electricity required an expert electrical engineer, and in accordance with the provisions of the charter declared that the residence provision of the charter should not be applicable to such position.

Improvements Ordered.

The Board of Public Works was authorized to enter into contracts for the electrical wiring, metal lathing and plastering of the academic building of the Polytechnic High School. Also to contract for the improvement of Geary street in front of city property between Twenty-ninth and Thirtieth streets.

A bill was passed to print ordering the construction of the Twin Peaks Tunnel.

Building Laws to be Amended.

A bill was passed to print amending the building law, the provisions of which permit the erection of one-story buildings with enclosing walls and roof of corrugated iron or galvanized sheet steel, supported on a frame of steel construction and not exceeding 15 feet in height and 400 square feet in area, in rear of any residence or lot outside the fire limits, and to be used for private garage purposes only.

Appeals Postponed.

The hearing of appeals in the matter of the improvement of Arlington street, and on Twenty-first avenue, between Lincoln way and Irving street, was postponed for two weeks.

Miscellaneous Matters.

A permit to explode blasts was granted to Eton & Smith, as the same may be necessary in the construction of the Potrero avenue railway.

A spur track permit on Division street connecting with the Southern Pacific tracks was ordered revoked, the presence of the same being an obstruction to the construction of the Potrero avenue railway.

The Mayor was authorized to sign certain stipulations prepared by the Forestry Service of the U. S. Government as preliminary to the exercise of the city's right to construct a tunnel aqueduct in connection with the Hetch Hetchy water supply.

The clerk was directed to advertise for bids for furnishing street cleaning apparatus, consisting of one street sweeping machine, four machine brooms and three can route wagons.

Election Commissioner Cator has expressed the opinion that the referendum petition filed in the matter of the Southern Pacific franchise is invalid for the reason that the ordinance granting the franchise was not set forth in the petition.

MAYOR GIVES REASONS FOR REMOVAL OF FIRE COMMISSIONER.

Mayor James Rolph, Jr., has transmitted to the Supervisors the following statement covering his action in removing Fire Commissioner William H. Hammer from his official position:

On the 19th day of May, 1914, as Mayor of the City and County of San Francisco, I preferred certain charges against William H. Hammer, as a member of the Board of Fire Commissioners of the City and County of San Francisco.

The first of these charges is based upon the repeated and persistent refusal of William H. Hammer, as such Fire Commissioner, to accept the certification by the Civil Service Commission of those persons eligible for the position of Assistant Chief Engineer of the San Francisco Fire Department; and upon the fact that, after such list of eligibles was certified to the Board of Fire Commissioners by the Civil Service Commission, William H. Hammer, as Fire Commissioner, voted in favor of the appointment to the offices, respectively, of First and Second Chief Engineer of the Fire Department, of persons whose names had not been certified to the Board of Fire Commissioners by the Civil Service Commission, and who were ineligible for such appointment and whom Commissioner Hammer knew to be ineligible.

The second of the charges is in effect that by Commissioner Hammer's refusal and neglect to accept the certification of the Civil Service Commission and to abide by the law, the legal and proper administration of the affairs of the Fire Department has been interfered with; the discipline of the Fire Department endangered; the department, itself, demoralized, and the public business of the City and County of San Francisco, particularly of the Fire Department, obstructed; all by the actions of Commissioner Hammer; and, further, that Commissioner Hammer, in writing, refused to attend a conference called by the Mayor of the members of the Board of Fire Commissioners and of the Civil Service Commission for the purpose of attempting to relieve the situation in the Fire Department.

A copy of these charges was served on William H. Hammer on the 19th day of May, 1914, together with a notice of the time and place set for the hearing of the charges, a copy of which notice is attached hereto and marked "Exhibit B" and made a part of this decision.

The charges were heard, and a trial of Commissioner Hammer was had, before me, as Mayor, in the office of the Mayor, on the 21st, 22d, 23d and 25th of May, 1914. Commissioner Hammer was present in person and was represented by counsel. Evidence was taken, and the matter submitted to me, as Mayor, for decision.

I find and adjudge William H. Hammer, as a member of the Board of Fire Commissioners of the City and County of San Francisco, to be guilty of said charges, and both of them, and I hereby remove him from office as a member of the Board of Fire Commissioners of the City and County of San Francisco.

The positions of First and Second Assistant Chief Engineers of the Fire Department have been held for some time by John R. Maxwell and James F. Layden, who were temporary appointees not under Civil Service. The Civil Service Commission has certified, under the provisions of the Charter, the names of three eligible persons for appointment to each of these positions. Commissioner Hammer has refused to vote for any of the men whose names were furnished by the Civil Service Commission upon the ostensible ground that the Civil Service Commission, in making up its list of eligibles for these two positions, did not include a physical examination with the mental examination. I am not, in this matter, concerned with the question whether or not the Civil Service Commission ought to have included a physical test in this examination. Upon entering the Fire Department, all applicants must submit to physicial examination and must be found in sound bodily health, but the Charter makes it discretionary with the Civil Service Commission to require persons seeking promotion from one grade to a higher grade in the Fire Department to submit to a physical test. The Civil Service Commission has decided, in the exercise of its legal discretion, not to require a further physical test from the active battalion chiefs seeking promotion. Judge Murasky has decided, in accordance with the plain provisions of the Charter, that the Civil Service Commission acted within its rights when it dispensed with the physical examination in the case of battalion chiefs. That, however, is not the issue. The only question involved in this matter is whether the members of any other commission shall set themselves up as judges to determine the propriety of an action of the Civil Service Commission, and shall undertake to go behind the certification of the Civil Service Commission. It is quite obvious that if Civil Service is to be anything but a farce, no commission or official shall be permitted to question the character or sufficiency of the examinations held by the Civil Service Commission or the validity of the lists of eligibles certified by that commission. So City Attorney Long decided in 1908, in the Twomey case. I quote from City Attorney Long's opinion, rendered July 23rd, 1908, addressed to the Board of Police Commissioners:

> "You ask now 'whether your Board has the power to go behind the certification of the Civil Service Commissioners and declare Twomey's appointment invalid?' Replying directly to your question, I would advise that your Board cannot 'go behind' the certification of the Civil Service Board."

This opinion, delivered officially in writing by City Attorney Long, is in direct conflict with the curbstone opinion rendered by the same official, upon which Commissioner Hammer bases his refusal to act upon the certification of the Civil Service Commission. That this, however, cannot have been Commissioner Hammer's sole reason for refusing to accept the certification of the Civil Service Commission is plain from the fact that when a motion was made to appoint to the position, respectively of First and Second Assistant Chief Engineers, Mr. Maxwell and Mr. Laydon, the temporary occupants of those positions, Mr. Hammer promptly voted in favor of the appointments, although neither Mr. Maxwell nor Mr. Layden had ever taken a physical examination for promotion. It is most extraordinary that a man who had, as Commissioner Hammer claims to have had, conscientious scruples against voting in favor of appointing to those positions Civil Service men who had not taken any physical Civil Service examination, should freely and gladly vote for appointment, to those same positions, of two men who had passed neither physical examinations nor qualified in the mental examinations given by the Civil Service Commission, as eligibles for certification.

I cannot reconcile Commissioner Hammer's stated reason for refusing to appoint the Civil Service eligibles with his actions. I consider his action a direct attack upon Civil Service. The excuse that the men certified by the Civil Service Commission have not passed a physical test, is, in my opinion, buncombe. The examination was open only to Battalion Chiefs. If any of the Battalion Chiefs, who took the mental examination for promotion, is not physically fit to hold his position as Battalion Chief, the Board of Fire Commissioners should prefer charges against him for such unfitness, and, if they have failed to do so, they have committed a breach of duty. On the other hand, if the Battalion Chiefs are physically fit to perform their duties, there is no need, in my opinion, of an additional physical test. The severest physical test is the active and competent performance of the duties of Battalion Chief, and it is admitted that eligibles are actively and competently performing their duties as Battalion Chiefs. Commissioner Hammer wants to wait until an appeal taken from Judge Murasky's decision shall be decided.

I am not concerned with the issue upon that appeal. Even though Judge Murasky's decision were subsequently reversed, that fact would not alter the situation. Mr. Hammer, in defiance of the Charter, and in violation of his plain duty, has refused to vote for the appointment of Civil Service eligibles, and has voted in favor of persons who are not eligible under the law.

The Superior Court has been vested, by the People, through the constitution, with the settlement in the first instance of controversies at law. The Superior Court has decided this dispute. The fact that an appeal has been taken to the Supreme Court, which, in the ordinary course, would not be heard for more than a year, cannot be allowed to suspend the operation of the City government during that time. Public convenience cannot permit the City government to be suspended pending an appeal. Such a condition would be intolerable.

Commissioner Hammer's refusal to vote for the appointment of any eligible on the Civil Service list has caused a deadlock, has obstructed public business, and has injured the discipline of the Fire Department. In order, if possible, to relieve the situation, I, as Mayor, called a meeting in my office of the Civil Service Commissioners and the Fire Commissioners to consider what should be done. This action, I took, not only because the people hold me responsible for the actions of all commissioners in the conduct of all departments, but because the Charter, in Chapter I of Article IV, expressly makes it the duty of the Mayor to "vigilantly observe the official conduct of all public officers and the manner in which they execute their duties and fulfil their obligations" and "from time to time recommend to the proper officers of the different departments such measures as he (the Mayor) may deem beneficial to public interest"; and the Charter further declares that the Mayor "shall see that the laws of the State and the ordinances of the City and County are observed and enforced", and "shall have a general supervision over all the departments and public institutions of the City and County and see that they are honestly, economically and lawfully conducted." Under these provisions, it was the manifest duty of Commissioner Hammer to attend the meeting in my office and his refusal to do so was a breach of his official duty, and not, as he contends, a mere discourtesy to the Mayor who had appointed him.

Dated: May 27th, 1914.

Mayor of the City and County of San Francisco.

CONSOLIDATION OF CITIES AND COUNTIES CONSIDERED

The Committee on Publicity and Interurban Relations, consisting of Supervisors Hayden, Hocks and Walsh, held a special meeting yesterday to consider a proposed constitutional amendment that will provide for the consolidation of city and county governments and the annexation of territory thereto. The amendment was the joint work of the City Attorneys's offices of Los Angeles and of this city. It provided means for the consolidation of the city of Los Angeles and a portion of that county into a consolidated city and county; also for the annexation of territory to a consolidated city and county, but was by terms limited so that San Francisco could annex only San Mateo county. The last proviso produced opposition from the commercial and civic bodies of this city. Representatives of these bodies were unanimous in voicing their status of opposition to any limitation that would prevent the consolidation of the cities across the bay with San Francisco should the voters of the transbay cities so desire.

The committee sustained this contention and directed the redrafting of the amendment so as to conform to the ideas expressed by San Francisco's representatives.

Mr. Robertson of Los Angeles stated that Los Angeles would be satisfied with whatever action the northern cities would take.

Representatives of Alameda county were present, but took no part in the discussion.

BUSINESS TRANSACTED BY THE FIRE COMMISSIONERS.

At the regular meeting of the Board of Fire Commissioners held on May 27th the new Fire Commissioner, Chas. T. Spader, took his seat as a member. His presence and vote broke the deadlock that has existed for months over the appointment of a first and second assistants to the chief engineer. Stephen D. Russell was appointed to the position of first assistant and John J. Conlon was appointed second assistant.

The following applications for transfer were granted: E. A. Carter, truckman, truck 12, to hoseman, engine 3; John McNaboe, hoseman, engine 17, to hoseman, engine 3; J. Reynolds, stoker, engine 9, to stoker, engine 37; Chris. S. Mahr, from truckman to driver, truck 5.

A communication was received from M. M. O'Shaughnessy, City Engineer, submitting information in order that this department may take such steps as are thought necessary to protect the pipes of the high pressure system from electrolysis. Report approved.

Leaves of absence without pay were granted to Harry Carter of fireboat 1 and to J. J. Tomalty of engine 35.

Superintendent of High Pressure System Carroll stated that after a careful investigation he is convinced that it would be money well spent to have a complete survey of the high pressure system made in re electrolysis, and data plotted on a suitable map, as from the authentic information thus obtained proper means could be applied to safeguard said system.

PLAYGROUND COMMISSION NOTES.

Bids for the erection and construction of a swimming tank, foundations, etc., for the bath house to be erected at the Marshall School site on Nineteenth and Angelica streets, were received at the last meeting of the Playground Commission, May 28, 1914. The contract was awarded to the firm of Nilson & Arras for the sum of $8,308. Work will be commenced within the next week and completed in about fifty days.

Mr. George E. Gallagher, president of the Board of Education, reporting for that body, stated that on June 1, 1914, the removal of the building on Hamilton Square would be commenced, and that by July all traces of the structure would be effaced.

A petition was received from the South of Army Street Improvement Association requesting the Playground Commission to establish a playground in the vicinity of Mission, Army and Valencia streets.

The directors on the playgrounds met in the office of the Commission on Tuesday, June 2, 1914, to discuss plans for the celebration of Independence Day on the grounds. Celebrations of an athletic and patriotic nature will be offered on North Beach, Southside, Jackson, Hamilton, Bay View, Excelsior and Holly Park playgrounds. At the swimming tank on the North Beach playground a number of interesting events are being arranged for the children of the city, and a competitive program between Excelsior and Holly Park playgrounds will take place on the Excelsior playground. The hours of the different celebrations, as well as detailed programs, will be announced at a later date.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT ENDORSED.

The following is the text of a resolution adopted by the Board of Supervisors approving a proposed amendment to the constitution which will permit the consolidation of city and county governments and the annexation of territory to such consolidated city and county:

> Whereas, It has been proposed at conferences held between the official representatives of the City of Los Angeles, the City of Oakland, and the City and County of San Francisco, that a constitutional amendment be submitted by the initiative at the next election whose purpose shall be to permit the creation of consolidated cities and counties and of the addition or annexation of territory thereto without regard to county lines; and
>
> Whereas, It has been suggested at these conferences that such amendment be so drawn as to restrict the City and County of San Francisco to expansion down the peninsula; and
>
> Whereas, In the opinion of this Board any such restriction would be unfair in that it would take from San Francisco certain privileges and rights granted to the other cities of the State, and further, would constitute a special enactment which properly has no place in the organic law of our State;
>
> Resolved, That this Board does hereby declare its policy to be in favor of an amendment to the constitution which will not discriminate against any city or city and county, but which will permit any contiguous cities to consolidate one with the other upon the consent thereto of a majority of the qualified electors of any such city or city and county so proposed to be added or annexed, and of any county affected.

NEW ENGLISH MUNICIPAL DWELLINGS FOR WORKMEN.

The Taunton Town Council has recently celebrated the formal opening of the first block of its new municipal dwellings for workmen. The scheme comprises twelve dwellings arranged in blocks of four each. Every house contains a living room, a scullery (in which there is a bath covered by a folding table), a food pantry, fuel bin and toilet, and three bedrooms on the second floor. The houses are artistically built of red brick and rough cast. All the outside walls are 11 inches hollow.

The cost of each house was $710, inclusive of sewers, streets and fencing. The rent to be charged, inclusive of rates and taxes, water and electric light (one light in living room only), is 80 cents a week.

The houses are set back a distance of 7 feet 6 inches from the street line, and the area of the garden at the rear of each house is 100 x 17 feet, being practically one twenty-fifth of an acre. The twelve houses are built on three-fourths of an acre of land, the cost of which was $375.

OPTIONAL CHARTER BILL PASSED IN NEW YORK.

Governor Glynn has signed the Murtagh-Sullivan optional city charter bill which gives all cities of the second and third class the right to adopt a simplified form of charter. The underlying principle of the new law is home rule. Under it, seven optional forms of charter are offered to the cities. Two of these are variations of the commission form of government under which over 300 cities in the United States are at present governed and which the legislature of 1914 provided for the city of Buffalo. The third option provides a charter of the "city manager" type, similar to the recently adopted charters in Dayton and Springfield, Ohio, and to that enacted by the legislature this year for the city of Olean. There is another form which provides for a mayor and a small council or commission of three or five members elected at large. Still another plan calls for a mayor and common council of nine, elected at large. The sixth plan involves a government by a mayor and a common council, to be chosen from the existing wards. The seventh option is applicable to third-class cities only. It allows them to adopt the White uniform charter law for second-class cities with salaries on a lower schedule. Through all of these charters runs the short ballot idea.

STATE HIGHWAY NOTES.

A number of the "California Highway Bulletin" will be published by the Highway Commission on July 1, giving a summary of the work done up to date in laying out and building the State Highway. It is the intention of the Highway Commission to publish the "Highway Bulletin" quarterly in order to give answers to the large number of requests for information about the State Highway. The magazine will be published without any commercial aspect, and will be devoted solely to statements about highway construction and progress. It is published for free distribution, and any California citizen who desires a copy may obtain one by writing to George B. Harrison, editor Highway Bulletin, Rialto building, San Francisco, Cal.

* * *

The first celebrations in honor of State highway progress will be held at Eureka and Gilroy this month. The Eureka celebration will be June 11, under the auspices of the Humboldt Promotion Committee, and will signalize the progress of the work on the State Highway in Humboldt county.

The celebration at Gilroy will signalize city paving, and also the completion of State Highway work adjacent to that city.

* * *

The first arrest for inflicting willful damage on the new State Highway has been made in Fresno, and the case is now pending in the courts of that county. Clarence Boling, of Fresno, was arrested while driving a combined harvester along the State Highway south of Herndon. He was requested to drive along the side of the highway and off the pavement by Division Engineer Woodson, and refused. The large cleats on the harvester wheels inflicted considerable damage, and a complaint was sworn to by the division engineer.

Harvesters, well drilling and other heavy traction rigs with cleated or rough studded tires have also been driven on the State Highway in Madera and Santa Clara counties, and near Los Angeles a disc harrow, or some other implement with a sharp edge, was driven on the pavement.

The question is being taken up by the Highway Commission throughout the State, and owners of traction engines are asked to use care in helping to protect the paved sections of the State Highway. The Attorney-General has given the opinion that the State has full power to protect the road, and when the damage is wanton or willfully made, it is the intention of the Highway Commission to ask for a prosecution.

It is possible to do more than one thousand dollars damage to a paved road in twenty minutes time with engines or other implements or vehicles not intended for use on road pavements. It is not the intention of the Commission to interfere with heavy traffic which does not injure the highway.

CLEVELAND'S MUNICIPAL DANCING PAVILIONS.

Two municipal dancing pavilions have been operated by the city during the summer season of 1913. These pavilions were recently built as shelter houses and converted to their present use at a small cost, merely the putting in of maple floors. The dimensions of the floor at Edgewater are 83x34, and at Woodland Hills, 76x33 feet.

This alteration in no way prevents the buildings from being shelter houses. Both these pavilions are brilliantly lighted with electric lights, which also serve as an attractive decoration in the evening. Revolving fans keep the temperature cool and pleasant.

At Edgewater Park a comfort station has been constructed in the building while at Woodland Hills the comfort stations are convenient to the pavilions.

A charge of three cents per person covers the checking of wraps, hats, etc., in a room sufficiently large to take care of this feature without any confusion.

Drinking fountains are also conveniently located to these buildings. A balcony suitably arranged for the orchestra, as well as a good piano, have been installed at each of these pavilions. Music is furnished by six musicians.

A manager, chaperon, ticket takers and attendants are in charge, under the control and supervision of the park department.

Evening sessions from 7:30 to 10:30 are held at both these pavilions, with the exception of Sundays. At Edgewater afternoon sessions are held from 2:30 to 5:30, and at Woodland Hills during the same hours on Saturday afternoon. Dancing is conducted on what is known as the Park plan, three cents being charged per couple for each dance.

Frankfort-on-Main is taking practical steps toward assisting those who are willing to work but cannot find employment. Every man out of work who has been a resident of Frankfort for at least a year is to receive 17 cents daily if he is unmarried, and 24 cents if he is a married man, until he finds regular employment. The municipality is also endeavoring to provide work for all.

STATE AUTHORIZES POLICEWOMEN.

An act authorizing the appointment of policewomen in every city and town in Massachusetts has been signed by Governor Walsh. By the new law the mayor or the selectmen may appoint one or more women as special police with all the powers now held by constables except those which relate to the service of civil process and all the powers conferred upon the police as watchmen. The measure was designed to give to the cities and towns an opportunity to avail themselves of the means of social welfare work now in operation in Chicago, Denver and other Western cities. If the intent of the law is followed, the policewomen, if appointed, will confine themselves mainly to safeguarding young girls and women and to problems of juvenile crime.

CITY LOSES BILLBOARD FIGHT.

Newburgh, N. Y.—The Court of Appeals has affirmed the decision of the lower court in the case of the Standard Bill Posting Company against the city of Newburgh, the second brought against the city by the company. By this decision the city is prevented from tearing down any billboards that had been put up before the so-called "billboard ordinance" was passed by the city of Newburgh. In the case which was decided a year or so ago by the Court of Appeals the Standard Bill Posting Company was empowered to put up new billboards in the city of Newburgh, in spite of the ordinance referred to. This will end the litigation between the city and the company named, as there can be no further appeal taken in the case. In both cases Judge Tompkins decided in favor of the company, and he has been sustained in these decisions by the higher courts of the State.

Supervisors Dispose of Matters Connected with the Public Interests

The Board of Supervisors at its regular meeting last Monday denied appeals from the Board of Public Works in the matter of the improvement of Arlington street and in the matter of the change of grade of Main street. The appeal in the matter of the improvement of Twenty-first avenue was continued two weeks.

Public Work Ordered.

Ordinances were finally passed ordering the improvement of the Civic Center by the construction of sidewalks, grading, making of walks and the erection of temporary works of art consisting of fountains, ballustrades, lamps, etc.; also construction of the Potrero Emergency Hospital and the construction of an outfall sewer at Baker's Beach.

Street Work Ordered.

The improvement of various streets was ordered as follows:

San Bruno avenue, between Army street and Oakdale avenue, curbs and asphalt pavement.

Liberty street, between Guerrero and Dolores streets, curbs and asphalt pavement.

Cook street, between Geary street and St Rose's avenue, curbs and asphalt pavement.

Cabrillo street, between Sixteenth and Seventeenth avenues, curbs and asphalt pavement.

Foerster street, between Melrose avenue and Twenty-third street, sewers.

Miscellaneous Matters.

Supervisor Murdock was granted a leave of absence with permission to leave the state.

The boxing permit of the Humboldt Club was ordered revoked.

A new ordinance imposing a license on auctioneers was finally passed.

The award of contracts for lighting streets and public buildings was made to the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, except that of furnishing electricity to the City Hall, Corporation Yard, Hall of Justice, pumping station at Drumm and Commercial streets and the Board of Works yard at Sixteenth and Harrison streets was awarded to the City Electric Company.

A spur track privilege was granted to McNab & Smith in North Point street, between Stockton street and Grant avenue.

New Underground District Proposed.

An ordinance was passed to print requiring all wires to be placed underground in the following streets:

Bush street, from west side of Stockton street to east side of Van Ness avenue; also all the intersecting streets from Sutter to Bush streets.

Van Ness avenue, from the south side of Vallejo to the south side of Lombard streets.

Valencia street, from the north side of Twenty-third street to the north side of Mission street.

Mission street, from Twelfth street to Sixteenth street.

West Mission street, through its entire length.

Fourth street, from Folsom to Townsend streets.

Montgomery street, from north side of Washington street to the north side of Broadway.

Kearny street, from the north side of Pacific street to the north side of Broadway.

Jackson street, from the east side of Montgomery street to the east side of Columbus avenue.

Pacific street, from the east side of Montgomery street to the east side of Columbus avenue.

Broadway, from the east side of Montgomery street to the east side of Columbus avenue.

RECONSTRUCTION OF SIDEWALKS TO BE COMPELLED.

With a decision from Judge Mogan of the Superior Court, that property owners are responsible to contractors for the payment of all improvements begun under public proceedings, President Reardon of the Board of Public Works announces that a vigorous campaign is to begin to force the improvement of sidewalks, where needed, throughout the city. In the past contractors have been averse to bidding on such work because of the doubt of ability to collect their money. The court decision settles this question and paves the way for ordering much needed improvements by the city officials.

PERMITS GRANTED BY THE POLICE COMMISSION.

At a meeting of the Board of Police Commissioners held on June 8, 1914, the following petitions were granted:

Retail liquor dealers—John Gianopolous, to remove from 24 Mason street to 53 Taylor street; Walter P. Zambelli, to purchase of Timothy McSweeney southwest corner Market and Sanchez streets and remove to southeast corner Market and Sanchez streets; Daniel McHugh, to purchase of James J. Sullivan northeast corner Tenth and Harrison streets and remove to southwest corner Twenty-fifth and Bryant streets.

Action on the resolution before the Board of Supervisors providing for the widening of Virginia avenue, between Mission and Coleridge streets, and the general reconstruction of the street has been postponed by the Supervisors until an opinion can be obtained from the City Attorney.

A NATION-WIDE SYSTEM OF EMPLOYMENT AGENCIES.

The United States Commission on Industrial Relations has recently begun hearings in New York upon a proposal to establish a chain of employment agencies in connection with the Federal Department of Labor. The Department would have power to supervise the operations of all private employment offices doing an interstate business and could itself conduct free employment offices where it deemed necessary. The Department would also be empowered to supervise, in an advisory way at least, the work of State and municipal employment offices.

The plan which the Commission has outlined and offered for public discussion is the work of W. M. Leiserson, Sate Superintendent of Employment Offices in Wisconsin, and author of bills recently enacted in the New York legislature establishing similar offices in that State. The agitation of the last few months over the condition of the unemployed in various parts of the country has been responsible for the renewed agitation of the matter of public employment offices.

There is no doubt whatever that a very large part of the buying and selling of labor of all classes, as carried on by the employment offices operated by private enterprise, leaves a great deal to be desired. But it is to be remembered, on the other hand, that the taking over of this business by the city, State or Federal government, by no means insures that the work will be efficiently performed. In that, as in any other department of governmental work, only eternal vigilance on the part of the public will prevent the work from being gradually permeated by dry rot, and eventually by graft and corruption.

Without doubt, anything which promises to put the buying and selling of labor, the most important of all commodities, on a better business basis deserves careful attention. The idea that will occur to most business men, however, is that under present conditions the greatest need of all is a revival of business that will create a greater demand for labor.—Engineering News.

INCINERATOR NOT A NUISANCE.

Paterson, N. J.—"Not proven," was Vice-Chancellor Howell's conclusion after hearing further argument on a motion for a preliminary injunction against the operation of a garbage incinerating plant in Paterson, erected for that municipality by the Destructor Company. The complainant was a Paterson manufacturer. Even if the testimony showed that a nuisance existed, the Vice-Chancellor said, it would still be doubtful whether that fact would warrant the stopping of a municipal plant operated under legislative authority.

The Mayor has given notice that on Tuesday, June 23, at 10 a. m., he will sell at public auction the building in the Civic Center located at 375-379 McAllister street.

Supervisors Fix Rates for Public Utilities for Ensuing Year

The Board of Supervisors at its regular meeting last Monday passed to print the necessary ordinances fixing the rates to be charged by the several public corporations for water, gas electricity and telephonic service for the year commencing July 1st. Very little change was made in the existing rates. The gas rate was fixed at seventy-five cents a thousand cubic feet, which is the present rate over which there is a contest in the courts. The water rates remain the same except that there is a reduction in the rate charged for building operations and for shipping. The price of electricity was increased by one cent per kilowatt hour on one class of service. There was a slight change in telephone rates. These rates are the same as prevailed in 1912-1913, the only difference being that by the elimination of certain classes of service a saving of more than $40,000 a year will result to the company, which has promised to use this amount of money in the extension and betterment of its service.

Tax Rate Fixed.

Ordinances were passed to print levying taxes for the ensuing year. The "dollar limit" was suspended by a unanimous vote and an emergency tax of $0.664 was levied in excess of the dollar rate for the general fund.

The rate of taxation for municipal purposes was fixed at $2.25 on the $100. The full text of the ordinance is given in this issue.

Public Work Ordered.

Ordinances were passed to print ordering the reconstruction of a safety station at Market, Montgomery and Post streets; the improvement of the roadway in front of the Rochambeau School on Twenty-fifth avenue; the construction of a wagon road from Hog Ranch to the Hetch Hetchy dam site, a distance of eight and one-half miles.

Miscellaneous Matters.

An ordinance was passed to print authorizing the Superintendent of Schools to appoint a secretary.

Bids were received for the purchase of municipal bonds to the amount of $1,750,000 and referred to the Finance Committee for consideration. These bids are published in another column.

The ordinance establishing another underground wire district was finally passed.

The Mayor was authorized to sell at public auction the brick building on Market street known as the Hotel Carling.

Owen McHugh was granted permission to explode blasts at Plymouth and Lake View avenues for grading purposes.

A resolution was adopted declaring it to be the intention of the Board of Supervisors to investigate the matter of supplying heat to the City and County and its inhabitants and, under the authority of subdivision 14 of section 1 of chapter II of article II of the Charter to fix the rates of compensation to be collected by any person, company or corporation for supplying heat, and to prescribe the quality of such service; also providing that the rules of the Board be amended so as to confer upon the Lighting and Rates Committee the authority to make such investigation and report thereon to the Board.

APPLICATIONS FOR PERMITS ACTED ON.

At a meeting of the Board of Police Commissioners held on June 15, 1914, the following retail liquor dealers' petitions were granted: Frederick W. Salter, to purchase of Leland F. Hildebrandt, 711 Filbert street, and remove to 105 Powell street (basement); Jacob Harris, to purchase of Benjamin F. Dalton, 1727 O'Farrell street, and remove to 1549 Fillmore street; Daniel R. Morrison, to remove from 651 to 373 Third street; Charles J. Richter, to remove from southeast corner Twenty-third and Folsom streets to southeast corner Twenty-fourth and Howard streets.

The following petitions were denied: Ameen Damus, to purchase of Karl Bayer, southwest corner Chenery and Diamond streets, and remove to 251 Fourth street; Primo Guaraldi, to remove from southwest corner Sansome and Washington streets to northwest corner Mason and Union streets.

The following miscellaneous permits were granted: Joseph Abrams, kinetoscope, northeast corner Van Ness avenue and Sutter street; Louis D. Raney, detective agency, to remove from 2640 to 2417 Howard street; James Cavalez, billiard parlor, 374 Third street; Ida Goldblatt, second-hand, 1042 Howard street; Salaski & Weirner, second-hand, 251 East street; William Morris, second-hand, to remove from 3461 to 2815½ Mission street.

BIDS RECEIVED FOR BONDS.

Ten bids were submitted at the meeting of the Supervisors on Monday for the purchase of bonds to the amount of $1,750,000, comprising $660,000 City Hall 5 per cents, $840,000 Municipal Railway's 5 per cents and $250,000 water bonds at 4½ per cent. The bids were as follows: For entire issue of $1,750,000—Bond & Goodwin, $1,776,775; Harris Trust and Savings Bank, $1,774,375. For City Hall and Water, total $910,000—Easterbrook & Co., $916,006; Byrne & McDonnell, $910,010. For City Hall, total $660,000—Farson, Son & Co., $681,200; N. W. Halsey & Co., $670,362; Byrne & McDonnell, $670,001; R. L. Day & Co., $669,900; Continental Trust and Savings Bank, $663,762. For Street Railway, total $200,000—Anglo, London and Paris Bank, $200,000.

The best bid was that of Bond & Goodwin for the whole amount offered, and is equivalent to a bid on an average basis of 4.80 per cent. This is considered a fair offer, considering the present condition of the bond market.

MODERN APPARATUS FOR STREET CLEANING.

He proposes to replace horses with power-driven motor tractors, each fitted with three types of trailers, one for street flushing or sweeping, another for refuse collection, and the third for plowing, sweeping and hauling snow. He proposes to get fifteen of these motor-driven tractors. Other equipment will include standard types of receptacles for holding garbage or ashes and a transfer station or dump provided with power-operated devices for handling refuse. The plan will be tried in Manhattan if the money is granted.

On outside construction, the 626 fire alarm boxes in service were inspected and turned in for test. There were seven fire alarm boxes repaired in shop, and, on account of repairs made to box wires, six were out of service temporarily. There were 25 pieces of line trouble removed and 226 miscellaneous complaints attended to. There were installed one outside local bell, transferred three and removed twelve.

BUSINESS OF THE FIRE COMMISSION.

At the meeting of the Fire Commission on June 17 it was ordered that bids be advertised for for the docking and overhauling of the fire boats.

E. B. Lewis, hoseman Engine 2, and George O'Reilly, hoseman Engine 38, were permitted to exchange places.

The Secretary asked that requisition be made on the Civil Service Commission for one stationary engineer, one stationary fireman, one machinist and one watchman, which was granted.

The Chief Engineer reported that the temporary quarters for Engine Company 12 on the old Corporation Yard site on Sacramento street have been completed and that said company was installed there pending the completion of the new building at Commercial and Drumm streets on the 8th inst.

NOTICE TO STABLE OWNERS.

The Health Committee of the Board of Supervisors desires notice to be taken of the requirements of the stable ordinance given below. Under its provisions all parties who have not obtained a permit to maintain a stable since February 26th must obtain one prior to August 26th, or they will be subject to prosecution. This applies to all those who were conducting stables prior to February 26th, whether or not they had a permit on said date.

The following is the ordinance:

Ordinance No. 2639 (New Series), Providing for the issuance of revocable permits by the Board of Supervisors for the construction and maintenance of stables in the City and County of San Francisco.

Be it ordained by the People of the City and County of San Francisco as follows:

Section 1. It shall be unlawful to construct and maintain a stable, or to maintain an existing stable for one or more horses, donkeys, mules, cows, goats or livestock without a permit therefor from the Board of Supervisors.

Section 2. Anyone now conducting a stable of the kind herein designated must secure such permit within a reasonable time, not to exceed six months after the passage of this ordinance.

Section 3. No permit shall be granted for a stable hereafter to be constructed and maintained, or for the future maintenance as a stable of a building not used as such, except on the report of the Board of Health, or other satisfactory evidence, that the proposed place of construction or maintenance of such stable is unobjectionable from the point of view of sanitation and of the health and physical welfare of the inhabitants of the immediate neighborhood of its location.

Section 4. The Board of Supervisors shall not refuse a permit for the maintenance of a stable in a building now constructed and maintained as a stable except upon satisfactory evidence that such stable is conducted in an insanitary manner and the failure to remove the objection to the manner of its maintenance within a time to be prescribed by the Board of Supervisors.

Section 5. A permit granted hereunder is subject to revocation by the Board of Supervisors.

Section 6. No permit shall be refused or revoked by the Board of Supervisors except after a full hearing, and then only in the exercise of a sound and reasonable discretion by said Board.

Section 7. Any person, firm or corporation violating any provision of this ordinance shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punishable by a fine of not more than five hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the County Jail for not more than six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Section 8. All ordinances, or parts of ordinances, insofar as they may conflict with the provisions of this ordinance are hereby repealed.

Section 9. This ordinance shall take effect immediately.

OXYGEN HELMETS IN PITTSBURG.

It has recently been announced by the director of the Department of Public Safety of Pittsburg, C. S. Hubbard, that every fire station in that city will be equipped with oxygen helmets to be used by firemen in rescue work. The plan is to equip each engine house with at least two oxygen outfits, and an order has already been placed for a number of these. This decision of the director followed a very successful test of this device.

Ordinances providing for the regulation of the public pound and establishing a license on dogs have been postponed by the Supervisors until after the summer vacations.

SUGGESTIONS FOR FIRE PROTECTION.

A report was submitted by Heller & Wilson, fire prevention engineers, to the Board of Fire Commissioners at its last meeting which contained the suggestions as to methods that would tend to minimize conflagration risks and secure better protection for human lives in the event of fire.

The suggestions concern the construction of buildings and are as follows:

"We are much impressed with the constantly increasing danger of conflagration and loss of life in this city due to the prevailing building conditions. Although prior to 1906 the area covered by wooden structures was not quite as great as it is now, new conditions have arisen on account of the change in the mode of living. Many wooden and some brick apartment houses have been erected outside of the fire limits, thereby causing a denser population in certain sections, and on account of there being a larger population within a small area many new local business sections have been built. With these have come the usual special hazards incident to mercantile and manufacturing establishments. But with these new conditions have not come new laws to safeguard person and property. The consequence is that in and adjoining buildings in which many families are compelled to live are all sorts of hazardous occupancies, which make the danger of larger fires much greater than ever before. It is our opinion that unless the building laws of the city are changed, so that there will be a much stricter regulation of the manner in which business is conducted in the class of buildings mentioned, in those already constructed, as well as those hereafter erected, and that unless proper means of exit are furnished in buildings already occupied that it is but a matter of time when there will be not one, but a series of fires attended by unnecessary loss of life. The proof of the above statement is best illustrated by the fire on June 5th on California street adjoining the Bradbury Apartments. This fire started in a paint shop adjoining a four-story wooden building which had over seventy living rooms, and in which the stairway and elevator shaft were immediately adjoining the wooden walls of the paint shop, so that shortly after the start of the fire the same were not accessible. Had this fire occurred a few hours later when most of the people in the neighborhood would have been asleep it would not have been discovered so promptly, and there can be no question but that there would have been considerable loss of life. Further, the firemen on arriving would have been so occupied rescuing people that the fire would have made much greater headway before any streams could have been directed upon it. We therefore recommend that your Board take the necessary action to have an ordinance passed which will require that whenever a hazardous business is to be conducted in a wooden building when said building adjoins another occupied for living purposes that permission for the conducting of said business must first be secured from the fire department, and that the granting of said permission shall be dependent upon the construction of the building in which the business is to be conducted. We also recommend that no wooden building over three stories in height be permitted to be used as an apartment or hotel building when business is conducted on the ground floor, unless the ground floor of said building is of fireproof construction, also that no stores or business be conducted in any hotel or apartment house over four stories in height unless the basement and first floor of said building is entirely of fireproof construction. It is our opinion that with very few exceptions the hotels and apartment house buildings in this city are not provided with adequate exit facilities in case of fire, and that the fire escapes now being used are of a form which would be of small practical use in case of fire, once it had a fair start, and that they give a false sense of security. We therefore recommend that in all buildings of the type in reference three stories or over in height at least one stairway, and all elevator shafts, if any, be enclosed from the ground to the roof in a brick or other fireproof enclosure. There is attached hereto a report of a recent fire in Boston in which eight lives were lost in a building typical of the higher grade of apartment buildings in this city. Similar results may be expected to occur here on any night. The recommendations contained in the report are worthy of your very careful thought.

Another dangerous condition has arisen in the past few years, and unless some steps are taken to abate it will undoubtedly result seriously in the future. It is the ever increasing number of garages being built in buildings used for dwelling purposes. These private garages are not subject to strict inspection and regulation as are public garages, and are frequently maintained in a careless manner, with gasoline and oils scattered on the floors, and kept in unsafe receptacles. We therefore recommend that no automobile be permitted to be stored or kept in any building, regardless of construction, in which three or more families live, unless the room or part of the building in which one or more automobiles are stored be entirely of fireproof construction and to which there be but one entrance, and that by the street. Under no circumstances should any public garage be permitted in a structure of which any part is used for living purposes."

BOSTON REVIVES SIGN TAX.

The city authorities revived an old ordinance by levying taxes varying from 25 cents to $1 on all advertising signs on buildings, fences and roofs. A census of the signs, including size and location, was made by policemen. The fact that advertising signs are subject to fees was not discovered until recently. Mayor Curley hopes to add several thousand dollars to the municipal income as the result of the levy.

Panama-Pacific International Exposition Notes of General Interest

A human lost and found department is the latest innovation which, it is announced, will be at the service of the thousands of visitors to the Panama-Pacific Exposition in San Francisco.

It will consist of a central registration bureau in communication with thirty odd telephone stations about the Exposition grounds and with all outside stations on the Pacific Coast.

The purpose of the department will be to eliminate the confused searching for friends and relatives that is always a concomitant of great gatherings where people are sure to become separated, and with it will also be an efficient means of getting in touch from outside with persons who are visiting the Exposition grounds and who would not be otherwise reachable.

Through the registration bureau anyone on the grounds will be able to register a message for some one who is expected at the Exposition later. In this way the visitor will be able to call up the bureau and ascertain where he is expected to meet the friend or relative who has preceded him.

A steamer specially chartered for the purpose will carry forty-eight great Oregon logs from Coos Bay to San Francisco. They are to be used as the principal pillars in the Oregon Building of the Panama-Pacific Exposition. Each log will represent a State of the American Union and each of the states will be invited to supply a flag or emblem and a copper or a brass plate to bear a suitable inscription of the dedication. Each log will also bear another plate giving the name of the donor and telling of the locality in Oregon where it was cut.

Accident prevention, fire prevention and health conservation will be some of the main topics discussed at the first World's Insurance Congress ever held, at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition in San Francisco, 1915. For the first time in history delegates representing accident, fire, marine, employers' liability, industrial surety, health and other lines of insurance from the whole world will fraternize, over 200 insurance organizations being represented.

The Montana commission to the Panama-Pacific International Exposition has adopted a novel method of raising the funds for Montana's building and exhibit. Bronze souvenir medals bearing on the one side the seal of the State and on the other side the Exposition seal have been struck off and are being sold at $1.

The plans for the West Virginia Building at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition have been approved and work has begun. It is designed according to the southern colonial mansions and a nine-foot fire place will be one of the hospitable features.

The Idaho Building, the first to be completed, was dedicated May 14 with appropriate ceremony and notification was made that the Idaho commissioners to the Panama-Pacific International Exposition has chosen an "official hostess." The honor has befallen Mrs. W. H. Ridenbaugh of Boise, who will receive all guests in the Idaho Building in the name of the State.

Thomas G. Stallsmith, United States Commissioner to the Orient and Strait Settlements, has returned from an eight months' tour of the world in the interests of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition. He reports that China will spend $1,500,000; Australia, $40,000; New Zealand, $250,000; the Philippine Islands, $600,000; Cochin and Indo China, $300,000; Java, $250,000, and Siam, $300,000.

The end of the construction period of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition is shown to be near by the fact that the period for the installation of exhibits has begun. The first exhibit was placed in the Palace of Machinery on May 27, with ceremony. The distinction of being the first has come to the Diesel engine. It will take many weeks to install it and the work of installation will cost $700,000.

A branch of the United States Customs Service is being placed on the grounds of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition. Special arrangements have been made through Congress and the Treasury Department to exempt from duty all exhibits to be returned to the original shipping point. Exhibits which will be sold after the Exposition or during the period will be forced to meet the usual tariffs.

Charles Francis Browne, superintendent of the United States section of the fine arts department of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, has started on a tour of the leading art centers of the United States to make a final choice of the most representative American painting and statuary for the Palace of Fine Arts at the Exposition in 1915.

A clearing house for lost children, lost friends and relatives at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition has been provided for by the officials. It will consist of a central registration bureau in communication with scores of telephones over the grounds as well as the entire San Francisco telephone system. Messages will be accepted and delivered free.

The largest flag pole in the world has been raised on the grounds of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition on the site of the Oregon State Building. The pole was shaped from a single fir tree given by the citizens of Astoria, Oregon. It is 230 feet long and six feet across the butt end. A flag 46 feet long was raised on it by the queen of the Portland Rose Carnival, Miss Thelma Hollingsworth, on June 6, 1914.

Nine exhibit palaces of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition have been completed and accepted and the two others will be ready before July 1. Those now completed are the palaces of Machinery, Education, Food Products, Liberal Arts, Agriculture, Transportation, Mines, Manufactures and Varied Industries.

Captain Edward Darley Miller, formerly of the 17th Lancers of England, has been appointed superintendent of the world polo tournament to be held at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition from March 15 to May 1, 1915. Captain Miller is a polo authority and a member of the Distinguished Service Order.

Commissioner-General Ernesto Nathan, former mayor of Rome and Honorary Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary to the United States, was the center of the ceremonies dedicating Italy's site on the Exposition grounds on June 3. He was formally welcomed at a luncheon given by the president and directors of the Exposition and a brilliant reception was given on the evening of June 3 at the Fairmont Hotel.

NEW YORK'S PROPOSED BILLBOARD ORDINANCE.

A new ordinance regulating roof signs and billboards in general was introduced in the Board of Aldermen recently. It is said to represent a compromise between the authors of a similar ordinance introduced a few months ago, and the opponents of that ordinance who forced its withdrawal.

Under its provisions openwork signs on fireproof buildings are limited to seventy-five feet in height and on non-fireproof buildings to fifty feet in height. Solid face signs are limited to thirty-one feet in height on all buildings. Twenty-four feet is the limit of height for billboards on the ground.

Where to Make Complaints

Citizens can benefit themselves and at the same time expedite the transaction of public business by observing the following general rules regarding the transmission of complaints.

TO THE SUPERVISORS.

All requests for new legislation or changes in the ordinances, for appropriations, for such permits as the board can grant, in relation to the conduct of public service corporations, for the installation of street lights, or for any service beyond the power of any other department to grant.

TO THE BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS.

All matters relating to streets, including grading, opening, improvement, repair or cleaning thereof, to sewers, to the construction of buildings, or any other construction work under its charge, to house numbering, to the maintenance of public buildings and all matters of an engineering nature.

TO THE BOARD OF HEALTH.

All matters relating to sanitation and the enforcement or non-enforcement of sanitary regulations, the abatement of nuisances, etc.

TO THE DEPARTMENT OF ELECTRICITY.

All matters relating to electrical installations either in buildings or streets.

TO THE WATER AND LIGHT INSPECTOR.

All complaints as to improper service or charge for gas, electricity or water.

TO THE FIRE DEPARTMENT.

All requests for additional fire protection, including fire alarm boxes, complaints against such things as increase the fire hazard, and the enforcement of fire protection ordinances.

TO THE POLICE DEPARTMENT.

All complaints of non-enforcement of ordinances and requests for such permits as the Police Commissioners may grant.

Communications relating to education, parks, playgrounds, civil service, should be transmitted directly to the commissions having control of the subject.

In case any department or officer fails to acknowledge the receipt of the communication or fails to give attention to the matter stated therein, then such dereliction should be brought to the attention of the Mayor.

RESPONSIBILITY OF OWNERS FOR FIRE.

More than half of the millions of dollars which go up in smoke each year could be prevented if owners would use well known precautions in constructing their buildings and in conducting their business; therefore those neglecting these precautions are responsible for the loss, and should be made to pay it. This is in brief the theory of Joseph O. Hammitt, chief of the New York City Fire Prevention Bureau, which he presented before the Mayors' Conference in Auburn, N. Y., last week. His idea would be to compel any man on whose premises a fire started to pay the cost of extinguishing the fire and also any damage to the property of others.

This idea has, we understand, been tried abroad and has already been put in practice in a trial case in this country. "We have," said Mr. Hammitt, "in the New York City charter a provision under which we think that if a fire occurs or spreads because of the absence of precautions required by law or by lawful orders of the fire commissioner, the owner of the premises or persons responsible for the violation is liable for the cost of putting out the fire and injuries to firemen sustained in fighting it." Under this provision the commissioner has brought suit to recover the cost of putting out a "smoke" fire where a sprinkler equipment had been ordered in but not installed, and expects to sue also for injuries to the firemen.—Municipal Journal.

Ocean View Streets to be Opened.

The hearing of objections to the confirmation of the report of the Board of Public Works fixing assessments, damages, etc., for the purchase of land for the opening and extension of eleven streets in the City Land Association Tract resulted in confirming the report and the assessments for this purpose are now due and payable.

Matter of Church Street Railway.

The various plans formulated by the City Engineer for the construction of a municipal railway on Church street were given consideration and a new plan was proposed by which it may be possible to overcome the difficulty presented by the excessive grade in the vicinity of Twenty-first street. The matter was continued for three weeks for further consideration.

Bids and Contracts.

The bid of Bond & Goodwin for $1,750,000 of municipal bonds at a premium of $26,775 was accepted.

Resolutions were adopted awarding contracts for supplies for next year to various successful bidders.

The Recorder Company was awarded the contract for printing the Municipal Record for next year.

Bids for the equipment of the San Francisco Hospital were received and referred to the Supplies Committee.

Bids for lumber were rejected and will be readvertised for.

Ordinances Adopted.

Ordinances suspending the "dollar limit" and fixing the tax rate for next year were finally passed; also one giving the Superintendent of Schools authority to appoint a secretary at a salary of $1500 a year.

Miscellaneous Matters.

Resolutions were adopted authorizing the Mayor to sell the building known as the Hotel Burlington in the Civic Center and also two old automobiles.

Transfers from the earnings of the municipal railways to pay interest on bonds were authorized.

All unclaimed articles taken from prisoners will be auctioned off. No pistols or weapons of any sort will be sold.

Captain Bernard Judge, property clerk, has arranged this year to have each article sold in an unsealed package so that the bidders each may know the condition of the articles. In the past these articles have been sold in sealed packages.

The following named were appointed relief surgeons: Doctors C. Silbermann, J. E. Bohm and J. B. Visalli.

The attention of householders will be called to the necessity of assisting in the campaign against the house fly, and the various newspapers will be asked to assist in this crusade through the medium of their news columns. Notice will also be sent to the various improvement clubs throughout the city requesting their co-operation.

The Health Officer has been instructed to have a close watch kept on all stables and manure bins in order to prevent as far as possible the propagation of this pest.

The Board of Supervisors will be requested to at once call for bids for the purchase of two motor ambulances at $3,000 each for the use of the Emergency Hospital service and one for the Isolation Hospital, all of these being provided for in the budget of 1914-15.

The Board of Public Works will be asked to advertise for bids for the immediate construction of the Potrero Emergency Hospital, funds having been appropriated for this purpose in the 1913-14 budget.

Mrs. Gene L. Denkinger was appointed from the civil service register of eligibles as a graduate nurse, Isolation Hospital.

The Board of Public Works has been petitioned, for sanitary reasons, to provide for installation of main sewers in the following localities: Thornton avenue, between Quint and Charter Oak streets; Seneca avenue, from San Jose avenue, to connect with the Islais Creek bond sewer.

A resolution was adopted requesting the Park Commission to discontinue the use of park water in all taps, and that they either put a stop to the use of these faucets entirely, replace the service with Spring Valley water, or install a tank and treat the water with chlorine in order to insure safety to the public at large.

The matter of providing for a Health Department exhibit at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition was discussed and a committee has been appointed to devise ways and means for carrying such plan into effect. It is estimated that the cost of such an exhibit would be in the neighborhood of $2,000 or $2,500, and this amount would provide for a milk, meat and general food exhibit, demonstration of school inspection work, etc. It is understood that the Board of Supervisors will not provide funds for exhibits at the exposition, and the problem that the Health Department will have to solve is that of securing funds in some manner to carry out the exhibit scheme.

At the regular meeting of the Fire Commissioners on June 24th, P. F. Dugan, captain Truck 6, W. A. Cook, battalion chief, and James Conniff, captain Engine 26, were granted leaves of absence on account of sickness.

James P. Gallagher, hoseman, and Patrick Gordon, driver, Engine 4, were permitted to exchange places.

The Chief Engineer reported the suspension of William Crocker of Engine 17.

The assignments to service in the exposition grounds was announced as follows:

Bernard J. Lennon, John K. Bray, Michael Cosgrave, Andrew M. Moore, Edward A. Hillard, Wm. P. Savage, Dennis P. Dunlea, Joseph C. Godin, Hugh Dowd, Charles H. Schlichtman, Philip Richter, Francis J. Edmonds and Thomas Klitgaard.

DIGEST OF CITY ATTORNEY'S OPINIONS.

The following opinions of general interest have been rendered by the City Attorney to the various city departments during the month of June, 1914:

The Assessor was informed that moneys in litigation should be assessed to the several banks in which the same are deposited in escrow.

The Board of Supervisors was informed that the city was liable for loss of pay of a street sweeper injured by the automobile of a third person, and moreover, that the city had the right to recover any damages to which the street sweeper might have had because of the accident.

The Auditor was notified that he was liable for the payment of a claim, of the illegality of which he had knowledge, even though the demand be irregular upon its face.

The Recorder was directed that an agreement should be recorded even though acknowledged by only one of the parties.

The Board of Supervisors was advised that under the terms of the charter city hospitals cannot be located outside the City and County of San Francisco.

SITE FOR CAR BARN PURCHASED.

Negotiations that have been pending with the O'Neill estate over the purchase of a part of a block of land for the Municipal Street Railway car barn, at Seventeenth and Hampshire streets, were concluded yesterday by City Attorney Long for $44,750. The estate claimed the land was worth $55,000, and the city ordered the land condemned. The City Attorney held it was better to pay $44,750 than wait the delay of condemnation proceedings. Contractors want to begin excavating on July 8.

ENDORSES CHURCH STREET PLAN.

The Mission Heights Improvement Association has endorsed plan No. 4, known as the original scheme for surmounting the steep Church street hill, in the extension of the Van Ness avenue and Church street municipal railway to Thirtieth street. This is the plan first submitted by City Engineer O'Shaughnessy for the Church street extension. Confidence in the ability and integrity of the City Engineer was voiced.

A REST FOR THE DOGS.

For ten days all ownerless mongrels, as well as household pets of more or less high degree, will be free from molestation by the poundman.

The annual dog tax became due yesterday. Following the usual custom, the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, which runs the pound, will allow all owners of dogs ten days in which to pay up.

The pound wagon will resume its rounds on July 10.

Permit No. 145

Vol. VII—No. 28. SAN FRANCISCO, THURSDAY, JULY 9, 1914.

Rapid Progress Being Made in Constructing Municipal Railways

Rapid progress is reported by the Engineer's office in the construction of the various lines of the Municipal Railway, viz.: the Van Ness-Chestnut extension, the Potrero branch and the Stockton street.

The work of Mahoney Brothers, who are constructing the Van Ness avenue extension, which will be the main trunk line for the entire city system to the Exposition grounds, is 75 per cent completed, with every indication that the work will be done and delivered to the city by August 4, enabling the contractors to earn the full amount of a bonus of $15,000, being $500 for each 30 days of completion prior to September 4.

The track work on this line is 90 per cent completed and as the major portion of the work remaining is paving and restoring the streets to normal condition there is no doubt in the minds of the Engineering Bureau of the city but what the road will be finished ahead of time. This means that the road will be in operation by August 15, though no promise is made to this effect, as unforeseen contingencies may prevent.

Eaton & Smith, who are constructing the Potrero avenue extension, have 60 per cent of their contract completed and have every prospect of earning the full amount of the bonus to be received for completion before August 23.

The electrical work is going ahead nicely under the contract of H. T. Title and word is expected daily from the car constructors in the East that the first shipment of twenty-five cars has been made.

Contractor Rolandi, who is constructing the Stockton street extension, has a large force of men at work on both sides of the Stockton street tunnel and will have that portion of the roadbed between Market and Sutter streets completed before August 1.

Advices received from the Jewett Car Company by the City Engineers are to the effect that four of the new cars for the Municipal Railway system had been shipped from the factory at Newark, Ohio, that six more would follow in a few days and others thereafter, so that deliveries of twenty-five would be made before July 14 and other deliveries made on the 14th of each succeeding month until all of the 125 contracted for were in possession of the city. This means that the contractors will be enabled to secure the entire bonus of $5 for delivery of each car each day for delivery thirty days ahead of the time specified in the contract.

This early delivery will also mean that with the cars at hand early, the Van Ness avenue extension to the Municipal Railway system may be placed in commission on August 15 and the Potrero avenue line fifteen days later.

The new cars, which are the design of the City Engineer's office, are pronounced to be of the most advanced type of street railway car construction in the United States and have been warmly praised by all constructors and operators of traction lines.

While of the same length as the Geary cars the new ones will be eight and one-half inches wider, seat comfortably fifty persons, as compared with forty-four on the Geary cars, and weigh 4000 pounds less, which will mean that with a yearly cost of five cents a pound for operation, there will be an annual saving of $200 on each car. In addition thereto the new cars will cost but $7038, as compared with $7700 for each one of the Geary road. This saving in weight and consequent cost in operation has been effected in roof construction and more equitable distribution of material.

The trucks and motors for the cars have already arrived, and as soon as the car bodies arrive at the pipe yard at Sixth and Hooper streets, it will be a matter of but a few days to assemble the parts and convey the cars to the Geary car barn where they will be placed in commission, deposing those in present use until the opening of the Exposition and completion of other city lines, when every available car will be called into service.

By the passage of a resolution instructing the Public Utilities Committee to ascertain from the City Engineer the probable cost of extensions of the Municipal Railway system, into the Sunset and Potrero districts, the Board of Supervisors has taken an initial step toward expansion of its city railways by using the earnings of lines now operating at a big profit to construct new ones.

MORE STATE HIGHWAYS TO BE BUILT.

The State Highway Commission has called for sealed bids on ten more units of State Highway work. The bids will be opened August 10. Plans and specifications have been prepared for the following work:

Mendocino county, from 2.75 miles north of Hopland to Ukiah, about 11.4 miles in length, to be graded and a portion paved with Portland cement concrete.

Humboldt county, from Miranda to Dyerville, about 13.8 miles in length, to be graded.

Santa Clara county, from Santa Clara to San Jose, about 1.9 miles in length, to be built of Portland cement concrete with asphaltic wearing surface.

Santa Clara county, from the northerly county boundary to San Jose, about 6.8 miles in length, to be built of Portland cement concrete.

Contra Costa county, from San Pablo creek to Pinole, about 3.6 miles in length, to be graded.

Humboldt county, from Shively to Jordan creek, about five miles in length, to be built of Portland cement concrete.

Santa Barbara county, from El Capitan creek to Alcatraz, about 9.3 miles in length, to be graded.

Orange county, from Galivan to Irvine, about 9.4 miles in length, to be built of Portland cement.

Imperial county, from Meyers creek to Coyote Wells, about 6 miles in length, to be built of Portland cement concrete.

PROCEEDINGS OF POLICE COMMISSION.

At a meeting of the Board of Police Commissioners, held on July 6, 1914, the following proceedings were had:

Corporal Hermon W. Jones was found not guilty of the charges of "unofficerlike conduct" preferred against him by George Radol, and the charges were dismissed.

Police Officer Frank W. Robl was granted a leave of absence of two weeks in addition to his annual vacation, without pay.

Eugene Riley, certification No. 1185, was appointed a regular policeman in the Police Department.

Special Police Officers Appointed.

The following were appointed special police officers to do duty at the Panama-Pacific Exposition grounds: George Boss, Henry Guerin, Bertrand F. Bowser, Charles Becsey, Harry M. Brennan, Joseph Brett, Peter J. Burke, Waldo E. Cline, George H. Crenshaw, Fred Denny, Roger Duval, Reuben H. Gordon, Richard J. Gurvine, William K. Carswell, Ernest H. Klieforth, A. Wagner, William L. Waters and Edward E. Wethey.

At a meeting of the Board of Relief and Pension Fund Commissioners, held on July 6, 1914, Police Officers Frank W. Smith and Louis La Place were retired and relieved from active duty; said retirement taking effect immediately.

George W. T. McMahon, who was retired from active duty as a members of this department on June 13, 1913, was restored to active duty, his disabilities having ceased; said restoration taking effect immediately.

PEOPLE MUST BE INTERESTED.

City Manager Waite of Dayton recently expressed his belief that under any plan of municipal government it is necessary for the people to be interested in order for the plan to be a success. In connection with his work at Dayton, he says:

"No form of government is of much value unless the citizens take an interest in its workings. The biggest thing I can hope to do for Dayton this year is to get the people interested. When that is done our problems will be solved. In everything we do for the city we want the citizens back of us, and in this way we hope to show them that they have the ability to govern themselves and to make a profitable job of it."

NEW YORK'S FIRE LOSS.

Property destroyed by fire in New York City last year was worth $7,467,997. The average loss in the 12,958 fires was $536.72, and the loss per capita $1.38. The per capita loss was the lowest in the history of the fire department, according to the annual report for 1913, which Commissioner Adamson sent to Mayor Mitchel. The greatest single cause of fires was "carelessness with cigars, cigarettes, etc.," to which 1,079 fires are attributed. Carelessness with matches caused 1,175, and bonfires and brush fires 1,058. Improper use of gas is blamed for 753, and 311 are attributed to "mischievousness of boys and others."

Edinburgh, Scotland, is taking steps to increase public interest in the cultivation of flowers by issuing booklets setting forth methods and opportunities open to citizens along this line of beautification.

TEACHERS APPOINTED BY THE BOARD OF EDUCATION.

At the meeting of the Board of Education on June 30, Marie Bernhart and Mrs. C. S. Buckard were elected regular teachers, they having satisfactorily served the usual probationary period.

TOKIO'S MUNICIPAL WATERWORKS.

The system of waterworks conducted by the Tokio municipality is the most profitable of the city's undertakings, its annual net profit being reported as nearly $500,000. Sanction has lately been received from the government to extend the system at a cost of $10,360,000, in order to be able to supply a population of 3,000,000.

This undertaking is so profitable that it not only has a large reserve fund, but it can afford to lend money. Last year it advanced $300,000 to the electric bureau and $250,000 for the improvement of the sewage system, on the condition that the money be paid at the end of the next fiscal year.

The confirmation of the assessment for the opening of eleven streets in the City Land Association tract has been transmitted to the Board of Public Works and a notice will be published on Friday in which will be stated the time in which the assessment will be payable.

ASSESSOR'S REPORT ON ASSESSMENT ROLL.

The Assessor has delivered to the Supervisors the assessment roll for 1914, and the following communication sets forth the details of the same:

July 6, 1914.

Honorable Board of Supervisors, San Francisco, Cal.—Gentlemen: I have this day delivered to the clerk of your Board the assessment rolls of the City and County of San Francisco, to-wit: 42 volumes of assessments of real estate and personal property secured by real estate; 18 volumes of assessment of unsecured personal property and 4 volumes of indexes.

The assessment of property for city taxation is as follows:

On land	$304,661,024
Improvements	165,556,757
Personal property	71,393,672
Total	$541,611,453

This is an increase over last year's assessment of $763,849 on land, $8,177,780 on improvements and $6,425,401 on personal property; total increase, $15,367,030.

As will be seen, land pays 56.25 per cent of the total tax, improvements 30.57 per cent and personal property 13.18 per cent.

The increase on lands has been almost entirely confined to acreage tracks that have been subdivided, and where new improvements have increased values, as evidenced by frequent sales.

I have collected since March 3d of this year in personal property taxes on unsecured personal property assessments and poll taxes $1,054,243.27, which is $300,000 more than was collected in 1912.

The assessments of operative property for 1914, taxed exclusively for State purposes, is $105,088,612, an increase of $7,488,419 over that of 1913. Total assessed value of all property in San Francisco, $646,700,065, an increase over 1913 of $22,855,449.

Respectfully submitted, JOHN GINTY, Assessor.

SAN FRANCISCO SALARIES NOT THE HIGHEST.

Salaries of city officials in the 195 cities of the United States having a population of 30,000 or more are given in a report issued by United States Bureau of the Census. The cities are grouped into five population classes. For these the range of salaries in each class is as follows: 500,000 population and over, Chicago, $18,000 and New York $15,000 to Detroit, $5000; 300,000 and 500,000, Cincinnati and New Orleans, $10,000 to Milwaukee, $4000; 100,000 to 300,000, Seattle $7500 and Paterson, N. J., $2000; 50,000 to 100,000, Mobile, Ala., $5000 and Saginaw, Mich., $1000; 30,000 to 50,000 inhabitants, Superior, Wis., $5000 to Flint, Mich, $100. Regardless of class, the salaries of city clerks ranged from $8000 in New York to $800 in in Allentown, Penn., and $600 (plus fees) in Superior, Mo.

THREATENS TO SEIZE WATER PLANT.

The Denver City Water Company is trying to prevent the city from building its own plant, but has so far lost almost every legal fight. It is now trying to sell the plant to the city. The city is willing to buy, but the officials insist that the figures are too high. To complicate matters, the plant broke down in the last few days. For several days portions of the city were without water and at the mercy of fire. Two conduits gave way, and investigation showed that they were worn out. Temporary repairs have restored an almost normal supply, but the opponents of the company say that the weakness of the plant has been exposed. The voters are opposed to the water company's scheme to sell out to the city, and the city commissioners are supporting the public. Public opinion was disclosed last February at a referendum election, when the taxpayers, by a vote of more than 2 to 1, decided to buy or build a municipal water plant, and voted a bond issue of $8,000,000 for the purpose. It is estimated that if the city should buy the old plant for $8,000,000, or a lower price, $3,000,000 additional would have to be spent to put the plant in fair shape. A new municipal plant can be built for about $9,000,000.

INDEPENDENCE DAY ON THE PLAYGROUNDS.

Never in the history of San Francisco was the idea of a safe and sane Fourth of July better exemplified than in the demonstration given by the Playground Commission on last Saturday. With all the grounds decorated in the national colors, bands of music rendering popular airs, races and games to amuse the children, pageantry displays by the children for the entertainment of the elders, day and night fireworks, it is a foregone conclusion that the dangerous noisy Fourth, with its attendant accidents and fatalities, has been forever eliminated from our midst.

Thousands of flags were distributed to the children, every child visiting the grounds being the recipient of one of the national banners, the gift of the Playground Commission.

Commissioners J. C. Kortick and Mrs. M. S. Hayward, ably assisted by Mrs. J. C. Kortick, Mrs. G. M. Bernhard, Miss Gertrude Wright, Mr. Leslie C. L. Tubbs and Mr. H. L. Pelton, were in charge of the programs. It was necessary that they visit each of the grounds to see that the programs were conducted as scheduled.

Mr. E. B. De Groot, general secretary of the Playground Association of Chicago, a noted authority on playground work and its kindred subjects, was the guest of honor, and expressed himself as being well pleased not only with the programs, but also with the grounds, and the entire manner in which local work is being carried on.

The programs consisted of athletic events, novelty races and folk dances. Silver, bronze and copper medals were awarded the winners in the athletic events, while all members of the victorious side in team contests were awarded bronze bars. Each child participating in pageantry or folk dances was presented with a silk flag.

In accordance with the ruling of the State Supreme Court upholding the city in annulling the power franchise of the Tacoma Railway and Power Company the city has taken over the power business of this company in Tacoma, adding about $50,000 a year to the annual income of the municipal power plant.

ELECTRICITY RATES FIXED BY R. R. COMMISSION.

The State Railroad Commission has established three fundamental principles in electric rate-making, in fixing rates for the city of Antioch.

It has been decided that the cost of generating and transmitting electricity is wholly separated from the cost of distribution in any city. The Pacific Gas and Electric Company is allowed 7.312 mills a kilowatt hour for delivering electricity.

Rates must be fixed with regard to the money which has been honestly and economically spent in constructing plants.

No allowance for "unearned increment" of property will be made.

Little weight will be given to any corporation's claim for values as a "going concern."

Cost of distribution should be borne by each community.

The Antioch case was one of the most laborious and important rate inquiries ever held by the commission. It involved a valuation of all the hydro-electric and steam-electric plants of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, and the entire transmission system as well. Commissioner Max Thelen wrote the decision. The rate findings of this case will be accepted as a basis for fixing the rates in every city in California which has transferred its utility control to the commission.

The following valuations were fixed by the commission:

Value of hydro-electric plants	$14,675,174.26
Value of steam electric plants	5,455,282.16
Value of transmission system	5,930,529.10
Total	$26,060,985.52

ANNUAL OPERATION, 1914.

Interest at 8 per cent, depreciation and maintenance	$ 2,408,377.66
Operating cost	1,171,978.90
Power purchased	824,200.00
Total	$ 4,404,556.56

The following lighting rates were established for Antioch:

First 20 kilowatt hours, per month, 7c per KWH.

Next 980 kilowatt hours, per month, 4c per KWH.

Over 1000 kilowatt hours, per month, 3c per KWH.

The top rate for lighting is cut from 8 cents. The new rate will save the town about $570 a year for street lighting, in addition to the saving to private citizens.

ENGLISH MUNICIPAL ELECTRICAL WORKS.

The Bristol Corporation electricity department has been making every effort to popularize the various uses of electricity by advertising, circularizing, interviewing, and lecturing at public exhibitions and to demonstrate its value for industrial and domestic occupations.

The number of consumers on January 31, 1914, was 4,672, which is an increase of more than 465 new members over the previous year. The additions to the system in the equivalent of 30-watt lamps have totaled 62,458. The total horsepower connected with the mains at the end of the year exceeded 16,000 brake horsepower.

The use of electricity for domestic purposes is rapidly increasing, and it is expected that the use of electricity for cooking will develop during the present year on account of the reduction in the price for heating from 1½d. (3 cents) to 1d. (2 cents) per unit. The principal trades in Bristol using electricity for power are: Tobacco, cocoa, printing, leather, cloth, confectionery, joinery, galvanized iron, brewing, paper making, engineering, cold storage, flour milling, and several important shipbuilding yards and dry docks.

During the year a new lamp, the "half-watt lamp," has been introduced. As this lamp consumes only half a watt per candlepower, the efficiency is twice as great as that of the ordinary 1-watt metallic filament lamp, while its consumption of energy—candlepower for candlepower—is only about one-seventh of that of the carbon-filament lamp in general use until a few years ago. The lamp at present ranges from 600 to 3,000 candlepower. Electric lighting by means of these half-watt lamps will be greatly reduced in cost, and interesting developments in electric lighting have been prophesied for the near future.

Negotiations for the purchase of a right of way and subsurface easements for the Twin Peaks tunnel are progressing satisfactorily in the office of the City Attorney, and it is expected that within the next thirty days more than 175 of the parcels of land desired will have been secured by the city. In all there are about 200 different pieces of property to be secured, the aggregate value of which will be about $525,000.

PEDESTRIANS HAVE RIGHT OF WAY AT CROSSINGS.

William K. Hoskins, of Reading, Pa., was the driver of an automobile which struck and killed a woman in Philadelphia, on the night of November 6. He was convicted of involuntary manslaughter, fined $250 and sentenced to six months in the county jail. He applied for and was refused a new trial.

Counsel for Hoskins took an appeal to the superior court, which acted as a supersedeas, and Hoskins was permitted to enter $1,500 bail.

Judge Sultzberger, before whom the case was tried, said that accidents of that kind were not "unavoidable" and that the term had been much abused.

In the decision rendered against Hoskins, Judge Sultzberger defined the law as follows:

"The streets are the property of the people, and pedestrians are supreme in the right to the use of the streets at the crossing points. The driver of an automobile must recognize this right at his risk, and stop his machine at street intersections.

"Streets must be crossed, and there must be a reasonable provision for crossing them with safety. We must, therefore, recognize the intersection as such crossing point. At such intersections the pedestrians must have the right of way, and the driver of the vehicle must recognize this right at his risk."

BLANKENBURG STARTS NATION-WIDE REFORMS.

Proceeding on the theory that utility corporations in the big cities are thwarting municipal progress and growth by high-handed methods, Mayor Rudolph Blankenburg of Philadelphia has started a nation-wide movement to fight these companies which has developed out of the war over electric light rates in that city. He is supported in his fight by Mayor Mitchel, Mayor Harrison of Chicago, Mayor Baker of Cleveland and Mayor Shroyer of Dayton. Letters have been sent to the Mayors of all of the principal cities urging co-operation in the movement, and a big convention is to be held in the fall to formulate definite plans. Mayor Blankenburg has concluded, from his own experiences in Philadelphia, that electric light, gas and street railway companies always put up a united fight when their interests are involved. These companies always have hired the best attorneys; they lend each other services and have a splendid system of co-operation. The information of one company can be used by all the others on request. This close system of the corporations is the model for the organization which Mayor Blankenburg hopes to build up. As announced in his letters to the mayors, he is seeking to form a Bureau of Public Utilities Research which shall equip itself "to give to the cities the same able assistance which the public utility companies' associations give to the public utility companies, thus in effect constituting an offensive and defensive alliance among the cities similar to that existing among the utility corporations."

The convention is to be held in Philadelphia, where the permanent organization is to be launched. There probably will be instituted a clearing house of information on which any city in the United States can draw to fight the corporations in the interest of the people. The lack of system in obtaining correlative facts, Mayor Blankenburg says in his letter, has caused the people's side of controversies with public utility corporations to be placed before the Public Service Commissions inadequately in most instances. "The equipment required for an adequate presentation of the rights and interests of the people," says the Mayor in the circular letter, "involves a degree and extent of technical knowledge which is not practicable for any one city to obtain. This knowledge and information is much the same for each city, and its cumulative use would greatly add to its value. It must be borne in mind that the utility companies constitute an alliance, probably stronger than any other interest in this country. Its weakest member is never without information and assistance of every kind."

If the organization can be effected, a concerted fight will be made to fix the rates and service for public utilities on the actual cost of providing such service. It is aimed to take values of properties into consideration and to allow reasonable profits on the actual capital invested. The fight will be particularly aimed at the monopolies which charge exorbitant rates for service. Whenever a question effecting rate or service regulation of public utility corporations shall be presented in any city, according to this plan, the ordinary citizen will have the use of lawyers and agents just as good as those provided by the corporations, and will go into court with assurance that he will not be swamped with argument and power. There will be small meetings prior to the Mayors' fall convention. Money has been provided by persons who are interested in the movement. The cities, it is argued, can easily maintain the Bureau of Research by mutual assessment after it is under way. Mayor Blankenburg in an interview emphasized that the organization would be non-partisan.

The property owners in the district bounded by Twentieth, Twenty-second, Dolores and Church streets have filed a protest with the Board of Supervisors against any railroad running through private property in that district.

EXCESS CONDEMNATION.

A constitutional amendment is to be voted upon next November providing for excess condemnation. A report favoring this amendment was recently presented to the Commonwealth Club by Percy V. Long, City Attorney, and is as follows:

Report in Favor of the Amendment.

Prepared by Hon. Percy V. Long.

Excess condemnation is the acquisition through condemnation proceedings by the governmental agency—for example, a State—of more land than is actually needed for a public improvement, such as a boulevard, park, street, playground or civic center, in order to meet the expenses of this improvement later by the sale or lease of the surplus.

It was to attain this object that Senate Constitutional Amendment No. 16 was passed and filed with the Secretary of State on June 2, 1913, to be voted upon this fall.

It provides, in brief, for the taking and appropriation, under the powers of eminent domain, of additional adjoining and neighboring property by the State, county, city and county or incorporated city or town in excess of that actually to be devoted to or occupied by the improvement for which the land is taken.

It further provides that such additional property shall be deemed to be taken for public use and shall be held by the governmental subdivision in fee simple and may be sold, leased or otherwise disposed of in whole or in part under such terms and restrictions as may be appropriate to preserve or further the improvement made or proposed to be made.

For the purpose of acquiring, constructing, enlarging or improving a public park, playground, boulevard, street, building or grounds therefor, the governmental subdivision may also condemn lands outside of their boundaries and within a distance of ten miles therefrom, provided that no lands within any other subdivision of the State shall be taken without its consent.

The method outlined above has been a familiar one for many years past in the cities of South America, on the Continent and in Great Britain.

England's adoption of this doctrine in public improvements dates from the year 1861. The most notable English example of recent years is the completion of the King's Way in 1905.

In the United States, recoupment by the taking of more land than is actually needed for the particular improvement has seldom been resorted to before the last decade.

This reluctance to enforce the principle of excess condemnation in the United States is due to several reasons. The whole conception of property relations in this country is very different from that of Europe. For example, our real property system, under which land is held absolutely by the individual, subject only to the State under eminent domain, is practically unknown abroad. Both courts and people are jealous of what they regard as private property rights, and will allow them to be invaded by condemnation for "public use" interpreted in its very narrowest sense.

The attempt to condemn more land than is absolutely needed for an improvement with the idea of meeting the cost through recoupment seems in the past to have been regarded with great suspicion, and not to have been held a "public use" by either the courts or the people. It is only the recently conceived idea of society as a growing, elastic institution, and of the necessity of allowing the governmental activities to change to meet the newer and broader human conditions and needs that has allowed this new idea of excess condemnation to take a foremost place in the movement for civic improvement.

The first American act recognizing the principle was passed in Ohio in 1904 allowing excess condemnation in the case of public parks. Maryland followed in 1905, and Virginia in 1906. Pennsylvania, by an act of 1907, authorizes the acquisition of property within two hundred feet of any park, parkway or public playground with the power to sell the unused land with building restrictions.

In 1907 the Legislature of Connecticut passed a similar act. In Wisconsin the cities of the first class have at the present time the right to purchase excess land, but not to acquire by condemnation proceedings.

Massachusetts, by her recent constitutional amendment of November, 1911, is the latest State to join this movement. This amendment states that the Legislature may, by special acts for the purpose of laying out, widening or relocating highways or streets, authorize the taking in fee by the commonwealth, or by a county, city or town, of more land and property than are needed for the actual construction of such highway or street; provided, however, that the land and property authorized to be taken are specified in the act and are no more in extent than would be sufficient for suitable building lots on both sides of such highway or street; and after so much of the land or property has been appropriated for such highway or street as is needed therefor, may authorize the sale of the remainder for value with or without suitable restrictions.

It is significant of the change of public sentiment in this matter that this amendment was passed after the Supreme Court of the State had rendered a decision to the effect that the sale of surplus land to cover the cost of an improvement was not a "public use."

The principle of excess condemnation is economically correct. Just as the profits of the labor of an individual should redound to him, so in all justice the increment of value to land caused by the city's act in improving a portion of that land should inure to the city. It seems superfluous to add that a new street in the heart of a city widened, curbed, paved, sewered and lighted, very greatly enhances the value of the land which fronts it.

In the center of our great American cities, a certain amount of reconstruction is necessary. The increasing demands of business and of civic activity imperatively call for wider streets, increased traffic facilities, parks and public places. Under the present system of condemnation, such improvements are well-nigh impossible, or are only accomplished after years of delay and at a prohibitive cost. As mentioned before, the cities of Europe have long enjoyed the advantages of the principle of recoupment, with the result that they are in possession of wide avenues, beautiful parks and boulevards, at practically no cost to the city, whereas we Americans are content with the narrow, overcrowded streets that were constructed for business conditions of a generation or more ago.

By the application of this new principle, owners whose property is condemned receive the full market value for their property at the time of condemnation but not the improved value. The latter, representing a normal increase on an investment of the entire city, accrues to the city, thus relieving the indebtedness of the municipality for the improvement. Thus it will be seen that the proposed method of excess condemnation does not work an injustice upon property owners any more than does our present condemnation system.

Loss to the adjacent property follows upon the application of our present method of condemnation.

When streets are widened, or new streets are cut through old parts of a city, irregular and small sized plots of land are left on either side totally unfit for improvement. There are streets in New York today which have been widened for ten years, but whose frontage is desolate and unimproved.

Excess condemnation not only enables the city to make these improvements at practically no expense to the taxpayer; it insures the success of the improvement by the proper treatment of the abutting property. The land sold under the recoupment plan should be disposed of with building restrictions, so that the street or park will be fronted by structures which will correspond to the general scheme, insuring that uniformity of plan which adds so much to the modern cities of Europe and South America.

A close study of this whole subject has absolutely convinced all who have given the subject careful study, including the writer, that the end aimed at could be as well attained by act of the Legislature as by constitutional amendment. However, in order to avoid any possible obstacle to its success a constitutional amendment has been deemed the wiser course.

That no question can be successfully raised as to the unconstitutionality under the Federal constitution of a provision in a State constitution authorizing excess condemnation has been well settled by a long line of cases.

In the words of Chief Justice Marshall in McCulloch Maryland:

"Let the end be legitimate, let it be within the scope of the Constitution and all means which are appropriate, which are plainly adequate to that end, which are not prohibited but consistent with the letter and spirit of the Constitution, are constitutional.

"What constitutes a public use or purpose, has, so far as careful examination of the case shows, never been defined in the sense of furnishing a rule applicable to all times and cases. It is a subject which does not admit of definition as the defined limits of today might not answer for the changed conditions of tomorrow. From the very nature of the case there can be no precise line. The power requires a degree of elasticity which shall be capable of meeting any conditions and improvements and the ever-increasing necessities of society.

"The sole dependence must be on the personal wisdom of the sovereign authority supervised by the dispassionate judgment of the courts."

In conclusion I would say that I have examined all of the cases which might be used against this proposition and can find none which would even incline to the view that the doctrine of excess condemnation would mean a contravention of the Federal Constitution. I have particularly examined cases in California on the subject and find nothing whatsoever which would indicate that the proposed amendment would be invalid.

LEGISLATION ON TUBERCULOSIS.

Legislation dealing with tuberculosis has been enacted in forty-eight States and Territories in the United States, according to a comprehensive bulletin on this subject soon to be published by The National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis. Only in the States of Arizona, Idaho, Nevada, Wyoming, and Alaska, has the subject been given no legislative consideration.

State tuberculosis sanatoria to the number of forty-two have been established in thirty-three different States. Special laws providing for the establishment of local hospitals by municipalities or counties have been passed in fourteen States. In thirty-four States laws are in force providing for the reporting and registration of living cases of tuberculosis. In four States—New York, New Jersey, Wisconsin and Minnesota—special laws have been enacted giving State and local health authorities power to remove and detain tuberculous persons who menace the health of their families or associates. Six States—Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, Minnesota, New York and Texas—have laws which give the people the privilege of voting at general or special elections on the establishment of county or municipal tuberculosis hospitals. Massachusetts, Minnesota, New Jersey, Wisconsin and Washington grant subsidies ranging from $3 to $5 per week to such local hospitals. Laws prohibiting spitting in public places have been enacted in more than twenty States.

Commenting on the problem of State legislation as it affects the prevention of tuberculosis, The National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis says: "A law providing for the reporting and registration of every living case of tuberculosis is fundamental to any thoroughgoing campaign against this disease. Without a knowledge of the location of every case of tuberculosis, the disease cannot be controlled. Of equal importance, also, is legislation which will give cities, towns and counties the authority to establish and maintain local hospitals for tuberculosis cases. The control of tuberculosis is a local problem. Everything possible should be done to provide institutions easy of access, especially for advanced cases."

BIRMINGHAM'S MUNICIPAL TRADING OPERATIONS.

The net profits of the four municipal undertakings of the City of Birmingham, which can be regarded as profit or loss making activities, for the municipal year ended March 31, 1914, was $287,031—that is, the amount of profit applied to reduction of taxation. The amount might seem small, considering the magnitude of the operations of these departments, but it should be remembered first that the money applied to the relief of taxation was applied after capital charges, including interest, reserve fund, sinking fund, and in some cases renewal fund, had been provided for. In the case of the gas department there was also a heavy expenditure on new construction which was actually paid for out of earnings.

The water department, since the construction of the Welsh reservoirs and pipe lines has always shown a loss, which this year amounted to $394,187, so that, leaving aside the water loss, the three other departments made a very satisfactory return, despite the fact that taxation and cost of raw material had largely increased.

For the gas department the cost of coal and gas oil increased by $496,383 during the year to $2,749,573. This followed an increase of $316,323 in the previous year, due to the same advance in raw materials, while increased taxes accounted for an additional $21,661 in expenses, the taxes having in the past 10 years increased by $97,330. For the year the increased revenue from the sale of gas was $287,124, while the output increased 9 per cent. The gross profit of the undertaking was $906,483, while the average cost of gas was 38.8 per cent 1,000 cubic feet, the lowest in any city so distant from the gas coal fields as Birmingham.

Through increased demand for electrical current following lower prices which increased demand represented an increased output of 10,500,000 units, the accounts of the electric supply department were the best since it was started, the gross profit being $816,900, out of which, after meeting capital charges and applying $94,897 to renewals, an amount was available for reduction of taxation.

The consumption of water in the City of Birmingham has grown in six years from 23,000,000 to 27,000,000 gallons per day. The total capital expenditure of the water department was $38,941,733, and though the gross profits were $1,075,497, or $18,493 more than last year, charges on capital amounted to $1,474,550 and caused the deficiency of $389,320.

The Board of Public Works has awarded to the Utah Construction Company the contract for constructing the wagon road eight miles long from the Hog Ranch to the Hetch Hetchy dam site. The cost will be $151,000.

Three hundred and thirty-eight aliens were naturalized by the Superior Courts in San Francisco during the fiscal year ended July 30, 1914.

Panama-Pacific International Exposition Notes of General Interest

Ground was broken for the Turkish pavilion on the grounds of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition on July 1st, and the crescent soon will shine from the attractive architecture that will represent the Ottoman Empire. The red fez and characteristic costume of the Turks were conspicuous in the crowd that attended the ceremonies. Turkish Consul Maurice Hall spoke for Turkey and turned the first spadeful of earth. Zia Mufti Bey, a young Turkish nobleman, raised the flag of his country above the site.

The director of congresses and conventions of the Exposition has received a cablegram from the secretary of the Union of International Association that the association at its meeting in Brussels has decided that it will hold its third annual World's Congress of Congresses in San Francisco in 1915. Delegates from more than 400 international associations representing every civilized nation will be present. The number of congresses and conventions that are to meet in San Francisco during the exposition has reached the total of 235.

Nat Goodwin, famous actor of comedy roles, took part in the ceremony on "The Zone" of the Exposition on July 1st. Mr. Goodwin had the distinction of lighting the Aladdin's lamp in Frederick Thompson's creation known as "Toyland Grown Up," which is to cost $1,000,000. This is one of the many interesting ceremonies that have been held in connection with this amusement enterprise.

John Effinger, Hawaiian commissioner to the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, had charge of the ground-breaking exercises of the Hawaiian building on July 7th. The site was sprinkled with pineapple juice, Hawaiian music was provided, Hawaiian maids distributed ilima and leis to the guests and the Hawaiian flag was raised.

Illinois broke ground for the Illinois State building on the grounds of the Exposition on June 30th. A message was received from Governor Edward F. Dunne by special wire extended to the Illinois site. Mrs. L. E. Rockwell, of Quincy, Ill., 84 years old and for 60 years a resident of Illinois, raised the Governor's flag on the site.

A cablegram just received by President Moore of the Exposition announces that the Portuguese Senate and House at Lisbon, Portugal, have passed an appropriation of $100,000 for participation in the Exposition.

Ground was broken on June 29th for the Pennsylvania State building on the grounds of the Exposition. Governor John K. Tener sent his congratulations by wire to the speaker's stand on the site. J. E. D. Trask, chief of fine arts of the Exposition, and formerly director of the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, acted as chairman. The Pennsylvania flag was raised by Mrs. Noble P. Biddle, a descendant of one of the oldest Pennsylvania families.

Arkansas representatives, headed by Governor George W. Hays, dedicated the site for the Arkansas state building on the grounds of the Exposition on June 26. The Arkansas delegation was the largest that has made the trip to San Francisco for state ceremonies and included thirty persons.

Jules Guerin, director of color of the Exposition, returned on July 1st from London where he went to inspect the mural paintings of Frank Brangwyn. "Simply wonderful" is Guerin's description of the Brangwyn paintings that are to be brought to the exposition. The paintings are four in number and have as their subjects the four seasons. They will be placed in the Court of Abundance. With one or two exceptions all the other mural paintings have been completed.

The steel work for the "Tower of Jewels" of the Exposition has been completed. The placing of the highest steel column makes the top 435 feet above the ground. More than 1500 tons of steel have been used in the frame and 1,600,000 board feet of lumber will be used in completing the structure. The expansion on hot days will make the tower four inches higher than on cool days.

Five great electric signs that are read by millions of persons every week have been given to the use of exploiting the Panama-Pacific International Exposition. The first two were the Chicago and Northwestern sign on the Rush street bridge in Chicago and the Marcus Loew sign on the Hudson River. The three later ones are: The Cohan & Harris sign in front of that company's Astor theater, Times Square, the William Morris sign on the New York Roof Garden, and the Coca Cola Company 20x20 foot sign on the Chandler building on West 42nd street.

J. J. McGovern, secretary of the athletic department of the Exposition, has returned from Portland where he attended the meeting of the Western Athletic Association. The program for the western championships of the exposition were made and besides the swimming, boxing and wrestling championships, the track and field meet will include a modified Marathon race of 12⅜ miles.

SUCCESSFUL ENGLISH MUNICIPAL ENTERPRISES.

The report of the Sunderland municipal electricity undertaking for the year ended March 31, 1914, shows an income of $358,546. The total operating expenses were $176,271, leaving a gross profit of $181,275. After paying taxes and loans there remained a net profit of $49,088. Of this, $5,236 was contributed to the capital account and $43,852 to depreciation and renewal funds.

The municipal street railway enterprise appears to have been equally successful in the same financial period. The total income was $366,089 and the total expenses $207,609, leaving a gross profit of $158,480. After paying interest, taxes, loans, and giving $25,000 to the city treasury to reduce public taxes, the same amount to the reserve fund, and $10,000 to the compensation reserve fund, there remained an ample balance for repairs and renewals. Over two-fifths of the original cost of the system has been repaid from the profits, and in addition the city has been given $228,857 in relief of the taxes. Sunderland has a population of 160,000.

San Francisco's Municipal Band Completes Two Years' Public Service

San Francisco's Municipal Band is over two years old, having celebrated its second birthday on July 1st. During the two years it has given one hundred and twelve entertainments, to the delight of many thousands of people.

It has been the aim to give every section of the city an opportunity to enjoy the high-class music produced by the band, and over forty districts have been visited.

Nearly all of the smaller parks have been provided with music on at least one occasion and also all of the playgrounds. In sections not favored with these public spaces, school house grounds have been utilized, to the advantage of the people of the neighborhood.

It is a significant testimonial to the salubrity of San Francisco's climate to state that during the past two years only three concerts had to be postponed on account of the inclemency of the weather. Winter and summer, the concerts are held in the open air.

The local improvement clubs have co-operated to make the gatherings a success and have frequently added other attractions to that provided by the band.

So popular has become the Municipal Band that a demand is being created for its services at evening street dances, and if ways and means can be found, an attempt will be made to meet this demand.

The Supervisors appropriated $10,000 a year to support the band. The Publicity Committee of the Board arranges for the concerts, except that the musical program is prepared by John A. Keogh, the director.

Proceedings of the Board of Supervisors

At the regular session of the Board of Supervisors last Monday the plan of the City Engineer was adopted providing for the exchange of certain lands at Eleventh and Division streets in order that Eleventh street may be widened so as to permit the construction of the Potrero branch of the Municipal Railway.

The consideration of the various plans for the construction of the Church street line of the Municipal Railway was postponed until the first week in September, at which time the matter will be finally decided.

The ordinance prohibiting the use of profane or obscene language over the telephone was finally passed.

Similar action was taken on the ordinance amending the street work specifications and which describes a district wherein no asphalt pavement shall be laid without a binder course.

The following street work was ordered: Twentieth street, between Church and Sanchez streets, curbs and basalt block pavement; Army street, from San Bruno avenue to easterly line of Kansas street, curbs, asphalt pavement, sewers, sidewalks, culverts and catchbasins at intersections.

A blasting permit to Thos. O'Day & Co. was passed to print; also permits for a "Wild West" show and for a "Fighting the Flames" exhibition.

A resolution was adopted providing for the extension of Diamond and Chenery streets.

The ordinance ordering the improvement of Silver avenue, from Boutwell street to San Bruno avenue, was repealed.

The Finance Committee was directed to prepare an amendment to the charter providing for a modification of the "dollar limit."

Spur track permits were passed to print in favor of the California Fruit Canners' Association in Jefferson street, at Leavenworth street, and in favor of Dunham, Carrigan & Hayden Co., in Beale street, from Brannan to Folsom.

Resolutions in memoriam of Mrs. Mary W. Kincaid were adopted, and the Board adjourned in respect to her memory.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE PARK COMMISSION.

At the last meeting of the Board of Park Commissioners, held July 9, 1914, the following business was transacted:

Information was received from the Secretary of the Board of Public Works that by Resolution No. 31471 (Second Series), passed June 26, 1914, by the Board of Supervisors, it was recommended that the jurisdiction of the island parks on Dolores street be transferred to the Park Commissioners.

A communication from Thomas F. Boyle, Auditor of the City and County of San Francisco, informing the Board that the balance shown by the park books of $26,347.32 agrees with the Auditor's accounts up to June 24, 1914.

The Haight and Ashbury Improvement Association stated that the association had unanimously endorsed the Ocean Beach esplanade project, but that they are opposed to a bond issue for this work and are also opposed to the same being built out of the park funds.

The offer of a 2-year-old deer from H. M. Foye, Fort Bragg, was accepted, the Park Board to pay all freight charges.

The manager of the California Bloomer Girls Baseball team protests against the charges made by the ladies of the Juvenile Protection Association that the girls were unladylike in their actions while playing baseball in the Park. Upon the report of Superintendent McLaren that he had watched the game for some time and had seen no rowdyism or heard any bad language the matter was dismissed and the communication ordered filed.

Wm. C. Hassler, acting health officer, requested the Park Commission to discontinue the use of Park water and install Spring Valley service or install a tank and treat the water with chlorine in order to insure safety to the people at large. Referred to Superintendent McLaren.

The request of the Balboa Improvement Club for children's swings in Balboa Park was granted and referred to Superintendent McLaren.

The West of Fillmore Street Improvement Association stated that they will co-operate with the Park Board in any manner that will help press to a successful issue the construction of the proposed Ocean Beach esplanade.

The City Engineer agreed to replace the loam over all space disturbed during the construction of the sewerage pumping station at Forty-eighth avenue and Fulton street, spreading additional loam to the depth of one foot and restore fences on condition that the Superintendent of Parks will perform the work of replanting such trees and shrubs as may be disturbed. The agreement was approved by the Board and referred to the Superintendent to see that the same is carried out.

The Superintendent reported against installing the miniature railroad in Golden Gate Park as same is not adapted to the Park. Report approved.

The advisability of closing Cole street crossing to vehicle traffic and diverting this traffic to Stanyan street was referred to Superintendent McLaren who was instructed to report on the probable cost. As Cole street is but two blocks east of Stanyan street crossing it was deemed unnecessary and very dangerous to the citizens.

Blue print plans of the proposed Civic Center were inspected and considered; modification being suggested the subject matter was referred to President Metson, Commissioner Cummings and Superintendent McLaren.

PROPOSE TO MODIFY THE DOLLAR LIMIT.

The Board of Supervisors last Monday adopted the following resolution:

> Whereas, the appropriations required for the support of the City and County for the ensuing fiscal year as set forth in the budget adopted by this Board aggregate the sum of more than $14,900,000, of which more than $12,000,000 must be raised by taxation and that for many years to come it will be impossible to conduct the affairs of the City and County with an expenditure that will be materially less than that heretofore appropriated; and
>
> Whereas, the so-called "dollar limit" imposed by the Charter will be necessarily exceeded this year and will doubtless be exceeded for many years hereafter; and
>
> Whereas, this Board is informed and believes that property is assessed for purposes of taxation at about 50 per cent of its real value; and
>
> Whereas, the means that will secure the necessary revenue in the future for the support of the City and County is by amendment to the Charter that will permit an adequate sum to be raised by taxation, or in the event that such amendment fails of ratification by the voters, by the assessment of all property for the purposes of taxation at its full cash value; therefore,
>
> Resolved, That the Finance Committee be directed to prepare a proposed amendment to the Charter that will provide for the modification of the so-called "dollar limit" that will authorize the collection of a tax that will be adequate to meet the necessary expenses of the City and County government; also
>
> Resolved, That in the event of the failure of the adoption of Charter amendment the only alternative will be to request the Assessor to make such increases as may be necessary to make the assessment conform to the true value of the property assessed, and in the event of the failure by the Assessor to make such assessment the Board of Supervisors, as a Board of Equalization, will be compelled to consider the necessity of making such raises of the entire roll to the full value of the property as may be necessary for the conduct of the City within the prescribed "dollar limit."

Tax Collector Edwin F. Bryant, in his annual report filed with Mayor Rolph, shows that for the fiscal year just closed the total tax collections from all sources amounted to $12,271,281.68. The amount is in excess of about one million and a half over that of the year preceding.

Persons receiving the "Municipal Record" and removing to a new location MUST send their old and new addresses to J. S. EQUALIZATION OF ASSESSMENTS COMPLETED.

The Supervisors, sitting as a Board of Equalization, held a final session on Monday, and ordered an increase of $100,000 each in the assessments of Mrs. Charlotte Harrigan, 1233 Jones street, and Miss Ellen Dore, 1231 Jones street. Both women had been assessed for only $70.

The Supervisors denied the petition of the Spring Valley Water Company for a $2,000,000 reduction upon its properties in this city, which the company claims includes the value of its franchise, already taxed by the State.

The recommendations of the Assessor were allowed in reductions asked for by small property owners. All matters taken under consideration by the board at previous sittings were denied.

The result of work of equalization has been that the assessment roll has been slightly increased over that as returned by the Assessor, and amounts to nearly $542,000,000.

BUSINESS OF THE BOARD OF EDUCATION.

At the regular meeting of the Board of Education on July 14 resolutions were adopted to the effect that the Girls' High School and the Starr King School buildings were completed, and that the Board of Supervisors could close those accounts.

The privilege of the floor was given to Mr. M. L. McBride and Mr. C. W. Moores, representing the Golden Gate Valley Improvement Association, who requested that a social center in the Yerba Buena School be arranged for at as early a date as possible.

President Gallagher notified petitioners that the board has not as yet formulated a plan in detail for the establishment of social centers or for the segregation of the funds covering social centers, lecture bureaus and school athletics, but assured them that a social center would be provided for their section of the city.

The Schools Committee presented the following resolutions for adoption:

That Miss Ida Brown be appointed teacher of drawing in the Horace Mann Intermediate School for the ensuing school year.

That Chas. Lamp, now substituting in the Commercial Evening School, be appointed teacher in the Commercial Evening School, effective July 27, 1914.

DEATH OF MISS MARY KINCAID.

The death of Miss Mary Kincaid, a member of the Board of Education, occurred last Saturday after an illness of several weeks and was an event that caused deep regret on the part of all that knew her and her public work. She has been identified with the educational system of the city for many years, serving as teacher, as principal and as a director of the Board of Education.

She taught in the famous old Lincoln Grammar School and later at the Cosmopolitan Grammar School. From a teacher she was promoted to the principalship of the Girls' High School, holding the position until her retirement from active teaching in 1892. She then made an extensive tour of Europe, returning to her home city in 1896. Upon the adoption of the Charter in 1900 Mayor Phelan appointed her to the Board of Education. In 1909 Mayor Taylor reappointed her.

The services of Mrs. Kincaid have been held to be invaluable to the city of San Francisco in educational matters, and much of the progress in the public schools of the city has come under her service and through her efforts. Her friends are legion and include the best known people of the country.

Men, women and children from every walk of life paid a last tribute on Monday to the distinguished San Francisco educator at funeral services in Trinity Church.

City officials, members of the Board of Education, representatives from every department of the School Board and many business men were there to do her honor. Teachers, parents, students, presidents of the Mothers' Clubs, and the Golden Gate Kindergarten, of which Mrs. Kincaid was an honorary member, added their loving tributes.

After the simple rites at Trinity Church, which were conducted by the Rev. Bishop Nichols and his assistant, the Rev. Walter B. Clark, and special solos by Laurence Strauss, coteries of friends gathered together and carried out Mrs. Kincaid's last wishes.

The remains were placed in the Hearst mausoleum in Cypress Lawn Cemetery by Mrs. Phoebe Hearst, a life-long friend of Mrs. Kincaid.

Thoughtful of others to the last, it was the request of Mrs. Kincaid that the beautiful flowers sent by friends should be taken to the Children's Hospital.

The Board of Supervisors at its Monday session expressed its sympathy in the following resolution:

> Whereas, Mary W. Kincaid, a Director of the Board of Education, died on Saturday, July 18, after many years of public service as public school teacher and member of the Board of Education, leaving a record of faithfulness and devotion to the cause of education, therefore, be it
>
> Resolved, By the Board of Supervisors, That we view her life as an achievement worthy of emulation and which the people of San Francisco may regard with pride. In voicing our regrets on the occasion of the ending of her labors we feel that these regrets are shared by the many thousands who have been benefited by her instruction and the example she has set as a worker for the public welfare; that this Board, when it adjourns, do so in memory of the deceased and that this resolution be spread upon the minutes and a copy transmitted to the relatives.

The Board of Education adopted resolutions expressing a high regard for Mrs. Kincaid, and in its final eulogy of her work said:

"Mrs. Mary Weaver Kincaid has passed from the stage of worldly affairs. In her long and useful life she accomplished much of lasting good to humanity. At all times and in all stations she was painstaking, attentive to all work undertaken, scrupulous in the performance of her tasks.

"A teacher for many years, she was an inspiring example to her multitude of pupils. Never sparing her strength, never thinking of personal comforts, she devoted herself to her duties with a lofty sense of honor.

"As a public official her voice was always lifted in the cause of right and justice. She served the public faithfully and well.

"We who were her colleagues, who saw her at her work as public official, who know her fine idealism with which she devoted herself to the public interest, arrest the usual routine of our proceedings as the Board of Education to wish her a last fond farewell and say to her, 'Well done, thou good and faithful servant.'"

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATIONS.

Examinations of applicants for positions as motormen and as conductors, Municipal Railways, will be held as follows:

1. Scope for motormen—Subjects and weights on a scale of 100: General knowledge of duties, 20; equipment and its care, 20; writing of report, 15; arithmetic, 5; athletic test, 35; experience, 5.

2. Scope for conductors—Subjects and weights on a scale of 100: General knowledge of duties, 30; writing of report, 15; arithmetic, 15; athletic test, 35; experience, 5.

Each of the above subjects will be rated on a scale of 100. By multiplying the rating by the weight the percentage on a subject is secured. By dividing the sum of the percentages by the sum of the weights the general average percentage is obtained. For the examinations named in this circular the minimum general average percentage for eligibility will be 70.

The written examination for motormen will be held in the Mission High School building, Eighteenth and Dolores streets, on Saturday afternoon, August 29, 1914, at 1:30 o'clock. The written examination for conductors will be held in the Mission High School building on the following Saturday afternoon, September 5, 1914, at 1:30 o'clock. If the school building named will not accommodate all the applicants, other school buildings will be used also. The athletic tests will be held in the Southside Playgrounds, Seventh and Harrison streets, beginning Monday, August 17, 1914.

Persons filing applications for examination as motormen will be furnished with copy of circular containing questions and answers covering the subjects "General Knowledge of Duties" and "Equipment and Its Care," and those filing applications for examination as conductors will receive copy of circular containing questions and answers relative to the subject "General Knowledge of Duties." Applicants are expected to study these circulars, as the questions in the written examination on said subjects will be taken from the circulars.

"Writing of Report," in both examinations, will be a test of the applicant's ability to write a correct report on subjects to be named by the commission and will be rated on form and substance.

The subject "Arithmetic" in both examinations will consist of primary examples covering common and decimal fractions.

The "Athletic Test" in both examinations will consist of the following exercises:

1. Ladder work—Hand-over-hand on ladder, up and down five rungs; mark, 10 credits.

2. Lifting 40-lb. dumbbell—Five consecutive lifts with each hand. Lifts to be made from the lowest reach of arm to highest reach, without aid of jerk or swing, while standing erect with feet close together; perfect mark, 10 credits.

3. High jump—3 ft. 4 in., 10 credits; 3 ft., 5 credits. Use of springboard will not be permitted.

4. Vaulting the horse—Perfect vault over horse 3 ft. 10 in. high, without touching it with any part of body excepting the hands, 10 credits; good vault, 7½ credits; fair vault, 5 credits.

5. Dipping on parallel bars—Two dips, 5 credits each. Dips must be made with legs straight and without assistance of kick or swing.

6. Carrying 125-lb. sack of sand—Sack must be lifted from floor, placed on shoulder and carried up and down six steps. Marks, 10 credits.

7. Running—(Distance about 145 yards):

Time.	Credits.	Time.	Credits.
21 seconds	40	25 seconds	30
22 seconds	38	26 seconds	26
23 seconds	36	27 seconds	22
24 seconds	34	28 seconds	15

Fifth-seconds will be rated proportionately.

Applicants taking the two examinations named in this circular need appear but once for the athletic test, as they will be rated in both examinations from the one athletic record. Candidates who fail for the athletic test will be barred from further examination.

The subject "Experience" will be rated as follows: Three years' experience had in San Francisco as a motorman of railway cars, 100 credits; 2 years, 80; 1 year, 60. Experience as a motorman of railway cars had outside of San Francisco, but within the State of California, will be rated 10 per cent less than experience had in San Francisco, and such experience had outside of California will be rated twenty per cent less than experience had in this city.

Experience as a conductor will be rated in the same manner as is provided above for rating experience of motormen.

Applicants must be in sound bodily health, and, before appointment, must pass a medical examination before physicians appointed by the commission. Candidates who secure places on the eligible lists and who fail to pass such medical examination will be removed from the eligible lists. Candidates who are unable to hear with each ear ordinary conversation at a distance of twenty feet, or who are unable to read, without glasses, with each eye, at a distance of twenty feet, letters of Snellen's eye chart marked "30" will be rejected. Applicants taking examinations both for motormen and conductors need take but one medical examination.

Applicants must be citizens of the United States, twenty-one years of age or over, and residents of San Francisco for at least one year next preceding August 17, 1914, the date of the beginning of these examinations.

Application blanks (form 40) may be had by applying in person or by mail at the office of this commission, room 341, City Hall, 1231 Market street. Receipt of applications closes Thursday, August 13, 1914, at 5 p. m.

MUNICIPAL DANCE HALLS IN CLEVELAND PAYING.

Cleveland's municipal dance halls are a decided success. This fact was attested to by Mayor Baker and other city officials who have watched the operation of "clean dancing" at 3 cents per dance in the city park pavilions.

The dances are open air affairs. Every afternoon and evening, except Sunday, during the summer months young couples of the city are enabled to enjoy chaperoned dancing, but the tango and other latest dips and twists are barred.

Nine thousand nine hundred and seventy-seven tickets were sold at Edgewater Park pavilion on the opening night. The municipal chaperon had an easy time. But one unruly character had to be put off the floor. The culprit was a frisky little mongrel "pup" which slipped by the doorkeeper and had the time of its life trying to chew the dancers' heels. It eluded Miss Marguerite Reilly until the music stopped and then it was caught and unceremoniously bounced.

At Woodland Hills pavilion Mrs. Carol Sullivan, the chaperon, had not a single case to need her attention, though 5624 paid for dances. Total receipts at the two municipal dances on the opening night were $462.03, representing a good profit for the city after the musicians had been paid. The dance halls are to be kept open every afternoon and evening, except Sunday, until the chill autumn winds interfere.

Work has begun on the Press building at the Exposition. This building will cost $22,000 without furnishings, and is for the accommodation of the publicity department of the Exposition, as well as for visiting newspaper men and women.

EXPOSITION NEWS NOTES.

Among the surprises that the department of fine arts will give the world when the Panama-Pacific International Exposition opens in 1915 will be the presentation of paintings by Samuel Morse, inventor of the telegraph; Robert Fulton, inventor of the steamboat; Colonel Baden-Powell, warrior, and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson. Engravings by Paul Revere, the famous patriot, will be displayed.

* * *

Alfred Keller, Austrian government architect, arrived in San Francisco on July 15, and work on the Austrian pavilion is to begin at once. The Austrian government has appropriated $250,000 for participation in the Exposition.

* * *

The Norwegian Storthing has appropriated 100,000 kroners, or $28,000, for a Norwegian pavilion at the Exposition. In addition to this, an appropriation was made of 50,000 kroners to cover the expense of entering a Norwegian warship in the fleet that is to come through the Panama Canal to the Exposition grounds in 1915. J. Heyerdahl Hansen was sent to Norway by Norwegians of the United States to petition official action by the Storthing.

For the first time in the history of expositions, China has applied for space for machinery in the Panama-Pacific International Exposition. Two thousand square feet of space in the Palace of Machinery has been requested by China, and the space probably will be granted. This makes China an exhibitor in every Exposition department. The new republic's appropriation is $750,000 in gold.

Chicago has promised $50,000 to the fund being raised for a British-American pavilion at the Exposition. New York City is expected to raise a similar amount, and a larger sum will be given by citizens of Great Britain. Great Britain's participation with the presence of the great fleet promises to be greater than if the action of Parliament had been favorable.

Eight beautiful standard gauge observation cars, specially constructed for the "Grand Canyon of Arizona" at the Exposition, have arrived on the Exposition grounds. "The Grand Canyon of Arizona" is the $350,000 concession of the Santa Fe Railway, and in making the trip through it, visitors will be passengers on the big observation cars for half an hour.

Hawaii's dedication of her site on July 7 on the grounds of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition was the most attractive ceremony held thus far in connection with State and foreign sites. Hawaiian Ilima Leis, beautiful Hawaiian girls, Hawaiian music and the characteristic program ending with the "Shower of Flowers" provided an afternoon amply repaying the great throng that was in attendance. Pineapple juice was sprinkled over the site by Mrs. Victor Houston, wife of the commander of the United States cruiser St. Louis. The Hawaiian flag was raised by Mrs. A. P. Taylor.

Diamonds from the Kimberley mines and working models of the mines showing the manner of obtaining these precious stones will be shown as an interesting part of the exhibits in the Palace of Mines at the Exposition. The De Beers Diamond Company, the largest diamond mining company in the world, will have the diamond exhibit.

The cinder track for the Exposition is now being built under the direction of E. W. ("Dad") Moulton, veteran conditioner of men, whose knowledge of track building probably is greater than that of any other man in the world. The track is to be a one-third of a mile oval with a quarter of a mile straightaway. The first quarter of the half-mile races will be run on the straightaway. The track is to be the finest ever built, and with the athletic field will cost $15,000.

Vol. VII—No. 31. SAN FRANCISCO, THURSDAY, JULY 30, 1914.

The City Submits Offer to Purchase Spring Valley Water System

The following is the full text of the communication of the Advisory Water Committee to the Spring Valley Water Company relative to the purchase of the property of that company:

"July 27, 1914.

"Spring Valley Water Company, San Francisco, Cal.

"Gentlemen:

"On the 15th day of June, 1914, a meeting was held at the office of the Mayor of the City and County of San Francisco, at which there were present a majority of the members of the Board of Supervisors of the City and County of San Francisco. At this meeting the undersigned Advisory Water Committee was requested to secure from the Spring Valley Water Company a statement as to whether or not it would accept an offer, if made by the City and County of San Francisco, to purchase certain of its properties hereinafter named for $34,500,000, upon the terms and conditions hereinafter named.

"The properties hereinabove referred to and to be included in said offer of purchase are:

(a) All franchises (other than corporate franchise), all licenses, privileges and easements connected with the property purchased, or in connection with the Spring Valley Water Company's water business, and all service connections.

(b) All supplies and materials on hand owned by the Spring Valley Water Company; all vehicles of every description, horses, tools, furniture and fixtures outside of the directors' and president's offices; all maps and records relating to the water company's plant and system to be purchased; all other similar equipment; and all other personal property appertaining to or incidental to the company's water business, or used or held for use in connection with that business or the property taken, expressly excepting, however, cash and bills and accounts receivable.

(c) All property included in and covered in that certain condemnation proceeding heretofore commenced by the City and County of San Francisco against the Spring Valley Water Company on December 31, 1913, and now pending in the Superior Court of the State of California, in and for the City and County of San Francisco; except that 1st: As to a certain tract of land included in said condemnation proceedings and known as the Nussbaumer Tract, situate in Alameda County, the city, under its offer, will take only such portion thereof as may be determined by City Engineer O'Shaughnessy to be necessary for a right of way for the present pipe line of the Spring Valley Water Company wherever the same crosses said tract, and also such additional portions of said Nussbaumer Tract as may be determined by City Engineer O'Shaughnessy to be necessary to protect the waters in the creek flowing through the same.

2nd: The Spring Valley Water Company is to retain title to the lands known as the Pleasanton lands included in said condemnation proceedings and located north of County Road No. 2000 in Alameda County, with the exception that of the said lands located north of said County Road No. 2000 the City and County of San Francisco is to acquire title to the following:

(a) A strip of land 200 feet in width, the center line of which is the line of wells of the Spring Valley Water Company, known as the G line, and a strip of land 200 feet in width, the center line of which is the line of wells of the Spring Valley Water Company, known as the N line, said lines of wells being the wells connected with the pumping plant of the company on the tract immediately to the north of said County Road No. 2000. Said strip, of which the center line is the G line of wells, shall extend at each end 100 feet beyond the last well of the line; said strip, the center line of which is the N line of wells, shall extend from a point 100 feet northerly of the most northerly well of said line of wells southerly to said County Road No. 2000.

(b) Two strips of land, one 100 feet wide and the other 50 feet wide, one extending approximately easterly and westerly across the entire width of the company's Pleasanton lands north of the County Road No. 2000, and the other extending approximately northerly and southerly across the entire width in that direction of the same lands. The exact location of these last mentioned two strips and the determination as to which shall be 100 feet wide and which shall be 50 feet wide shall be made by City Engineer O'Shaughnessy. These two strips are to be located so as to avoid any buildings or other improvements, so far as the same can be done in the opinion of City Engineer O'Shaughnessy consistently with the interests of the city. The company will have the right to remove any buildings or improvements not a part of its water plant which are on said strips as finally located.

3rd: The City and County of San Francisco is to have and shall be given the right to take water from the Pleasanton lands conveyed to it to the amount of, but not in excess of, 15,000,000 gallons during any one day, the said right to take such water is to be a right without hindrance or conditions of any sort, and the Spring Valley Water Company, for and on behalf of itself, its successors and assigns, shall waive any and all right to object to, or enjoin the taking of such water from said lands so conveyed to said City and County of San Francisco up to said 15,000,000 gallons during any one day, either upon the ground that the pumping from said wells up to said limit of 15,000,000 gallons daily on the lands so conveyed to the City and County of San Francisco lowers the subterranean water plane under the said lands retained by the Spring Valley Water Company, or drains the water from beneath the said retained lands, or upon any other ground whatsoever, whether herein specifically enumerated or otherwise. The right to take said water up to said amount of 15,000,000 gallons daily is to be a right and easement running in favor of the land purchased by the City and County of San Francisco and against the lands retained by the Spring Valley Water Company. The Spring Valley Water Company is to have the right to take water from the land retained by it for use on those lands, but not elsewhere or otherwise.

The terms and conditions to be attached to said offer, if made, are:

1st: The company shall convey to the city and county a good and sufficient title to the company's lands and the city and county shall assume the obligations of the company to supply water under the company's existing contracts, a list of which has been furnished by the company to the city and county. Subject to the provisions of paragraph 7 hereof, the company's properties are to be conveyed to the city and county free and clear of the lien of any mortgage, deed of trust, attachment, execution, judgment, mechanic's lien, or and other lien, except the lien for taxes for the current fiscal year created or suffered by the company or subject to which the company bought the property. This provision, however, does not apply to lands held under option or lease by the company, but, as to such last-mentioned lands, the company is to convey to the city and county such title as the company has.

The term "good and sufficient title" herein shall be interpreted to mean such a title as is necessary to assure the city and county of the absolute right, in case of purchase, to take hold and use the lands purchased without interference or hindrance, but shall not be interpreted to mean a title free and clear of trivial defects and imperfections when in fact the company is the actual and exclusive owner of the property, or free and clear of rights of way or easements appearing of record which do not prevent the use of the lands for water purposes. In case there are any lands as to which a good and sufficient title, as above defined, cannot be given by the company, the value of such lands shall be deducted from the purchase price, such value to be determined by arbitration in case the same cannot be agreed upon between the city and county and the company. As to any such lands the company shall be allowed a reasonable time to procure the title by legal proceedings or otherwise, and, when title is so procured, the land shall be taken over by the city and county at the amount by which the purchase price was reduced by reason of the absence of such title thereto. With reference to rights of way, the city and county is to take such title as the company has and is to perform all legal and binding covenants and conditions heretofore assumed by the company with reference to such rights of way.

The company shall convey its real property to the city and county by grant, bargain and sale deed, subject to existing leases, rights of way, obligations of the company which are assumed by the city and county, and the lien for taxes for the current fiscal year. Nothing herein being intended to conflict with the prorating of taxes as hereinafter provided.

2nd: Wherever, because of the retention of certain lands by the Spring Valley Water Company, or wherever, by reason of the fact that the city purchases only portions of the land held by the Spring Valley Water Company, rights of way to either party are necessary over the lands of the other, such rights of way are to be given.

3rd: Taxes on the property purchased by the city are to be prorated as of the date of conveyance. Lands taken by the city which are subject to the Twin Peaks Tunnel assessment are to be taken subject to such assessment and the amount which the company has paid or shall pay on account of such assessment on the lands taken by the city shall be deemed a capital expenditure for which the company is to be reimbursed under the conditions of paragraph 4. Accounts receivable from customers and rents on property taken are to be prorated as of date of conveyance.

4th: The City and County of San Francisco is to reimburse the company for capital expenditures other than investment in land, rights of way or water rights made since January 1, 1913, up to the date of the making of any offer by the city and county of San Francisco, and the acceptance thereof by the Spring Valley Water Company, with interest at the rate of six (6) per cent per annum. The Spring Valley Water Company has presented to the city a statement of its said capital expenditures showing the same to be $595,000.00. It is understood that the city under this paragraph shall not be called upon to reimburse the Spring Valley Water Company for more than this amount together with interest thereon and that the correctness of this claim is to be passed upon by City Engineer O'Shaughnessy and a representative of the company; and in case they cannot agree by a third person to be chosen by them.

5th: The City and County of San Francisco is to reimburse the Spring Valley Water Company for capital expenditures from and after the date of the making of any offer by the City and County of San Francisco and the acceptance thereof by the Spring Valley Water Company, with interest at the rate of six (6) per cent per annum; such capital expenditures, however, are to be made and incurred subject to the approval of the City Engineer, and all work involving capital exenditures shall be done subject to his approval.

6th: Judgment is to be entered in the rate suits now pending in the District Court of the United States between the Spring Valley Water Company and the City and County of San Francisco in such a way as to provide that the company shall take but one-half of the moneys impounded therein and that the balance be returned to the rate-payers and that any portion of such balance which cannot be so returned to the rate-payers shall be turned over to the City and County of San Francisco; it is at all times to be understood, however, that the provisions of this paragraph are wholly conditioned upon and in consideration of the consummation of the final purchase of the Spring Valley Water Company's properties upon the terms herein set forth.

7th: The city is willing to agree that it will, in case any bondholder of the Spring Valley Water Company, refuses to receive payment of his bond so as to enable the trustees under the deed of trust securing such bond, to make reconveyance and clear the property from the lien of said bond issue, take the propety subject to such lien, in so far as it can do so without detriment to itself, retaining, however, such portion of the purchase price as is equal to the par value, plus the interest accrued on said bond, the owner of which so refuses to accept payment. The city will pay to the trustee of the deed of trust, as a part of the purchase price, the amount necessary to pay off at par, with accrued interest, those bonds whose owners are willing to accept such payment.

8th: Acceptance of the offer if made by the city and county shall be consented to by stockholders of the Spring Valley Water Company holding of record at least two-thirds of its issued capital stock.

"Pursuant to the authority vested in it, the Advisory Water Committee requests of the Spring Valley Water Company a statement as to whether or not it will accept the above offer if made to it by the Board of Supervisors of the City and County of San Francisco.

"Respectfully,

"JAMES ROLPH, JR.,

Fourteen new cars for the Municipal Railway have been received and are being assembled. Some of them have reached the car barn and will be put in operation at once.

NOTICE OF NON-EDUCATIONAL EXAMINATIONS.

Public notice is hereby given that examinations of applicants for positions in the classified Civil Service (Part 1, New Series, Sec. B) will be held in the office of the Civil Service Commission, City Hall, 1231 Market street, beginning at 7:15 p. m., Monday, August 24, 1914, as follows:

1. Granite cutters (Div. N, Class IV);
2. Pipe calkers (Div. N, Class XLIII);
3. Engineers of steam rollers (Div. N, Class LVIII);
4. Boilermakers' helpers (Div. N, Class LX);
5. Pantry workers and waiters (Div. P, Class X);
6. Cooks (Div. P, Class XI);
7. Laundry workers (Div. P, Class XVI);
8. Milkers (Div. P, Class XXIII).

The subjects of the examinations and the relative weights of the subjects on a scale of 100 are: Physical fitness, 40; experience, 60.

Applicants must pass a satisfactory medical examination before physicians appointed by the Commission, and will be rated on the subject "Physical Fitness" from their medical certificates. Applicants will be notified by mail when to appear for medical examination. Applicants need not appear personally for any other part of these examinations.

The subject "Experience" will be rated from the information furnished by the applicants in their applications. Applicants are cautioned to state clearly and in full in their application blanks all the information regarding experience called for in the application blanks and in this circular. Indefinite or incomplete statements, or omissions, will result in reduced ratings.

The three vouchers contained in the application form must be filled out by persons by whom the applicant has been employed in the line of work for which he claims credit under the subject "Experience," or by persons under whom or with whom he has been employed on such work. Unless the aggregate period of experience covered by said vouchers equals at least one-half of the period of experience to be rated, deductions will be made from the credits that would otherwise be given on the ground that competent vouchers have not been provided. If no competent vouchers are provided the applicant will be rejected.

The subject "Experience" in these examinations will be rated as follows:

Examination No. 1. Five years' experience, had within the last ten years, as a journeyman granite cutter, 100 credits; four years, 90; three years, 80; two years, 70; one year, 60.

Examination No. 2. Two years' experience, had within the last five years, as a calker on water and gas mains, 100 credits; eighteen months, 85; twelve months, 60.

Examination No. 3. Five years' experience, had within the last ten years, as a journeyman engineer of steam rollers, 100 credits; four years, 90; three years, 80; two years, 70; one year, 60.

Examination No. 4. Three years' experience, had within the last five years, as a boilermaker's helper, 100 credits; two years, 85; one year, 60.

Examination No. 5. Two years' experience, had within the last five years, as a pantry worker or waiter, 100 credits; eighteen months, 90; twelve months, 80; six months, 70.

Examination No. 6. Five years' experience, had within the last ten years, as a cook, 100 credits; four years, 90; three years, 80; two years, 70; one year, 60.

Examination No. 7. Three years' experience, had within the last six years, as a laundry worker, 100 credits; two years, 85; one year, 60.

Examination No. 8. Three years' experience, had within the last five years, as a milker, 100 credits; two years, 85; one year, 60.

No credit will be given for fractions of the periods named for experience to be rated. In cases where applicants have had the minimum period or over of regular experience, experience in similar occupations will be given consideration according to its value in the judgment of the Commission.

The above schedule for the rating of experience applies to experience had in San Francisco only within the times named. Experience had outside of San Francisco, but within the State, will be rated in the same manner as experience had in this city, but at a 5 per cent reduction, and experience had outside of the State will be rated 10 per cent less than experience had in San Francisco.

Where ties exist in general average percentages the candidates affected will be given precedence over each other in rank on the eligible list as follows:

(a) Persons serving their probationary period as Civil Service appointees, or holding non-Civil Service temporary appointment in the class for which they are examined, on July 24, 1914, the date of the adoption of this circular;

(b) The candidate nearest the age of thirty-three years;

(c) Candidates having the longest and best experience within the period to be considered in the examination affected;

(d) Candidates having the highest rating on the subject "Physical Fitness";

(e) The person whose application was filed first.

Applicants must be citizens of the United States, twenty-one years of age or over, and residents of San Francisco for at least one year next preceding the date of examination.

Application blanks (Form 41) may be had by applying in person or by mail at the office of the Commission, City Hall, 1231 Market street. Receipt of applications closes Thursday, August 20, 1914, at 6 p. m.

PROCEEDINGS OF PARK COMMISSION.

At a meeting of the Board of Park Commissioners, held on July 23, 1914, the following business was transacted:

A Persian sheep was accepted from Mr. W. W. Wright, of Los Banos, California.

The request of B. P. Spiro that he be allowed the use of a small area of ground on which to play croquet, was referred to Superintendent McLaren.

Church & Clark, contractors, requested the sum of $65 to pay for coping inside of property line of St. Mary's Square, which must be done before they can complete their work of putting down sidewalks on the south side of California street, between Kearny street and Grant avenue. The secretary was instructed to refer Church & Clark to the Board of Public Works, who have charge of this work.

The Board of Public Works stated that by Resolution No. 31471, Second Series, it is recommended that the center parks on Dolores street be transferred to the Park Commission.

It was decided upon recommendation that the Cole street crossing be closed to vehicle traffic and that the Stanyan street crossing, between Oak and Fell streets, be paved. The secretary was instructed to advertise for bids on paving this crossing with asphalt, creosoted wooden blocks, hardwood blocks and vitrified brick.

Bids were received for ten electroliers for Mission Park. As only three commissioners were present, the selection was referred to Commissioner Cummings and Superintendent McLaren, to report at next meeting.

A MUNICIPAL "MOVIE."

A municipal moving picture theater, to which an admission fee of 10 cents is charged, pays all the expenses of the water plant (no charge being made for water) and a large percentage of the municipal expenses of Haven, Kansas. The city built the theater, but since it could not legally be managed by the city, a local commercial club was formed to take over the management.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS AFFECTING CITIES.

A number of constitutional amendments affecting the rights of cities are to be voted upon next November. While some of them are desirable, others appear to be objectionable. The Commonwealth Club has made a study of these amendments and the reports thereon are interesting. Assembly Constitutional Amendment No. 81 was considered unfavorably and the report thereon was prepared by John T. Nourse, formerly Assistant City Attorney and now Deputy Attorney-General. The following is the text of the amendment and Mr. Nourse's report:

> Article XI, Section 6. Corporations for municipal purposes shall not be created by special laws; but the legislature shall, by general laws, provide for the incorporation, organization, and classification, in proportion to population, of cities and towns, which laws may be altered, amended, or repealed; and the legislature may, by general laws, provide for the performance by county officers of certain of the municipal functions of cities and towns so incorporated, whenever a majority of the electors of any such city or town voting at a general or special election shall so determine. Cities and towns heretofore organized or incorporated may become organized under the general laws passed for that purpose, whenever a majority of the electors voting at a general election shall so determine, and shall organize in conformity therewith. Cities and towns hereafter organized under charters framed and adopted by authority of this constitution are hereby empowered, and cities and towns heretofore organized by authority of this constitution may amend their charters in the manner authorized by this constitution so as to become likewise empowered hereunder, to make and enforce all laws and regulations in respect to municipal affairs, subject only to the restrictions and limitations provided in their several charters, and in respect to other matters they shall be subject to and controlled by general laws. Cities and towns heretofore or hereafter organized by authority of this constitution may, by charter provision or amendment, provide for the performance by county officers of certain of their municipal functions, whenever the discharge of such municipal functions by county officers is authorized by general laws or by the provisions of a county charter framed and adopted by authority of this constitution.

MR. NOURSE: Section 6 of Article XI of the Constitution as it appeared prior to 1896, provided that all cities incorporated under general laws or special charters should be subject to and controlled by the Legislature in all matters. By the amendment of 1896, the words "except in municipal affairs" were added to the section so that this general legislative control over cities was lifted in respect to municipal affairs in the case of all cities operating under charters. It was not until this amendment had been adopted that any considerable number of the cities of the state availed themselves of the privilege of adopting a charter, because, under the original section, such a charter was of little consequence when it could be set aside at any time by the Legislature.

The amendment proposed for submission at the coming November election attempts to confer specific power upon chartered cities in place of that which is found in the exception above mentioned. The language of the amendment in this respect is (Stats. 1913, p. 1742):

> "Cities and towns hereafter organized under charters framed and adopted by authority of this constitution are hereby empowered, and cities and towns heretofore organized by authority of this constitution may amend their charters in the manner authorized by this constitution so as to become likewise empowered hereunder, to make and enforce all laws and regulations in respect to municipal affairs, subject only to the restrictions and limitations provided in their several charters, and in respect to other matters they shall be subject to and controlled by general laws."

As practically all of the present charters of the cities of the state have been adopted subsequent to the amendment to 1896, there are many decisions of our Supreme Court interpreting such charters in the light of the present section and so its meaning has become clearly defined. As a result of the litigation arising under such charters it has been determined that where any such charter is silent upon a municipal affair the general law upon such subject controls and is applicable to such city. Thus where a charter is silent upon the method of making public improvements from moneys derived from sale of bonds, the general laws upon such subject are controlling.

Clouse vs. San Diego, 159 Cal. 434.

See also:

Fragley vs. Phelan, 126 Cal. 395;
Fleming vs. Hance, 153 Cal. 162;
Nicholl vs. Koster, 157 Cal. 416.

The converse is also true, so that where the general law is silent on a matter which is not strictly a municipal affair, a charter may cover it.

People vs. Howard, 94 Cal. 73;
Sheehan vs. Scott, 145 Cal. 684.

Such being the case, cities have had no difficulty in conducting all necessary public improvements because the powers found in the general state laws are so broad that, when any charter is found lacking in any matter of method or power, the omission is easily supplied from the general law. San Francisco had one instance where neither charter nor general law was available for the particular improvement desired; this was the Stockton street tunnel affair. It was found necessary in that case to amend the charter, but the Legislature amended the general law at the same session and the same confusion will not occur again.

In view of the present satisfactory condition of this section as judicially interpreted it seems unfortunate that it should be tinkered with when the only ills are theoretical and not actual. To confer the express power upon cities to legislate upon municipal affairs is an exceedingly poor reason for changing a well defined and satisfactory section into an unknown and doubtful one. All necessary delegation of express power is found in Section 8 of Article XI of the Constitution, where cities are expressly authorized to adopt charters for their own government. This includes power to provide for acquisition and operation of public utilities.

Platt vs. San Francisco, 158 Cal. 74.

That case involved the question of the operation of street railways, which is probably the limit of municipal functions as far as governmental necessities are concerned, and if such power is to be found in Section 8 it is difficult to imagine any necessary municipal functions which can not be exercised under the authority of that section.

The proposed amendment, in making chartered cities subject to their charter restrictions only, destroys all the good in the decisions construing the present section, and wipes out all present constitutional restrictions relating to such cities. Thus constitutional limitations on municipal indebtedness, and constitutional provisions relating to sale of bonds, deposit of public moneys, and fixing rates of public utilities, are all wiped out by this proposed amendment which leaves the city free to do as it pleases upon any municipal affair, subject only to such restrictions as it imposes upon itself.

At the same time it leaves all cities organized under charters prior to its adoption high and dry until they have amended their charters to meet its conditions. If the proposed amendment to Section 8 is adopted at the same election all such cities will have to immediately amend or wait until the 1917 session of the Legislature, while those who have amended this year in other respects would probably have to wait two years anyway.

Another objection to the proposed amendment is that it confers power only "to make and enforce all laws and regulations in respect to municipal affairs." The present section is much broader and exempts all charters from legislative control in municipal affairs. There are many matters, such as the issuance of bonds, which do not come within the category of either "laws" or "regulations" and these are not provided for in the proposed amendment.

The chief objection to the proposed amendment, however, is that it permits charters to carry what is termed the "general welfare" clause. The effect of such a clause is to empower the city authorities to do anything and everything which they may deem for the benefit of the city. The argument in favor of such a clause is that where the powers are enumerated the authorities often find themselves handicapped when some new improvement is contemplated. The argument against it is that the powers being clearly defined the people know what the authorities may do and the authorities, as well as those dealing with them, know that all acts not so authorized are void. Therein lies the protection given the people against fraud on the part of the authorities.

The idea of this "general welfare" clause is opposed to the whole theory of municipal government. The charter, whether adopted by the city or issued by legislative grant, should set forth the powers of the city and the essential features of the exercise of such powers.

"The charter is the power of attorney which defines and limits the objects and powers with which the municipal authorities are clothed."

McQuillan, Mun. Corps., sec. 318.

"It is a general and undisputed proposition of law that a municipal corporation possesses and can exercise the following powers, and no others: First, those granted in express words; second, those necessarily or fairly implied in or incident to the powers expressly granted; third those essential to the accomplishment of the declared objects and purposes of the corporation—not simply convenient, but indispensable."

Dillon, Mun. Corps., 5th ed., sec. 237.

See also:

Arcata vs. Green, 156 Cal. 759, 763.

The Constitution of the United States is a grant of power, the Constitution of the state is, in theory, a limitation of power, but the constitution (or charter) of a city should be both a grant and limitation of power so that the people may know what powers their officials may exercise and within what limitations. This is the only way that honest and effective local self-government can be assured.

Another feature of the proposed amendment is the provision authorizing county officials to perform certain municipal functions. The Legislature is authorized to impose certain municipal duties on certain county officers with the consent of the city expressed by charter, or by vote of the electorate if not a chartered city. Though cases may arise where this power would be beneficial, it is of minor importance and does not belong in this section. The only need of the expression of authority is by reason of the inhibition contained in section 13 of article XI of the Constitution. If the performance by the county officers of certain municipal functions is desirable, section 13 should be amended by eliminating the prohibition, or, at least, this provision should appear in section 8 of the same article which covers the matters which may be provided for in city charters.

WEEKLY EXPOSITION NEWS NOTES.

Florida dedicated the site for her state building on the grounds of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition on July 21. "I have seen every exposition since the Centennial in 1876 and I am sure that this exposition will be far greater than all others," said Commissioner W. M. Conoley of Florida on the day of the ceremony. Other Florida commissioners present were F. P. Felt and J. W. Sample. Preceding the program on the ground there was a luncheon at the Palace Hotel, given by the president and directors of the exposition and a review of troops at Fort Winfield Scott.

So comprehensive is to be the display of paintings and statuary embraced in the international loan collection at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition that many annual art exhibits are to give way to the exposition in 1915. The Carnegie Institute of Pittsburg has notified the exposition that it will not hold a 1915 exhibit and this will be the first time in 18 years that there has been no annual display.

* * *

Even "The Zone" of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition is taking on international tone. On July 17 ground was broken for the Chinese village pagoda and tea garden which is to cost $248,000 when finished and stocked. Chinese girls in native costume took a prominent part in the ceremony and Consul-General S. C. Shu was one of the speakers. There was a blending of occident and orient in colors, quaint customs and costumes.

Contracts for two more national pavilions on the grounds of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition have been awarded. The Australian pavilion contract was awarded for $53,000 and that of Argentina for $100,000.

The number of national and international congresses and conventions that have chosen San Francisco for 1915 has reached the total of 241 with the addition of the American Association of Dairy Food and Drug Officials. There are now twelve national food and drug conventions scheduled for San Francisco the coming year and a movement has been started at the suggestion of Dr. Harvey Wiley, food expert, to have the International Food Congress in San Francisco.

Mrs. Martin Glynn, wife of the Governor of New York, and Mr. and Mrs. William Randolph Hearst visited the grounds of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition July 22. Mrs. Hearst will be hostess in the New York state building and is also a member of the New York state commission.

The Civil Service Commission has been given permission to use Southside Playground for several days commencing August 17th, 1914, between the hours of nine and three, for the purpose of holding athletic tests in connection with Civil Service examinations.

CITY VS. COUNTRY.

The remarkable extent to which the city, rather than the country, has come to be the dominating factor in all the Eastern United States, is brought out clearly in a Census Bureau bulletin just issued, giving estimates of the population for each year from 1911 to 1914 inclusive. The Census authorities draw the line between the country and the city at a population of 8,000. Those dwelling places with a population of 8,000 or greater are classified as living in cities, while those living on farms or in towns and villages with less than 8,000 population are classed as living in the country. On this basis, the Census Bureau estimate shows that in the United States in 1914 39,700,000 people are living in cities, and 59,100,000 are living outside cities.

In New England, the proportion of city dwellers is larger than in any part of the country, the proportion being roughly as 5 to 2, or 4,830,000 living in cities and 2,130,000 outside of cities. The proportion of rural population in New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania is somewhat larger than in New England, notwithstanding the enormous concentration of population around New York City and Philadelphia. The figures for these three States are 13,500,000 in cities to 7,400,000 in the country. In the States from Ohio to Wisconsin, which a generation ago were considered agricultural, the city dwellers and country dwellers are now about equal, there being about 9,000,000 of the former to 10,000,000 of the latter. In all the territory south of the Ohio and west of the Mississippi the rural population is far in excess; or, in other words, there are in the various sections from three to six dwellers in the country for every one person dwelling in the city. In the three States bordering on the Pacific Coast, the city population again becomes prominent and the proportion of city dwellers and rural dwellers is about equal.

If a comparison between city and rural population were to be made on the basis of the objectionable features of city life, such as overcrowding, disease breeding, the existence of slums, etc., then the 8,000 population which the census has assumed may be taken as a fair line of division between the city and the country. If, however, a comparison were to be made between those who dwell where they have the advantages of the city as compared with the isolation of the country, then the population should be fixed at a much lower basis. There are thousands of towns and villages scattered all over the country with from 1,000 to 8,000 population which have public water supplies, public lighting systems, paved streets and sidewalks, municipal schools, facilities for public amusement and recreation, and other advantages of city life. The trend of population from the farms to the towns and villages during the past quarter century has been as notable as the growth of the large cities.

If then a comparison were made between the dwellers on farms and those who are living in either cities or villages, the total population living where they have the advantages of community life would be far greater than the census estimate of nearly forty million city dwellers.—Engineering News.

Treasurer John McDougald has sent notice to heads of all departments and bureaus of the city government that in the future he will refuse payment on all pay checks which have not the proper identification signature written thereon before their audit by the Auditor. In explanation of this decision, he says:

> This safeguard is eminently proper considering the vast responsibility of the Treasurer in the handling of the city's cash. It is not my intention to hinder or delay the payment of any individual, but rather to his protection, as well as my own, that I look to the heads of the different departments to assist in the proper preparation of the pay checks, preparatory to their delivery to the Auditor.

Report of Advisory Water Committee

San Francisco, August 10, 1914.

To the Honorable, the Board of Supervisors of the City and County of San Francisco.

Gentlemen: On the 24th day of February, 1913, your Honorable Board passed Resolution No. 639, requesting the City Engineer to transmit to you a list of properties belonging to the Spring Valley Water Company necessary, available and usable for a source of water supply for the City and County of San Francisco, which properties, including a distributing system, would be made an integral part of the Sierra water supply. Thereafter, on the 19th day of November, 1913, the City Engineer, pursuant to your request, transmitted to your Board his report, together with a list containing specific descriptions of the properties which in his judgment the city should acquire for the purposes aforesaid. Accompanying this report and list was also an atlas containing maps delineating said properties. Reference to the list and atlas, now on file in the office of the clerk of your Honorable Board, is hereby made.

On the 31st day of December, 1913, pursuant to resolution of your Honorable Board, the City and County of San Francisco, through the City Attorney, commenced an action in the Superior Court of this city and county, to condemn said properties. The action is now pending and is numbered on the register of the Superior Court, No. 53708.

Pending the action and during the course of preparation for trial thereof, the City Engineer and experts employed by the city examined all of the properties described in the complaint in said action, for the purpose of ascertaining the value thereof.

While preparing for the trial of the case the City Attorney and his assistants entered into negotiations with representatives of the Spring Valley Water Company, with the desire to avoid, if possible, the inevitable delays incident to litigation, and with a view of coming to an understanding as to the amount which the company would accept for the properties sought to be condemned. After the negotiations had been opened, the City Engineer made a further examination of the "Pleasanton Lands" in Alameda county, belonging to the company, which were included in the condemnation proceedings. These lands comprise about 5,614 acres, and if purchased would be valuable to city only for waters under their surface, which now yield the Spring Valley Water Company 10,000,000 gallons daily, or about one-fourth of the total daily supply delivered to San Francisco. After careful examination by the City Engineer, he concluded, and so reported to the Advisory Committee, that the only part of said "Pleasanton Lands" necessary for the city's purposes was that part south of County Road No. 2000, containing 654 acres, and certain strips of land in that part of the tract north of the county road, containing 86 acres, provided the city had the right to pump water from its wells to the extent of fifteen million gallons daily, regardless of the effect of operation of the wells on the water plane under the adjoining lands retained by the company. During the negotiations it was stipulated by the City Attorney and the representatives of the company that in the event of purchase by the city of the properies mentioned, the city would buy 654 acres of the "Pleasanton Lands" south of County Road No. 2000, and the strips of land mentioned in the tract north of the county road, and that the city should have the right to take waters to the extent of 15,000,000 gallons daily, or 5,000,000 gallons more than have ever yet been taken in one day from the property, without hindrance or conditions of any sort, the company agreeing on behalf of itself, its successors and assigns, to waive all right to object to or enjoin the taking of waters up to the limit mentioned, either upon the ground that the pumping from the city's wells to the extent of said limit lowered the water plane under the land retained by the Spring Valley Water Company, or drained the waters beneath the lands so retained, or upon any other ground whatever. In due time the City Attorney reported to your Advisory Water Committee that the Water Company was willing to sell to the city for the sum of $34,500,000 and payments of capital expenditures made by the company since January 1, 1913, with interest, upon certain terms and conditions fully set forth in letter from your committee to the Spring Valley Water Company, dated July 27, 1914, and hereinafter referred to, all of the properties described in the condemnation proceedings, with this exception, however, that the city should take only 654 acres of the "Pleasanton Lands" south of the County Road No. 2000, and the strips of land hereinabove mentioned, containing 86 acres situated north of said county road. These strips to be selected by the City Engineer, to insure the maximum possibilities of the entire water-bearing region.

On the 15th day of June, 1914, your committee and a majority of the members of the Board of Supervisors met in the office of the Mayor and considered the proposition. At the meeting the Advisory Water Committee was instructed by those present to send to the Spring Valley Water Company a communication requesting them to state in writing its willingness to accept for its properties required by the city the said sum of $34,500,000.00 and said capital expenditures, with interest, on the terms and conditions hereinabove and in said letter of July 27, 1914, referred to. Thereafter, to-wit, on the 27th day of July, 1914, your Advisory Committee signed and sent the Spring Valley Water Company a letter requesting it to state in writing whether or not it was willing to sell its properties under the terms and conditions which were set forth in said letter. A full, true and correct copy of said letter of July 27, 1914, from the Advisory Water Committee to said Spring Valley Water Company is hereto annexed and marked "Exhibit A," and made part of this report.

On the 30th day of July, 1914, said Spring Valley Water Company answered said letter, and in its answer stated its willingness to sell the properties under the terms and conditions set forth in said letter of July 27, 1914. A copy of said answer is annexed hereto and marked "Exhibit B," and made a part of this report.

The lands and other properties offered by the Spring Valley Water Company to the city include everything of value required by the city for a water supply.

The city wants water—not land.

For that reason your committee deemed it advisable to exclude all lands not used or usable for producing, conserving, impounding, or transmitting water.

The proposal of the Spring Valley Water Company involves a sale to the city of 823.67 acres of Lake Merced Rancho, the remainder of the tract, embracing 1,253.69 acres in San Francisco county and 779.07 acres in San Mateo county, would be of no value to the city for water supply purposes, and if purchased by the city would entail a very heavy additional expense and would withdraw from settlement a large area of land which, in the near future, will be improved and yield an increased revenue to the city in the way of taxes.

The Alviso or South Bay lands are excluded from the offer of the Spring Valley Water Company, and contain 5,283.63 acres. These are marsh lands and situated at the southern extremity of San Francisco Bay, having been originally acquired by the Spring Valley Water Company for the purpose of development of water by wells. All plans looking toward the utilization of them have been abandoned for the reason that the withdrawal of water from the area would seriously affect the water supply of the surrounding country, including Palo Alto. This is shown by the fact that the proposal so to do early resulted in an attack by the communities which would be affected, after which development ceased. In addition to this it is doubtful if water from the lands in such close proximity to tidewater can be withdrawn in sufficient quantity for a supply for San Francisco without deteriorating the quality. Notwithstanding the fact that these lands are in immediate proximity to the supply main of the Spring Valley Water Company no attempt has been made to transmit this water to San Francisco, which is the best evidence of the value placed upon them by the Spring Valley Water Company. The experts for the city have appraised these lands at $114,040.

The Coyote Creek lands contain 11,977.96 acres, and are not included in the offer of the Spring Valley Water Company. These lands are tributary to the Coyote creek and Pajaro river. They cover an underground source of supply, all of which is needed to satisfy the farming interests below. These lands were bought by the Spring Valley Water Company many years ago, presumably for the purpose of heading off competition in this territory by the Bay Cities Water Company, and any attempted withdrawal of water by the Spring Valley Water Company, or by the city would be resisted by the Bay Cities Water Company on the one hand, and by the land owners in the valley on the other. Any attempted withdrawal of such water would be immediately followed by litigation. A permanent injunction has already been granted in the Superior Court of Santa Clara county against the Bay Cities Water Company, and said injunction against the withdrawal of water has been affirmed by the Supreme Court of this State. Even if the project to utilize these lands for water supply for San Francisco was not clouded with doubt as to the right to do so, it would be indefensible upon the ground of expense of development and transmission. These lands have been appraised by the experts for the city at $134,469.50.

San Benito lands. These lands are in the same general region as the lands noted above, and contain 691 acres. These lands, also, are not included in the offer made by the Spring Valley Water Company. They lie on the other side of the ridge from the Coyote creek proper and drain into the Pacific Ocean. The same general statement applying to the Coyote lands applies to this property. While possibly somewhat more valuable for other purposes it lacks value to the city of San Francisco as a source of supply for the reason that the expense of development and transmission, as well as the uncertainty of results, are beyond reason. The city experts have appraised the market value of these lands at $72,725.00.

All of the other tracts of land retained by the Spring Valley Water Company are of no value for water supply purposes to San Francisco except in certain cases, and in such tracts the water rights appurtenant to the land are to be conveyed to the city, thus giving to San Francisco all the value that can attach to them as water supply lands.

Annexed hereto and made a part of this report is exhibit marked "Exhibit C," showing all lands and location of lands owned by the Spring Valley Water Company, and also water rights and rights of way to be acquired by the city in the event of purchase of the Spring Valley Company's properties.

Annexed hereto and made part of this report is exhibit marked "Exhibit D," showing location and acreage and character of all the lands belonging to the Spring Valley Water Company, and not included in the offer of sale to the city.

Annexed hereto and made part of this report is exhibit marked "Exhibit E," showing gross operating revenue, the operating expenses and taxes, and the net operating surplus under the following conditions as applying to Spring Valley Water Company:

1st: With the operating revenues as collected by the Spring Valley Water Company for the calendar year 1913;

2nd: With the works of the Spring Valley Water Company under the management of the city for the same year, collecting the same rate, but operating the properties offered for sale to the city;

3rd: With the works of the Spring Valley Water Company operated as above, but collecting the ordinance rate of 1913-14.

Included in operating expenses in 2 and 3 above, are taxes on property inside the City and County of San Francisco, which are included in the offer of sale.

Your committee recommends that the city, subject to the approval of the

PROCEEDINGS OF POLICE COMMISSION.

At a meeting of the Board of Police Commissioners, held on August 10, 1914, Police Officer James H. Kavanagh was granted a leave of absence of fifteen days, without pay.

The following named special officers were removed: Edward Crawford, Ludlof Holst, Fred Krueger and John E. Lane.

The following were appointed special police officers: Daniel Canty, Wallace W. Hewett and Henry O. Schwartz.

MUNICIPAL "MOVIES" GREAT SUCCESS.

Park Commissioner Dwight F. Davis, of St. Louis, has converted Columbus Square—a sunken city block—into a free moving picture theater, poured into it ten thousand children of many nationalities, and taught them more about their adopted city, State and nation than they could have learned otherwise in months, he says. Scenes of St. Louis, the New York Zoo, the industries of America, instructive and entertaining pictures were shown free to the residents of the district. Four blocks away a free municipal band concert competed with the moving picture show for the popularity prize, but less than two thousand attended the concert. The only reason more persons did not see the free "movies" was the lack of more standing space. The park commissioner is now busy answering the several scores of inquiries from other cities as to the success of the municipal moving picture shows. To all of them he replies: "The youngsters declare it is the biggest thing that ever happened in St. Louis." The performance with new reels will be given every night the rest of the summer in other sections of the city for an eight-week season. The performances were made possible by $2,000 appropriated by the municipal assembly.

BUSINESS OF THE FIRE COMMISSION

At the regular meeting of the Fire Commission on August 5, P. J. Moholy, John Figuera and A. J. Conniff were granted leaves of absence.

Requisitions were made on the Civil Service Commission for six hosemen, two lieutenants and one captain.

The following transfers were ordered:

Joseph McGinn, from lieutenant engine 3 to lieutenant engine 15.

Dennis O'Donnell, from truckman truck 8 to truckman truck 5.

The initial operation of the Van Ness avenue line of the Municipal Railway will take place next Saturday, and a requisition for forty crews of platform men has been made on the Civil Service Commission. There will be no ceremonies attending the inauguration of this service, but on September 7, when the system from Potrero avenue to the Exposition grounds will be completed, the event will be observed with appropriate demonstrations.

The Board of Public Works has been directed by the Supervisors to turn over to the German Benevolent Society, twelve unused stone hitching posts around the old City Hall on condition that the excavations made shall be refilled.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS — PREFERENTIAL VOTING.

A constitutional amendment providing for the preferential system is to be voted on next November, and a discussion of its features is appropriate at the present time.

The following is a text of the amendment:

PREFERENTIAL VOTING—A. C. A. No. 19.

Text of Assembly Constitutional Amendment No. 19.

> Art. XX. Sec. 13. Where not otherwise directed in this constitution, a plurality of the votes given at any primary or other election shall constitute a choice, including nomination for and election to office; provided, that it may also be otherwise directed in charters framed under the authority of this constitution for cities, counties or cities and counties and by general laws for other counties and municipalities. Provision may be made in such charters, and by general laws in the case of other counties and municipalities, for either or both nomination for and election to office at a primary election of all or any portion of the candidates voted for at such primary election, and for a preferential system of voting at any county, city and county or municipal primary or other election. Provision for a preferential system of voting at any other primary election may also be made by general laws.

The amendment has been investigated by a committee of the Commonwealth Club, and the following is a report on the subject prepared by W. C. Sharpstein:

The object of this amendment is to permit the election of officers without the necessity of a primary election and the adoption of what is known as the preferential system of voting, and, therefore, a consideration of this system is necessary. There is more than one system so styled, but the one which seems to present the most merit is the Bucklin system, so-called from the name of its author. It was first adopted in Grand Junction, Colorado, and is now in force in a number of cities, chief among which may be mentioned Portland, Oregon; Spokane, Washington; Duluth, Minnesota, and Cleveland, Ohio.

The plan may be illustrated thus: Assuming that there are several candidates, say, for the office of mayor. Each voter has the right to name one candidate as his first choice, another candidate as his second choice, and as many other candidates for his other choice as he would be willing to have serve as mayor. The ballot is arranged so that to the right of the column containing the names of candidates for each office is a column headed "First Choice." To the right of this column is a column headed "Second Choice," and to the right of this column is a column headed "Other Choice." Suppose there are six candidates, whom we may designate as A, B, C, D, E, F. The voter having a preference for C places a cross in the first column opposite C's name. His second choice is A, so in the second choice column he places a cross opposite A's name. Among the other four candidates we will say there are two that he would be willing to have serve, and these are B and F, so in the third column and opposite the names of B and F he places crosses.

When the ballots are counted, each candidate is credited, first, with all votes received as first choice, and if any candidate receives a majority of all votes cast for first choice, he is elected. If, however, as is likely to be the case where there are so many candidates, no one receives a majority of first choice votes, each candidate is credited with all votes cast for him as first and second choice, and here again, if any candidate has a majority of such votes, he is elected, but as it may happen in such case that two candidates have a majority, the one receiving the most votes is the one chosen. In the event that no candidate receives a majority of first and second choice votes, all the votes cast for such candidate for first, second and other choice will be added, and the one having the most votes will be elected whether he has a majority or not.

The following restrictions are imposed on the voters:

First. He may vote for the same candidate but once and either as his first, second or other choice.

people, offer to purchase from the Spring Valley Water Company its properties described in said "Exhibit A," hereunto annexed, for the consideration and upon the terms and conditions mentioned in said exhibit; that the proposition to acquire said properties and incur a bonded indebtedness to pay for the same be submitted to the voters at a date hereafter to be determined by your Honorable Board.

The following is a statement of reasons which have impelled your Advisory Water Committee to make this recommendation:

Reasons Why the City and County of San Francisco Should Purchase the Properties of the Spring Valley Water Company.

1. The properties offered for sale include all necesary lands, watersheds, water rights, and everything else of value belonging to the Spring Valley Water Company required by the city for its water system, and are substantially the same properties sought to be condemned in the pending condemnation suit.
2. The price which the company is willing to accept, to-wit, $34,500,000 and capital expenditures made by the company since January 1, 1913, not to exceed $595,000, approximates the valuation placed upon the properties by the City Engineer and experts employed by the city to ascertain values for the purposes of condemnation.
3. The prosecution of the condemnation suit now pending may result in delay that will postpone indefinitely the acquisition of the properties by the city, and may cause the city to pay a higher price ultimately.
4. The system of the Spring Valley Water Company, if purchased, will be self-supporting from the start.
5. The purchase and operation of the plant by the city, and the necessary extension of the distributing system, will not increase taxation.
6. As the gross revenue collected by the company in the year 1913 from the properties offered for sale amounted to $3,322,048.10 (rates, rentals, etc., including increase over rates fixed by ordinance), and as the city will certainly derive from the plant, without additions to or extensions thereof, an annual net income in excess of $2,000,000, at present ordinance rates, the offer made by the Spring Valley Water Company must be deemed reasonable.
7. The completion of the Calaveras dam and reservoir, now in course of construction, will cause an increase in the city's water supply to the extent of at least 50 per cent, and a corresponding increase in revenues.
8. The increased supply resulting from the completion of the Calaveras dam and reservoir will be sufficient to meet the demands of the city until the population exceeds in number 750,000, and until the completion of the Hetch Hetchy system.
9. The net income to be derived from the properties after the completion of the Calaveras dam and reservoir and from the use of the additional waters obtained from that source, will be sufficient to pay interest on all bonds issued to pay the purchase price, and interest on additional bonds required to defray the cost of extending the distributing system, and to provide a sinking fund to redeem the bonds.
10. The unsettled portions of the city—Richmond, Sunset, University Mound, Excelsior Homestead, Sunnyside, Ocean View, Holly Park, and other districts now sparsely settled by reason of an inadequate supply or entire absence of water, will rapidly improve.
11. The present supply of water is absolutely insufficient. Immediate steps to increase the supply should be taken. The Spring Valley Water Company will not expend the capital necessary to increase the supply or extend its mains, and the city cannot wait seven or eight years for the completion of the Hetch Hetchy system.
12. The reservoirs of the Spring Valley Water Company in San Mateo county, and its reservoirs and distributing system in San Francisco, will be required for the storage and distribution of water from Hetch Hetchy.
13. The growth of San Francisco has been retarded in the past and will, unless the city acquires and promptly extends the present system, be retarded in the future by reason of its inadequate supply of water for domestic purposes and fire protection. At least forty per cent of the territory of San Francisco is now unimproved, and will remain unimproved until San Francisco acquires its own water supply.
14. Unless the properties are acquired, few of the hundreds of thousands, perhaps millions, of home seekers who will come to California within the next few years after the completion of the Panama Canal, will settle in this city. Being unable to get water for domestic purposes, they will seek homes elsewhere.
15. Upon the completion of the Hetch Hetchy system seven or eight years hence, the City, with its anticipated growth, will need the additional supply from that source, and the net income thereafter derived from the combined systems, including the proceeds of sale of electric power developed at Hetch Hetchy, will be sufficient to pay interest on all bonds issued to acquire both plants, and to provide a sinking fund to redeem the bonds at maturity.
16. During the construction of the Hetch Hetchy system, assuming that construction will take eight years, the interest on the bonds required to construct the same during the period of construction will exceed nine million dollars. In addition to the interest two millions must be paid to redeem maturing bonds, commencing with the year 1920. Every dollar paid for interest and on account of principal before completion of the work, must be paid by taxation if the city does not acquire the properties of the Spring Valley Water Company in the meantime. If, however, the city buys the properties of the Spring Valley Water Company, the surplus over and above the amount required to pay interest on the bonds issued to make the purchase from the company can be used to pay, or assist in paying of interest on the Hetch Hetchy bonds.
17. The operation of a municipal plant separate and distinct from that of the Spring Valley Water Company's will necessitate an expensive duplication of a distributing system by the city, rendering it necessary to tear up streets and dig trenches in the business and residential districts, thereby damaging the pavements, interfering with traffic, and causing injury to business, persons and property.

18. The acquisition of the distributing system within the city and the impounding reservoirs on the peninsula, and the rights-of-way for conduit lines owned by the Spring Valley Water Company, will, in the judgment of the City Engineer and other competent authorities, save the city, in the ultimate cost of the Hetch Hetchy system, at least $20,000,000.

19. As practically all of the available reservoir sites on the peninsula and those in the city are owned by the Spring Valley Water Company, unless the city buys from that company it will be impossible, without the expenditure of a vast amount of money, to secure or construct reservoirs of adequate capacity or in suitable localities to hold the waters that will come from the Hetch Hetchy.

20. Upon the completion of the Hetch Hetchy system, unless these properties are acquired, San Francisco must compete with the Spring Valley Water Company in the business of selling water. Such competition will seriously affect the value of the city's bonds, will, on account of the divided business, reduce the expected revenue of the city, and increase taxation, by reason of insufficient income to pay the interest on the bonds and to redeem the same.

21. All litigation between the city and the Spring Valley Water Company will cease, thereby saving to the city directly a large sum of money and saving indirectly to the rate payers the expenses of litigation paid by the company, which are usually allowed by courts in fixing rates.

22. The increase in the assessed valuation of land in the districts benefited by the extension of the distributing system, will yield an additional tax income which, to a great extent, will help to pay the interest upon the bonds.

23. In the event of the purchase by the city of the properties of the Spring Valley Water Company, approximately $1,000,000 of the moneys now impounded by reason of the pending injunction suits against the city will be returned to the rate payers.

24. With the Spring Valley Water Company's properties and the Hetch Hetchy system combined, San Francisco will own the best water system in the world, and one sufficient to meet the requirements of the metropolis of the Pacific Coast for all future time.

August 10th, 1914.

Respectfully submitted,
ADVISORY WATER COMMITTEE,
By MATT I. SULLIVAN, Chairman.

Exhibit "A" consists of the letter of the Committee to the Spring Valley Water Company submitting the proposition to purchase its property and was published in full in the Municipal Record of July 30.

The following is the reply thereto made by the Spring Valley Water Company:

EXHIBIT "B".

Executive Department, Spring Valley Water Company,
San Francisco, Cal., July 30, 1914.

To Messrs. James Rolph, Jr., Matt I. Sullivan, Alex. T. Vogelsang, Percy V. Long, Thos. Jennings, Advisory Water Committee; M. M. O'Shaughnessy, City Engineer—

Dear Sirs:

The Spring Valley Water Company, acknowledges receipt of your letter of July 27, 1914, in which you request a statement as to whether or not it will accept an offer. If one is made to it by the Board of Supervisors of the City and County of San Francisco, in the terms set forth in your said letter.

In response thereto the company hands you herewith a certified copy of a resolution passed by its Board of Directors at a meeting held on this date, and, in accordance with the terms of that resolution, notifies you that if an offer is made to it, setting forth and embodying the terms contained in your letter hereinabove referred to, the Board of Directors will; by appropriate resolution under the authority heretofore conferred upon it by the stockholders, accept the offer. and will also call a meeting of the stockholders of the company and recommend that they consent to and approve the sale to the City and County of San Francisco of the properties of this corporation referred to in said letter at the price and upon the terms and conditions set forth therein.

Very truly yours,
SPRING VALLEY WATER COMPANY,
By A. H. PAYSON, Vice-President.

Whereas, James Rolph, Jr., Matt I. Sullivan, Alexander Vogelsang, Percy V. Long and Thomas Jennings, comprising the City Advisory Water Committee, and M. M. O'Shaughnessy, City Engineer, did, on the twenty-seventh day of July, 1914, address to this corporation a letter reading as follows:

(Here follows copy of the letter of the Advisory Water Committee to the Spring Valley Water Company, as set out in the foregoing letter marked Exhibit "A".)

Now, therefore, be it Resolved, That the Vice-President of this corporation be, and he is, hereby authorized and instructed for and on its behalf to notify the members of said City Advisory Water Committee, and the said City Engineer, that if an offer is made by the Board of Supervisors of the City and County of San Francisco to this company, embodying the terms set forth in said letter, that this board will, by appropriate resolution under the authority heretofore conferred upon it by the stockholders, accept said offer, and will call a meeting of the stockholders and recommend that they consent to and approve the sale to the City and County of San Francisco of the property of this corporation, referred to in said letter, at the price and upon the terms and conditions therein set forth.

SPRING VALLEY WATER COMPANY.
(Seal) By (Signed) A. H. PAYSON, Vice-President.
By (Signed) JOHN E. BEHAN, Secretary.

I, John E. Behan, Secretary of the Spring Valley Water Company, a corporation, duly organized and existing under and by virtue of the laws of the State of California, do hereby certify that the foregoing is a full, true and correct copy of preamble and resolution duly and regularly passed and adopted at a special meeting of the Board of Directors of the corporation duly convened and held on the thirtieth day of July, 1914.

Witness my hand and seal of this corporation this thirtieth day of July, 1914.
(Seal) (Signed) JOHN E. BEHAN, Secretary.

Exhibit "C," comprising the inventory, will be published in the next issue of the Municipal Record.

Second. He may vote for but one person for either first or second choice but for as many as he pleases for his other choice.

Where there are several offices of the same grade, as for example, councilmen or commissioners, the voter may designate as many candidates as his first choice as there are positions to be filled and similarly he may designate candidates for his second choice. For his other choice he may designate as many as he pleases.

While the system makes more probable the selection of a candidate by a majority than under the former systems, it does not insure that result, but the candidate ultimately selected by the addition of votes cast for him for second and other choice is more likely to be the deliberate choice of the greater number than would be the one of two candidates selected as the result of a primary election at which all other candidates but the two highest are eliminated. The system does away with the primary election in municipalities and for all offices where no party designation is permitted to the candidates.

It can be even applied to state officers and to United States Senators and Representatives by adopting the original form of the Australian ballot, for assuming that a Republican would confine his choice to those candidates designated as Republican and a Democrat similarly would vote for no one but a Democrat, the candidate receiving the highest number of votes, whether Republican or Democrat, would be elected. On the other hand, in these days when the fetish of a party does not have the power to conjure as it once did, a Republican having indicated a Republican candidate as his first choice might conclude that if he could not be elected, his second choice would fall to a particular Democrat. Under the present system none of the candidates receiving the nomination of their respective parties at the primary election might suit him, in which case he would either not vote, or vote for one who was not his choice in any sense on the principle that he was choosing between evils.

It may be added that the system is cordially approved wherever tried, and there seems hardly room to doubt that it has merit above that of any known system.

APPLICATIONS FOR PERMITS.

Applications for permits to be considered by the Board of Police Commissioners at meeting to be held on August 17, 1914, at 7:30 p. m., as follows:

Saloon—To remove: Frederick Lankenau, from 75 Jackson street to 505 Green street.

Auctioneer—To remove: Samuel Anschultz, from 635 Golden Gate avenue to 541 McAllister street.

Intelligence Office Keeper—To open: Frank E. Caine, 15 Geary street.

Second-hand Dealer—To open: George Noreshau, 610 Sacramento street.

The California State Civil Service Commission announces that applications for employment as tugboat captain in the service of the State will be received at the office of the Commission, State Capitol, Sacramento, on or before September 5, 1914. The State employs tugboat captains in connection with the Board of State Harbor Commissioners in San Francisco at a salary of $150 per month. There is now one vacancy to be filled.

Mayor Rolph has returned to the Supervisors, with his veto attached, a bill granting a permit to the owners of the property at Van Ness avenue, Grove and Hayes street to erect a building for amusement concessions. The reason assigned was that the bill was legally defective and not for any specific reasonable objection to the grant of the permit.

Vol. VII—No. 34. SAN FRANCISCO, THURSDAY, AUGUST 20, 1914. 61

Supervisors Endorse Revised Annexation Amendment to Constitution

At the regular meeting of the Board of Supervisors on Monday representatives of the City of Los Angeles appeared and requested the Board to reconsider its endorsement of a proposed constitutional amendment providing for the consolidation of cities and counties and the annexation of territory to cities and counties already consolidated. An amendment heretofore proposed and endorsed by the Board provided means by which San Francisco might annex portions of Alameda County, which had engendered a feeling of opposition in Oakland. The revised amendment, while providing for the consolidation of Los Angeles and Oakland, limits the territory to be annexed to San Francisco to that which adjoins it on the south. The Los Angeles representatives feared that the original propositions might be defeated, whereas there would be but little objection to the substitute. After discussion, the Supervisors adopted the following resolution by a vote of 10 ayes to 2 noes:

"Whereas, Representations have been made to the Board of Supervisors by the Panama-Pacific Exposition management and by the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce that the interests of the Panama-Pacific Exposition will be furthered by the elimination of intercity strife in relation to the two pending city and county consolidation constitutional amendments to be voted upon by the people at the coming election in November; and

"Whereas, Official representatives of the City of Los Angeles have joined in such recommendation and request the support of this Board to the constitutional amendment which fixes the minimum population for consolidated cities and counties at 50,000 and which places certain restrictions upon the annexation of territory in such consolidations; and

"Whereas, It appears that the advocacy and support of the last referred to amendment will not act as against the harmony of cities of the State; therefore be it

"Resolved, By this Board that it does hereby withdraw the support heretofore given by it to the constitutional amendment which fixes the minimum population of consolidated cities and counties at 175,000 and which permits the annexation of any contiguous territory; and be it further

"Resolved, That this Board does hereby give its approval and support to the above described so-called 50,000 population amendment."

Ordinance Postponed.

A proposed ordinance regulating the manufacture, sale and care of foodstuffs in the City and County of San Francisco was postponed until September 17th.

Street Work Ordered.

The improvement of the following streets was ordered:

Crossing of Alameda street and San Bruno avenue by construction of curbs, sidewalks, culverts and basalt block roadway.

Crossing of Nineteenth and Douglass streets by resetting curbs, constructing sidewalks, culverts and asphalt pavement.

Silver avenue, between Boutwell street and San Bruno avenue, by the construction of sewers and appurtenances.

Woolsey street, from San Bruno avenue to Somerset street, by grading, construction of concrete curbs, sidewalks, catch-basins and culverts and asphalt pavement.

Resolutions Adopted.

The following resolutions were adopted:

Accepting the offer of Edith M. and H. C. Richards to sell to the city a tract of land in Lyon & Hoag's subdivision of the Baker's Beach Land Co. required for boulevard purposes for the sum of $1,750.

Authorizing the Mayor to collect rents for city property at Taylor, North Point and Bay streets.

Accepting bids for furnishing equipment for the San Francisco Hospital.

Miscellaneous Matters.

The veto of the Mayor to the concession ordinance "Fighting the Flames" was sustained, the veto having been on the advice of the City Attorney that it was illegal in form.

In the appeal of the matter of the assessment for improvement of Clover street, the Board of Public Works was ordered to make a new assessment.

Bids were received for motor trucks and concrete mixers and referred to the Supplies Committee.

DEVELOPMENT WORK AT HETCH HETCHY.

Construction work on the wagon road from Hog Ranch to the Hetch Hetchy dam site is now in progress and the completion of the road will permit of the economical transportation of supplies so that development work will follow rapidly.

City Engineer O'Shaughnessy has just visited the valley, making a last personal survey, preparatory to the letting of contracts for test and exploration holes to be sunk on the dam site and in the bed of the future reservoir, as well as along the first section of the great aqueduct, which is to convey the water when stored to San Francisco for final distribution to the consumer.

A part of the money appropriated by the Supervisors Monday is for this preliminary work, the remainder to be used in engineering work, acquisition of lands and providing for those conditions which were imposed by the National Government as a condition precedent to the grant made late last year by Congress.

The appropriations made by the Supervisors for specific items were as follows: Hydrography, $5000; roads, trails, etc., including railroad location, seven aqueduct surveys, $13,750; water rights, $5000; office work, plans, etc., $5000; inspection and engineering in field, $5000; telephone lines, $2500; permanent camps, $2500; sundry expenditures, $61,151.29; borings to locate line of aqueduct, $20,000.

Interest in the Panama-Pacific International Exposition grows rapidly, and the regular run of more than one thousand paid admissions each day was swelled Sunday, July 26th, when 6,435 persons paid admissions. There was no program and nothing of special interest arranged for the day more than the beauties and wonders that are to be seen every day.

BUSINESS OF THE FIRE COMMISSION.

At the regular meeting of the Board of Fire Commissioners on August 12, George Hartment was transferred from captain of Engine 6 to captain of Engine 32.

Francis W. Sullivan and Wm. Mullaney were appointed lieutenants upon the certification of the Civil Service Commission.

The secretary was ordered to make a requisition for the purchase of Dreager smoke helmets and pulmotors for use in the department.

Jos. Bennett, operator of Battalion 7, was granted a leave of absence.

A communication was received from the secretary of the Board of Fire Pension Fund Commissioners, advising that the following members were retired on pension at the meeting of July 29, 1914: Eugene O'Connor, captain Engine 32 full term of service, to take effect August 1, 1914; R. J. Allen, lieutenant Engine 15, full term of service, to take effect August 1, 1914.

The Department of Electricity was requested to make the following changes, etc., in fire alarm boxes: Change number of fire alarm box 15 to 811; box 358 to 912; box 613 to 914. Install the following new boxes: Box 15, at Washington and Front streets; box 358, at Jackson and Davis streets; box 613, at Broadway and Davis streets.

EXPOSITION NOTES.

Madame Montessori, the world's greatest living figure in the field of child education, personally will supervise for four months the work of the model Montessori school to be conducted as a part of the educational demonstration work at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition. Word has come from Rome as to the famous teacher's plans for 1915.

Two more nations have been added to the list of foreign nations that are to participate in the Panama-Pacific International Exposition. Monaco and Roumania have cabled their acceptance of the invitation of the United States. Monaco has requested the reservation of 3,000 square feet of land for its site. The pavilion will be a reproduction of one of the hunting lodges of His Imperial Highness Albert I, Prince of Monaco. Roumania has requested 20,000 square feet for its pavilion site. The list of foreign nations now participating includes thirty-nine nations.

Argentina has raised her appropriation for the Panama-Pacific International Exposition from $1,300,000 to $1,700,000. Commissioner General Horacio Anasagasti, and Commissioners Alberto de Alkaine and Salvador Vincenti have arrived in San Francisco, and work was begun on the Argentina pavilion on August 1. Argentina remains at the head of the list in amount appropriated. The pavilion with fittings and gardens will cost almost $300,000.

EXHIBIT "D".

LANDS HELD IN FEE BY THE SPRING VALLEY WATER COMPANY NOT TO BE ACQUIRED BY THE CITY AND COUNTY OF SAN FRANCISCO.

The following lands of the Spring Valley Water Company are omitted from the list of lands to be purchased by the City and County of San Francisco as in the judgment of the City Engineer they are not necessary for use in connection with either the present water supply system of the City or the future development of the water supply.

In San Francisco—

1. Lobos Creek lands adjoining the Presidio Reservation: "Lobos Creek, a small stream running westerly from Mountain Lake, was secured by the Company through purchase of the San Francisco Water Works, and was used as a source of supply to the extent of about 2,000,000 gallons a day, until the year 1901, when, the waters being considered unfit for domestic purposes by the Health Department on account of the growing population in its watershed, its use was discontinued."

   (John R. Freeman, Report on Hetch Hetchy Water Supply for San Francisco, 1912, page 387.)

   The waters of Lobos Creek are now being used for the purpose of supplying the Presidio Reservation, being purified by filtration. The amount of water to which the Presidio is entitled is in dispute between the Water Company and the Military authorities, the latter claiming all of the flow of the stream and the Company half of it.
2. Market Street Reservoir Property (so-called), bounded by Market, Buchanan, Herman and Church streets.

   There was formerly a small distributing reservoir on this property which was destroyed when the streets were cut through. There is no further possible use for the property in connection with the water supply of San Francisco.
3. Strip of land 100 feet in depth fronting on Bay street, from Larkin to Hyde.

   This is a portion of tract known as Francisco Street Reservoir Tract, but is not in use for reservoir purposes, or any other purpose in connection with the water supply except that a small portion of it is occupied by a keeper's cottage. The cottage is very old and of little value. The rear line of the strip is approximately the line of the bottom of the reservoir embankment.
4. Six entire blocks bounded by Sloat Boulevard, Great Highway, Vicente street and Forty-fifth avenue. (Outside lands, Blocks Nos. 1221, 1222, 1223, 1285, 1286 and 1287.)

   These blocks never were, are not now, and will not be used in connection with the water supply.
5. 1253.69 acres of Lake Merced Lands lying outside of the boundary selected by the City Engineer for the lands to be acquired by the City.

   The lands within this boundary so selected by the City Engineer include 823.67 acres (being partly within San Francisco County and partly within San Mateo County, of which 6.06 acres are for pump station grounds, 6.48 acres are for Serra Boulevard widening, 336 acres are lake area and 475.13 acres may be devoted to park and pleasure purposes.

   In the event of purchase by the City other and ample safeguards against contamination of water are planned by parking and boulevarding the lake boundary, and by building restrictions. No useful purpose would be accomplished by taking a larger area.

In San Mateo County—

6. 779.07 acres of Lake Merced Lands. (Same remarks as under item 5.)
7. Lot in Ning Yung Cemetery.
8. Lot in Chinese Christian Cemetery.
9. Lot in Edward Kelly Cemetery Tract.

   Items 7, 8 and 9 are lots which were purchased to form part of right of way of the old Pilarcitos Pipe Line, which was partially destroyed by the earthquake of 1906, and was abandoned. No pipe line would ever be constructed along the same route again, and therefore these lots are of no use to the City.
10. 209.16 acres of the so-called Howard Tract, lying on the east side of the ridge east of Crystal Springs Reservoir, and north of San Mateo Creek. This land is not a part of the watershed tributary to the reservoir, and the City can gain nothing by owning it. The riparian rights appurtenant to the land and also a right of way for the Crystal Springs pipe line which crosses it are to be acquired.
11. 861.35 acres of the Polhemus Tract, lying on the east side of the ridge, east of Crystal Springs Reservoir and south of San Mateo Creek. This is not a portion of the watershed of Crystal Springs Reservoir, and is of no use in connection with the water supply of the City.
12. Lands adjacent to the Crystal Springs watershed on the south side of the ridge between Crystal Springs Reservoir and West Union Creek. This area, 1322 acres, forms a part of the watershed tributary to Portola Reservoir, mentioned below.
13. Searsville Tunnel Tract, 30.38 acres.
14. Portola or Searsville Lands, 831.82 acres.

    Items 12, 13 and 14 are lands tributary to the Portola Reservoir. The water obtainable from these sources is not sufficient to justify the expense of construction, and of acquiring additional lands and riparian rights that would be necessary before it could be developed. A portion of the water derived from this source is used for Stanford University.
15. Lands on Pescadero Creek, 680 acres, lying on the west side of the main ridge of the Peninsula. The water from these lands flows to the ocean and its utilization would necessitate very expensive work which the quantity of water would not justify.

In Alameda County—

16. Poorman Tract, 533.77 acres, south of Alvarado, purchased for the purpose of development of water by wells, but never used for that purpose. It is now used by Salt Works. The quality of the water obtainable is questionable and furthermore it is improbable that the Spring Valley Water Company would be allowed to withdraw any water, as farmers in the neighborhood would be damaged by such action.
17. Beard Tract, 164.36 acres, southwest of Decoto, fronting on Alameda Creek. This tract lies below the points of diversion of water from Alameda Creek and it is therefore sufficient for the City to obtain riparian rights appurtenant to the land, but it is unnecessary to acquire the land in fee.
18. Overacker Tract, 133.68 acres, near Centerville, on Alameda Creek. The remarks on item 17 apply to this tract also. The City is to acquire the riparian rights and also a strip of land 25 feet wide through the tract for use as a future pipe line right of way.
19. The Stone Ranch, 1159.88 acres, west of Sunol, and north of Alameda Creek. A strip of land along Alameda Creek is to be acquired out of this tract in order to guard the riparian rights. The balance is hillside land and in no way useful for water supply purposes. It lies below Sunol, the point of diversion of water from Alameda Creek for the supply of San Francisco.
20. A portion of the Nussbaumer Tract on Laguna Creek, between Pleasanton and Sunol, 509.59 acres. The City will acquire a narrow strip of land in the Nussbaumer Tract sufficient to guard the riparian rights and to cover the pipe line from Pleasanton Wells. Balance is unnecessary for water supply purposes.
21. 4875 acres of land in the vicinity of Pleasanton. The City is to acquire 738.73 acres which includes all of the land south of the County Road No. 2000, amounting to 654 acres, and an additional area of 84.7 acres, which has been selected by the City Engineer to insure the maximum possibilities of the entire water bearing region.

    Upon this area additional wells may be sunk, if necessary to further develop the underground water supply to a limit of 15,000,000 gallons per day, which is 50% more than the wells have so far been known to yield. This limit has been set high enough to cover the maximum requirements of the City for water from the vicinity of Pleasanton.

    The City acquires, in addition to the land, the absolute right to withdraw this amount of water per day without protest from the Spring Valley Water Company, as owners of the balance of the land, or from its successors in interest.
22. Alviso, or South Bay Lands, 5283.63 acres. These are marsh lands and are situated at the southern extremity of San Francisco Bay. They were originally acquired for the purpose of development of water by wells, but it is doubtful if water from lands so close to tidewater can be withdrawn in sufficient quantity for a supply for San Francisco without deteriorating the quality.

    Also it would affect the water supply of the surrounding country as evidenced by attacks already made against the proposals to withdraw the underground waters for use elsewhere. The entire project as a water supply for San Francisco is clouded by doubt as to quantity and quality and title.

    Notwithstanding the proximity of these lands to the supply mains the Spring Valley Water Company has never attempted to utilize them for the reasons above given. The value of these lands has been appraised by the City Expert at $114,000.00. These lands are of no value to the City as a source of supply.
23. Coyote and Pajaro River lands in the vicinity of Gilroy, 11,977.96 acres.

    The lands are tributary to Coyote Creek and Pajaro River and cover an underground source of supply, all of which is needed to supply farming interests who claim a prior right to same. The lands were originally bought by Spring Valley Water Company presumably to head off competition of Bay Cities Water Company.

    Any attempted withdrawal by the City would be resisted by that Company as well as by land owners in the valley who depend upon that source for irrigation.

    That litigation would immediately follow attempted withdrawal of water is shown by a permanent injunction heretofore granted by judgment of the Superior Court of Santa Clara County and affirmed by the Supreme Court of this State enjoining the Bay Cities Water Company from taking water from its land in the same region.

    If for no other reason, the attempt to use this supply by San Francisco, would be indefensible on the ground of expense of development and transmission.

    The Spring Valley Water Company has never used or attempted to use this source of supply and the lands have been appraised by experts employed by the City at $134,469.50.

    If purchased by the City they would be absolutely worthless as a source of water supply.

In Santa Clara County—

24. Stevens Creek Lands, 240 acres, situated about ten miles west of San Jose, entirely disconnected from the San Francisco water supply and of no use in connection with it.

In San Benito County—

25. The Pajaro River lands, 690.97 acres, adjacent to the Pajaro lands mentioned under item 23 and drain into the Pacific Ocean. In location these lands are similar to the Coyote Creek lands, and the same statement as to remoteness of supply, uncertainty of results and expense of development and transmission for a water supply for San Francisco applies to these as to the Coyote Creek lands. The experts for the City have appraised these lands at $72,725.00.

In Marin County—

26. Four lots in the town of Sausalito.

    "Previous to 1851, all water used in San Francisco was secured from small streams and wells inside the city, and from springs across the Bay, at Sausalito, in Marin County, the latter supply being brought to the City by boat."

"A Ball of All States" is to be given by the various State societies that are working in conjunction with the officials of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition to provide a central information bureau and guide to visitors who will come to San Francisco in 1915. The ball will be along the lines of the great "Ball of All Nations" which was attended by 18,000 persons. The "Ball of All States" will be held all night of September 12th.

BID POSTPONED FOR TWIN PEAKS TUNNEL.

No bids were received yesterday for the building of Twin Peaks tunnel. The matter was put over until September 16 by the Board of Public Works.

MacArthur Brothers, of New York, one of the biggest tunnel contractors in America, wrote to the Board of Public Works that they would like to submit a bid if the matter could be postponed.

As the contract is for about $3,500,000, and the State law requires a surety bond of half that amount, the companies prepared to bid were unable to qualify under the exacting conditions.

After consultation, City Attorney Long, President T. A. Reardon, of the Board of Public Works, and Theodore Savage, attorney, representing the Twin Peaks Tunnel Property Owners' Association, expressed belief that the bond can be materially reduced.

MacArthur Brothers' letter in asking a postponement of the Twin Peaks tunnel bids follows:

> We are advised by the Fidelity and Deposit Surety Company of New York that the large bonding companies will not go on any contractor's bonds for the Twin Peaks tunnel job under the present financial conditions. As is takes practically all the large companies to make this bond, the refusal of any one of them is sufficient to prevent a bond being given.
>
> The situation in New York is very acute and no new bonds for large amounts are being written.
>
> We are very anxious indeed to bid on your work, as we have already spent a great deal of time on it, but cannot do so under these conditions.
>
> This situation will eliminate large outside firms like ourselves, but we believe if you could postpone the letting, say ninety days, that matters would right themselves and the bond companies would feel differently about it.
>
> We are in a good position to name you a low price, as we have a plant idle that exactly fits your work, having just completed ten miles of tunnels in New York.

The California State Civil Service Commission announces that applications for employment as deckhands in the service of the State will be received at the office of the Commission, State Capitol, Sacramento, on or before September 19, 1914. EXHIBIT E.

San Francisco, Cal., August 8th, 1914.

Honorable Matt. I. Sullivan, Chairman, Advisory Water Committee, Humboldt Bank Building, San Francisco, California.

Sir:

As Consulting Engineer to the City Attorney of San Francisco in connection with the rate and condemnation suits under preparation I have made a careful examination of the books and accounts of the Spring Valley Water Company for the several years preceding 1914. Mr. J. M. Bailhache, Expert Accountant, was associated therewith.

This examination was made specially for the purpose of determining the proper operating revenues of said corporation, and also the normal operating expense. In connection with this task and for the purpose of fuller information I have made an analysis of the essential data which leads to a proper conclusion as to the results to be expected in the event the City of San Francisco takes over the property of the Spring Valley Water Company and operates it.

In pursuit of such information the operating expenses, including tax account and the operating revenue accounts, have been recast in detail for the year 1913, assuming,

(a) That the corporation salary roll will be modified to fit the conditions of municipal ownership;

(b) That the wage scale of the City of San Francisco for employees will obtain;

(c) That certain expenses peculiar to the corporation will be eliminated;

(d) That certain earnings, namely, land rentals, will be lessened by reason of the elimination of lands now owned by the Spring Valley Water Company but not to be acquired by the City;

(e) That water revenues will be those obtained under the same rate as was collected by the Spring Valley Water Company, and also as though collected under ordinance rate;

(f) That while taxes on property to be acquired by the City and County of San Francisco will be charged as an operating expense because such taxes will be lost to the City, yet the State and Federal taxes and taxes on property outside of the City and County of San Francisco will be avoided, as well as taxes on certain lands not to be acquired by the City;

(g) That certain other saving will accrue to the benefit of the City.

All of the above is set out in a detailed manner in this office, 625 City Hall, and to which you are referred for more specific information—the following being a recapitulation:

GROSS OPERATING REVENUE.

The gross operating revenue of the Spring Valley Water Company as collected for the calendar year 1913 was:

From water sales	$3,251,411.00
From rents of lands and sale of crops	132,092.64
From miscellaneous	37,463.84
Total. . .		$3,420,967.48

By reason of the fact that the city is not to take over all of the properties, certain deductions must be made, as follows:

From land rents and crops sales on lands not to be acquired	$ 68,087.24
Miscellaneous	30,832.14
Total		98,919.38
Leaving as gross operating revenue under municipal ownership, 1913, under rates as collected by Spring Valley Water Company		$3,322,048.10
If the amount collected is assumed to be that under the Ordinance rate (which is 15% less for certain classes of consumers), a further reduction should be made for the year of		358,554.17
Leaving gross revenue, which would have been obtained by the city under Ordinance rate		$2,963.493.93

OPERATING EXPENSES AND TAXES.

The operating expenses of the Spring Valley Water Company, as shown in their statement for the year 1913, was:

Operating expenses	$ 805,611.40
Taxes	445,968.19
Total		$1,251,579.59

As assumed above, if the plant was operated by the city for the same period, the following deductions from the operating expenses would have obtained:

Deductions for certain corporation expenses not necessary under municipal ownership	$ 127,185.28
Also a net saving to the city by deducting certain corporation salaries, and adding thereto for increased wage schedule; also saving in rent, etc.	$ 34,941.00
Saving in taxes on property not taken over by the city	60,740.85
Also a saving in State and Federal taxes	41,812.93
Also a saving in county and other taxes in counties outside of the City of San Francisco	128,175.19
Making a total deduction from operating expenses due to city ownership	$392,855.25
Leaving operating expenses and taxes under city ownership on properties to be acquired	$858,724.34
However, if the Constitutional Amendment hearing on the subject is adopted in the fall election, to this will have to be added the taxes in the counties of San Mateo, Alameda and Santa Clara on the properties to be taken over and amounting to	$128,175.19
In which event the operating expenses will be increased to	$986,899.53

The following table exhibits in brief tabular form the results of water operation of the Spring Valley Water Company for 1913, together with the net operating surplus if the plant had been operated by San Francisco, modified as above outlined:

RECAPITULATION.

	Gross operating revenue.	Operating expenses and taxes.	Net operating surplus.
As collected by Spring Valley Water Company	$3,420,967.48	$1,251,579.59	$2,168,387.89
(A) Under city ownership, rates as collected	3,322,048.10	858,724.34	2,463,323.76
(B) Under city ownership, at ordinance rates	2,963,493.93	858,724.34	2,104,769.59

In the last-named column of the above table, called "Net Operating Surplus," will be found the results to be expected under municipal ownership under the conditions shown, namely, if the revenues are those obtained under present rates collected by Spring Valley Water Company, and also the net revenue to be expected under the ordinance rate, which is 15% less than that collected by the Spring Valley Water Company.

These amounts are the sums applicable to depreciation, interest on bonds, or other proper uses.

From the above table it will be noted that the Net Operating Surplus applicable to depreciation, interest on bonds, etc., is 74.2% and 71.2% of the Gross Operating Revenue under the two conditions named, "A" and "B," respectively.

The ratio of Surplus to Gross Revenue cannot only be maintained without difficulty, but the amount of Operating Surplus will continue to increase for the next several years, providing the rate of growth of the City continues, but the rate of growth of the city is determined to a degree by water available for service to the inhabitants. An increased supply and a wider distribution of water to areas now wholly without or insufficiently supplied will greatly increase the population, the gross income from water sales, and the net profits applicable to extensions and betterments.

Respectfully submitted,
BURDETT MOODY,
Consulting Engineer.

TOLEDO VOTES TO BUY STREET CAR SYSTEM.

Toledo, O.—Municipal ownership of street railways and other public utilities was made possible when voters at a special election approved the ordinance authorizing an $8,000,000 bond issue for this purpose by a majority of 1,188. Total vote was 10,597 for, 9,409 against. Following an appraisement of the car lines and the various other utilities under the control of the Toledo Railways and Light Company, Toledo may take over the above plants and have them run under city control.

SHALL THE RATE-FIXING POWERS BE SURRENDERED TO THE RAILROAD COMMISSION?

A constitutional amendment (Assembly Constitutional Amendment No. 62), the effect of which will be to take away from the cities of the State their power to fix rates for public utilities, will be voted on next November.

A report on this amendment was prepared for the Commonwealth Club by F. D. Stringham and is as follows:

"It is proposed by this amendment to give plenary power to the Legislature to confer upon the Railroad Commission power and jurisdiction to supervise and regulate public utilities in the State of California and to fix the rates to be charged for commodities furnished and service rendered by such utilities. After the passage of laws by the Legislature conferring such powers, similar powers respecting public utilities vested in municipalities or counties shall cease.

"The proposed amendment includes every railroad, street railroad, pipe line, canal, every kind of transportation company (freight, passenger and express), also includes oil, telephone and telegraph companies, heat, light, water and power companies and the furnishing of wharfage facilities.

"As early as 1901 a proposed amendment was submitted to the people looking to the creation of a Public Utilities Commission with powers similar to those now proposed. This was defeated at an election in 1902 by a vote of 31,474 for, and 118,791 against. The constitutional provision now in force giving an option of surrendering to the Railroad Commission the power of fixing rates., etc.. was adopted October 10th, 1911.

"The pride of California cities has been the extent of their powers in local self-government, and there is now much agitation in favor of the extension of these powers in the matter of local option in taxation. The proposed amendment is a move in the opposite direction and contemplates a wholesale surrender of powers to the Legislature and the Railroad Commission. The present Railroad Commission, it is generally conceded, is composed of an excellent body of men. The commission has been able, energetic and efficient. But are we always going to have an efficient Railroad Commission? Are we prepared to demand of the commission of five men the performance of municipal functions in every community in the State because we have found for a short period of two years that such a commission has been extraordinarily successful in its dealings with the public? The adoption of this amendment means that the cities of the State surrender nearly all of their powers of control over public utilities excepting such as are municipally owned. If a city or town should be dissatisfied with rates fixed by the commission, it will have no redress beyond the possible right to a hearing before the commission. It may be that the utility sought to be regulated is one that is operated in one city only, and it may be one that is in competition with the utility owned by the city. In such case, it seems to me, that the city is the best judge of what is a fair and reasonable rate, and at least would not desire to have that question settled by some outside authority. It has been urged that we have already conferred too much power upon the Railroad Commission. Section 22 of Article XII of the Constitution creating the commission and defining its powers raises the commission above the Constitution in these words:

> "'No provision of this Constitution shall be construed as a limitation upon the authority of the Legislature to confer upon the Railroad Commission additional powers of the same kind or different from those conferred herein which are not inconsistent with the powers conferred upon the Railroad Commission in this Constitution and the authority of the Legislature that confers such additional powers is expressly declared to be plenary and unlimited by any provision of this Constitution.'

"It may be admitted that the State Commission should regulate the rates of a very large company like the Pacific Gas and Electric, which operates in a large number of counties, since the expense and difficulties of arriving at the value of its plant are great, but that is not sufficient reason for requiring every municipality in the State involving the service of hundreds of small and privately owned public utilities to surrender its control and for depriving every city of its right to manage its own affairs.

"Under the present law, a city may surrender its powers of regulation or not as it pleases, and many cities have done so, but a city has the right to reinvest itself with such powers should the administration of the Railroad Commission not prove satisfactory. The present system has been in force a little over two years. We have not given it sufficient trial. It has not outlived the term of a single administration. Why should we be in such haste to make a revolutionary change?

"New York and Wisconsin are now trying State control, but we can not yet say positively with what success. Illinois has accepted a compromise public utilities amendment. These rapid changes, without sufficient thought in many cases, are characteristic of the times. Within four or five years over three hundred cities have adopted the commission form of government, and now they are all wondering whether they had not better try the city manager plan.

"Before we adopt this amendment I should like to see how the Railroad Commission would be regarded if we happened to have a poor one. I have never known a single public office or board which at all times was filled by competent or even honest officials. If we did have a poor commission for as long a period as we have had a good one, we should probably find as many cities calling elections for the purpose of taking back the powers of regulation as there are at the present time calling elections for the contrary purpose. It is unwise to commence an experiment until we are finished with the experiment we are engaged in. Two years is far too short a time for almost any experiment in municipal government.

"The Railroad Commission is already overwhelmed with work. If the commission is required to regulate public utilities serving the two hundred and twenty-four cities and towns in this State, it would be necessary either to increase the number of commissioners or for the commission to delegate their work to a larger number of assistants. Enlarge the commission and the peril of inefficiency and the danger of outside domination will be greater. The corporations themselves want State control, and I venture to predict that if this amendment carries we shall not wait many years before we are confronted with the problem of corporation control, and it would not be easy for a few discontented municipalities to reinvest themselves with the powers which they have surrendered.

"If we are going to give the commission any additional powers, let them be confined to the regulation of stock and bond issues, accounting systems, regulation of rates where power is voluntarily surrendered and to the determination of appeals. Cities should at least retain absolute control over their streets. In the recent decision of Oro Electric Corporation vs. the Railroad Commission (April 10, 1914) the Supreme Court held that the Railroad Commission exceeded its powers in denying the plaintiff the right to construct its works in Stockton because Stockton had voted to retain the powers of regulation as provided in the constitutional amendment of 1911, and had granted the franchise to plaintiff to construct and operate an electric light plant in that city. If the city had not so voted, or if the present proposed amendment had been in effect, it may be inferred from the decision that the commission's order would have been valid, and the franchise granted by the city to the company would have been valueless.

"Many public utilities are of intimate concern to a city, and questions relating to regulation are closely related with questions of municipal government. The proposed amendment does not contemplate the regulation of municipally owned plants and it is a matter of speculation what the effect of this omission will be. This question was bitterly contested when the Illinois commission was created last year. Chicago successfully fought the proposition to extend the powers of the commission over municipal plants. Many cities are jealous of the outside control of local public utilities. San Francisco has long been clamoring to get control of its water front now under State control.

"The Public Utilities Committee of the Civic Club of Los Angeles has voted unanimously to oppose the adoption of the present proposed amendment. The officers of commission-governed cities in Illinois, at a convention held in Springfield in December, 1913, adopted a resolution in favor of municipal control. The Committee of the National League of Municipalities reported against compulsory State control. Dr. Delos F. Wilcox, in the last January number of the National Municipal Review, says:

> " 'It may also be urged that the control of all public utilities should be localized as much as possible. In this way only can the active and intelligent interest of the voters be aroused and maintained, and the entire machinery of government be kept close to the people for whose benefit it has been created. . . . This course would lead us to give the benefit of the doubt to local rather than State regulation, and to extend the principle of State control only so fast and so far as the facts make it logical and practically necessary to appeal to a central authority.'

"He says that adequate city planning is impossible without effective control of the development of the public utilities system and that the city should have final authority with relation to the occupation of the streets, the quality of service rendered and to the nature of the franchise contract.

"Professor J. Allen Smith, Dean of the Graduate School of the University of Washington, in an article entitled 'Municipal vs. State Control of Public Utilities,' says that State governments have in the past failed to protect cities against the abuses of public service corporations operating within their limits, and in support of his argument cites a number of decisions of the Supreme Court of the State of Washington protecting corporations.

"The proposed amendment in California also provides that it shall not affect such powers over public utilities as relate to the making and enforcement of local police, sanitary and other regulations, other than the fixing of rates, vested in any city, etc., as, 'at an election . . . a majority of the qualified electors . . . shall vote to retain, etc.' This seems to be indefinite after the broad grant of powers contained in the first sentence of the amendment which is there stated to be plenary.

"We are now in a fair way to secure better municipal government because the citizens of America are giving more attention to it. There is every reason to encourage this progress. The voter is in closer touch with municipal affairs than with any other. On principle, Federal and State regulation and control should be confined to those matters which concern the whole nation or the whole State, as the case may be. Logically where local affairs may be dealt with locally, they should be controlled locally. The present existing law is carefully designed to allow a city to surrender its control where a problem is too large for it, and it always has the power of recall. It is not my purpose to condemn the proposed amendment unqualifiedly, but, having in mind the possible objections to it, it seems to me unwise to alter the present law until it has been given a fair trial or until we are prepared to say that a better system of State control may not be devised."

PROTESTS AGAINST STABLES SHOULD BE SPECIFIC.

Those who wish to make protests to the Board of Supervisors against the granting of stable permits, in order to receive official attention, are required to specifically state in their protest the precise location of the proposed stable and the name of the applicant. A separate protest must be made against each stable for the reason that the committee hearings for several permits may be on different dates.

PREVENTING PAVEMENT CUTS.

Cuts in pavements in the City of Westminster, England, are reduced to a minimum by a method which is commented upon by George W. Tillson, consulting engineer of the Borough of Brooklyn, New York City, in his recent report on investigations of pavements in European cities. Whereever possible, Mr. Tillson says, subways, telephone and electric light lines are laid in the sidewalk area, so that the roadway will not be disturbed during construction or repairs. The most striking practice of reducing the number of street openings is the ruling that no sewer shall be smaller than 2 feet 4 inches by 3 feet 6 inches. Workmen, therefore, can enter the sewer and tunnel from it into the house line for a connection, and in this way the suface of the street is not disturbed. This practice, Mr. Tillson points out, is particularly interesting from the fact that in America most cities will not permit tunneling except under special conditions.

STATISTICS OF CITIES.

State Controller John S. Chambers has just issued a report of the financial transactions of the cities and counties of California for the year 1913. The report has been delayed owing to the neglect of several cities to make reports. The report contains reports from 218 municipalities and from all of the counties and covers receipts and disbursements of funds in detail, tax rates, assessments and cost of operating public utilities.

A comparison of the receipts and disbursements of cities, the receipts not including those from bond sales, is as follows:

	Receipts.	Disbursements.
1911	$36,287,559.81	$43,808,965.13
1912	38,921,488.06	53,251,005.27
1913	43,707,784.47	67,089,259.36

It is estimated that the population of the State has increased from 2,377,549 in 1910 to 2,763,050. The greater portion of the increase is in the cities.

The total value of assessed property in the State, including railroads, in 1913 was $3,134,811,284, an increase of $226,956,251 over the previous year.

Approximately, the combined governments of the State, counties and municipalities disbursed the following sums:

By the State	$ 22,900,416.40
By the counties	49,951,771.95
By the municipalities	67,089,250.36
Total	$139,941.447.71.

There are eighty municipal water systems in the State with a total income of $3,396,510.25. The cost of operation is reported at $1,631,165.98, and interest and bond payments amount to $456,585.32.

There are fourteen municipal lighting systems with an income of $664,128.22. The operating cost was $464,109.09, and interest and bond payments was $28,184.28.

There is one municipal gas system which had an income of $16,470.10; operating cost, $11,977.38, and interest and bond charges of $1,800.

Six cities own docks and wharves from which there was an income of $48,549.21; expenses, $26,416.43; bonds, interest and redemption, $85,612.50.

The largest expenditure for a single purpose is for education. For the support of the primary, grammar and high schools the expenditures for 1911 were $16,823,456; in 1912, $19,466,830, and in 1913, $21,359,189. In addition $3,293,535 was expended for new buildings and equipment.

By direction of the Board of Public Works a non-slip surface will be installed at the new safety station now being constructed at Market, Post and Montgomery streets.

THE WAR AND MUNICIPAL BONDS.

Municipal bonds have naturally felt the effect of the war in Europe, along with all other securities. During the first six days of this month ten or more cities received no bids for bonds offered and two thought it advisable to postpone advertised sales. But this is not to be wondered at nor should cities become alarmed thereby as to their future finances. During July the market for municipal bonds was better than ever, many selling on a basis of 3.71 per cent to 4.40 per cent; and the war situation can certainly have no effect on the stability of the finances of United States cities.

Railroad and industrial securities might be affected in their actual as well as their market value by the effect of the war upon commerce; but the only effect upon municipal bonds would seem to be the general withdrawal of money from investment, and this will be but temporary, in the judgment of financiers. When money again seeks investments, in a few days or weeks, the municipals will, it would seem, be still more favorably considered than during the past few months.—Municipal Journal.

TO EXCHANGE PROPERTY WITH THE STATE.

The Board of Supervisors last Monday passed to print an ordinance authorizing the Mayor to execute a deed to the State of property on the northeast corner of Polk and McAllister streets of the dimensions of 100 by 120 feet, the same to be in exchange for a lot of equal size owned by the State located at the corner of Polk and Fulton streets. The Legislature in 1913 authorized the Governor to execute a deed to the City of the State's property above located. The State property is situated in the block in the Civic Center that is proposed for park purposes and the exchange at this time is necessary in order to institute the improvement of the square in the Civic Center. A bond issue for $1,000,000 will be voted upon in November for the purpose of erecting a State building for housing the various State offices now scatered through the city. If the bond issue is carried it is the purpose of the City to convey to the State the remainder of the frontage on the north side of McAllister street, between Polk and Larkin streets, and thus afford ground for the erection of a commodious and handsome State building as one of the group of public edifices comprising the Civic Center.

MUNICIPAL LIGHT PLANTS INCREASE.

Municipal electric light plants in the United States numbered 1,562 in 1912, according to a recent report of the United States Census Bureau. This is a gain of 747 municipal plants since 1902, or 92 per cent.

The total income of the municipal electric plants in 1912 was $23,218,989, as compared with $6,965,105 in 1902. In 1912 the total horsepower of the plants was 559,328; in 1902 it was 160,028.

The number of persons employed in municipal light plants in 1912 was 7,940, as compared with 3,417 in 1902.

DEATH TO FLIES.

Borax kills fly eggs, and about 2 ounces per garbage can will prevent flies from breeding. This is the announcement made recently by the Department of Agriculture. Propagation in stables, garbage piles, rubbish heaps and in fertilizer can now be prevented cheaply without lessening the value of the decaying matter for use by the farmer. Borax, to the amount of 0.62 lb., or calcined colemanite (crude Calcium Borate), 0.75 lb., was found by experiment to eliminate breeding of flies in eight bushels of fertilizer. It is believed that this discovery will assist health authorities in campaigns against the typhoid fly. Contractors should welcome the method as an aid to keep construction camps free from flies.

EXPOSITION NEWS NOTES.

Two dozen great choral and other musical organizations from as many states will compete for the $25,000 prize at the International Eisteddfod to be held the last week in July, 1915, at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition. The Choral Union of Scranton, Pa., won first prize, Chicago's Choral Union second and Cleveland's singers third.

Henry Ford, automobile manufacturer, will show in the Palace of Education and Social Economy of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition the detailed workings of the social service innovations made in his factories. The details of his division of 3,000 acres into 15-acre tracts for workers also will be shown.

Officials of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition have received notification from the government at Washington that all United States Government exhibits will be shown in the $500,000 government building. The available space in other exhibit palaces has been greatly oversubscribed and this will relieve the congestion for the exposition palaces.

Los Angeles sportsmen have subscribed $20,000 for the construction of a 12-meter yacht to be entered in the international regatta of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition. Victoria, Vancouver, Seattle and San Francisco are some of the cities that are to have yachts entered.

The largest paid admission attendance of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition was registered on Sunday, August 1, when 7,054 persons paid twenty-five cents admission. The previous record was the Sunday preceding when the attendance was 6,430. The daily attendance now runs more than one thousand. No special programs are being offered and the advanced stage of completion is the drawing card.

One of the features of the Washington Building at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition will be Ezra Meeker and his team of oxen. Meeker, white of hair and beard, is in San Francisco and will drive his team from the State of Washington to the Exposition at the opening next year. A few years ago he drove them over the trail from Seattle to Washington, D. C.

On August 6 President Charles C. Moore of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition received word from France that Amile Sere, delegate of the commission of organization of the French section of the Exposition and M. de Montarnal, architect-in-chief, will arrive in San Francisco on August 20 with plans for France's pavilion. Work is expected to be begun at once.

From the seat of war the jewels which are to be used with splendid effect at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition have arrived safely in New York. Austria is furnishing these hand cut glass jewels and a delay of a few days would have meant that the Exposition would have lost one of its most spectacular features. The steel work for the 435 foot "Tower of Jewels" is up and awaiting the placing of the 125,000 jewels.

An eight-oared rowing regatta in which the principal cities of the United States will be represented by crews is the latest proposal that comes from the East to the officials of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition. The plan is favored and such cities as Boston, Philadelphia, New York, Baltimore, Cleveland, San Francisco, Portland, Seattle, Los Angeles and Tacoma are expected to enter boat crews.

A farewell luncheon was given by the president and directors of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition to Commissioner General Haruki Yamawaki of Japan on July 31. The Japanese representative to the Exposition was on the eve of his departure to Japan to complete plans for his nation's participation in the Exposition.

President Charles C. Moore announced this week that the European war would not affect the Panama-Pacific International Exposition. He said: "Today the preparations have gone too far. The Exposition practically is completed and its domestic and foreign participation too well assured for anything to prevent the Exposition from being a magnificent success. Even though all Europe should be ablaze with war the Exposition will be heralded to the world as the greatest and most comprehensive exhibition ever held."

Commissioner General Yamawaki, Japan's representative at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, was given a luncheon by the president and directors of the Exposition on July 31. The commissioner returned to Japan a few days later for a conference and report on the exposition, and will return in October. His secretary remains in San Francisco to have charge of Japan's participation.

A dinner was given on August 3, at the Commercial Club in San Francisco, by the British committee of San Francisco for the purpose of furthering the work of providing a British pavilion at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition. More than 300 were present, and much enthusiasm was shown.

The first exhibit in the Palace of Manufactures of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition was installed on July 27th. The exhibit is a broom making factory installed by the Levenson Company of San Francisco. The first exhibit was installed in the Palace of Machinery several weeks ago.

The alarm of fire on the grounds of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition aroused the entire city fire fighting force of San Francisco recently, but the exposition's three companies operating automobile equipment were more than adequate in putting out a small blaze in the dome of the Palace of Agriculture. Fire Chief Murphy is said to have made the record run from the central station to the exposition grounds. In addition to automatic fire alarms, the exposition buildings are equipped with automatic sprinklers and a lookout has been placed in the "Tower of Jewels," 435 feet high, to watch for fire dangers.

The Commonwealth of Australia and the Dominion of New Zealand started their pavilions on the grounds of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition on July 23 with enthusiastic demonstrations. A salute of 21 guns was fired by a battery from Fort Winfield Scott when each flag was raised over the site. At a luncheon at the Palace Hotel and in the program on the grounds declarations of marked friendship for the United States were made by the commissioners from Australia and New Zealand, and were warmly received by those present.

The contracts for the Iowa and Missouri buildings at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition have been let, and work will be begun at once. There are now 42 States and Territories participating in the 1915 exposition.

REPORT OF CITY ENGINEER ON WATER DEVELOPMENT IN RICHMOND AND SUNSET DISTRICTS.

August 21, 1914.

To the Honorable the Board of Supervisors,
San Francisco, California.

Gentlemen: Referring to your Journal Resolution No. 1381, dated August 10, 1914, wherein I am directed to inform your Honorable Board what progress has been made in the matter of sinking wells and supplying additional water service to the Richmond and Sunset Districts, I have pleasure in submitting the following:

Ordinance No. 2722, Bill 3000, passed on April 20, 1914, directed the Board of Public Works to prepare specifications and contracts and advertise for bids for boring and testing wells in the Richmond and Sunset Districts. This office, upon instructions from the Board of Public Works, proceeded at once to put these instructions into effect, by making the necessary inquiries and adopting a course of procedure that would be the most effective in carrying out the spirit of your direction.

There are a few wells in the Sunset and Richmond Districts from which water is pumped for domestic supply, but so far as known they are shallow wells and not cased off from the supply of surface water.

Before proceeding with the drilling of wells for municipal water supply it was determined best to ascertain definitely the extent of the water-bearing strata lying between the surface and bed rock, assuming that the bed rock would not much exceed a depth of about four hundred (400) feet from the surface.

A number of locations for test holes were selected along the line of school lots and Fire Department lots extending from Balboa street on the north to Wawona street on the south, and between Forty-second and Forty-fifth avenues, and arrangements with the Board of Education and the Board of Fire Commissioners were made for permission to sink test holes and wells on these properties.

Several well drillers were interviewed and proposals were received for drilling test holes at the locations selected. Arrangements were made with the Layne & Bowlor Corporation at a price of $1.25 per foot for ordinary drilling, in material other than rock or solidified formation, and they started drilling the first test hole on the first of June on the school lot situated between Forty-second and Forty-third avenues, Balboa and Cabrillo streets, in the Richmond District.

This test hole No. 1 was drilled and completed at 299 feet to rock, and water bearing sands were encountered in such quantities at from 200 feet to 299 feet in depth from the surface as to indicate a satisfactory water supply to be had from a properly installed well at this location.

Test hole No. 2, located on the Fire Department lot situated on Forty-fourth avenue, between Cabrillo and Fulton streets, was drilled and completed at 348 feet to rock and water bearing sands were encountered in sufficient quantity to warrant the installation of a well at this location.

Test hole No. 3, located on the Fire Department lot situated on Forty-fifth avenue, between Irving and Judah streets, was drilled and completed at 244 feet to rock, and test hole No. 4, located on the school lot on Forty-second avenue, between Irving and Judah streets, was drilled and completed at 177 feet to rock. Both of these, No. 3 and No. 4, test holes penetrated water bearing sands in sufficient quantity to warrant the installation of a well at each location.

Test hole No. 5, located on the school lot on Forty-second avenue, between Kirkham and Lawton, is now being drilled.

Proposals for the drilling and installation of a well on the location of test hole No. 1 are now being advertised for, and proposals for drilling and installation of a well on the location of test hole No. 2 will be advertised for within the next few days. Proposals for drilling and installing wells on locations of No. 3 and No. 4 test holes are now being prepared and will follow promptly.

It is the intention to continue, without interruption, the drilling of the test holes on the locations already mentioned, and upon the indications to be had from these test holes to determine more definitely than is now possible the extent of the water-bearing sands and gravels underlying this district.

Regarding the reservoirs, the Park Commission has granted its approval of the location of a reservoir proposed to be installed in Lincoln Park at a point about 300 feet north of Clement street on a line of what would be an extension of Thirty-ninth and Fortieth avenues. This reservoir is designed to have a capacity of 3,000,000 gallons, and at an elevation of about 350 feet should afford sufficient pressure for the district. The designs for the reservoir are practically completed and proposals for construction can be prepared in due time.

A study of the main distribution system is now being made.

Respectfully submitted,
M. M. O'SHAUGHNESSY,
City Engineer.

MUNICIPAL RAILWAY RECEIPTS FOR AUGUST.

Receipts of the Municipal Railway system from all sources, excepting advertising and money due for transfers from the United Railroads, reached a total of $98,691.10 for the month of August. These receipts included 16 days of operation of the Van Ness avenue line, which has been going ahead gradually and which will show much larger receipts when connection is made with the Potrero avenue extension, to be made next Monday, and as travel to the Exposition grounds increases and the traveling public becomes familiar with the points which may be reached by taking city railroads to a connection with this line.

Receipts for the present month are expected to show a large increase, however, over the one just passed, which had no particular holidays to attract travel, and with weather conditions none too favorable for visits to Golden Gate Park, the ocean beach, the Presidio and the Exposition grounds.

The receipts from various sources, according to the statement issued from the office of General Superintendent Thomas A. Cashin, were as follows:

"A" Line—Market and Geary streets and Tenth avenue, Ferries to Golden Gate Park, $28,935.10.

"B" Line—Market and Geary streets, from the Ferries to the ocean beach, $30,994.85.

"E" Line (Union street line)—From the Ferries, via The Embarcadero, Columbus avenue and Union street, to the Presidio and Exposition grounds, $27,320.10.

"D" Line—Market and Geary streets, Van Ness avenue, Chestnut and Scott streets, to the Exposition grounds, $8,006.10.

"H" Line—Van Ness avenue, Market street to Exposition, $3,016.15.

School tickets sold, $365.50.

United States Quartermasters' tickets sold, $50.30.

Broken windows, $3.

Grand total, $98,691.10.

LOCAL QUESTIONS MAY NOT BE ON BALLOT.

There are two questions local to San Francisco which have been referred to the voters, viz., the question of the removal of the cemeteries, and the proposition to take from the Police Commission the right to issue saloon licenses, giving this right to the property owners in the block in which saloons are proposed. It was intended to have these questions placed on the ballot at the November election, but Secretary of State Jordan has refused to so put them, and the Supreme Court will be asked to issue a writ directing how this legislation shall be submitted to the people. It is possible that it may have to be submitted to a separate ballot, in which case it will necessitate two ballot boxes in each booth. Commissioner Thos. V. Cator is engaged in drawing up the petition to the Supreme Court.

The State ballot, without any additional matters, will be forty inches long and twenty-four wide. This is as large as an ordinary newspaper opened.

The Election Commission has increased the number of polling places throughout the city to 525. At the recent primary election the number was 403.

CIVIL SERVICE.

Examination of 800 candidates for positions as conductors on the Municipal Railway system who qualified in the athletic tests will be held at the Mission High School Saturday. The questions will pertain to general knowledge of duties, writing of reports and elementary educational qualifications. Five former civil service district foremen who were dropped from the service of the Board of Public Works two years ago have notified the Civil Service Commission that they will institute legal proceedings to secure reinstatement as city employees.

POTRERO AVENUE LINE OPENED NEXT MONDAY.

The municipal railway from Van Ness avenue along Market street and Potrero avenue to Twenty-fifth street has been completed. Trial cars have been run over the road and the line will be formally opened for business next Monday.

Superintendent Cashin of the city railways will have every car of the system in operation on that day, and while the full complement has not as yet arrived, he hopes to be able to handle the throngs which it is expected will crowd the city lines on that day. Of the 125 new cars which have been ordered 32 will be ready for service next Monday, which with the 4 built for the Geary road, will make a total of 75 cars in operation.

The line to be opened and operated directly in connection with the Van Ness avenue line to the north bay shore and the Exposition grounds extends from the foot of that line across Market street and down Eleventh street by way of Division street and Potrero avenue to Twenty-sixth street, a distance of two miles.

The cost of construction for installation of track, grading and paving was $126,000 and has been completed, not including unavoidable delays, in less than 90 days' time. On Potrero avenue, between Sixteenth and Mariposa streets, the city has joint use of the tracks of the Ocean Shore railroad, which was one of the conditions when that corporation was given a franchise that the city should have the use of the tracks by paying its proportion of maintenance.

Following the formal opening of the road Superintendent Cashin expects to maintain a five-minute headway until the arrival of more cars permits a headway which will be suited to arrange the demands of the traveling public.

The following is the program arranged for the occasion:

At 9:30 o'clock Mayor Rolph, members of the Board of Supervisors, Board of Works and other city officials will assemble at the terminus of the road at Potrero avenue and Twenty-fifth street, and short exercises will be held. The Municipal Band will furnish music, and remarks will be made by the Mayor and by Alexander Vogelsang, chairman of the Public Utilities Committee. Supervisor J. Emmet Hayden is in charge of the program.

The first car, carrying the city officials and citizens invited to participate, is to leave on the initial trip by 10 o'clock. Superintendent Cashin will manage it. Other cars will be in readiness to carry all who wish to get aboard for the opening run. Everybody, including the city officials, will have to pay fare.

At the Exposition grounds the exercises will be in charge of a committee of the Native Sons. The following is the programme:

Overture—Municipal Band, John A. Keogh, director.
Introductory address—H. I. Mulcrevy, chairman executive committee.
Address—"San Francisco," Mayor James Rolph, Jr.

A Review of Construction Work of the City During the Past Year

The Engineering Department of the City has completed its annual report for the year ended June 30, which report makes a volume of 300 typewritten pages.

It contains a detailed account of all the construction work of the city done during the year and is of special interest to all citizens. Besides this detail there is a brief description of the various projects under the direction of the bureau recently completed, those now under construction and those for which plans and specifications have been prepared.

The report is a useful source of information and a summary of its contents is here presented:

Sewer System.

During the past fiscal year almost all of the funds available for sewer construction from the sale of bonds of the issues of 1904 and 1908 have been expended. All of the bonds have been sold with the exception of $181,200 of the issue of 1903. This sum and small balances from bonds already sold remain to be expended next year. San Francisco's sewer system, though incomplete, is highly creditable. The extent and excellence of the work is more than commensurate with the amount of money expended.

Contracts Completed.

The following sewers, the contracts for which were awarded prior to June 30, 1913, payable from Bond Fund of 1904, were completed during the year: Pierce street, from Bay to Lewis streets. This is the main outfall for the Panama-Pacific Exposition District. It was completed December 13, 1913. The sewer was 7 feet, 7 feet 6 inches, and 8 feet in diameter, of reinforced concrete on piles with special outfall structure. It cost $53,341. Cabrillo street and Twenty-third avenue, from Fulton street in Twenty-sixth avenue to Cabrillo street, in Cabrillo to Twenty-third avenue and thence in Twenty-third avenue to Anza street, a 3x4 ft. 6 in. reinforced concrete sewer. The work was completed September 19, 1913, and cost $34,455.

The following sewers were contracted for and completed during the year: Mission and Twenty-ninth streets. It was completed December 24, 1913,. at a cost of $16,733. Courtland avenue outlet sewer was completed November 26, 1913, and cost $9,892; Railroad avenue and Kentucky street was completed January 7, 1913, at a cost of $23,876; sanitary sewer across Golden Gate Park from Thirtieth avenue and Lincoln Way to Twenty-sixth avenue and Fulton street was completed June 10, 1914, at a cost of $15,171; Seventh and Locksley avenue sewer was completed May 27, 1914, at a cost of $19,105; Baker street from Tonquin street to the Bay has been completed at a cost of nearly $30,000.

Other completed sewer work was the installation of pumps at the Commercial street Pumping Station at a cost of $2,355, and the alteration of the overflow structure at Fourth and Brannan streets, which cost $6,857.

The following work was completed during the year and paid for out of the proceeds from the sale of sewer bonds, issue of 1908:

Commercial street and Fulton street.—The contracts for the sewer in Commercial street from Sansome street to the Embarcadero and in Fulton street, between Twenty-sixth and Forty-eight avenues were awarded June 30, 1913, and completed at a cost of $15,772.

Forty-eighth avenue.—This was a sewer of reinforced concrete, 9x11 feet. The original contract was awarded April 17, 1912. The original contractor failed to complete the work and the contract was annulled February 13, 1913, and was relet on March 26, 1913. The work has been completed at a cost of over $214,000.

Visitacion Valley Sewer.—This was a combined pipe and concrete sewer in Rutland street from Harkness street to the Bay. The sewer on July 1st was eighty per cent completed and is now almost finished. The sum of $61,686 had been paid the contractor to July 1st.

Mile Rock Tunnel.—The work under this contract calls for the construction of a 9x11 ft. sewer of reinforced concrete built in a tunnel 4,000 feet in length, through which the storm water will be conducted from the lower Sunset district to San Francisco Bay. The contract was awarded February 11, 1914. On July 1st, 132 lineal feet of the

A contract has been awarded for the machinery for a pumping station in Golden Gate Park. The contract was awarded June 3, 1914, at a price of $10,948.

In addition to the foregoing, sewer materials to the amount of over $50,000 were purchased and paid for out of the general fund.

Auxiliary Water Supply for Fire Protection.

During the past fiscal year this system, as originally designed, was practically completed. Final acceptance of work contracted for during the preceding year was made and payments made thereon. Bonds were authorized in 1908 for $5,200,000 for this improvement and this sum with the premiums received from the sale of bonds has been expended with the exception of $17,000.

The following contracts were completed during the year:

The repair of the Twin Peaks Reservoir.

Furnishing pipe and fittings for the Jones street Reservoir.

Construction of Jones street Reservoir.

Construction of Pumping Station No. 3 at Fort Mason and mechanical equipment therefor.

Furnishing 1482 tons of cast iron specials.

For 5,385 tons of cast iron pipe.

For laying mains in Fort Mason Military Reservation to the pumping station.

Municipal Street Railways.

On August 26, 1913, bonds were authorized to the amount of $3,500,000 for the construction of municipal street railways.

During the year detailed plans and specifications were prepared and contracts were entered into for the following:

Stockton street line.—From Market street along Stockton street to Columbus avenue, where connection will be made with the Union street line. The line is now under construction and will be completed about October 10, 1914. Length 0.97 mile.

Masonic avenue extension.—This is an extension to the Geary street line and extends from Geary street to Turk street and was built to facilitate traffic to the new base ball park. Length 0.26 mile.

Plans are being prepared for an extension on Columbus avenue from a connection with the Union street line to North Point street; thence to Van Ness avenue, and thence to Chestnut street to connect with the Van Ness avenue line; also an extension through the Fort Mason Military Reservation to Laguna street at an entrance to the Exposition grounds.

Plans are also in preparation for the construction of the California street line from Thirty-third avenue to Second avenue, thence to Geary street to connect with the Geary street line; also for a line on Church street.

Contracts have been made for 125 street cars and of this number 36 have been delivered by September 1st. Contracts have been let for the enlargement of the Geary street car barn and plans made for a new structure for car storage at Seventeenth, York and Hampshire streets.

On August 10, there had been expended from the Municipal Railways construction fund the sum of $1,070,038.51.

Street Work.

The most important paving contract undertaken by the city during the past year was the repaving of the Junipero Serra Boulevard, a stretch of roadway 1.6 miles in length. The grade was straightened as far as possible, without making heavy cuts and fills. The specifications called for a paved roadway 25 feet in width with 5 ft. rock gutters on each side. The base is of concrete six inches thick with sides raised to 8½ and six inches high, by which the asphalt will be held in place. The base is covered with a binder 1½ inches thick upon which is laid a wearing surface of asphalt one inch thick. On July 1st the pavement was eighty per cent completed.

A large amount of street pavement was reconstructed during the year by public contract, as is shown by the following table:

	Pavement Area Square Feet	Cost
Asphalt	272,743.50	58,212.06
Bituminous Rock	8,842.70	1,991.23
Bituminous Rock and	54,002.95	6,708.82
Basalt Strip	9,646.45	3,509.27
Basalt Blocks	17,726.70	5,963.07
Broken Rock	31,393.57	1,875.57

This work does not include new pavement laid by the city's force, which is more than shown above. At present the city is reconstructing the pavement of Third street from Market to the Southern Pacific depot, Kentucky and Drumm streets.

Garbage Incinerator.

The construction of the garbage incinerator is completed and has been undergoing official tests for some time. Some difficulty has been met in the matter of handling the residuum of cremation. Suggested changes in construction have been made and the results are being awaited before final acceptance is had.

Municipal Asphalt Plant.

The city has under construction a new asphalt plant for the manufacture of asphalt pavement. The cost of machinery and buildings will be approximately $57,000. The entire property and railroad facilities will represent an investment of about $130,000. The capacity will be 180 loads or 320 cubic yards of wearing surface or binder per day. The contract for the new plant was let on April 20, and will require about six months for its completion.

A new office building has been designed to occupy adjacent grounds which will accommodate the street construction and kindred bureaus of the Board of Public Works. When all is completed the city will have an establishment of its kind equal to any other city in the country.

Stockton Street Tunnel.

The status of this work has been reported from time to time and is now almost completed. The earth and rock core is now nearly removed and about all that remains to be done is to lay railway tracks and pave the floor of the tunnel. The length of the tunnel is 911 feet from portal to portal, with approaches of 137 feet in length on the north and 275 feet on the south. The width from the springing lines is 50 feet in the clear. The height above the curb is 19 feet.

Twin Peaks Tunnel.

All the work preliminary to actual construction has been done. The land necessary for the opening of Market street to the east portal has been acquired and the work of removal of structures thereon has been started. Bids for construction work were advertised for, but owing to certain legal complications, none was received. These legal obstacles have been overcome and bids will be again called for in a short time.

San Francisco Water Supply.

Most of the work done during the year has been of a preliminary nature necessary to the development of this immense project. The permit to use the Hetch Hetchy valley was granted by Congress in December, 1913, and consequently but little work could be done until the spring following. Maps and plats showing intended development have been made for the federal authorities and have been approved by them. Camp sites have been located and improved. The "Creek Camp" has been secured about one mile from Hamilton and the site cleared and fenced. A water supply for domestic use has been piped to the grounds and a substantial store house has been erected. At the Ike Dye place the barn has been improved and at Hog Ranch the water supply has been augmented. The telephone system from Hamilton to Hog Ranch has been placed in working order.

The wagon road to Hog Ranch has been improved and a cut off of nearly four miles constructed. A trail ten miles long from the Early Intake down the bank of the Tuolumne river has been constructed.

For the transportation of material to the proposed dam site in the Hetch Hetchy valley has been contracted for at a cost of $152,000. It will be completed in October. It is nine miles long with a 22 foot roadbed and a maximum grade of four per cent. This is not designed as a scenic road, but it will present attractive features and will afford the first means of ingress to the valley for vehicles.

Stream measurements and other hydrographic work have been continued during the year. New gauging stations have been established and the cooperation secured of the Division of Water Resources of the United States government. At these stations will be measured the amounts of water that will have to be released for irrigation purposes.

An inventory has been made of all apparatus, tools and equipment controlled by the Hetch Hetchy department. Monthly reports are made showing the names, duties and salaries of all employees and a statement of all bills payable.

Hydraulic Department.

For the study of the entire water supply situation in San Francisco a hydraulic department has been established. Studies have been made of underground water supply of the Livermore valley with a view of determining the value of the property of the Spring Valley Water Company.

A study of the underground water supply within the city has been made with a view to its immediate utilization. A report covering this work was published in the Record of September 3rd.

This department compiles all the data concerning the stream flow of the Tuolumne river and its tributaries.

The engineering department has also made a complete inventory and appraisement of the properties of the Spring Valley Water Company, which has just been published.

Miscellaneous Work.

A new well is in process of construction at the Municipal Water Works in Visitatcion valley.

Test holes for wells have been sunk in the Richmond and Sunset districts to determine a source of water supply.

A reservoir has been designed to be constructed in Lincoln park.

The water system at the county jail has been improved.

A large amount of work accomplished has been reported by the division of streets and surveys.

PLAYGROUND COMMISSION'S REPORT.

The annual championship swimming meet under the auspices of the Public Schools Athletic League has been scheduled for September 19, and the director of the league has been granted permission to hold the event in the tank at the North Beach bath house.

The Emerson Mothers' Club has notified the Playground Commission that it will be impossible for it to continue the horticultural work on the California Woman's Hospital site.

The shortening of the slide at the North Beach playground was considered, and a committee appointed to investigate and report on the best measure to be taken regarding this contemplated change.

The Commission has under advisement the supervision of the yard of the Glen Park School, and with this end in view the grounds committee is consulting with the Board of Education as to the best means of developing same.

THE STATE WANTS "WAITERS."

The California State Civil Service Commission announces that the number of applicants for positions as waiters in the State employ has been too small to meet the needs of the State institutions, so that it has been necessary to plan for another examination, to be held October 3, 1914. Applications will be received at the office of the Commission, State Capitol, Sacramento, on or before that date.

The State employs waiters in the School for the Deaf and Blind, and the Mendocino, Napa and Stockton State Hospitals, at salaries ranging from $31.25 to $45 per month, with room and board provided in addition.

The examination is open to all male citizens of the State, between the ages of 21 and 60 on the date of the examination, who comply with the requirements.

Further information and application blanks may be secured from the State Civil Service Commission, State Capitol, Sacramento. Applications must be properly executed and filed with the Commission on or before October 3, 1914.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE PARK COMMISSION.

At a meeting of the Board of Park Commissioners, held Thursday, August 20, 1914, the following business was transacted:

A committee from the Haight and Ashbury District Improvement Club appeared before the Board protesting against the closing of the Cole street crossing through the Panhandle. They claimed that it would prove a great inconvenience to business men who would have to travel two blocks further west in order to cross the Stanyan street crossing. President Metson informed the committee that the argument in favor of closing the crossing out-weighed the protest against closing the same. The mud brought upon Fell and Oak streets in the winter time off the Cole street crossing was causing houses to become and remain vacant and as the crossing was not a necessity it should be closed to vehicles but not to pedestrians in compliance with the wishes of a great majority of the property owners fronting the Panhandle. Protest of improvement club disallowed.

A communication was received from the City Engineer's office stating that on June 30, 1914, Mayor James Rolph, Jr., approved Ordinance No. 2817 by which the sidewalk on the westerly side of Stockton street between Post and Geary streets, was reduced from fifteen to nine feet. This reduction will necessitate a change in the convenience station in Union Square. Request granted and referred to Superintendent McLaren, provided four posts be removed as per recommendation of the superintendent.

A communication was received from the Board of Supervisors enclosing copy of Resolution No. 10877 (New Series), by which eight thousand one hundred and thirty-six ($8,136) dollars is approved to be appropriated for the planting of trees, shrubs and general parking of the Civic Center under the supervision of the Park Commission.

Application of Mr. Rollie B. Fagoel to install an auto traction train and auto trailer for conveying the public in and through Golden Gate Park, was considered, and there being many objections to granting any more concessions the application was withdrawn.

The request of Mrs. L. T. Kitts that blue prints of the park layout be framed and attached to posts at certain intervals for the convenience of visitors, was received and referred to Superintendent McLaren.

A check for the sale of fifteen lambs, amounting to $48.75, was received from J. Cerighini, and deposited in Treasury.

By suggestion of Mr. W. T. Sadler the Francis Scott Key monument in Golden Gate Park will be draped with the American flag on the one hundredth anniversary of the writing of the "Star Spangled Banner," September 14, 1914.

The request of C. J. Evans for the construction of two modern roque courts, as there will be an international roque tournament at the Exposition next year, was referred to Superintendent McLaren.

The request of De Witt Knox for permission to plant flower garden on Lake Park, abutting No. 756 Lake street, to a depth of fifteen feet, referred to Superintendent McLaren.

The question of the selection of the electroliers for Mission Park was referred to President Metson by the unanimous vote of the Board.

Bids were received from different contractors for the paving of the Stanyan street crossing, between Oak and Fell streets. The contract was awarded to the lowest bidder, Raisch & Company, for asphalt pavement at $.05½ per square foot.

Supervisor Andrew J. Gallagher has introduced a proposed charter amendment requiring the label of the Allied Printing Trades Council to be upon all printed stationery of the city.

ANNUAL REPORT OF LIBRARY TRUSTEES.

The annual report of the Board of Trustees of the Public Library has been filed, and contains much matter of general interest, as the following excerpts will show:

A most gratifying increase has been noted during the past year in the extent to which the library has been utilized by the public. Notwithstanding the fact that the fire of 1906 practically destroyed our service, and that the main library and half of our branch libraries are still in temporary quarters, the circulation and membership of the library have shown a steady growth.

The past year has been unequalled in the history of the library, the circulation for home use having reached approximately 1,000,000 volumes, or, to be exact, 934,002. This is an increase over the previous year in circulation of 81,410 volumes. At the time of the destruction of the library it contained 160,000 volumes, which it had taken over twenty-five years to accumulate. It is a striking fact that in the eight years that have since elapsed the library has acquired 144,000 volumes. A circulation for the year of practically 1,000,000 volumes would be equivalent to the use of each of the 144,000 volumes in the library seven times during the year; or it would represent the use of twenty-one volumes yearly by each of the forty-four odd thousand members.

The increase of card holders, or members, for the year is equal to the increase noted during the three previous years, and amounted to 22,604. This gives at present an active membership of 44,376. Both the membership and the circulation of the library show an increase of 10 per cent over that existing at the time of the practical destruction of the library by the fire.

Comparative studies made previous years have established the fact that ot the moneys expended for the maintenance of libraries, a larger proportion was expended for books and improvements here than in any of the cities of approximately the size of San Francisco, where statistics were available. The past year is noteworthy in this respect. Nearly 35 per cent of the total expenditures was spent in the purchase of books, periodicals and binding, the disbursement for books being the largest ever recorded. The following tabulation will give more clearly an analysis of expenditures:

	Expended	Percentage of Total
Books	$23,694.74	24.5
Periodicals	1,880.93	1.9
Binding	8,101.82	8.4
Furniture and repairs	5,951.29	6.2
Printing and stationery	3,126.50	3.3
Salaries	48,293.75	50.
Miscellaneous	5,464.11	5.7
	$96,513.14	100.

It will thus be seen that the total amount disbursed for the year is $96,513.14, which was provided by a tax of .018 levied by the Board of Supervisors on each $100 of the valuation of property assessed for taxation.

During the year, representatives of civic organizations in various sections of the city have applied to the Board of Trustees for the establishment of branches or stations in their locality. While in many instances the Board recognizes the urgent need for such additional service, it has not, with its present income, been able to make such extensions. Only two new stations have been established, Station N in the Richmond District and Station O in the Ingleside District.

The temporary building serving as the main library building is now overcrowded. Its capacity is taxed daily to the utmost to accommodate its patrons. With the installation of the new tier of stacks, the last available place for books has been utilized. Recognizing the fact that this building must soon become entirely inadequate to longer serve its purpose, the Board has endeavored to secure at as early a date as possible the plans for a permanent new main library building.

With this object in view, six eminent architects were invited last year to enter into competition for a design for this structure. Those selected were Geo. W. Kelham, Edgar A. Mathews, Albert Pissis, Reid Bros., Ward & Blohme and G. Albert Landsburgh. Plans were submitted by each of these architects to a jury of award, consisting of Mr. Paul P. Cret of the University of Pennsylvania, Mr. Cass Gilbert of New York and Mr. James D. Phelan of the Board of Library Trustees. The award was made to Mr. George W. Kelham. Completed plans will shortly be submitted to Mr. Kelham for this building, the estimated cost of which is $1,000,000. This sum is to be provided for out of the funds donated by Mr. Andrew Carnegie, there being available for this purpose half of the total donation, or $375,000. The remaining $625,000 is to be raised by the sale of municipal bonds, these bonds having been authorized by the voters at a special election held for this purpose.

A commodious and substantial new branch library building is now being constructed in the Richmond District. This is to occupy an inside 50 vara lot, between Ninth and Tenth avenues, Clement and Geary streets. The cost of this building is to be $48,000, which sum is to be provided out of the moneys available through the donation of Mr. Andrew Carnegie. It is expected that this building will be ready for occupancy in two months.

The Board of Supervisors, recognizing the necessity of providing for additional branch libraries in various sections of the city, has taken steps to secure available sites for the same. In the recent budget appropriations were made for the purchase of land for this purpose in the Mission Noe Valley, Golden Gate Valley and the Sunset District, aggregating about $37,000. It is the intention of the Board of Library Trustees to proceed at once with the erection of a branch library building on the Mission site. The erection of this building will result in an immediate annual saving of $1,500.00, now paid as rent for temporary quarters for the use of the Mission Branch Library. As in the case of the Richmond Branch Library, the expense of erecting this building will be met out of the moneys donated by Mr. Carnegie. It is the intention of the board, as soon as funds are assured for the maintenance of branches in the other districts mentioned, to proceed with the erection of branch library buildings.

ANNUAL REPORT OF PLAYGROUND COMMISSION.

The annual report of the Playground Commission has been filed, and contains the following outline of work done during the year:

The advance of San Francisco in municipal affairs during the past year has been most gratifying. The building of the Civic Center, the development of the Hetch Hetchy water system and the manner in which the streets are being improved are large affairs attracting national attention.

Whilst we are giving thought to matters of construction and development, we should not lost sight of the fact that we are building not only for ourselves but for future generations. The boys and girls of today are the citizens of tomorrow, and if we want good, strong men and women to carry on the work when our task is finished, we must not only look to the mental development of the child from a scholastic point of view, but his moral and physical welfare also demands our attention.

Modern conditions are such that apartment houses and flats, with their attendant telephones and gas stoves, eliminate the chores which a few years ago helped to fill in the hours between school and bed time. The old-fashioned home and spacious yard where the girls played house, ring around the rosy, hide and seek, etc., is gone; the vacant lots for ball games, macadamized streets for coasters, wooden sidewalks for tops, are all things of the past. A local ordinance of today even deprives the boy of the pleasures of kite-flying.

The only place for the growing child to find recreation is on the streets or in the cheap theater, where the attractions are of a nature likely to stunt the moral growth and in no way increase physical development.

To provide places where the future rulers of the city can properly develop their physical being and give tone to their moral tendencies is our absolute duty. The best place for such development is on the municipal playground under proper supervision. The Playground Commission is endeavoring to accomplish this end on the play spaces under its control. The department has at the present time jurisdiction over seven playgrounds, supervises play on two school yards and maintains and operates for the benefit of the children of San Francisco a swimming tank and bathhouse, modern in every detail.

The sum of $66,075 was set aside by the Board of Supervisors for the maintenance of the playgrounds during the fiscal year 1913-14. This appropriation, while adequate for the operation and supervision of the present playgrounds, left a very small margin for new development and construction. It was only by exercising the greatest economy that the Commissioners were able to set aside any money for the construction of the tank at Nineteenth and Angelica streets.

Contracts for the tank and foundation of the bathhouse were let and this work is nearly completed. It is doubtful, however, if we will be able to erect the bathhouse during the coming fiscal year, as the appropriation has remained stationary, and it will be necessary to spend considerable money on the development of Hamilton Square and the California Women's Hospital site.

The Playground Commission has received petitions from all sections of the city for additional playgrounds. In many instances these requests should be granted. It is to be hoped, therefore, that in the next budget that not only sufficient funds will be set aside for all necessary improvements, but also for the purchase of additional sites in the outlying districts.

The attendance at the several playgrounds during the year is as follows:

Bay View School yard	30,766
Excelsior	95,626
Hamilton	135,394
Holly Park	41,191
Jackson	73,135
North Beach	157,471
Presidio	24,028
Southside	92,281
Yerba Buena	36,679
Bathhouse	3,261
Total	689,832

LANDSCAPING THE EXPOSITION GROUNDS.

An army of men is completing the landscaping of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition. Huge date palms, orange trees in blossom, wisterias, flowering acacias, banana plants and great tree ferns, beds of crocuses and daffodils, vast expanses of green lawn and embankments, and trees fifty or sixty feet in height contrast with the ivory yellow of the exhibit palaces, with their huge colonnades and peristyles. The era of construction upon the exhibit palaces has passed and the installation of the world's exhibits has begun. Within a few weeks thousands of exhibitors with their army of attendants will be installing their displays. Altogether more than seventy thousand tons of exhibits will be shown, the freightage alone upon these entailing an outlay of more than $4,000,000. From data furnished by railroad managers throughout the United States the traffic department of the exposition estimates that more than one million people will cross the Rocky Mountains to the Pacific Coast next year.

Supervisors Adopt Plans for Construction of Church Street Railway

The Board of Supervisors at its last meeting, on Monday, gave an extended hearing to all parties interested in the construction of the Church street line of the municipal railway. The session lasted until nearly midnight, and nearly a score of speakers expressed their views on the subject. The Board had before it six different plans for meeting the problem caused by excessive grades on Church street, between Eighteenth and Twenty-second streets, which had been reported upon by the City Engineer. The Engineer's final report had been filed with the Board a few days previously, and was as follows:

September 10, 1914.

To the Honorable Board of Supervisors, San Francisco.

Gentlemen: The following estimate has been prepared in response to your request of July 20th that the City Engineer report on a plan proposed by Mr. George, of the Church Street Railroad Non-Assessment League, for constructing the Church Street railroad between Eighteenth and Twenty-second streets.

Mr. George proposes that the problem of operating cars on Church street, between Eighteenth and Twenty-second streets, be solved by installing a cable under the street through which street cars may be hauled over the street by means of grip cars, to which they are attached, in much the same manner as cars were hauled over the Sutter Street line of the United Railroads previous to the earthquake of 1906.

This estimate is based upon the use of 106-pound girder groove rails and 62-pound slot rails, supported at intervals of 5 feet by 430-pound cast iron yokes, with a concrete cable conduit between the tracks. The cable is to be 1⅝ inches in diameter, and the winding machinery for the cable is to be installed in a reinforced concrete powerhouse having an average width of 35 feet by a depth of 160 feet, located on the southeast corner of Dorland and Church streets. The winding machinery is to be driven by two 300-horsepower, 600-volt, direct current motors, operating through Wurz cut steel gears and pinions. In order to minimize the danger of accidents, the street cars for use on this road are each to be equipped with magnetic traction brakes and safety couplings.

Your attention is directed to the fact that while a cable road as proposed can be operated, considerable experimenting will probably be necessary in order to determine the best types of grip and safety appliances, and that even after these have been installed the operation can never be expected to be as safe or as satisfactory as with the operation of a standard electric road over reasonable grades.

It is proposed to operate the cable at a speed of 7½ miles per hour, and since the length of the cable tracks will be one-half a mile, 4 minutes will be occupied in traversing the track in one direction without stops. We assume that stops will be made at Nineteenth, Twentieth and Twenty-first streets, requiring 15 seconds each, and that approximately 1½ minutes will be required at each end to couple and uncouple the street cars from the grip cars. This will make the total time consumed between the arrival of street cars at Dorland street and their departure from Twenty-second street, 7¾ minutes, or say 8 minutes, as against 3 minutes which will be consumed by a street car traveling over a standard electric railroad at an average rate of 10 miles per hour, which is a little less than is maintained on the present Geary Street Municipal Railway. Thirty street cars will be required to maintain a headway of 3 minues from Thirtieth and Church streets to the Exposition grounds.

COST OF CONSTRUCTION:

Cable track	$104,200
Power house	20,500
Power plant	34,700
Feeder cable from Vermont and Mariposa streets to power house	18,000
6 grip cars	9,000
Shop tools	1,000
Air brakes and couplers, 30 cars @ $1100 each	33,000
Engineering and incidentals	22,000
Electric construction, trolleys and overhead	12,600
Total cost of construction, Dorland to Twenty-second streets	$255,000
Cost of construction of standard double electric tracks	68,600
Excess of cost of cable construction over standard construction	$186,400

The above estimate of cost is considerably higher than that submitted by the Church Street Railroad Non-Assessment League, as shown by the following comparison:

avenue to Church and Eighteenth streets	$ 78,590
Church street, from Eighteenth to Twenty-first streets	77,000
Church street, from Twenty-first to Thirtieth streets	113,600
Cable equipment	14,900
Car barn and cars	172,500
Car barn and cars	172,500	$456,590
		$227,810

or $227,810 less than the City Engineer's estimate.

In explanation of this I will state that the City Engineer's estimate is based upon the same type of construction as has been used in the Geary Street, Potrero Avenue and Van Ness Avenue railroads, and is being used in the Stockton Street and Columbus Avenue railroad, and the prices assumed by the City Engineer are average prices as determined from the prices which the city paid for the construction of these roads. I have no hesitation in stating that this type of construction cannot be installed for anything like the figure quoted by the Church Street Railroad Non-Assessment League.

The additional cost of operation of this cable railroad over and above the cost of operating a standard electric railroad is estimated as follows:

Labor:
1 engineer at $5 per day	$ 5
2 engineers at $4 per day	8
1 repair man at $4 per day	4
8 gripmen at $3 per day	24
Total labor	$41
Power:
2400 K.W.H. at 1c	$24
Additional platform wages on account of time lost in traversing road, 56 hours at 37½c per hour	21
Total	$86
$86 per day for 365 days		$31,390
Interest and depreciation on $186,400		18,640
Total increased cost of operation due to substitution of cable road for standard road		$50,030 per annnum

to which should be added the cost of damages for which the City will be liable on account of accidents which will inevitably occur.

In order to place the various plans which have been proposed for the construction of this Church Street railroad clearly before you it may be well to briefly review the history of the various plans submitted to date:

On April 5, 1913, in reporting on extensions of the Municipal Railways to provide transportation for the Panama-Pacific Exposition, the City Engineer called attention to the fact that in order to construct the Church Street road it will be necessary to devise some means for overcoming the steep grades on Church street, between Eighteenth and Twenty-second streets, and stated that studies of this problem were then under way.

Thirteen different studies were completed about the first of October, 1913, and on October 27, 1913, all of these various studies were submitted to a meeting of the interested parties called by the Mission Promotion Association, at which meeting the plan recommended by the City Engineer was unanimously approved upon motion of Father Crowley, seconded by Mr. McSheedy, of the Church Street Railroad Non-Assessment League. This plan contemplated the opening of a new street east of Church street. This street was designed not only to provide a right of way for street cars, but was to be sufficiently wide to furnish an ample roadway for the accommodation of vehicular traffic and so provide easy means of access to the Noe Valley district. Between Eighteenth and Twentieth streets, the new street was to be constructed through the Mission Park with a 40-foot roadway and 10-foot sidewalk on the east side, and between Twentieth and Twenty-second streets through private property to be acquired by the city, with a 40-foot roadway and 7½-foot sidewalks on either side. The cost was estimated at approximately $330,000.

On January 12, 1914, plans for the new street and for a district to be assessed to pay the cost of opening it were completed and transmitted to the Board of Public Works, through whom they were transmitted to your Board.

On April 14th, after a protracted discussion as to the advisability of assessing the property owners to defray the cost of this street, the Board of Supervisors rejected the plan of the City Engineer and requested the Board of Public Works to submit other plans by which the cost of the work might be materially reduced.

In accordance with the request of the Board of Supervisors three additional plans were prepared and submitted to your Board on June 18, 1914:

Plan No. 1 contemplated the construction of a reinforced concrete viaduct from Dorland street to Nineteenth street, the raising of the grade on one-half of Church street from Cumberland street to Liberty street, and the lowering of the grade of one-half of Church street from Liberty street to Twenty-second street, at an estimated cost of............$210,000

Plan No. 2 contemplated the construction of a reinforced concrete viaduct on the westerly edge of Mission Park from Dorland street to Nineteenth street, and an open cut and tunnel between Twentieth and Twenty-second streets. Its cost was estimated at............$230,000

Plan No. 3 contemplated an open cut through the westerly side of the Mission Park between Eighteenth and Twentieth streets and an open cut and tunnel on Church street between Twentieth and Twenty-second streets. Its cost was estimated at............$230,000

Plan No. 4 was the same as that originally submitted to and approved by the meeting in the rooms of the Mission Promotion Association on October 27, 1913.

It appeared at the meeting of your Board on the evening of June 18th that none of these plans met with the unanimous approval of the property owners in the vicinity of Church street, and on June 29th a fifth plan, which was a modification of Plan No. 4, but provided for a 25-foot right of way for street cars only, and contained no provision for vehicular traffic, was submitted to your Board. The cost of this plan was estimated at $200,000.

At the meeting of June 29th, Mr. George proposed that the problem be solved by regrading Church street, between Dorland street and 45 feet south of Twenty-first street, and the Board of Supervisors requested the City Engineer to make an estimate of the cost of improving Church street in this manner. This estimate was prepared and submitted to the Board of Supervisors on July 20th. The cost of the proposed improvement, exclusive of damages to property owners, was estimated at $200,099.

Mr. George's plan did not seem to meet the desires of the interested property owners any better than any of the previous plans, and the Church Street Railroad Non-Assessment League came forward with a new plan proposed by Mr. George for solving the problem by means of a cable railroad. This plan is the one of which the cost is estimated above.

To sum up: As the result of some 19 different studies of the best way of solving the problem of constructing the Church Street railroad, you have now before you the following seven plans:

Plan No. 1, to cost	$210,000
Plan No. 2, to cost	230,000
Plan No. 3, to cost	230,000
Plan No. 4, to cost	330,000
Plan No. 5, to cost	200,000
Mr. George's Plan No. 1, to cost	200,099
Mr. George's Plan No. 2, to cost	186,400

It is evident from the foregoing, that this problem of finding a satisfactory means of overcoming the grades on Church street, between Eighteenth and Twenty-second streets, has been given the most careful consideration and thorough study by this office during the past eighteen months. As a result of that consideration and study I am firmly convinced that of the plans before you the only one which offers a permanent and satisfactory solution of the problem is Plan No. 4.

The construction of this Church Street railroad is not a local matter of interest merely to residents in the vicinity of Church street, between Eighteenth and Twenty-second streets, but is a part of a plan for providing adequate transportation facilities, vehicular as well as street railway, between the center of the city and the outlying districts. Your Board has already taken preliminary steps which will permit of opening Circular avenue, between Randall and Bosworth streets, and when this Church street matter shall have been finally settled and the street railroad constructed as far as Thirtieth street, the next step will be the opening to traffic of the Bernal Cut and the extension of the street railroad into the Sunnyside district, and eventually to the county line, with branches to various now undeveloped districts.

In other words, this Church Street railroad is intended as the main trunk line of a system of municipally owned street railroads which will connect the center of the city with the districts south of Twenty-second street and west of Mission street, and so open up for residence purposes a vast amount of unoccupied territory. All other streets west of Mission street which are suitable for the location of a street railroad of such importance as this are already occupied by the tracks of the United Railroads Company. This makes it imperative that the grades of Church street be corrected, or that the plan of providing street railway transportation for the development of the districts mentioned be abandoned.

It is generally recognized by street railroad experts that the grades on main line street railroads should be kept as low as possible, and that grades in excess of 8 per cent are not conducive to rapid or safe operation.

Referring now to the various plans before your Board, Plans Nos. 1, 2, and 3 meet our requirements as to grade fairly well, the maximum grade being 9 per cent, or 1 per cent in excess of the desirable maximum, but are open to the objection that property fronting on Church street, between Eighteenth and Twenty-second streets, will be greatly damaged, and further, that this type of construction will render practically impossible any further provision for vehicular traffic on this street.

Mr. George's Plan No. 1 calls for 12 per cent grades, which will be dangerous to operate over, and further, will damage property on Church street to as great an extent as Plans Nos. 1, 2, or 3.

Mr. George's Plan No. 2 might be suitable in connection with a short road intended for light cars to accommodate local needs only, but with heavy cars on a main trunk line will be dangerous, will involve an unnecessary delay of 5 minutes on each car, and will increase the expense of operating the road by $50,000 per year, which is interest on $1,000,000.

Plan No. 4 provides for a maximum grade of 8 per cent. It furnishes a 40-foot roadway for vehicular traffic, which, notwithstanding the statements of the residents, will be of great benefit to the district, and the damages to property will be confined to the property which it will be necessary for the city to purchase in order to construct the road.

Plan No. 5 has all the advantages of Plan No. 4, except that it does not include a roadway for vehicles. As a temporary expedient to reduce the first cost, its adoption is excusable. Your attention is called to the fact that when the desirability of a roadway is more generally recognized so that it becomes necessary to provide the 40-foot roadway proposed in Plan No. 4, the additional cost of widening the right of way contemplated in Plan No. 5 will be in the neighborhood of $250,000, which, added to the first cost of Plan No. 5, will make the total cost of the improvement $450,000, if constructed piecemeal, as against $330,000 if undertaken as one piece of work.

Respectfully submitted,
M. M. O'SHAUGHNESSY,
City Engineer.

In opposition to the plan recommended by the City Engineer, there was a strong protest against the formation of an assessment district and the charging of the cost of opening a new street against the property therein. The majority of the Supervisors were reluctant to impose this expense on the property-owners, and on the final vote rejected plan No. 4 by a vote of six ayes to twelve noes, and finally adopted the plan calling for the construction of a cable line over the Church street hill, and directed the Board of Public Works to prepare plans accordingly. The final vote was thirteen in favor to five against.

Other Business Transacted.

Appropriations were made as follows: $1815 for the improvement and extension of the municipal water works; $16,334.50 for the improvement of Fulton street; $8226 for sewers in the Civic Center; $65,000 for sewers in Fifth street, and $4150 for improvements at the Corporation Yard.

Ordinances Passed to Print.

The "Food Ordinance," providing for the sanitation of places where food products are manufactured or sold, was passed to print; also an ordinance defining and classifying dances, and imposing a license fee of $7.50 a quarter for each place where dances are provided for promiscuous enjoyment.

Miscellaneous.

Resolutions were adopted authorizing the Mayor to appoint a committee to arrange for the observance of Discovery Day, and directing the Board of Works to prepare plans and estimates for a shelter station at Seventh avenue and Lincoln way for the convenience of patients going to the Relief Home.

The Tuxedo Athletic Club was given a boxing permit for October.

A San Francisco concern making a specialty of street bonds is advertising these securities, and an impression has been created that it is dealing in San Francisco bonds. As a matter of fact there are no street improvements issued under the street of this city on sale.

NEW TAX BILLS.

The description of property on the tax bills this year will be by lot number and block number instead of by metes and bounds as heretofore, leading to great saving of writing assessment rolls and tax bills. The describing of a lot 25x137½ feet with four courses with references to streets having six letters in each street, required the writing of 74 letters or figures, which was the minimum description as used in describing lots by metes and bounds in former years; this year the minimum description is only two figures, and the maximum seven figures.

The taxpayer this year will find attached to his tax bill a photographic map of the block in which his lot is located, showing block and lot number, dimension and ownership of each lot in the block, and names of streets surrounding the block, which he is requested to preserve as maps are not expected to be furnished in future years. This year it was necessary to furnish this information to the taxpayer as he would not be able to check the description in this year's tax bill by any of his previous years' tax bills or by his deeds.

TRANSACTIONS OF THE BOARD OF HEALTH.

At a meeting of the Board of Health held on September 10th, the following premises were condemned: 1854 Folsom street (blacksmith shop and stable), condemned and 30 days granted to comply with requirements or demolish structures; 2105 Scott street (Chinese laundry and stable), condemned and 60 days granted to comply with requirements; southeast corner of Thirty-seventh avenue and Cabrillo street (stable), condemned and ordered demolished in 6 months; 479 Tehama street (shack), condemned and ordered vacated and demolished in 30 days.

The following cases were set for hearing on September 24, 1914: 75 Clara street (insanitary frame structure), 310 York street (insanitary dwelling), adjoining 214 Evans avenue (saloon and sheds), 214 Evans avenue (restaurant, hotel and lodgings), 209-11 Evans avenue (saloon and lodging house), 213 Evans avenue (residence and lodgings).

TO PREVENT FLY BREEDING.

The Department of Agriculture has just concluded a series of very interesting experiments to prevent the breeding of flies in our large cities.

It is declared that a small amount of ordinary borax sprinkled daily on manure will effectively prevent the breeding of the typhoid or house fly. Similarly, the same substance applied to garbage, refuse, open toilets, damp floors and crevices in stables, cellars or markets, will prevent fly eggs from hatching. Borax will not kill the adult fly nor prevent it from laying eggs, but its thorough use will prevent any further breeding. While the "Swat the fly campaign," traps and other devices for reducing the number of typhoid-carrying flies are of value, they are of less importance than the prevention of the breeding.

The investigators found that 0.62 of a pound of borax, or 0.75 of a pound of calcined colemanite (crude calcium borate) would kill the maggots and prevent practically all of the flies ordinarily breeding in eight bushels of horse manure from developing.

In the case of garbage cans or refuse piles 2 ounces of borax or calcined colemanite, costing from five cents a pound upward, according to the quantity which is purchased, will effectually prevent flies from breeding.

Borax is not a very poisonous substance and the feeding of garbage that contains it to hogs is not likely to be a serious matter, but borax in large quantities does produce gastric disurbances and for this reason a certain amount of care is advisable.

The method for using this substance in the case of stables is to sprinkle the borax or colemanite, in the quantities given above, by means of a flour sifter or other fine sieve, around the outer edges of the pile of horse manure. The manure should then be sprinkled immediately with two or three gallons of water to eight bushels of manure. It is essential, however, to sprinkle a little of the borax on the manure as it is added daily to the pile, instead of waiting until a full pile is obtained, because this will prevent the eggs which the flies lay on fresh manure from hatching. As the fly maggots congregate at the outer edge of the manure pile most of the borax should be sprinkled there.

It is estimated that it would cost only one cent per horse per day to prevent all breeding of flies in city stables. If calcined colemanite is purchased in large shipments this cost should be considerably less. At the same time its value for use in the garden or for sale to farmers will not be lessened.

RESIDENTIAL DISTRICTS AND THE [illegible]URTS.

By Alfred Bettman, Boston.

Every once in a while a court hands down a decision invalidating some municipal ordinance or statute designed to protect residential districts against the invasiou of factories and industrial establishments. These decisions show that the battle for city planning will have to be largely fought out in the courts. This battle is simply a contemporary phase of the constant conflict between the demands, on the one hand, for the free and untrammeled use of private property, and, on the other hand, the desire of the community to restrict such use for community benefit. The opportunity to protect private property against unreasonable restrictions and interference was found by the courts in the two provisions of the federal and state constitutions which prohibit the deprivation of property without due process of law and the taking of property for public use without due compensation. At first all the emphasis was laid upon the protection of property. As, however, the modern developments of industry and urban life disclosed the need of protecting the community against the evils arising from the unrestrained use of private property, the courts developed the doctrine known as the "police power," by virtue of which new forms and methods of restraint of the use of property come from time to time to be justified in the interest of community welfare.

The police power is generally defined in very comprehensive language as the power to provide for, guard or regulate public health, public safety, public comfort and public welfare. "Public welfare" is itself so comprehensive a phrase that it would seem at first glance to give an almost unlimited freedom to legislative bodies. "The care of the public welfare," says Professor Freund in his authoritative book on "Police Power," "has for its object the improvement of social and economic conditions affecting the community at large and collectively." As new needs are disclosed and new conditions in which public welfare or health or comfort demand new forms of restraint upon the free use of private property, the tendency of the courts will inevitably be to justify these new restraints as an exercise of the police power. As stated by Professor Freund, "Police power is not a fixed quantity, but the expression of social and political conditions." Therefore, while the police power may not expand as speedily as the impatient social workers and city planners may desire, it will be found to be capable of development so as to permit such restriction of the use of private property as enlightened public opinion deems necessary for the promotion of the safety, the health, the comfort and the welfare of the community.

Looking at the ordinances and court proceedings on the subject of the protection of residential districts, the impression one gets is that the legislators, attorneys and courts have generally discussed the issues from too narrow a point of view. Certain kinds of industries, such as rendering plants or foundries, have, when located in residence districts and by reason of the offensiveness of the smells or noises produced, come to be technically known as "nuisances," and the courts have recognized the right to protect residential districts against nuisances. Court proceedings upon residential district legislation are generally conducted as though the only question involved were whether the particular industrial establishments which the ordinance or statute proposes to keep out are or are not in fact nuisances. The police power is, however, not merely the power to abate nuisances, but the power to promote public health, safety, comfort and welfare. Attorneys engaged in defending such legislation should bring to the attention of the courts the various ways in which the protection of a residence district against the invasion of commercial and industrial plans, some of which may individually be of an inoffensive character, will tend to increase the health and comfort of the community.

At the present stage of the court decisions there is one limitation of the police power which is somewhat rigidly enforced, namely, that "general welfare" may not be defined so as to include the enjoyment of purely esthetic satisfactions. Many an ordinance has been set aside because the court concluded that its sole design was to produce the city beautiful. In promoting residential district and other city-planning legislation, it would be well to have the ordinance follow and be based upon some systematic city planning study, including a study of the relation of the city plan to the city's health, comfort and safety. Suppose, for instance, that a study is made by competent neurologists of the extent to which the noises, smells and turmoil in and about factories and large mercantile establishments in residence districts tend to increase the spread of nervous diseases in communities, and of the extent to which the zoning of the city would tend to reduce the growth of nervous diseases. If a city council should establish residential zones on the basis of such a report, the legislation could be supported on the ground of its promotion of public health, and the courts could certainly not ascribe its passage to esthetic motives. Suppose, again, that a study is made of a city's congestion problem, as it bears upon pedestrian and vehicle and street railroad traffic on the streets, and particularly as it bears upon the growth of transportation facilities to care for the growth of the city. If such a study should demonstrate that a particular distribution of residential and industrial districts, by directing the flow of travel, will tend to lessen congestion and make better transportation possible, the establishment of the proposed residential districts would be shown to have a direct relation to public comfort. Legislation logically based upon such a study and report could not be accused of being born solely of esthetic motives. In short, if that form of study and report of a city's social and sanitary conditions, which we know as city planning, is made antecedent to the passage of legislation regarding residential zones and the like, legislation based on the report will have a strong chance of success before the courts, for the history of the legislation would demonstrate that its design is to promote safety, or comfort, or health or welfare, or all of these. The courts are particularly prone to set aside ordinances which look upon their face as though they were arbitrary, unscientific, haphazard. Legislation to carry out an intelligently formed city plan is simply a new form of exercise of the police power, and will surely, sooner or later, come to be so recognized by the courts; especially as a scientific zoning of the city can be shown to preserve, rather than impair, property values.

RECENT COURT DECISIONS.

Ownership of Trees in Street.

An owner of trees in a street abutting upon his property is entitled to recover for injury to the trees caused by a public service corporation cutting them back to make way for electric wires; the property owner's interest in the trees is a property right of which he can be deprived only when public necessity demands it, and then he is entitled to compensation, unless the city deprives him of the right in good faith in exercising its control over the street. (Oklahoma Supreme Court, Norman Milling & Grain Co. vs. Bethurem, 139 Pacific Reporter 830.)

Validity of Fire Limits Ordinance.

"Fire protection in towns is so clearly within the province of the police power that it would require a very strong showing of pure arbitrariness to induce a court to interfere with an ordinance" establishing "fire limits". (Louisiana Supreme Court, Town of Mansfield vs. Herndon, 63 Southern Reporter 606.)

Right to Control Traffic on Pleasure Driveways.

A city may validly exclude heavy traffic from pleasure driveways, according to a recent decision of the Illinois Supreme Court in the case of Illinois Malleable Iron Company vs. Commissioners of Lincoln Park, 105 Northwestern Reporter 336.

Property Owner's Right in Parkway.

A property owner is entitled to recover against a telephone company for destruction of shade trees located in a parkway between the sidewalk and the street abutting his property, in the placing of the company's wires and poles, although the company has been granted permission by the municipal authorities to locate its poles and wires along the parkway. (Springfield, Mo., Court of Appeals, Rienhoff vs. Springfield Gas & Electric Company, 162 Southwestern Reporter 761.)

Discrimination Against Non-Residents.

An ordinance prohibiting unlicensed persons from taking orders for goods, or from delivering goods on orders previously taken, is invalid so far as it purports to prevent a non-resident of the state from soliciting orders, since that amounts to an interference with interstate commerce. (Schenectady County Court, People vs. Ericson, 147 New York Supplement 226.)

Contracts for Local Improvements.

A city which has entered into a valid contract with a contractor for the construction of a street improvement is without power to release the contractor from any of his obligations to the prejudice of property owners. (California District Court of Appeal, McIntyre vs. City of Los Angeles, 139 Pacific Reporter 240.)

The following street work (sewers) has been completed and accepted: Forty-fifth avenue between Point Lobos avenue and Clement street; Thirty-ninth avenue between Clement and Geary streets; Points Lobos avenue between Forty-fourth and Forty-fifth avenues.

Vol. VII—No. 39. SAN FRANCISCO, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 24, 1914.

Supervisors Refuse to Pass Ordinance Reducing Street Car Fares

The greater part of Monday's session of the Board of Supervisors was devoted to hearing arguments for and against the proposed ordinance providing that railroad fares in the city should be at the rate of six fares for twenty-five cents. A number of citizens were given the privilege of the floor and presented statements relative to the subject, following which there was a general discussion among the members of the Board. On final roll call the bill was refused passage to print by a vote of six ayes to twelve noes.

Matters Postponed.

The consideration of the report of the Advisory Water Committee dealing with the purchase of the property of the Spring Valley Water Company was postponed one week, owing to the absense of Chief Justice Sullivan, a member of the committee.

BANKERS LOAN NEW YORK $100,000,000.

On September 11 the New York City Board of Estimate and Apportionment authorized an arrangement by which, in order to meet its $80,000,000 London and Paris obligations, the city borrowed from a syndicate of bankers $100,000,000 plus $166,666.67, the interest since September 1, when the notes were dated, on 6 per cent corporate stock notes and revenue warrants. New York banks to the number of 124 participated in the loan, checks for which were drawn at once.

This expensive procedure was made necessary on account of the city's practice in selling abroad its bonds, payable in gold, because of the readiness with which foreign buyers acted, as well as because of a slightly higher rate offered. With $2,500,000 notes falling due on September 14 and $1,500,000 on September 15, $500,000 on September 16 and $2,000,000 on September 17 the city officials and bankers breathed a sigh of relief as they saw the transaciton actually completed and the credit of the city assured.

The terms for retiring the new loans may run into several years.

BASE BALL BATTLE.

The official character of the "Record" is temporarily invaded this week by the chronicle of a semi-official baseball game (alleged) between the forces of the Auditor's office and the Treasurer's office. The details of the contest are too harrowing to appear in print anywhere but in the war columns of the daily press. However, that the public may appreciate the fact that horrors may exist even in the midst of peace, the following report of one of the onslaughts is here given and said to be authentic:

Ashe walked, took second on Thieler's wild throw. Bonham walked on Thieler's wild pitch. Hagarty fouled out to May. Leary singled; Bonham scored on a passed ball, Leary taking third. Lewis singled, scoring Leary. Tom Boyle took first on Thieler's error, Lewis going to third. Cooney walked; Sharpe tripled, cleaning the bases, and scored on Hobro's error. Dodge walked; Ashe took first on Hobro's failing to get his high fly; Dodge on second. Ashe scored on a passed ball. Bonham scoring likewise. Hagarty goes to first on May's error; stole second. Hagarty went to third on Leary's infield hit. Leary stole second. Hagarty fell victim to Hobro's hidden ball trick. Lewis singled, Leary scoring from second on the hit. Tom Boyle gained a life on May's error. Cooney hit to deep left, Lewis scoring and T. Boyle taking third. Sharpe singled and gained second on Claveloux's bad throw. Sharpe out stealing home, Hobro to McCarthy. 7 hits, 14 runs.

A truce was declared at the end of the seventh assault and the dead were counted. The Auditors claimed a decisive victory by a score of 39 to 13. The battle took place at Jackson Park in the presence of a thousand horrified spectators.

The poet laureate of the occasion, suspected to be Mr. Boyle himself, in the flush of victory, administered the final crushing blow by a rapid-fire discharge of the following:

Glorious was the victory
  And gallant the array
When Tom Boyle and McDougald met
  That bright September day
To settle the supremacy
  Upon the baseball field,
Asserting their respective teams
  Would die before they'd yield.

Short the story is and sad;
  The Treasurers did yield,
And also died, in fact were dead
  Before they reached the field,
For Tom Boyle audited their claim
  And found, as he had thought,
That what they called a Baseball NINE
  Was not a 9, but 0.

So now their only comfort since
  They were so badly beaten,
Is to buy a lovely dinner
  And to see that dinner eaten.
But tho' not there with ball and bat
  Yet when the festive cork
Begins to pop you'll find they are
  All there with knife and fork.

PASSES ON PRUSSIAN STREET RAILWAYS.

In consequence of a decision of the Supreme Administrative Court of Prussia, Schoenberg has abandoned its practice of providing members of the city governing body with free monthly tickets on the street railways The ground of the court's decision which dealt with the same question in another city was that this practice was in violation of the law forbidding members of the city council to receive salaries or other emoluments of office.

MUNICIPAL RECORD
CITY AND COUNTY OF SAN FRANCISCO

is published every Thursday by the Board of Supervisors of the City and County of San Francisco at City Hall, 1231 Market street, for the purpose of furnishing information concerning public municipal improvements and the work of the several municipal departments.

Copies can be obtained at the various department headquarters, or a copy will be mailed to any resident of San Francisco who will furnish his address to J. S. Dunnigan, Clerk of the Board of Supervisors, City Hall, 1231 Market street, San Francisco, Cal.

All matter intended for publication should be received not later than Tuesday noon.

The Recorder Press 28 Montgomery St.

CHANGES OF ADDRESS.

Persons receiving the "Municipal Record" and removing to a new location MUST send their old and new addresses to J. S. Dunnigan, clerk of the Board of Supervisors, if they wish to continue receiving the paper. Failure to give such notification will result in their names being taken from the mailing list when the postoffice returns the papers to the publication office with notice that they have moved from the printed address on wrapper.

STREET WORK ACCEPTED.

Bills have been passed by the Board of Supervisors providing for the conditional acceptances of the roadway of Steiner street, between Lombard and Chestnut streets; Twenty-second avenue, between Cabrillo and Fulton streets; Parker avenue, between Fulton and McAllister streets; Ashbury street, between Hayes and Grove streets; Grove street, between Masonic avenue and Ashbury street; Twenty-seventh street, between Noe and Sanchez streets; Palou street, between Keith and Jennings streets; crossing of Ninth avenue and Pacheco street; Onondaga avenue, between Cayuga avenue and Otsego avenue; Cook street, between Geary street and its northerly termination.

LAND DEALS CONTEMPLATED.

The Building Committee of the Board of Supervisors at its meeting on Tuesday afternoon, while not committing itself to the proposition, decided to receive a tentative proposition to exchange city property on Van Ness avenue for lands of the Sutro Estate overlooking the ocean, by directing the City Engineer to submit a report on the desirability of acquiring the Sutro lands for park and boulevard purposes, together with an estimate of their values. The committee also decided to recommend to the Supervisors the purchase of land in the rear of the Sherman school to enlarge the school yard and of parcels of land on Jersey street, west of Castro street, and at the northeast corner of Green and Octavia streets, to be used as branch library sites.

MUNICIPAL MOTOR BUSES.

The Birmingham city council has determined to purchase the interests of the motor omnibus companies within the city. This involves an expenditure of some £34,000. The private companies will continue the transportation of passengers from points inside the boundaries of the city to points beyond these lines, and from points without the city to points within the city boundary.

INDUSTRIAL EDUCATION VS. EDUCATIONAL INDUSTRY.

The present country-wide demand for more practical education in the public schools of our large cities continues to attract much interest.

The leading educators of the country say that the stimulus for this movement is from the industrial rather than the educational side, and the United States Bureau of Education in a report upon the subject declares in part:

The employers have a very definite program. They know what they want and are going after it. Let us not delude ourselves by thinking they are actuated by philanthropy. It is simply good business. They want a crop of fresh, young labor furnished them every year that can make fewer mistakes and more profits.

This is extremely gratifying in one sense. It indicates that economic self-interest is attempting to shake off the double burden society has long borne—the burden of using goods worth much less than they cost because poorly and inefficiently made, and of supporting by charity those paid less than their work is worth because of their poverty, inefficiency and consequent helplessness. But while employers are awake to the need of efficiency, industry is not. Industry still beckons to the inefficient, the immature, the unprepared.

Society is far from having reached a decision that unskilled labor must be abolished. The occupations which, outside of agriculture, absorb the output of our schools are barren of any element to make them of present interest to the child or to offer any hope for the future. A vocational survey in New York City exhibits in one group 101 boys between fourteen and sixteen years of age with an analysis of the work they are doing. For only five of them is there any opportunity to advance or improve; ninety-six are in dead-end occupations.

Business is now saying that if we had the right kind of schools all this would be changed; that child labor would become a blessing instead of an abuse for children. We are constantly told that if the schools had the right kind of curriculum and gave the right kind of training every child would have his natural capacity developed, and we should speedily put an end to the army of industrial misfits.

In accepting this challenge of the business world our educators have assumed an unwarranted responsibility for the condition that exists. A study of the annual contribution of our city schools to the business interests of the community will show that a considerable percentage is thrown into the discard within the first month; that another large percentage goes drifting from job to job, sometimes advancing, quite as frequently receding; the industries complaining that the children the schools turn out are no good, and that the children lose courage, enthusiasm and youthful idealism in the various meaningless jobs to which they are assigned. That many drift into casual and thence into permanent idleness is to be expected. The only wonder is that any ultimately rise to positions of efficiency and responsibility.

Our schools are not fair to themselves in assuming that they or the child are wholly at fault. If the schools need a better curriculum so does the industrial establishment. If the child needs a more definite and purposeful mind much more does industry. One of the most vital services vocational guidance can render is to analyze our industries and train our youth to distinguish between a vocation and a job. It is futile to give special training to a child for the purpose of fastening him to a machine on which he shall do purely mechanical labor for life. Business says: "Here are the jobs; what kind of children have you to offer?" We must reverse the inquiry and say to business: "Here are our children; what kind of industry have you to offer?"

Panama-Pacific International Exposition Notes of General Interest

Alabama and Mississippi dedicated their sites on the grounds of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition in a joint ceremony on September 8. Commissioner Lee Cowart, also Alabama Immigration Commissioner, represented his State, aud Commissioner H. E. Blakeslee acted as the representative of Mississippi. Both commissioners said they had worked to have New Orleans named the 1915 exposition city, but that the South was now working to make the San Francisco exposition the greatest the world has seen.

* * *

The week beginning on September 6 and ending September 12 was the largest in the point of attendance since the fence and gates were put up just a year before on the grounds of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition. The week's attendance was 65,000, and the highest week previous to this was the first week of May, when 52,500 persons passed through the exposition gates.

San Francisco Day at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition will be April 17, 1915. Plans are already being made to make this the biggest day of the entire exposition. The day will begin the first minute after midnight of April 16 and extend to midnight of April 18, and the program will be divided into four interesting parts. Red fire will be burned on all the mountain peaks about San Francisco at midnight, and the guns of the forts will boom at sunrise.

Denmark, through her consul, O. Wadstad, broke ground for the Danish building on the grounds of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition on September 5. More than 3,000 Danes were present for the formal ceremony, and they gave great acclaim to King Christian of Denmark for his present attitude toward peace in Europe.

Major Sidney A. Cloman, of the United States Army, has resigned as head of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition military bureau and as commandant of the exposition guards. He is compelled by army regulations to spend two years out of each six with his troops, and will leave in November for Manila, where he expects to be stationed with the Thirteenth Infantry. Capt. S. A. Smoke, U. S. A., retired, succeeds Major Cloman at the exposition.

Italy has begun work on the Italian pavilion at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition. A cablegram received from Ernesto Nathan, commissioner from Italy to the exposition, announced that there would be no change in Italy's plans for the 1915 exposition.

* * *

Among the many works of art already received for exhibition in the palace of fine arts at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition are 1500 etchings and other rare prints from as many different plates by contemporary American artists.

* * *

The finest third-of-a-mile oval cinder track and athletic field ever built have just been finished at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition grounds. The Exposition has denied the use of the track and field to various athletic meets and will give it eight full months to settle and get in good condition for the 1915 games.

The greatest horticulturists in Belgium, the grand duchey of Luxemburg, France, Ireland, England and Holland are proceeding with their Exposition plans and the war will not mar the most wonderful horticultural display ever seen in one beauty spot. In a letter just received from Belgium from the head of the royal nurseries of Bruges, Belgium, to the officials of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, notice is given of the early shipment of 10,000 bulbs. "We have not given up hope of visiting the Exposition," said the writer.

On outside construction, the 656 fire alarm boxes in service were inspected and turned in for test. There were 5 fire alarm boxes repaired in shop, and, on account of repairs made to box wires, 41 were out of service temporarily. There were 29 pieces of line trouble removed and 283 miscellaneous complaints attended to. There were installed 10 outside local bells; transferred, 9; and removed, 1.

In the machine shop, there were manufactured 2 20-fuse terminal boxes and 1 fire alarm transmitter. There were repaired 1 8-inch single stroke bell, 3 fire alarm boxes, 1 fire alarm box relay, 1 burglar alarm box, 1 circuit breaker, 1 galvanometer, 2 line relays, 10 letgoes, 3 Gamewell police boxes, 1 D. of E. police panel, 3 engine house registers, and 1 telegraph set. Repairs were also made to the department's automobiles, shop tools and overhead and underground construction tools. There were auxiliarized 3 fire alarm boxes. There were painted and varnished 1 linemen's wagon, 19 fire alarm standards and 114 fire alarm boxes. There are being manufactured the instruments for the new fire alarm switchboard.

Ducts were cleaned out and rodded in Bush from Kearny to Sansome, in Front street from California to Broadway and in Pine street from Front to Davis.

New fire alarm standards were erected and laterals run at Folsom and Third, Harrison and Third and at Bryant and Third streets.

BEGIN BURNING OF SIGNBOARDS.

Marking the first actual step in ridding Maryland of billboards, a wholesale destruction of signboards along highways is in progress under the general supervision of the State Forester, F. W. Besley. The onslaught on the offensive advertising boards and placards is state-wide, and it is estimated that fully 3,000 persons are engaged in it. This number includes volunteer wardens and Boy Scouts, all of whom are equipped with badges indicating that they have been duly authorized to take part in the work. The signs that will fall before the progress of the anti-billboard crusaders are those that have been put up along the public roads, nailed to trees or outbuildings and fences on private property without due authority. Those that are displayed on leased space will not be disturbed. While the law authorizing this campaign makes it inclusive of "any public highway," no attempt will be made at present to clear the streets of the city of the signs.

Where to Make Complaints

Citizens can benefit themselves and at the same time expedite the transaction of public business by observing the following general rules regarding the transmission of complaints.

TO THE SUPERVISORS.

All requests for new legislation or changes in the ordinances, for appropriations, for such permits as the board can grant, in relation to the conduct of public service corporations, for the installation of street lights, or for any service beyond the power of any other department to grant.

TO THE BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS.

All matters relating to streets, including grading, opening, improvement, repair or cleaning thereof, to sewers, to the construction of buildings, or any other construction work under its charge, to house numbering, to the maintenance of public buildings and all matters of an engineering nature.

TO THE BOARD OF HEALTH.

All matters relating to sanitation and the enforcement or non-enforcement of sanitary regulations, the abatement of nuisances, etc.

TO THE DEPARTMENT OF ELECTRICITY.

All matters relating to electrical installations either in buildings or streets.

TO THE WATER AND LIGHT INSPECTOR.

All complaints as to improper service or charge for gas, electricity or water.

TO THE FIRE DEPARTMENT.

All requests for additional fire protection, including fire alarm boxes, complaints against such things as increase the fire hazard, and the enforcement of fire protection ordinances.

TO THE POLICE DEPARTMENT.

All complaints of non-enforcement of ordinances and requests for such permits as the Police Commissioners may grant.

Communications relating to education, parks, playgrounds, civil service, should be transmitted directly to the commissions having control of the subject.

In case any department or officer fails to acknowledge the receipt of the communication or fails to give attention to the matter stated therein, then such dereliction should be brought to the attention of the Mayor.

THE MOVING PICTURE AS A MUNICIPAL ADJUNCT.

Every day motion pictures are demonstrating their usefulness and it is no surprise that they are becoming a municipal adjunct. Actual operations in road construction and other municipal engineering work are now shown by this medium; schools are using them for instruction purposes; and recently it was reported that a missing city official will be sought by having his photograph shown in 10,000 moving picture places by a moving picture weekly in the hope that some one of the million spectators may have seen him. In the same way before long the police are likely to make use of the moving picture for tracing fugitives and criminals. As an instrument in civic education, the moving picture could well be used in teaching the ignorant voter how to vote. A picture showing the voter entering, receiving, marking and depositing the ballot, and showing a large copy of a correctly marked ballot, might result in bringing out voters whom timidity of the unfamiliar might otherwise have kept at home. There are always numbers of new voters, either just of age, or newly made citizens, or women just enfranchised, or others who have moved from places where the voting methods or ballot are somewhat different, to whom the instruction would be very welcome.

CHARTER AMENDMENT TO FACILITATE STREET WORK.

A charter amendment will be submitted to the Supervisors next Monday designed to extend the operation of the street procedure of the city in connection with paying street assessments in installments. It has been found that when street work is to be paid for on the installment plan the contractors increase their bids to cover any possible discount on the bonds which they are compelled to take and that this increased cost is considerable and falls on the property owners, thus entailing a severe hardship.

Under the proposed charter amendment it is provided that the city shall set aside $1,000,000 as a fund to meet the expenses of street work done under an assessment plan, the property owner to have ten years in which to settle the obligation, equal payments to be made to the city annually. With this fund as a starter, contractors could be paid promptly on completion of the improvement, the fund being replenished by the annual installments paid in by the property owners, together with the interest on deferred payments.

It is argued in favor of the plan, if it should be adopted, that many more streets would be improved, the city amply protected by the liens it would have upon the property to secure these deferred payments and the fund become a source of income in a few years from the interest received on these deferred payments, such revenues to be diverted from time to time for other necessary street improvements, which the city is obligated to perform without any special tax upon any particular property owner.

MUNICIPAL HEATING PLANTS.

The central heating station appears likely to become another municipally owned public service utility. The character of the undertaking and the interest being manifested in many cities in connection with its municipalization, point toward its public ownership. The cities of Newton, Massachusetts (population 40,000), and Bloomington, Indiana (9,000), own and operate such plants, according to an investigation recently made by the municipal reference department of the Free Library of Philadelphia. Spokane, Washington; Jefferson, Wisconsin; Austin, Minnesota, and Leominster, Massachusetts, are other cities which are considering the establishment of such plants in the near future. Sabetha, Kansas (population 1,800), has municipal steam heat service, the central station being run in connection with the city lighting plant. A recent issue of the Sabetha Herald comments upon the efficient operation of the heating system, and declares the service to be a source of pride to the people of the city.

CITY HALL DOME NOT DEFECTIVE.

The Board of Public Works has found that there is no merit in the charge of Charles H. Sperry, civil service building inspector, that imperfect tiling was used in the construction of the new City Hall dome. Superintendent of Construction George Wagner said that some of the edges of the tiling were chipped, but as the joints were made with cement and the whole welded into one solid mass the stability of the dome was not affected, while to have rejected the tiling because of this minor defect would have caused a delay in building operations not warranted by the condition of the tiling.

Vol. VII—No. 40. SAN FRANCISCO, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1914.

Supervisors Decide to Submit Purchase of Spring Valley to Voters

Resolved, That this Board approves of the recommendation of the Advisory Water Committee in the matter of the purchase of certain property of the Spring Valley Water Company, and that the City Attorney be instructed to prepare such proceedings as may be necessary to carry out said recommendation.

Ayes, 13; noes, 5.

The adoption of the foregoing resolution by the vote stated by the Board of Supervisors last Tuesday has resulted in placing the question of the purchase of certain properties of the Spring Valley Water Company up to the voters to decide.

A conclusion was not reached until late Tuesday afternoon, the discussion commencing Monday afternoon, continuing several hours, followed by a recess until Tuesday.

The action of the Supervisors is the result of nearly a year of negotiations with the Spring Valley Company and after a study and appraisement of the properties by experts that have cost the city approximately $100,000. It is the first and only appraisement ever made of the properties by the city. The Advisory Water Committee, after it had the result of these studies, made the report that the Supervisors adopted yesterday.

This advisory committee consists of Matt. I. Sullivan, chairman; Mayor Rolph, City Engineer O'Shaughnessy, City Attorney Percy V. Long and Supervisors Alexander Vogelsang and Thomas Jennings.

The members of the committee made extended statements covering all the details of their report, which were followed by several members of the Board explaining their subsequent votes.

As a result of the action of the Supervisors, the City Attorney will immediately take up work of framing the necessary proceedings with a view of its early submission to a vote of the people.

Routine Matters of the Board.

The proposition of rerouting car lines 17 and 20 from the Sunset District to Turk and Eddy streets and line 4 from the Richmond District to Ellis and O'Farrell streets was defeated by a vote of 15 to 3.

The sale of certain city lands in the vicinity of Eleventh and Division streets to F. E. Knowles was confirmed.

Appeals in matters of assessment for street improvements were continued for one week.

The sum of $7000 was appropriated for the purchase of a branch library site in the Sunset District.

Street Work Ordered.

The improvement of the following streets was ordered:

Twentieth street between Kansas and Rhode Island streets, grading, concrete curbs and asphalt pavement.

Keith street between Evans and Galvez avenues, sewers and appurtenances.

Santa Marina street between Mission and Elsie streets, granite curbs, sidewalks at corners, 14-foot basalt pavement and remainder of roadway asphalt, catchbasins, etc.

Sweeny street between Barneveld avenue and Boylston street, sewers and appurtenances.

Railroad avenue between Hudson and Innes avenues, sewers and appurtenances.

Land Purchases.

Resolutions were adopted accepting offers of J. E. Damon to sell a lot at corner of Green and Octavia streets for $7500 for school purposes; of E. N. Wilcox for a lot on Green near Gough street for $7500; of Adele Muller, for a lot on Jersey street near Castro for $8000, required for Twin Peaks tunnel.

Miscellaneous Matters.

The Fillmore Street Improvement Association was given permission to hold a street carnival on Fillmore street on October 12th to 17th.

The parked portions of Dolores street were dedicated for park purposes and placed under the jurisdiction of the Park Commissioners; also a portion of Fifteenth street, being that portion recently widened.

A deed of lands contiguous to Corbett avenue was accepted which were necessary for the realignment of the street lines, and the Board of Public Works was authorized to advertise for bids for paving this highway from Stanford Heights to the Sloat Boulevard.

A resolution was adopted requesting the Board of Harbor Commissioners to construct 900 lineal feet of permanent type sea wall in Berry street, between Second and Third streets, along the line of Channel street by filling a dredged trench with rock and capping the same with a concrete wall on a foundation of piles.

An ordinance was finally passed classifying dances and imposing license fee for certain classes.

The Mayor's veto of the amusement concession on Chestnut street was made a special order for next Monday.

MEETING OF THE CIVIL SERVICE ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the San Francisco Municipal Civil Service Association was held at the German House on Tuesday, September 22, 1914, and seventeen applications for membership were read and were referred to the executive committee.

Eleven newly elected members were introduced and took their seats as members of the association.

A communication was received from Tax Collector E. R. Bryant relative to the matter of suspension of two Civil Service employees of his office, in which he took issue with statements that have been made relative to the causes leading to these suspensions and declaring his fealty to Civil Service and approving the principles of this association.

The Welfare Committee of the association has been requested to invite speakers to address the members with a view to explaining the various constitutional amendments that will appear on the ballot next November, this being an initial step looking towards a consistent campaign of education on all matters affecting public policies. It is the intention to have these talks from time to time as circumstances may arise.

At the conclusion of the regular business of the evening the president relinquished the gavel to the chairman of the Welfare Committee, said committee having provided entertainment for the evening for the edification of the 200 members who were present.

BUSINESS OF BOARD OF EDUCATION.

At the meeting of the Board on September 29, Henry Raphael, now substitute teacher, was assigned to the Portola Evening School.

Maybelle Develey and Walter J. Rockwell were elected regular teachers in the elementary schools of this department.

Lyda A. Carroll was granted extension of leave of absence.

The resignations of Mrs. Edith Carpenter Shepherd and W. J. G. Williams as teachers in this department were accepted.

Mrs. Helen Lacy was appointed assistant janitress at the Bernal School.

PROCEEDINGS OF POLICE COMMISSION.

At a meeting of the Board of Police Commissioners held on September 28, 1914, Police Officer Arthur B. Riehl was granted a leave of absence of seven days.

Florence Condon, relief telephone operator in the Police Department, having finished her duties as such was removed.

Selma Stencil, Certification No. 1206, Loraine R. Pierce, Certification No. 1207, Grace L. Penn, Certification No. 1208 and Julia G. Brady, Certification No. 1209, were appointed regular telephone operators in the Police Department; said appointments to take effect immediately and to be subject to the probationary period of six months as provided for in the Charter.

The following named special police officers were removed: Jerry J. Murphy, John J. Dougherty.

Charles H. Hagerdon was appointed a special police officer.

The bill setting aside $180,000 for the improvement of streets in the Civic Center, adjoining the Exposition grounds and Eleventh and Tenth streets, has been placed on final passage by the Board of Supervisors. The work will be done by the Street Repair Department, but whether the Civic Center streets shall be paved with vitrified brick on asphalt has not yet been determined.

GRAND CELEBRATION OF COLUMBUS DAY.

In accordance with established custom, Mayor Jas. Rolph, Jr., has appointed a committee of one hundred citizens to arrange for the public observance of "Columbus Day", which is a legal holiday. Angelo Rossi is chairman of the committee, James E. Rogers secretary, Thos. F. Boyle treasurer and Eustace M. Peixotto director-general of events.

The committee has met weekly in the chambers of the Board of Supervisors and is working hard to formulate plans for a magnificent marine pageant, culminating in "The Landing of Columbus" at the yacht harbor of the Exposition grounds, on Sunday afternoon, October 11, 1914.

In order to stimulate a greater knowledge of the career and of the great achievement of Columbus, the local Knights of Columbus have presented to the Board of Education a beautiful silver loving cup to be awarded for the best essay on "Christopher Columbus". In accepting the gift the Board of Education has added the condition that the trophy shall become the property of the school attended by the winning pupil.

To swell the attendance at the celebration, and to afford the young children an opportunity to fully appreciate the educational possibilities of the historic pageant, a concession has been secured whereby all children under twelve years of age accompanied by their parents will be admitted free to the Exposition grounds.

The committee confidently believes, with fair weather, that between 35,000 and 50,000 persons will attend this celebration, and that it will be the greatest of all the pre-Exposition events.

The Municipal Band will join with numerous other bands in furnishing the music.

Superintendent Thomas Cashin of the Municipal Railways will have every available car in service, and will route cars from all parts of the municipal system direct to the Fair grounds. He proposes to watch the transportation closely, for it will afford the first test of the adequacy of the Municipal Railways to handle heavy traffic to the Fair grounds.

The tentative program of events as announced by the committee is as follows:

Marine pageant from Black Point Cove to the Exposition yacht harbor, led by King Neptune, and including fishing boats, naval cutters, motor boats and launches, with floats of various kinds.

The boats, brightly decorated, will line up before the broad Esplanade.

Columbus, with the three caravels, will pass in review before the boats and land on the point at the yacht harbor, where he will be received by the Indians.

Key of city presented by Mayor Jas. Rolph, Jr.

Barge and skiff races off the Esplanade.

Naval cutter races, exhibition drill by fire tugs, and diving by submarines off the Esplanade.

Swimming races and fancy diving exhibitions in the yacht harbor.

Water soccer contest in the yacht harbor.

General Manager Black, of the United Railroads, has sent a communication and map to the Board of Supervisors, the latter showing the districts in which it will be safe to permit motormen of the United Railroads to operate cars from seats to be provided by the company. General Manager Black says it would be unsafe to provide seats in the congested districts as a person is much more alert when on their feet, and to permit the platform men to sit down in the performance of their duties in these districts might result in many accidents.

The Superintendent of Schools announces that the regular examination for teachers' certificates will be held on Monday, October 5.

BUSINESS OF THE BOARD OF HEALTH.

At a meeting of the Board of Health held on September 24, 1914, the following premises were condemned: 75 Clara street (vacant lodging-house and store), condemned and 15 days granted to demolish; 310-12 York street (residence, stable and chicken houses), condemned and 30 days granted to comply with requirements; adjoining 214 Evans avenue (saloon and shacks), condemned and 30 days given to comply with requirements; 214 Evans avenue (restaurant, hotel and lodgings), condemned and 30 days given to comply with requirements; 213 Evans avenue (residence and lodgings), condemned and 60 days given to comply with requirements; 209-11 Evans avenue (saloon and lodgings), condemned and 60 days given to comply with requirements.

The following cases were set for hearing on Thursday, October 1, 1914: 1172 Church street (residence); 1699 Bryant street (shoe repair shop, residence, etc.), 3641 Sacramento street (Chinese laundry); southwest corner Van Ness avenue and Elm avenue (lodgings and premises formerly occupied as restaurant); northeast corner Sixteenth and York streets (stable); 1430-32 Kentucky street (residence).

The Board of Supervisors has been asked to furnish a Ford automobile to facilitate the work of collection of milk samples, etc., for bacteriological and chemical analysis, the present horse and buggy transportation being found inadequate, since the advent of the auto delivery wagon.

Miss Alzena Perron, graduate nurse, relinquished her position, with privilege of having her name returned to the Civil Service register of eligibles.

Miss Olive McGinnes, school nurse, also relinquished her position under the same conditions.

William P. Mee, inspector under special sanitation, resigned his position in order to report to Surgeon-General Rupert Blue, U. S. P. H. service, to take part in plague suppression measures in the city of New Orleans, La.

Robert Pratt was appointed to fill the vacancy.

Mrs. Laura Ryan was appointed general clerk from the Civil Service register of eligibles.

Owing to the difficulty in securing male pupils for training as graduate nurses on account of the three-year term of service, same has been reduced to two years, with the privilege of taking the third year if such graduates wish to qualify as registered nurses.

The graduate nurses of the Emergency Hospital Service have filed a petition requesting that they be granted one day of rest in seven. Under present conditions the nurses work every day in the month, except when they provide their own relief.

A resolution was adopted to the effect that third year pupil nurses from accredited training schools throughout the city will be accepted for a course at the Isolation Hospital in order to give those who desire the opportunity to study and treat contagious disease cases. This privilege will be allowed with the understanding that no compensation will be given by the city for such service.

The superintendent of the Relief Home reports that the bed capacity of that institution presents a very serious problem. At this time two years ago there were 165 empty beds and last year 37, but at this writing there is not a vacant bed available and there is a long waiting list.

The San Francisco Hospital is approaching the time when the occupancy of same for the care of patients will probably be only a matter of months; the Infirmary building at the Relief Home, which has been used as the City and County Hospital for several years past, will require extensive repairs and overhauling after same is vacated for hospital uses, and the Board of Works have been requested to furnish an estimate covering the cost of rehabilitation, while the Supervisors will be asked to provide an appropriation to cover expense of same.

One case of animal rabies in a dog was reported during the past month, this being the first in about six weeks, and upon the statement of the representative of the Civic League of Improvement Clubs that the Department of Health of New York had enacted a dog-muzzling ordinance on account of the occurrence of one case of animal rabies in that city, it was urged that this city should take the same precautions, and the Supervisors will be requested to adopt an ordinance along these lines.

It was reported that the Board of Supervisors has enacted a new food ordinance as drafted by the Board of Health; and representatives of the wholesale and retail grocers appeared before the Board of Supervisors requesting that an addition be made to said ordinance requiring all places where food stuffs are handled to be rat-proofed before a health officer's certificate can be issued. It was also suggested that it be made a misdemeanor to permit any animals not held in leash in a place where food products are exposed for sale.

The department is endeavoring to devise ways and means whereby it may be possible to have an exhibit of health work at the P. P. I. E. Lack of funds seems to be the most serious obstacle at present to such a plan, but it is hoped that this difficulty may eventually be overcome.

Plans of the pathological building and garage to be erected as a part of the San Francisco Hospital group have been accepted after thorough inspection by the Board.

A resolution was adopted requesting that action be taken by the Board of Supervisors looking towards the strict enforcement of Ordinance 2246, prohibiting the use of the common drinking cup or common receptacle for drinking water in any public place, building, etc.

Upon the request of the executive secretary of the California Social Hygiene Society, a recommendation was adopted to the effect that every saloonkeeper, hotel and lodging-house proprietor and drug store owner be served with a notice calling attention to the provision of Ordinance 1363 (prohibiting indecent advertising), this measure being taken with a view to putting a stop to the misleading and dangerous advertising of medical fakirs, who have been in the habit of using the places herein designated for posting stickers and other signs.

Following is a list of contagious diseases reported to this department for the two weeks ended September 26:

Diphtheria, 49; measles, 318; mumps, 1; whooping cough, 12; scarlet fever, 8; smallpox, 1; typhoid, 11; chicken pox, 92; erysipelas, 2.

Births registered for two weeks ending September 26, 313; deaths recorded for two weeks ending September 26, 244.

THE SUSPENSION OF CIVIL SERVICE EMPLOYEES.

It has been noted that the Tax Collector recently suspended two of his employees without pay and thereby presented a question as to whether such suspension was subject to review by the Civil Service Commission.

The Municipal Civil Service Association brought the matter to the attention of the Commission in a communication stating its views in the following language:

"In the interest of justice and fair play we believe that when a subordinate has been suspended, that a notice of the suspension together with the specific charges should be filed with your Honorable Board and that upon the request of the accused, your Honorable Board should give the accused a hearing, review the case, and satisfy yourselves that the charges are brought in good faith and are well founded. The appointing power should not be permitted to suspend subordinates arbitrarily. You can readily see that if the appointing officer or board has the power to arbitrarily suspend for a period not to exceed thirty days, that a number of successive suspensions could be made which in effect would amount to permanent removal or separation from the service. This is not only manifestly unfair but will be subversive of the merit system.

"In conclusion permit us to reiterate that we are not passing upon the merits of the case. If these men are guilty our association has no further interest in the matter so far as they are concerned, but we most earnestly and emphatically insist that under the Charter your Board has the power to inquire into the acts of heads of offices and departments when such acts affect Civil Service, and we believe in the interest of fair play and for the preservation of the spirit and integrity of Civil Service that your Board should give these men the hearing that they request."

The Civil Service Commission at once asked the City Attorney to define its powers to review the matter and in reply received his opinion that the Commission had such powers, concluding his opinion as follows:

"Civil Service having been created to do away with the spoils system and personal appointment, it is one of the principles of that system that all matter connected with that system be controlled and directed by a commission whose sole duty is to administer the affairs of Civil Service, and this theory is carried out in our Charter. In the matter of suspensions "for disciplinary or penal purposes" a limited authority has been placed in officers and commissions. That authority is limited both as to the extent of the punishment which can be imposed and as to the causes for suspension as above pointed out.

"I therefore advise that your Board, under the provisions of Section 14 of Article XIII of the Charter, has authority to investigate suspensions made pursuant to the Charter to determine whether the authority of the suspending officer has been regularly pursued or not."

The Tax Collector having joined in the request for a full investigation of the matter, it is probable that the Commission will take up the subject at an early date and render its decision according to the facts adduced.

REPORTS WORK PROGRESSING AT HETCH HETCHY

City Engineer O'Shaughnessy returned a few days ago from an inspection trip to the Hetch Hetchy Valley.

He reports the road under construction by the Utah Construction Company, contractors, from Hog ranch into Hetch Hetchy, opened for the entire distance, about 300 men being at work, with headquarters at six different camps scattered along the routes. Three large auto trucks and four teams are constantly at work hauling food stuffs, powder and supplies for the men. From Hog ranch in all the materials must be packed on pack animals to the different camps. Twenty-pound rails and light temporary trucks are being used by the contractors in removing the excavated materials from the cut to the fills, and those rails are trailed behind the animals on sleds. From the manner in which the work is being prosecuted, if the weather still continues good, in the opinion of the City Engineer, the first section of road will be finished by the 10th of December, well ahead of the contract time.

Arrangements have been made to cut wood and lumber for the camp buildings at Hetch Hetchy dam, so that the moment the road is finished the materials can be hauled in for constructing quarters for the working men. Studies are being made with a view to draining the mosquito swamps in the vicinity of the dam and the construction of the necessary trails and small paths to attack the work.

The locating party, under Assistant Engineer Rankin, has fourteen miles more of the railway located to the Middle Fork of the Tuolumne, and it is hoped to have the line located to Groveland by the 1st of November, and to Rosasco's by the 1st of February, where a connection with the Sierra Railway can be made, if satisfactory freight rates for the transportation of materials can be arranged with that company. If not, it is proposed to connect the line with the main line of the Southern Pacific or the Santa Fe in the valley, so that no excessive rates can be exacted from the city in the transportation of materials.

The people of Tuolumne county are feeling very friendly to the city's enterprise and the county roads are in a fairly good condition. A new state highway has been built from Oakdale to Knights Ferry past Keystone, to Chinese, so that next year a good auto road will be opened up the valley.

During the coming year work can be constructed simultaneously in completing the transportation line, commencing operations on the dam, and the construction of the main aqueduct to the Moccasin Creek power plant.

BID FOR TWIN PEAKS TUNNEL.

The Twin Peaks Tunnel was practically assured Wednesday when a bid of $3,475,300 to do the work was received from Erickson & Pederson of Seattle by the Board of Works, accompanied by a certified check of $350,000 to show good faith. The bid is within $41,765 of the estimate of City Engineer O'Shaughnessy, and a recommendation will be made by him to accept the bid and the big undertaking allowed to move forward. Assurances have been given by the bidders that work will be commenced immediately, and the work pushed to a speedy completion.

EMPLOYES MUST PAY DEBTS.

President Reardon, of the Board of Public Works, has given notice that all employes of the department will be expected to pay their just debts incurred for the necessities of life, and that evasion of bills contracted for rent, food and personal wants will not be tolerated. Several of the employes have evaded payment by assignment of their pay checks to others. Saloon men and money brokers will not be protected by this latest order of the Board of Public Works.

NEW BATHS AT PLAYGROUND.

Formal acceptance of the new swimming tank for boys and girls at Nineteenth and Angelica streets has been made by the Playground Commission. The tank is situated on the site of the old Marshall school, is of concrete construction, 30 x 90 feet, and is after plans drawn by Architect D. Boese. It is planned to later establish bath houses and construct playground equipment as soon as the funds of the commission will permit.

Max J. Kuhl has tendered his resignation as member of the Police Commission to Mayor Rolph.

Dr. Charles E. Jones was appointed Fire Commissioner by Mayor Rolph Wednesday to fill the vacancy caused by the recent regisnation of H. U. Brandenstein.

Printing Label Causes Extended Debate in the Board of Supervisors

The greater part of last Monday's session of the Board of Supervisors was devoted to a discussion of the use of the label of the Allied Printing Trades Council upon the printing required by the city. The matter came up in connection with a proposition to submit an amendment to the Charter requiring the label on all printed matter issued by the city. Representatives of both sides of the question were given the privilege of the floor and the debate lasted for over an hour. The matter was finally settled by an order submitting the amendment which was adopted by a vote of fourteen to four.

Incidentally, the question came up in another form when a resolution was reported awarding a printing contract to a firm not using the label. The resolution was defeated and the subject was sent back to the Supplies Committee for a new report.

Bids for printing and blank books were received and referred to the committee.

DETROIT HAS PARK AUTO BUSSES.

In answer to a letter written by the Seattle Municipal League to the Detroit Park Board, concerning a municipal auto line for parks, the board replied that such a line had been successful in Detroit.

An extract from the letter follows:

"During the past year we carried 619,087 passengers across the bridge and 15,990 around the park. Of the first number, 44,850 were employees who rode for one cent each. The total receipts amounted to $21,121.09; total expenditures, $17,223.28. The busses are of the Packard type and are kept up in first-class shape so that the depreciation is reduced to a minimum. Passengers are carried across the bridge during the summer months at the rate of three cents each and during the winter at five cents. During the winter months we maintain a schedule of 20-minute service and during the summer there is a bus every five minutes.

"From the above you will notice that our profits were approximately four thousand dollars, and had we charged five cents a ride instead of three cents this amount would be considerably larger.

"We do not maintain any lines on the boulevards. There are sight seeing companies who take visitors around the city at all sorts of prices, but we do not enter into competition with them."

MUNICIPAL IMPROVEMENTS DURING MONETARY CRISIS.

In order to learn the prospects for municipal work in the present crisis "The American City" sent requests for views to the Mayors of municipalities in various parts of the country. Twenty-one replies are published and from them the editor has drawn the following conclusions:

"There is little tendency to call a halt in public improvements in American cities because of the European war. These Mayors of important cities throughout the United States are, almost without exception, in favor of carrying on municipal improvements with unabated vigor during the coming fall and winter. In some cities, indeed, plans are being made to do even more public work than would ordinarily be undertaken through the winter months. On the other hand, some of the Mayors express doubt as to their ability to float bond issues at the present time, or to obtain necessary funds in other ways. Because of the ease with which high grade municipal securities can ordinarily be sold, the present problem of city finance is an unusual one. In our opinion, however, it does not offer obstacles which cannot be overcome by any city whose credit has not, for other reasons, been seriously impaired.

"To be sure, the bond houses which ordinarily are in the market for municipal securities are offering little encouragement at the present time in the way of commitments for new issues. Cities which wish to raise money this fall must, in most cases, look to their local bankers or citizens, rather than to the large financial centers, for assistance."

The total amount of brick pavement was really 28,654 square feet, but the United Railways received a credit of 6,893 square feet.

The total expenditures of the department for the year was $739,462.70.

MAY USE LAND FOR PLAYGROUND.

City Attorney Long has advised the Supervisors that it may properly place under the jurisdiction of the Playground Commission a parcel of land on the westerly line of Eighteenth avenue, between California and Lake streets. The land was deeded to the city by the Legislature, to be held in trust for the San Francisco Woman's Protective Society, but as the beneficiary never claimed the land the City Attorney holds the city may use it for whatsoever purposes desired, so long as it does not attempt to part with the title.

VOTE FOR STATE BUILDINGS BONDS.

The people of the State of California are urged to vote for the bond issues which provide a million dollars for a public building in the Civic Center of San Francisco; a million dollars for a State building at Los Angeles, and three million dollars for an adequate State building at the Capitol in Sacramento.

The United States Government long ago learned the wastefulness of paying rent. Therefore Congress from year to year appropriates for the construction of Federal buildings, postoffices, custom houses, warehouses and other structures in various parts of the country. The State of California should now adopt the same method and stop paying rents to landlords.

Money paid for rent never comes back. The only beneficiary is the landlord.

According to the State Controller, the State of California now pays in rentals in the City of San Francisco $61,728 a year. It is proposed to issue a million dollars four per cent bonds, the interest of which would be $40,000 a year. The net saving therefore would be $21,728 annually. The building itself would do credit to the State.

San Francisco is building the most magnificent group of municipal buildings in the world. When this Civic Center was conceived the idea that the State should have a building in the Civic Center area was met with approval on all sides. The city in making its plans provided a site for a State building. The State owned a lot in the Civic Center of dimensions 120 feet by 100 feet. This was the site of the old Supreme Court building.

The city has now deeded to the State, in exchange for this old court site, a lot 120 feet by 412 feet 6 inches. The lot formerly owned by the State contained 12,000 square feet. The lot ceded to the State for a State building contains 49,512 square feet.

The State paid for this lot $72,000. The city paid $263,030 for the lot which it has given to the State.

The site of the proposed State building is on one side of the magnificent square which is to be parked and ornamentally developed. Opposite and across the square is the $1,250,000 Auditorium built by the Panama-Pacific Exposition Company. Facing the west side of the square is the $3,500,000 City Hall built by the City of San Francisco. On the east side is to be built a $1,000,000 public library, plans for which are completed.

At present the following offices of the State of California are in rented quarters in the City of San Francisco:

- Attorney-General.
- Railroad Commission.
- Building and Loan Commission.
- Superintendent of Banks.
- Insurance Commission.
- Mining Bureau.
- Labor Bureau.
- Fish and Game Commission.
- Dairy Bureau.
- Board of Charities and Corrections.
- Industrial Accident Commission.
- Supreme and Appellate Courts.
- Dental Examiners.
- Board Medical Examiners.
- Board of Pharmacy.
- Board of Architects.
- Conservation and Water Commission.
- Horticultural Commissioner.
- Veterans' Home.
- Prison Directors.
- Board of Accountancy.
- State Highway Commission.

Plans for the State building will be prepared by the State Department of Engineering and shall be approved by a special commission consisting of the Governor, the Attorney-General and the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court.

The people of the State of California will be the chief beneficiaries by voting a million-dollar bond issue for the State building in the Civic Center of San Francisco.

Economy and beauty are the two prime factors in this proposal. The people of California can well afford to vote these bonds to erect a monumental State building in keeping with the traditions and ambitions of the Golden State.

The same arguments apply with equal force for the buildings at Los Angeles and Sacramento.

Vote for No. 35, the Sacramento State Building bonds.

Vote for No. 36, the San Francisco Building bonds.

Vote for No. 38, the Los Angeles Building bonds.

All on the ballot of November 3.

SAYS BRIDGE WORK IS BEING DELAYED.

City Engineer O'Shaughnessy has made complaint that the Southern Pacific Railroad Company and the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad are not displaying the energy which was expected in the construction of the draw bridge across Islais Creek and that such delay is seriously interfering with the development of factory and industrial sites in that section of the city.

The building of the bridge is one of the conditions by which the corporations received their franchises for the use of city streets.

In order that the responsibility for the delay in building the bridge may be placed where it belongs, the City Engineer has written to Assistant Engineer Barlow of the Southern Pacific Company, complaining that no active work has been done in the past two months and that but 200 tons of the 600 tons of steel necessary for construction of the bridge has arrived and that this is apparently stored in winter quarters under the railway bridge at Sixteenth street.

The letter continues:

"In accordance with the understanding entered into and the promises made by the Santa Fe Company and the Southern Pacific Company, this bridge should be now completed, so that dredging would proceed in the Islais Creek channel and the commercial interests of this industrial portion of the city have an opportunity to develop. Many requests for information as to the cause of delay in this matter have been lately made to my office by municipal officials and others and I therefore desire you to kindly forward me your construction program for the completion of this project."

CREATING A GREAT INDUSTRIAL DISTRICT.

By the introduction of resolutions by Supervisor W. H. McCarthy, chairman of the street Committee, providing for the opening, closing, extending and widening of certain streets in the Islais Creek Basin the Board of Supervisors has taken the first step in a most important piece of constructive legislation which has for its purpose the opening of what is now undrained and unapproachable land for factory sites and the creation of a great industrial district in the southerly and westerly portion of the city.

This preliminary legislation has been preceded by long conferences between the representatives of industrial concerns, the management of transcontinental property owners themselves and the legislative, legal and engineering departments of the city government. There has been a great amount of work involved in order to bring about a harmony of all the several interests involved and secure the desired and beneficial improvement of the property at the least possible burden to the small property owners, who would be unable to stand the cost at the present time until able to take advantage of the enhanced values which will result when the improvements are made.

The resolutions passed by the Supervisors last Monday declare it to be the intention to close portions of Newcomb avenue, La Salle avenue, Kirkwood avenue, Innes avenue, Hudson avenue, Galvez avenue, Fairfax avenue, Davidson avenue, Selby street, Mississippi street, Missouri street, Arkansas street, Wisconsin street, Carolina street, De Haro treet, Rhode Island street, Kansas street, Vermont street, Orleans street, Mazzini street, Tulare street, Napolean street, Texas street and all of Luck street, all of Bourbon street, all of Biggs street and all of Upton street and declaring intention to open, extend and widen portions of Evans avenue, Jerrold avenue, Potrero avenue and Napoleon street.

The report of the public pound for the month of August shows cash received to the amount of $514.80. Dogs killed, 334.

MUNICIPAL JOTTINGS OF GENERAL INTEREST.

The Board of Public Works has directed Mahoney Brothers to remove old cable tracks at Fifth avenue and Geary street and also to remove pavement that is above grade entering the Geary street car barn.

Superintendent of Street Repairs McCoy has had his new sand-spreading truck at work on Market street. The machine throws a spray of sand over the surface of the street affording a smooth footing on the slippery asphalt for teams and automobile traffic.

The Board of Public Works has recommended that the easterly half of Twelfth street, between Mission and Howard streets, be paved with asphalt, at the same time that the Ocean Shore Railroad rearranges its terminal tracks at Twelfth and Mission streets.

The Central Sunset Improvement Club has petitioned the Supervisors to enact an ordinance which will provide that cars of the United Railroads on Route 17 will run from the ferries via Market street to Haight street and thence to Stanyan and from that point as at present, and Route No. 7 shall be extended from Haight and Stanyan streets to the ocean beach and return by way of Lincoln way.

PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION NOTES.

Two of the scores of great mural paintings of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition have just been put in place. The two canvases now in place are 21x12 feet and are above the main entrances to the Court of Palms. The two lunettes are by Charles Holloway and Childe Hassam. The preparedness of the exposition may be seen by the fact that these oil paintings are being put up six months before the opening day. It is the first time mural paintings have been used out doors.

* * *

The Italian pavilion on the grounds of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition has been begun and it promises to be in a class by itself. It will be, in fact, seven buildings and is to be constructed in the form of an Italian city. All the buildings are connected by plazas, porticos, arches and gardens. The Italian city will comprise industrial building, musical and art salons, cinematograph building, Tribuna, medieval armory and the official government headquarters.

Commissioners from Argentina to the Panama-Pacific International Exposition are preparing to return to their country to plan the shipping of Argentina's exhibits. Argentina is spending $1,700,000 in her participation and has asked for greater space since the outbreak of the war. The exhibits will arrive in December.

* * *

Columbus Day was celebrated with lavish ceremony on the grounds of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition on Sunday, October 11. This is one of the fete days that Californians covet and the pageants each year show surprising novelties.

* * *

The average weekly attendance at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition has reached 62,000. Sunday band concerts have been inaugurated and the first was held on September 20 in the completed Court of Four Seasons. The acoustics are excellent and the arch of the court provides a wonderful band shell.

* * *

Word just received from England by officials of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition gives hope that specimens of the famous Chillingham wild white cattle will be in the livestock show of the exposition. These cattle were first enclosed in Chillingham Park in 1220 A. D. They have been traced as descendants of the white bull of Caledonia.

* * *

More than 200 giant searchlights which are to be used as a part of the 500 at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition have arrived on the exposition grounds and are being put in place. Those received are 18 inch and 13 inch and are the smallest sizes that will be used. There will be 100 30-inch searchlights and many between three and four feet in diameter.

* * *

A wonderful floral wall 1100 feet long, 20 feet high and 6 feet thick is almost completed in front of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition. This unique floral rampart is an exposition novelty and comes after many experiments with flowers and vines. The mossy, pink-flowered ice plant, known scientifically as mesembryanthemum spactabilis, has been used. Irrigation is effected by means of perforated pipes placed on the top of the wall.

* * *

Plans for New York City's $50,000 building on the grounds of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition have been received by the exposition board of works. One of the features of this building will be oil paintings of great size showing New York City in 1715, 1815 and 1915. Many other interesting features are being prepared.

* * *

At the request of a number of yacht clubs in this country and abroad, the management of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition has decided to postpone the international yacht regatta from April, 1915, to August and September, 1915.

* * *

All pre-exposition world records on attendance were broken by the Panama-Pacific International Exposition on Sunday, September 27. There was no special event on the exposition grounds and yet there were 12,340 paid admissions. Until that date the greatest number of paid admissions when no special program was offered was 6,250. The last three weeks have averaged more than 60,000 each.

* * *

Goichi Takeda, Japanese architect, has arrived here to make plans for the reception of materials for the Japanese pavilion at the exposition. The greatest part of the work of constructing the building is being done in Japan and it will be brought to the exposition ready to put in place. The pavilion is a reproduction of the Temple of Kin Ka Ku Ji at Kioto. Rock plants and special soil are being brought for the gardens.

The American Institute of Banking with 1500 delegates is one of the latest organizations to choose San Francisco for the 1915 meeting place. The 1914 convention has just closed at Dallas, Texas.

Mayor and Mrs. Rolph, who were injured in an automobile accident near Byron Springs last Saturday night are convalescing from the injuries. MUNICIPAL RECORD

1c. Paid
San Francisco Cal.
Permit No. 145

Vol. VII—No. 43. SAN FRANCISCO, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 22, 1914.

Supervisors Deadlocked in Matter of Awarding Printing Contract

The Board of Supervisors devoted considerable time to a discussion of the printing situation in the city. The matter came up in connection with an award of contract for printing the municipal reports for 1912-13. The committee reported in favor of awarding a contract to a relative high bidder, for the reason that a lower bidder had no right to use the union label. Those opposing the award as recommended took the position that the charter required an award to the lowest responsible bidder and in this case the difference in bids was estimated at about $900. At the close of the discussion a roll call disclosed that the board was evenly divided on the proposition, the vote being nine ayes and nine noes, and thus the resolution was defeated, and the municipal reports for the last two years will not be printed for a while.

Veto Sustained.

The Mayor's veto of the out-door park permit at Van Ness avenue and Hayes street was sustained.

Appropriations Made.

The following appropriations were made: For switchboard at central fire alarm station, $7,697.18; additional for construction of Potrero avenue line Municipal Railway, $10,893; for paving yard and for benches at Polytechnic High School, $2,924; additional for Junipero Serra boulevard, $2,609; for fire escapes Burnett School, $2,693.

Declaring that the public interest required the acquisition of the works of the Spring Valley Water Company.

Declaring that the sale of the city's interest in certain land constituting a part of Horner's Addition Block No. 205 would be of advantage to the City.

Resolutions Adopted.

The City Attorney was instructed to institute condemnation proceedings for the acquisition of certain land needed in the construction of the Twin Peaks tunnel.

A lot of land 150 by 240 feet on California street, between Eighteenth and Nineteenth avenues was transferred to the Playground Commission.

Plans for the new public library building in the Civic Center were approved.

At the request of the Finance Committee, Mayor Rolph has called a special meeting of the Board of Supervisors for next Tuesday, when certain existing differences as to authority to proscribe when and where street work shall be done will be settled.

By resolution of Supervisor Murdock the Judiciary Committee has been asked to report to the Board the effect certain proposed constitutional amendments will have on city affairs if adopted by the people.

SUPERVISOR MURDOCK REPORTS LEAGUE CONVENTION.

Supervisor C. A. Murdock attended the convention of the League of California Municipalities at the Hotel Del Monte last week and reports an extremely interesting meeting. The league is composed of 197 cities and towns of the state which were represented by about 350 municipal officials.

Concerning the meeting Mr. Murdock writes:

"The number of delegates is limited by interest and not by population. Richmond had ten representatives; Sacramento, 8; Berkeley, including contributing professors, 12. Our nearest neighbor, South San Francisco, had 7, while San Francisco had one Supervisor, its City Attorney and its Assessor. Among the speakers, however, were Assistant Engineers Ransom and Cleary, and Mr. Cashin dropped in as an exhibit of a model street car superintendent. President Long and the other program makers gave San Francisco a place on the program somewhat proportionate to its importance and achievements. Mr. Ransom spoke twice, on 'Paying the Bills for City Planning' and 'The Municipal Railroad of San Francisco.' Both were concise and intelligent statements and made a good impression.

"At the first evening session Mr. Cleary gave an excellent address on what San Francisco has done in rehabilitation. The illustrations of sewers, auxiliary fire system, fire houses, police stations, school buildings, civic center, etc., were very impressive. The total expenditures of the municipality were not only a surprise but the excellence of the work and the artistic quality were warmly appreciated.

"Mr. John Ginty, before the department of clerks, auditors and assessors, explained to his associates his greatly improved 'City Map for Assessors.' I could not hear him, but I know it must have been convincing.

"The proceedings were all practical and full of interest and value to the conference. Some were especially interested in one thing and some in another, but nothing failed of making some point or relating some experience that promised help to some one.

"A wide range of subjects was covered and if delegates did not go back better fitted for their duties it was their own fault. It is hard to specify unusual merit. There were many bright and able men and they talked straight or read carefully prepared papers.

"Discussions were sometimes spirited and often failed to completely settle; for opinions differ and judgments vary. Road-making is an unending open question. The problem is to get the best results at the least expense and it is the pursuit of a vanishing point—never satisfactorily reached. One competent engineer frankly favors the Warrenite form, notwithstanding the royalty, saying the Topeka mixture had not stood up and was lacking in the proper proportions. Another expressed his satisfaction with it, and as Mr. Dooley says: 'There ye are.'

"A paper that was of especial interest was on the 'City Manager Plan of Municipal Government,' by Mr. Paul E. Kressly, City Manager of Inglewood. It presented the theory of it clearly and convincingly and the reports of actual results of the seven months he had tried it made a strong impression. His accurate account of savings in cost were from 25 to 35 per cent and he told just how he did it, and his methods were reasonable and fair—simple increase of efficiency by applying ordinary business principles. The favorable impression was greatly strengthened by the powerful address of Prof. Thos. H. Reed on 'The Value of Experts,' in which he mercilessly exposed the weakness of the commission form of government in the fatal confusion of the representative and the administration function of government. Incidentally he hit the illogical form of municipal government in San Francisco a smashing blow.

"Dr. George E. Tucker of Riverside delivered a very strong address on 'The Relation of a Health Officer to the Municipal Government.'

"Col. Harris Weinstock spoke exceedingly well on 'The Relation of the Workmen's Compensation Act to Municipalities.' It was both encouraging and convincing.

"But how can one with any justice select from forty addresses a few for special mention? Suffice it to say that it was a highly encouraging and a very helpful session, in which a good number of earnest, high-minded public officials and interested citizens gave of their best to help on the great purpose of better and more effective municipal government."

FIRE PREVENTION RULES.

The fire loss in the United States and Canada for the year aggregated the enormous sum of $224,723,350, and these figures emphasize the necessity for property owners taking all possible precautions to prevent the starting of fires.

It might not be amiss to mention here a few defects that are liable to cause fire, or to facilitate the spread of fire. Property holders should make regular inspections of their property in order that any dangerous conditions might be corrected. These are a few things to which they should pay special attention:

1. Accumulations of combustible rubbish, such as papers, cardboard, packing material, boxes, barrels, broken furniture, etc. These accumulations are usually found in cellars, basements, hallways, elevator shafts and attics.

2. The placing of ashes and rubbish in wooden barrels or boxes. Metal barrels with metal covers should be used.

3. The careless handling or storage of combustible materials, such as paints, oils, etc. Oily waste and rags should be kept in self-closing metal cans and removed from the premises as often as possible.

4. The protection of woodwork where it is in close proximity to heaters and heater pipes.

5. Defective chimneys. Holes should not be allowed in chimneys, and unused funnel holes should be kept closed with metal caps. Chimney flues and vent pipes should be kept clean.

6. Carelessness in the use of matches. They should always be kept in metal holders, and should not be lighted in closets.

7. The use of gasolene for cleaning purposes. Gasolene should never be used in a closed room, for the fumes it gives off, when confined, will ignite from a lighted match, lamp or gas.

8. Care in the lighting of swinging gas jets or lamps near curtains.

9. The use of kerosene in starting fires.

Too much care and attention cannot be given to the above matters, and a strict observance of the above rules will assist in reducing the fire loss.

CO-OPERATION IN REDUCING TAXES.

Everybody claims that the municipal government belongs to the people. Some people argue that the municipal government is somewhat similar to a business corporation, and should be so conducted. All people agree that a municipal government should be so operated that the greatest measure of meritorious results will be accomplished at the lowest possible cost to the taxpayer.

The fixing of a tax rate is no easy task. The public little realizes the intensely trying labor that is incident to this duty. To the casual observer it looks simple. But to the man on the inside; to the official who is confronted with the overwhelming rush of items connected with the city government; to the person who knows the difficulty of reconciling unlimited results with a low rate; to the individual, indeed, who has to wrestle with the very problem itself, the task of fixing a tax rate is a most herculean proposition.

Public officials deserve more sympathy than they get. It is a nerve-racking undertaking to grapple with the contending demands of "results" and "low taxes." Everybody wants "results," and, yet, nobody wants high taxes.

The public makes the municipal government fritter away much of its available funds in taking care of the things which the people themselves could have avoided. It is this unfortunate frittering away of otherwise available sums which cuts down the measure of what ought to be each year's substantial results. More money, on a low tax rate, would be obtainable for constructive improvements, if the public, by close co-operative attention, would but help to minimize the measure of avoidable municipal work. If everyone would but do his part it would make a tremendous difference in municipal expenses.—Baltimore Municipal Journal.

The wages paid in these positions are those prevailing in Sacramento. There are several vacancies to be filled in each position. All citizens of the State, between the ages of 21 and 60 on the date of the examinations, who comply with the requirements, are eligible for these examinations.

Application blanks and further information may be secured from the State Civil Service Commission, State Capitol, Sacramento.

Work has begun on the intra-mural railway of the exposition. There will be five miles of track and the visitor may ride to any part of the exposition grounds. There will be ten engines, each drawing ten coaches, and a regular schedule will be maintained. They can carry 1600 persons at once.

EXPOSITION WEEKLY NEWS NOTES.

That the citizens of Great Britain are not letting the war interfere with their plans for great industrial exhibits is shown by the arrival on the grounds of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition of several large shipments of British exhibits. These first ones to be received were shipped in September and consist of varnishes and many mining appliances. They are being installed in the exposition exhibit palaces.

* * *

A large shipment of new and unnamed roses has just been received on the grounds of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition from Holland. These are entered in the $1000 prize competition in which entries have already been received from Luxemburg, Ireland and France.

* * *

Thirty-three tons of agricultural exhibits, shipped from Seattle by the Washington State Exposition Committee, have arrived at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition and are being installed in the palace of agriculture. Five carloads of social economy exhibits prepared by the United States Steel Corporation also have arrived and the first of Spain's exhibits are expected this week.

* * *

More than 700 transportation men, representing every railroad in the United States and Canada, arrived in San Francisco on October 11 and studied the Panama-Pacific International Exposition.

* * *

Nevada broke ground for the Nevada state building on the grounds of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition on October 3. Lieutenant-Governor Gilbert C. Ross wielded the silver spade and the Nevada flag was raised by Miss Dita Belknap, whose father was on the supreme bench in Nevada for twenty-six years. Imported sage brush surrounded the speakers' stand and appropriate songs and speeches were made by exposition and city officials.

* * *

The attendance on the grounds of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition is rushing upward by leaps and bounds. In July and August the attendance averaged a little more than 50,000 a month, but during the latter part of September and the first of October there has not been a week that has not shown an attendance of more than 60,000. The Sunday attendance now exceeds 11,000.

* * *

President Charles C. Moore of the exposition has received notification that Portugal will send the cruiser Almirente Reis and the dispatch boat Cinco de Otubro to Hampton Roads for the naval pageant through the canal to the exposition grounds next March. The Cinco de Otubro before the overthrow of the monarchy was King Manuel's royal yacht.

* * *

Exposition officials have been notified by President Yuan Shai Kai of China that that nation will spend $10,000,000 in the United States and Canada during 1915 in developing and increasing her trade. Fifty of the most influential members of the Chinese Chambers of Commerce will visit the exposition and make a tour of the principal North American cities.

* * *

Frank Brangwyn, possibly England's greatest colorist, has arrived in San Francisco with eight of the large murals he has painted for the exposition. Brangwyn is the only artist that was not compelled to do his work on the exposition grounds. The murals are being put in place.

* * *

Exposition Commissioner Walter W. Schultz has returned from Germany and reports that although in the midst of war German firms are still making requests for exhibit space in the exposition. At the beginning of the war he had 998 applications for space, requiring 200,000 square feet. Commissioner Schultz says there is no reason to believe that there will be a decrease in the German merchants' participation and from his experience he expects an increase in exhibits. He reports that Europe expects the war to be over by the beginning of the new year and that the date of the exposition is fortunate because old world merchants will have to get new markets.

* * *

Large shipments of exhibits from over seas and from points in the United States have begun to arrive on the grounds of the exposition. Transports from Manila have brought Philippine exhibits. Canadian agricultural and general exhibits are arriving in addition to those already placed in the completed Canadian pavilion. Scores of booths are in course of construction in the many exhibit palaces.

* * *

J. Heyerdahl-Hansen, who was appointed by Norwegians of the United States to go to Christiana to urge Norway's participation, has returned and announces that Norway's participation will not be affected by the war. Norway's plans for the pavilion have been drawn and are in the hands of the exposition board of works.

A brass shield on the largest single piece flag pole in the world was unveiled on the Oregon site of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition on September 22 and the 50-foot flag was raised to the top of the pole. The pole and the brass tablet are the gifts of the citizens of Astoria, Oregon. After the formal ceremony at which Mrs. O. M. Clark unveiled the tablet and Miss Marie Lindquist touched the halyards as five guards pulled the huge flag to its high place, dancing was enjoyed on the floor of the completed Oregon building.

CIVIL SERVICE EMPLOYEES TO HEAR CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS EXPLAINED.

A. Mason, E. A. Walcott, J. H. Zemansky, Cameron King, Jr., John T. Nourse, Arthur Joel, Charles H. Bentley, Henry E. Monroe.

The regular business session will close about 9 o'clock, when the meeting will be turned over to the Welfare Committee and the doors thrown open to non-members who may be interested in hearing the constitutional amendments explained.

A large attendance of the members is expected and they are requested to invite their friends, particularly those who are eligible to membership.

NEW YORK TO HAVE SCHOOL FOR EMPLOYEES.

In accordance with the plans formulated by Mayor Mitchel, a college course for city employees is about to be opened in the municipal building under the direction of the New York University. Its object will be to train employees of the city so that they may be better qualified to perform their duties.

Mayor Mitchel showed his interest in the matter before he became Mayor, making a tour of the Western States in order to get first hand information regarding similar plans in operation there.

Instruction will be given in room 1220 of the municipal building between the hours of 4 p. m. and 6 p. m. Courses have been arranged in English, secretarial duties, advance stenography, statistical principles and methods, bookkeeping, city engineering, accounting and the government of New York City.

TOWN MANAGER IN NEW ENGLAND.

The town of Norwood, Mass., leading the way for all New England, has voted, 660 to 403, to make the experiment of putting its affairs into the hands of a business manager. Automatically such offices as overseer of the poor, surveyor of the town, highway, water, sewer, park and municipal light commissioners, tree warden and others, went out of existence, their work to be done by the manager. By the terms of the new charter, establishing the office of business manager, the board of selectmen is increased from three to five, and these five are charged with electing the manager, at an annual salary of $2,500. Two of these selectmen are to serve for three years, two for two years and one for one year. Though the selectmen, as well as electing the manager, are over him, he in turn is the head of all town departments as far as business matters go, and is answerable only to the people, who have the power to recall after two months if 200 signatures to such a petition can be secured. All other elected officials are also subject to recall. The offices of clerk and accountant are consolidated and a finance board of three members to serve without pay, is provided for.—Municipal Journal.

VOTE AGAINST No. 28 ON THE BALLOT.

The Board of Supervisors adopted a resolution last Monday condemning the proposed constitutional amendment which transfers the rate-fixing powers of municipalities to the Railroad Commission. The resolution is as follows:

> Whereas, Assembly Constitutional Amendment No. 23 (No. 28 on the ballot) provides for the transfer to the Railroad Commission of all the rate-fixing powers of the municipalities of the State, including the right to fix the rates for municipally owned and operated street railways and for other common carriers, such as taxicabs and other public passenger vehicles; that such transfer of power is not accompanied by the right to recall such powers or the power to recall any of the members of such commission, and no relief to the public exists from the non-use or misuse of its powers; therefore,
>
> Resolved, That this Board reaffirms its judgment that the adoption of said amendment is inimical to the best interests of the City and County of San Francisco, and that all voters be urgently requested to vote against the same.

Collins, hosemen detailed to the Fair grounds to act as lieutenants, stated that they had been unable to obtain their differential in salary of $22.50 per month and asking that proper action be taken to insure them of the same as was promised when they accepted said positions. The secretary and president are to ask the Panama-Pacific Exposition Company that they make up the differential in salary, and failing to do so the men will be withdrawn from the grounds.

A letter was received from the Panama-Pacific Exposition Company, setting forth the position of the Exposition Company in regard to the city's possible liability for injuries to firemen on the Exposition pay roll, and the manner in which firemen so injured are to be cared for. To be taken up with the Industrial Accident Board and request an opinion from City Attorney.

An ordinance providing that the Board of Public Works shall not issue permits for lighting poles unless the type has been approved by the Lighting Committee of the Board of Supervisors has been introduced by Supervisor Nolau, chairman of the Lighting Committee, and referred to the City Attorney for an opinion as to its legality. The reason advanced for the introduction of the measure is to establish a standard, so that poles of different types would not be erected on the same street.

CITY MIGHT GENERATE ELECTRICITY.

At the meeting of the Supervisors last Monday, James F. Whittelsey, an electrical engineer, suggested that consideration should be given to the proposition to enlarge the power plant in the Civic Center so as to permit the installation of machinery by which the city can generate its own electricity for power and lighting purposes of city buildings in that zone. The Board has already authorized the expenditure of $75,000 for a plant for the purpose of generating steam for heating purposes. Mr. Whittlesey pointed out that by the addition of $125,000 more the plant could be enlarged, electricity generated and a saving in lighting alone effected in four or five years to meet this increased expenditure. The proposition was referred to the Bureau of Architecture to ascertain whether the plan could be worked out.

BUSINESS OF THE PARK COMMISSION.

At a meeting of the Board of Park Commissioners held at their office, Park Lodge, Golden Gate Park, Thursday, October 22, 1914, a large delegation appeared regarding the transfer of the whole of Hamilton Square to the jurisdiction of the Playground Commission, as shown on a map now on file in the office of the Playground Commission. All present expressed their views on the subject, and as there seemed to be no difference of opinion regarding the transfer of the whole of the square to the Playground Commission, provided a portion of each end and a strip on each side of the square, as shown on a certain map previously submitted and now on file in the office of the Playground Commission, it was moved and seconded and unanimously carried that the secretary be instructed to request City and County Attorney Long to draw up a resolution legally transferring the jurisdiction of the whole of Hamilton Square to the Playground Commission, in accordance with the provisions of the aforesaid map.

STATE WILL NEED MORE PRINTERS.

The State Department of Printing in Sacramento is preparing for the approaching session of the Legislature, during which additional help will be needed in all departments of the printing plant. People who are qualified as linotype operators, proofreaders, copyholders, platen pressmen or printers-floor will be required. Parties interested should write at once to the State Civil Service Commission, State Capitol, Sacramento, for application blanks and further information. Applications for linotype operator must be filed with the Commission on or before November 16, 1914; for the other positions mentioned on or before November 21.

On recommendation of the Civil Service and Efficiency Committee, the Board of Supervisors has decided that the local field is ample from which to select a superintendent of the new City and County Hospital in competitive examination to be held later by the Civil Service Commission. Under a charter provision for positions requiring technical skill and training, the city could have thrown the examination open to the world, but it was thought that this was unnecessary, as the right kind of material could be secured in San Francisco.

Supervisor A. J. Gallagher has been granted 60 days' leave of absence to attend the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor, which meets next month at Philadelphia. He has also been appointed as a delegate to represent San Francisco at a congress of Mayors, which will also meet in Philadelphia November 12, 13 and 14.

The matter is too voluminous for a single issue in the Record, and will be published in three weekly installments.

Consideration of Report of Advisory Water Commission on Purchase of Properties of Spring Valley Water Co.

In the Chambers of the Board of Supervisors, City Hall, 1231 Market street, San Francisco, California, Monday, September 28, 1914, 5 o'clock p. m.

Supervisors present: The full Board of Supervisors was present, viz: Supervisors Paul Bancroft, Con Deasy, A. J. Gallagher, J. Emmet Hayden, Fred L. Hilmer, Oscar Hocks, Thomas Jennings, J. C. Kortick, William H. McCarthy, Ralph McLeran, Charles A. Murdock, Charles Nelson, Edward L. Nolan, Henry Payot, James E. Power, Fred Suhr, Alexander Vogelsang and J. O. Walsh.

His Honor Mayor James Rolph Jr., in the chair. The Board of Supervisors, in regular session. The consideration of the report of the Advisory Water Committee and action of the Board upon the proposition of the Spring Valley Water Company to the City and County of San Francisco to purchase certain properties of the Spring Valley Water Company was set as special order for 4 o'clock p. m. Consideration of a prior special order occupied the attention of the Board until 5 o'clock p. m.

The Mayor—Members of the Board: Four o'clock was set apart this afternoon by the Board for the consideration of the report of the Advisory Water Committee upon the proposition of the Spring Valley Water Company to the City and County of San Francisco to purchase the properties of the Spring Valley Water Company. Are there any objections or any reasons why this matter should not be taken up now?

Supervisor Power—Mr. Chairman, I would offer a motion at this time, that the Clerk of this Board now read to the Board the offer that was voted upon some two and a half years ago, the $35,000,000 offer, and also a copy of the offer made some year and a half ago of $37,000,000 by the city, be read before proceeding with other matters, in order that the Board may have the entire subject-matter in mind as the report of the Committee is given.

The Mayor—Do you want this done before the Committee makes any report at all?

Supervisor Power—I understood that the Committee had already made a report and that the report is on file before this Board for the consideration of the Board.

The Mayor—It was moved that a day be set apart and a special hour thereof, at which time the Board asked the Advisory Water Committee to be present, to give their views before the Board and present a report.

Supervisor Power—No. I understood that the report was made, and that the consideration of the Advisory Water Committee's report was made a special order for this hour.

The Mayor—If the Board does not desire to hear from the Advisory Water Committee, let it be so understood.

Supervisor Power—I am not taking that stand, and I do not see why you should construe my statement to have that meaning, that we do not want to hear from the Advisory Water Committee. I will state very emphatically that I want to hear from them. But I say, I think, in order to get at this matter intelligently, in view of the fact that we are asked here as a Board of Supervisors to vote to submit or reject the proposition now placed before us, which is greater than either one of those that has been turned down by the people—I think in view of that fact that we ought to have these other offers before us for consideration and comparison with this offer, and I so move.

The motion was seconded.

Supervisor Gallagher—Is the motion before the Board now?

The Mayor—Yes.

Supervisor Gallagher—I suppose every Supervisor has a right to request all the information that he desires in the matter, but I say frankly to you that I am at least nearly familiar enough with the subject, and my recollection serves me nearly correctly enough upon the old offers, so that they do not require any rereading. I am not so much concerned about the old offers or a comparison of them with the present offer, as I am about the merits of the new offer. That is what is concerning me. If the motion goes to a vote, I shall vote against the reading of the old reports for this single reason: We have had this in our hands for weeks, and if there was any Supervisor who desired to read all these old reports he has had ample time to do so, and I do not think the time of the people and the time of the Board needs to be taken up now by any such comparison. I am concerned now, I say, with a consideration of whether I will vote "Yes" or "No" upon the subject-matter of submitting this proposition to the people. The others are in the discard. I submit that if any Supervisor wants to compare them, he can do so himself.

Supervisor Murdock—I see no necessity for reading the rejected offers, Mr. Chairman. We are perfectly willing to concede the facts that Supervisor Power wants to get at. There is no need whatever to take up time in a rereading of the older matters and I hope the motion will be voted down and we will get at the report.

The Mayor—It is moved and seconded that the Clerk of the Board be directed now to read the report of the offer that was submitted to the people of this City for the purchase of the property of the Spring Valley Water Company for $35,000,000, and following that; the offer made by the city to purchase the property at $37,000,000. Are you ready for the question?

Supervisor McCarthy—I have thought considerable over this question, and in the event that any opposition should develop, I was going to ask that those who might be in opposition be permitted, after the report of the Advisory Water Committee, to state their case in the shape of a brief, prepare a brief or a paper to answer the Advisory Water Committee's report, so that each member of the Board can weigh the arguments of the other side, and weigh them far better than he could were he only to listen to them today. This is a most important subject with which we have been confronted, I think, the most important this or any other administration has had to face. The Advisory Water Committee have submitted their report, and have given us time to think it over, giving us reasons for their recommendations. Now, if there be any opposition to that, I don't know whether there will be or not, but I imagine there will, I would say that the reasons of the opposition and the report of their findings and judgment should be incorporated in a pamphlet or brief as an answer to the recommendations of the Advisory Water Committee, and at that time if Supervisor Power wishes, if he intends to oppose this offer, it could be made a part of the report. Whether that will meet with the approval of the Board or not, I propose to make that motion at the close of this hearing, because I don't think arguments ought to be thrown at us haphazard and not give us an opportunity to weigh them as we have given the others consideration.

The Mayor—The question is on the motion of Supervisor Power that the Clerk now proceed to read the two offers in question. Are you ready for the question?

Supervisor Power—I think those reports should be before the Board, not necessarily to be read at this time, but be on the Clerk's desk for reference. Supervisor Gallagher was on the Board when both of those offers were considered. I was not. I have familiarized myself with the offers since this report has been made, but I think that is a proper request, and I think it is a fair request, and I think that is the only legitimate way to get at this subject-matter, because comparisons will undoubtedly be made with the previous offers. It is for that reason I think they should be before us.

Supervisor Gallagher—If all the Supervisor wants is that they be here, that goes without question. But I am objecting to the full and complete rereading of them.

The Mayor—If I may be permitted, as the presiding officer of the Board, to try to get us off on an even keel here, before I have even had an opportunity to ask the Advisory Water Committee and the Chief Justice of the State as chairman of the Committee, to take a seat alongside of me, I would like to ask your indulgence for a few moments until you have the opportunity of hearing, as requested by you, the report of the Advisory Water Committee given by the Chief Justice, and by the City Engineer, the City Attorney, the Assistant City Attorney and others who have had this matter in hand and whom you have asked to be present this afternoon to present to you in detail the reasons why they have made these recommendations. Furthermore, I want to say on behalf of the Advisory Water Committee, before the chairman himself reports to you, that the Committee are most anxious, in every possible way, to place you in possession of all the facts that have been before them ever since these investigations have been started, from the time the Spring Valley Water Company first made a proposition to the city, not only the offer to the city of $35,000,000, but that day long ago when they offered to sell to the city for $14,000,000, from the days of 1879 down to the present time, and we assume that this investigation on the part of the Board is going to take considerable time, and, so far as the offer of $35,000,000 is concerned, and so far as the offer of $37,000,000 is concerned, those are matters of public record, they are printed in your journals, they are in the records of the City and County of San Francisco, they are in the Municipal Record, and all records of the City and County of San Francisco, and let it be understood now that they are in the possession of this Board at a moment's notice, if called for. May I now ask Chief Justice Sullivan, Chairman of the Committee, Mr. O'Shaughnessy, the City Engineer, Mr. Long, the City Attorney, and Mr. Steinhart, the Assistant City Attorney, to have seats with me here on the platform, so that you gentlemen of the Board may be able to hear what they have to say, and to ask them any and all questions that you may desire during this important discussion? I agree with Mr. McCarthy that there has never been a problem that has come before us as legislators of this city that is of so much interest to the people of San Francisco and of so much concern to us as legislators, at which we should look before we leap and as to which we should know what we are doing, as the matter now under consideration.

Supervisor Gallagher—We don't agree with you that this problem is as difficult as it looks. I will say that right at the beginning.

Supervisor Power—But, Mr. Chairman, I will ask consideration of the motion I made—that the Clerk have on his desk the two offers or resolutions embodying the offers to which I have referred.

The Mayor—If that is the motion as it now stands, if there is no objection, the Clerk is directed to do so, and it is so ordered. Now, Mr. Chief Justice, Mr. O'Shaughnessy, Mr. Long, and Mr. Steinhart, will you please be seated up here? Gentlemen of the Board, I would like to present to you Chief Justice Sullivan, chairman of the Advisory Water Committee, who will make the report on behalf of that Committee.

Chief Justice Sullivan—Mr. Mayor and members of the Board of Supervisors: This proposition that you are called upon to consider is certainly one of the most important matters presented to this Board in many years, as well as one of the most important attempted to be presented to the electors of this city at any time.

There is no desire on the part of the Advisory Water Committee to rush matters. There is no desire on the part of that Committee to have this Board act without due reflection and due consideration of all the facts bearing upon the question. I agree with the members of this Board that time should be given to the members to consider the offer, that a time should be set at which the Board may listen to the report and listen to the arguments in favor of the printed report as made, and listen to those who honestly believe that the report should not be adopted, and that the city should not accept the offer presented by the Spring Valley Water Company without full and thorough consideration of the subject. So far as I am personally concerned, I would be willing to spend my time a whole day here, or several days, if necessary, for the purposes of having the matter discussed by members of the Board, discussed by any citizen of San Francisco, in favor of the proposition or in opposition to it, so that, after the discussion, this Board can arrive at a wise conclusion. And I would suggest, if agreeable to the Board and the Mayor and the other members of the Advisory Water Committee, that a date be set apart, say this week, to consider the offer, to hear the arguments in favor of the report, and to hear the arguments against the adoption of the report. If that is agreeable to the Board, I am perfectly satisfied. If you desire the Committee now to present the report and to present the arguments in favor of its adoption, I am perfectly willing to proceed in that way. Whatever may be the pleasure of the Board.

Supervisor Gallagher—I move that we proceed at once to the consideration of the Committee's report.

Supervisor Hayden—I second the motion, Mr. Mayor.

The Mayor—You have heard the motion, gentlemen, that the Board proceed at once to the consideration of the Advisory Water Committee's report. Are you ready for the question?

(The question was put and carried.)

The Mayor—It is unanimous and it is so ordered.

Chief Justice Sullivan—Does the Board desire the Chairman of the Committee to read the entire report?

Supervisor Gallagher—The one that is before us?

Chief Justice Sullivan—The one that is before you.

Supervisor Gallagher—I should say not. I should say only an amplification of the argument—that I think would be all that would be desired.

Chief Justice Sullivan—What is the sense of the majority of the Board as to the reading of the report?

The Mayor—The question is, gentlemen, as I gather from the Chief Justice, do you desire that the Committee's report be now presented to you in the form that it would have been presented to you, had the report never been printed and handed to you on the day it was so given you? In other words, shall the Chief Justice now read you the report, or not?

Supervisor Gallagher—I should say we have all read it, and there is no necessity of reading it as an entirety here.

Chief Justice Sullivan—I assume very naturally, as Mr. Gallagher says, that each member of the Board has read it. It was presented nearly two months ago, and it may not be necessary to read the entire report. So I will just state generally the substance of the report, and presume that will be sufficient.

The Advisory Water Committee was appointed about two years ago. Mr. Curtis H. Lindley was first appointed chairman of the Committee. He resigned by reason of illness and I was appointed to succeed him. If I remember rightly, I was appointed by the unanimous vote of this Board. Since my appointment, the Committee has met very frequently, and has made investigation as to the value of the properties of the Spring Valley Water Company, relying, of course, to a very considerable extent upon the Engineer's department, and mainly upon Chief Engineer O'Shaughnessy.

After my appointment, upon recommendation of the Advisory Water Committee, a condemnation suit was commenced by the City and County of San Francisco to condemn such properties of the Spring Valley Water Company as may be necessary for the use of the city for a water system. A resolution was passed by this Board directing the commencement of the action, after a resolution had been passed requiring the City Engineer to submit to the Board a list of the properties which, in his judgment, were necessary for the use of the city for the purpose indicated. He filed a report before the condemnation suit was commenced. The complaint in the condemnation suit describes specifically all of the property which, in the judgment of the Chief Engineer, is necessary for the use of the city, and such parts of the property that would constitute an integral part of the Hetch Hetchy system when that is completed.

After the condemnation suit had been commenced, negotiations were opened by the City Attorney's office with the Spring Valley Water Company. During the progress of the rate cases, the City Attorney and his associate counsel had occasion to meet the attorneys for the Spring Valley Water Company, and in the rate cases an important matter to consider, an all-important matter, indeed, was the value of the property of the Spring Valley Water Company. While making preparations to proceed with the rate cases, these negotiations were entered into, and finally resulted in the Spring Valley Water Company suggesting to the City Attorney's office that, if the city would agree to pay $34,500,000 for all the property which the Chief Engineer considered necessary for the use of the city and would pay in addition to that amount the capital expenditures made by the Spring Valley Water Company since January 1, 1913, claimed by the company to amount to $595,000, the Spring Valley Water Company would offer to sell to the city on those terms.

Upon June 15th of this year, a majority of the Board of Supervisors met in the office of the Mayor. The negotiations entered into between the Spring Valley Water Company and the City Attorney's office were stated. The offer of the Spring Valley Water Company was presented to the members of the Board then meeting in the Mayor's office. The offer was then stated as it is stated in this report. The members of the Board of Supervisors, I think there were about fifteen members present at the time, agreed, with two or three objecting, as I recall, that something in writing should be obtained from the Spring Valley Water Company, to the effect that the company would accept $34,500,000 plus the capital expenditures from January 1, 1913, for its properties, before any other proceedings should take place. Thereupon it was agreed that the Advisory Water Committee should send a communication to the Spring Valley Water Company, and ask the Spring Valley Water Company to state whether or not it would accept the price of $34,500,000 plus the amount of capital expenditures made by the company since January 1, 1913, as a purchase price for the property, and the Spring Valley Water Company, as appears by this report, sent an answer to the Advisory Water Committee, agreeing to accept an offer of that sort, $34,500,000 and the capital expenditures since January 1, 1913, not to exceed $595,000.

Following the receipt of that communication from the Spring Valley Water Company, this report, now under consideration, was prepared by the Advisory Water Committee. In addition to the consideration mentioned, the Spring Valley Water Company agrees to allow a division of the moneys now impounded in the rate cases in the United States courts, which sum impounded amounts to about $2,000,000. Under the terms of the offer of the Spring Valley Water Company, one-half of that, or about $1,000,000, is to be returned to the consumers. The money impounded is one of the fruits of the litigation pending between the Spring Valley Water Company and the city over the rates heretofore fixed by ordinances of the Board of Supervisors. For several years past the company has been collecting from consumers rates in excess of those fixed by ordinance. Fifteen per cent of the amounts collected representing this excess is now impounded in court. If the company's offer is accepted about $1,000,000 of this excess will be returned to the rate payers.

The property to be conveyed to the city, as proposed by the report, include the properties in San Mateo County, the Pilarcitos Reservoir properties, the Crystal Springs, the San Andreas properties, and a large acreage of land in San Mateo County, the exact amount of acreage being set forth in this report and amounting to—

Supervisor Gallagher—You will find that on the middle of page 13.

Chief Justice Sullivan—Yes—amounting to 24,773 acres. In Alameda County, they amount to 29,220 acres, and in Santa Clara County, they amount to 13,402.88 acres. The total amount of acreage is about 68,000 acres all told, or 28,000 acres more than the amount of acreage that was considered used and useful by the Spring Valley Water Company in the year 1903, the date as of which Judge Farrington determined the amount of property used by the Spring Valley Water Company for rate-fixing purposes, and the date as of which Judge Farrington fixed the value of all the properties so used, and useful.

In this report which we have presented, we set forth specifically all the properties included in the offer, the real estate, water sheds, pipe lines, rights of way, the reservoirs in San Francisco as well as all those in San Mateo County, the water rights in Alameda County, the water rights in Santa Clara County. The description takes up several pages of this report and it is unnecessary to go over them in detail.

The experts employed by the City Attorney's office were engaged for quite a while in examining the books of the Spring Valley Water Company for the purpose of ascertaining the income derived by the company for several years past, and particularly the income derived by the company from all of its properties for the calendar year 1913. The figures are set forth in Exhibit E annexed to the report. Those figures show that for the year 1913, the Spring Valley Water Company derived from the sales of water and from rents and from miscellaneous sources $3,420,967.48, from which must be deducted, by reason of the fact that there are certain deductions of properties not included in the offer, the sum of $98,919.38, leaving a gross operating revenue of $3,322,048.10. This is the gross operating revenue for the year 1913. If the amount collected is to be that under the ordinance rate of this Board, which is 15 per cent less for certain classes of consumers, a further reduction of $358,554.17 must be made, leaving a gross revenue of $2,963,493.93, under the ordinance rate. Deducting the amount that must be deducted if the Spring Valley Water Company were collecting rates under the ordinance only, that would be the gross revenue.

The expenses for the year 1913 were as follows: Operating expenses, $805,611.40. The taxes of the company amounted to $445,968.19. Assuming that the plant was operated by the city for the same period, the following deductions from the operating expenses should be made: Deductions for certain corporation expenses not necessary under municipal ownership, $127,185.28. Also net saving to the city by deducting certain corporation salaries and adding thereto for increased wage schedule, saving rent, etc., $34,941. The saving in taxes on property not taken over by the city would be $60,740.85. Also the saving in county and other taxes in counties outside of the City of San Francisco, $128,175.19. Making a total deduction from operating expenses due to city ownership of $392,855.25. That leaves the operating expenses under city ownership of the properties to be acquired, $858,724.34.

However, if the constitutional amendment bearing on the subject is adopted in the fall election, to this will be added a tax in the counties of San Mateo, Alameda and Santa Clara, on the properties to be taken over, amounting to $128,175.19. In which event the operating expenses will be increased to $986,899.63.

The following table exhibits in brief tabular form the results of water operations of the Spring Valley Water Company for 1913, together with the net operating surplus if the plant had been operated by San Francisco, modified as above outlined.

As collected by the Spring Valley Water Company, gross operating revenues, $3,420,967.48, with operating expenses and taxes of $1,251,579.59, leaving a net operating surplus of $2,168,387.89. Under city ownership, with rates as collected, the gross operating revenue would be $3,322,048.10, with operating expenses and taxes of $858,724.34, leaving a net operating surplus of $2,463,323.76. Under city ownership, at the ordinance rate, the gross operating revenue would be $2,963,493.93, the operating expenses and taxes $858,724.34, leaving a net operating surplus of $2,104,769.59.

In the last named column of the above table called "Net Operating Surplus" will be found the results to be expected under municipal ownership under the condition shown, namely, if the revenues are those obtained under present rates collected by the Spring Valley Water Company, and also the net revenues to be expected under the ordinance rates, which is 15 per cent less than that collected by the Spring Valley Water Company. These amounts are the sums applicable to depreciation, interest on bonds, or other proper uses. That is to say, if the city obtained the rates collected by the company, out of this surplus of $2,168,387.89, the city would have to pay interest on bonds, would have to allow for depreciation, and those would be the principal expenses out of the operating surplus.

It appears from the figures of the Spring Valley Water Company, that, if it should sell to the city and the city should continue to charge rates collected by the company in 1913, there would be a net operating surplus of $2,168,387.89. In 1914, there will certainly be an increase in the revenues of the company, if there is an increase in the supply of water, but if the Spring Valley Water Company should sell to the city the properties mentioned in the offer we will, inside of two years, have an increase in our water supply of at least 50 per cent. Engineer O'Shaughnessy says that, from the Calaveras system, after the dam is constructed, at the Calaveras dam site, and after two pipes are laid from the Calaveras reservoir to San Francisco, that we may expect at least an addition of 25,000,000 gallons per day in the amount of water which we will receive—more than 50 per cent of the amount of water which is now being delivered to San Francisco.

The Spring Valley Water Company is now delivering to the City of San Francisco an average of about 40,000,000 gallons a day. Sometimes the amount exceeds 40,000,000 gallons and sometimes it is a little less, but the average daily supply of San Francisco, according to the reports of the Spring Valley Water Company, is about 40,000,000 gallons. If the supply is increased at least 50 per cent, we may expect an increase in our surplus of over $1,000,000. We may, therefore, expect an operating surplus of between $3,000,000 and $3,500,000 per annum, an amount more than enough to take care of all the bonds that will be necessary for the purpose of purchasing the Spring Valley Water Company's property, extending the system from the Calaveras reservoir to San Francisco, and distributing water by means of conduits and pipes to the districts of San Francisco where the water is required and which are not now supplied.

The main proposition, of course, in the view of the Advisory Water Committee and the main proposition in your view and in the view of the people who have to pay for this water supply, is the value of these properties which the Spring Valley Water Company offers to sell to the city for $34,500,000 plus capital expenditures since January 1, 1913.

Since the commencement of the condemnation suit, the City Attorney's office, with special counsel, has been engaged in ascertaining, by means of experts employed by the City, the value of the property which the city seeks to acquire. Mr. O'Shaughnessy has, through his office, employed a number of experts, engineers and others to make valuations. He himself has made very careful examination of all the physical structures of the company. The result of the examinations and investigations made by the experts employed by the city and made by the Chief Engineer and his assistants and those employed by him, induced the Advisory Water Committee to make its report and recommendations therein contained.

In the opinion of the experts employed by the city and in the opinion of the City Engineer himself and those assisting him, the physical structures, including stock and material on hand, amount in value to the sum of $13,922,533.79, allowing for depreciation. The figure, in the opinion of the Chief Engineer, is a conservative one. He has allowed for depreciation several millions of dollars. The depreciation, I take it, allowed by the City Engineer and those operating with him, amounts to between five and six millions of dollars. The physical structures are valued, so the City Attorney's office has informed us, by the attorneys of the Spring Valley Water Company at some $21,000,000, showing that the appraisement put upon the physical structures by the city is very far below that placed upon the physical structures by the experts employed by the Spring Valley Water Company. And if we proceed with the litigation, the Spring Valley Water Company will rely upon the figures of its experts and we will insist upon the values fixed by the city's experts, and it is impossible for us now to tell what view the judges will take as to the testimony adduced by the city and that adduced by the Spring Valley Water Company upon the subject.

The real estate in San Francisco, exclusive of Lake Merced properties, has been appraised by experts employed by the city, and who would testify in any suit of condemnation in which they might be called to give testimony, at $1,100,000. The Lake Merced properties, 823.67 acres, are put down at a valuation of $2000 per acre. The property fronting on Sloat Boulevard and that fronting on Junipera Serra Boulevard are, first, the most valuable parts of the Lake Merced property. The property close to the ocean beach and close to the San Mateo County line is, of course, not very valuable, not as valuable as the other properties. A fair estimate of the value is about $2000 per acre, for the property that the city will acquire, which, of course, includes the lakes. For the Lake Merced property, the total amount of the appraisement at $2000 per acre is $1,647,340. The properties outside of San Francisco, that is, the property in San Mateo County and Santa Clara County and in Alameda County, excepting 48 acres in Merced tract in San Mateo County, totals 67,348 acres, and that is appraised at $100 per acre, taking in the San Mateo property, the watersheds there, the watersheds in Alameda County and Santa Clara County—all those properties have been appraised at $100 per acre. In the case decided by Judge Farrington, he fixed the values of those properties as of the year 1903 at about $97 per acre. The figures by these experts and recommended by the Advisory Water Committee appear, under all the circumstances, to be very reasonable.

The rights of way are appraised at the sum of $520,000. At the time Judge Farrington decided the case of the Spring Valley Water Company against the City and County of San Francisco, the rights of way were held to be of the value of $200,000, as he determined. Since then the Spring Valley Water Company has paid for additional rights of way the sum of $320,000. The Advisory Water Committee has added $320,000 to the valuation of the rights of way fixed by Judge Farrington in his decision.

The reservoir sites are appraised separately. It has been decided by our Supreme Court, and decided by other courts, that property peculiarly suited for reservoir purposes must be appraised at a value representing the value of the use to which the property may be put. In the case of the Spring Valley Water Company against the City and County of San Francisco, Judge Farrington placed a valuation upon the reservoirs like Crystal Springs, San Andreas, Pilarcitos, then in use by the Spring Valley Water Company, of $1000 per acre. The experts employed by the city appraised the valuation at $900 per acre upon those reservoir sites containing 5580.08 acres of land. They placed a value of $900 per acre on the reservoirs by reason of the fact that they have placed an average value of $100 per acre upon all the lands, which necessarily includes the reservoir sites.

The next subject to consider is the riparian and other water rights, developed and undeveloped. Up to a certain time it was believed by certain authorities, and notably by the Federal Court, that water rights have no property value. In the case of the San Joaquin and Kings River Canal and Irrigation Company against the County of Stanislaus, Judge Morrow would not allow any value for water rights owned by the defendant in that case. That defendant was an irrigating company, which furnished water for irrigating purposes in Stanislaus and Merced counties. That case went to the Supreme Court of the United States, and Judge Morrow's decision was reversed. The Supreme Court of the United States held that water rights were property as much as are rights to the land. And on account of that erroneous decision by Judge Morrow the case was reversed. The Railroad Commission here at one time held that water rights were not of any property value, and in fixing values for rate-fixing purposes, they refused to allow any value for water rights. But since the decision by the Supreme Court of the United States referred to, the Railroad Commission has changed its ruling and now allows a value for water rights. And in a case recently decided by it, the case of the matter of the application of the City of Glenville to fix the valuation of property for condemnation purposes, they allowed $2000 per miner's inch. In that case, some of the witnesses testified that the water rights of the public utility were of the value of $3500 per miner's inch, some testified they were worth $3000 per miner's inch, and some less. The Railroad Commission fixed the valuation of the water rights for the purposes of condemnation at the sum of $2000 per miner's inch. I am informed by Mr. O'Shaughnessy that the number of inches of water in a supply of 40,000,000 gallons a day is 3100. Now if that arbitrary value was placed upon the present supply of the Spring Valley Water Company, the valuation would be $6.200,000. But mind you, we have acquired or will acquire water rights in addition to those yielding 40,000,000 gallons a day supply. We will acquire the additional 25,000,000 gallons a day after the completion of the Calaveras dam, and the construction of the pipe line from that dam to San Francisco. But that seemed to be an extravagant value to place upon water rights and we refer now to the Farrington decision. In that case, the amount which was allowed plaintiff by Judge Farrington was about $63,000 per million gallons per day supply, and the City Engineer believes that that figure is about right. He believes also that one-half of that amount should be allowed for the undeveloped water supply and water rights and riparian rights in the Calaveras reservoir site. So the figures arrived at by the Advisory Water Committee upon the advice of the City Engineer by reason of the rule laid down by Judge Farrington in his decision, is the sum of $3,350,000. Until the case mentioned was decided by the Supreme Court of the United States, we might well have hesitated to make any recommendation at all as to water rights values, and would have preferred to fight the case of condemnation. But since that decision by the Supreme Court of the United States, we know, as a matter of law, that in any condemnation suit that may be maintained, that water rights must have a fixed value, and such a fixed value must be allowed the Spring Valley Water Company for such water rights.

The next item of very serious concern is the item of going value, or going concern value. That value represents the difference between an established going business and a dead business; it represents the value attached to the going concern, carrying on its business. It is a rather uncertain value, and if it were not for the decision by the Supreme Court of the United States, we would hesitate before recommending any allowance for this going concern value. But in the case of Omaha Water Company v. the City of Omaha, the Circuit Court of Appeals of the United States refused to allow any value for going concern. In that case, and that was the case where there was a contract by the city to purchase upon a proposed valuation—the Board of Supervisors had fixed a valuation of $590,000, or about between 8% or 9% of the entire purchase price, as the value of the going concern, the Supreme Court of the United States held that, in arriving at a value of the property to be purchased by the City of Omaha, going concern value should be determined, and that the water company was entitled to the value of a going concern as one of the elements to be considered in determining the amount to be paid for the entire property. The Advisory Water Committee, by reason of the advice of the City Engineer and by reason of those decisions by the Supreme Court of the United States, has fixed the going concern value of the property at $2,500,000. The total valuation, allowing those valuations, of the property proposed to be purchased, would be $34,796,749.59. There is no doubt in my mind that the values, outside of reservoir site values, riparian water rights and going concern values, are very low, much lower, in fact, many millions lower, than the estimates made by those employed by the Spring Valley Water Company. And, as to the practice of the Spring Valley Water Company in fixing values through its experts, for their own purposes, I again refer to the case of the Spring Valley Water Company against the City and County of San Francisco. In that case the experts of the Spring Valley Water Company swore that the property in 1903 was worth as much as $70,000,000, some of them—they varied from $70,000,000 to considerably more than $40,000,000, whereas the city's experts varied from $22,000,000 up. So you can readily understand that, when it comes to a condemnation suit, the experts employed by the Spring Valley Water Company will swear that this property is out of sight in value.

These facts, of course, have impressed the minds of the members of the Advisory Water Committee, and if it is possible for the city to acquire this property for the amount of the offer of the Spring Valley Water Company, we think it is much better than running the chance of a condemnation suit. Not until these figures had been obtained from the City Engineer's office and from the experts employed by the City Attorney, would we make any recommendation, because it was necessary for us to know in advance of our report the value of the properties to be acquired.

The figures given do not include 80,000 service connections which the city contends belong to it or the consumers. These connections, however, are embraced in the offer of sale by the Spring Valley Water Company. The consumers paid their $15 apiece and ought to be held to own these service connections, but the Spring Valley Water Company claims it owns all connections. I think if it came to a test case, it would be held that the Spring Valley Water Company does not own the service connections. But, as I say, the service connections are included in the offer.

There are certain important omissions or deductions from the properties of the Spring Valley Water Company, in total holdings, as now proposed to be bought. But, in the opinion of the City Engineer, those properties excluded are not necessary for the city to have in order to have a complete water system. For instance, near Alviso there are some 5000 acres of land in the marsh district there—useless land, land not at all necessary for us and not even used by the Spring Valley Water Company, and it is a very serious question whether they could be used under any circumstances. The Coyote Creek properties embrace some 11,000 acres of land. Those properties have never been used by the Spring Valley Water Company. The acreage is 11,977. The waters from Coyote Creek are now used for irrigating in the country about them. Some time ago the Bay City Water Company undertook to divert those waters, which are percolating waters, to a point some distance from the source of the supply. The Supreme Court of the State enjoined the taking of the waters from that source of supply, holding that the irrigationists in that country had a first right to the water, that no company could, for commercial purposes, divert percolating waters, underground waters, for the purpose of sale. The Spring Valley Water Company has never attempted to divert those waters, and, as stated in the report of the Advisory Water Committee, a preliminary injunction has been granted by the Superior Court of Santa Clara County against the Bay Cities Water Company, and said injunction against the withdrawal of water has been affirmed by the Supreme Court of this State. Even if the project to utilize these lands for water supply for San Francisco was not clouded with doubt as to the rights to do so, it would be indefensible on the ground of expense of development and transmission. These lands have been appraised by the experts for the city at $134,469.50.

In addition to the Coyote Creek lands, there have also been excluded 691 acres of land in San Benito County. These have been appraised at $72,725. There have also been excluded from the Spring Valley properties, as it is now proposed to purchase, some 2000 acres of Lake Merced property. The City Engineer states that all that we need of Lake Merced properties is about 823 acres. There have been excluded from the properties also lands—a large portion of the lands at Pleasanton. Those lands were purchased by the Spring Valley Water Company simply for the purpose of protecting its underground source of supply. There are in that tract of land some 5000 acres. All that the city needs is less than 1000. The city retains a certain number of acres, six hundred and odd acres, in the lands south of the county road. There are 80 acres of land north of the county road in strips which the City Engineer has laid out. As I said before, those lands will be solely of use to the city for the water underneath the soil, and not for any other purpose. The land is good farming and agricultural land, and is of considerable value to those who farm the land. But there is now derived from the underground source by the Spring Valley Water Company 10,000,000 gallons per day, or one-quarter of the entire supply given to San Francisco. The city has the right, under the proposition submitted by the Spring Valley Water Company, if the purchase is consummated, to take 15,000,000 gallons per day, and that is practically the limit of supply of water in that territory, and the city has that right, free from any hindrance or injunction by any of the property holders who occupy or who may hereafter own any part of the land reserved by the Spring Valley Water Company.

The city, of course, does not care to invest in country lands. If the city should buy all of the land of the Spring Valley Water Company, it would have on its hands 31,000 acres of land absolutely unnecessary for the use of the city. That amount of land, of course, would involve a large amount of expense to take care of it, and furthermore, if the constitutional amendment coming before the people on the 3d of next November is adopted, the city would have to pay taxes on the land outside the City and County of San Francisco. The Advisory Water Committee were impressed with the arguments of the City Engineer and those employed by the city, that this land, thirty-one thousand and odd acres of land, is absolutely useless for any purpose to the city, and very willingly agreed to deduct this land from the Spring Valley Water Company properties, if the city should deem it proper to buy.

The Mayor suggests to me, and it is true, that a very large assessment will be levied upon the 2000 acres of land retained by the Spring Valley Water Company in the Lake Merced region, by reason of the construction of the Twin Peaks tunnel. This tunnel will be completed in two or three years. The amount of the assessment is very large, and if the city should take the entire tract there, it would be buying 2000 acres of land which, in the opinion of the experts, is not necessary for the city's use, land that would be withheld from development, and which would be a source of considerable expense to the city.

Now, gentlemen, you have heard my statement of the views here expressed, views based necessarily, to a great extent upon the information conveyed to the Advisory Water Committee by the City Engineer, in whom we all have confidence, and by the City Attorney and experts employed by him, in whom we have confidence. I sincerely believe that it is for the best interest of the city to accept the offer of the Spring Valley Water Company to sell on the terms and conditions set forth in our report, and we recommend that the matter be submitted to the people and that the properties be taken over on the terms indicated.

The Mayor—Mr. O'Shaughnessy, may we ask you to enlighten the Board with the views that you have gathered in your many months of investigation, as to which you have given us the first real appraisement that we ever had of the Spring Valley Water Company's property, in the many years of negotiation for its purchase, and the figures and facts which prompted you to bring this matter to the Advisory Water Committee and recommend that the city purchase the property?

City Engineer O'Shaughnessy—Mr. Chairman and members of the Board: Last year you asked me to segregate those portions of the Spring Valley Water Company's properties that were necessary and useful to supply water to San Francisco in connection with our Hetch Hetchy supply. And under your instructions, on November 19, 1913, I filed a report with the Board, containing maps and setting forth the lands to be set aside and the properties necessary and useful for those purposes, and excluding everything else.

The Advisory Water Committee, or the City Attorney, had nothing to do with this segregation—it was under the jurisdiction of my office and under my personal supervision. Thereafter you authorized the City Attorney to proceed to a condemnation suit to acquire those properties, and during the course of his work, he and his assistants were in constant conference with me. As you know, there are all kinds of experts. Mr. Sullivan has quoted to you some who testified before Judge Farrington as to values from $52,000,000 up to $70,000,000, and in consultation with the City Attorney, the most honest and best experts that we could find, the most reliable and trustworthy, were employed to put a valuation on this property. I felt that my duty was fully done when I segregated the properties. But I also freely conferred with the City Attorney in every stage of these proceedings.

Early in June he came to me and said that he had been discussing values with the attorneys of the Spring Valley Water Company, and he thought he could get them down to the sum of thirty-four and a half million dollars, and also spoke of the other conditions discussed by them. One was the exclusion of 4600 acres of land at Pleasanton, and the other the retention by the company of the stock pipes on hand, and amounting to $250,000, to which I objected. On further conference with the attorneys of the Spring Valley Water Company, they conceded both those points—first, that the city should have all the stock in hand, amounting to $250,000, for this price, and also that the city should have the right to draw all the water from the excluded land in the neighborhood of Pleasanton. During the course of my segregation of the properties, it was a serious question with me whether I should exclude those lands, or not, those 4600 acres. But I did not care to jeopardize the rights of the City and County of San Francisco in any source of supply which yielded us from 8,000,000 to 10,000,000 gallons of water a day, practically one-fourth of the present supply, and for that reason I included all those lands in my segregation. If we conclude this arrangement with the Spring Valley Water Company, the city gets the right to withdraw the water from underneath those 4600 acres retained by the Spring Valley Water Company, and that is done by the possession of a strip of land about 100 feet wide at right angles to each other, water running easterly through the middle of Pleasanton Valley for about two miles, and the other running at right angles thereto. So, by means of pumps which can be installed in those strips, if the city should need to supplement or increase its present output from that source, it is quite possible to do so.

Since that conference with the City Attorney, I have had various conferences with the Advisory Water Committee, who called me in to discuss each feature of this problem, and, without any egotism, I may claim to know something about the water situation in San Francisco and in California. I have completed successfully four or five water systems, and I know something about the values of a supply, and I am convinced that, if the city can acquire those properties at the price indicated, that it will make a very good investment.

And this is the reason why the investment will be a good one: By expending $1,000,000 more on the Calaveras dam that structure could be completed, and with a capacity equal to the present three peninsula reservoirs of Crystal Springs, 22,000,000 gallons, San Andreas, 6,000,000, and Pilarcitos 1,000,000 gallons—29,000,000 gallons. Calaveras dam is calculated to hold about 40,000,000 gallons, and I have no hesitancy in saying that our present supply of 40,000,000 gallons a day will be increased about 20,000,000 gallons a day by the completion of the Calaveras dam. There are two other possible dam sites in the Alameda properties. One is the Arroyo Valle reservoir site, and the other is the San Antonio reservoir site, and the completion of those reservoirs will add at least five to ten million gallons a day, in addition to the 20,000,000 gallons that there will be added in the Calaveras dam. So that the additional sources we can develop by the acquisition of these lands will amount to very nearly 30,000,000 gallons a day, giving us an output of 30,000,000 gallons a day over that now obtained from the Spring Valley Water properties.

One very important feature in connection with the linking of the two systems is the possibility of having reservoirs at this end of our Hetch Hetchy supply system. In the first plan made by Mr. Grunsky in 1902 for the Hetch Hetchy system, he provided for a reservoir of 3,000,000,000 gallons capacity near Belmont, at an estimated cost of $1,500,000, as an independent source of supply for this city. In my judgment it would be entirely inadequate. Mr. Freeman's plan, which did not take in any distributing system in the City of San Francisco, estimated a cost of approximately $40,000,000 to bring the water to the city limits, and his plan contemplates the acquisition of the peninsula reservoirs of the Spring Valley Water Company as well as the San Antonio, and provides for a distributing reservoir inside the city of only about 500,000,000 gallons, or a seven days' supply. This reservoir alone, connected with the Hetch Hetchy system, would be entirely inadequate, and if we do not purchase the Spring Valley system, it would be necessary for us to provide large independent reservoirs in the peninsula near the city, because we have had earthquakes and fractures in the past, and it won't do for our city at present containing a half million, or our future city of two millions, to be dependent on a pipe line that, by fracture, might cut off the source of supply and bring ruin to the city.

There has been a great deal of talk and discussion on this water question and the values of water and a few simple figures might be illuminating.

At the present time our supply is about 40,000,000 gallons a day of water. Take that for the year and it is about 14,000,000,000 gallons a year. The price of that water, so far, amounts to about $3,200,000, or about 22 cents a thousand gallons of water. The country across the bay, Oakland, Berkeley, and Alameda, has a water rate of 35 cents a thousand gallons, and that water rate is sustained by the courts. And the conditions of this peninsula, with long pipe lines and rough soil and different elevations to deliver water, make the prices at the present time comparatively reasonable in San Francisco. In New York, where the rainfall is 45 inches a year, and where an abundance of water is to be found, within 30 miles of the city, the water rate is 16 cents a thousand gallons. In this peninsular territory our rainfall averages 22 inches a year, and tremendous stocks of water must be kept on hand. It has always been figured that at least 800 days' stock of water should be held, to overcome periods of drought. The concentration and collection of water is expensive, and I think that the present rates are not very unreasonable.

Now, this city has been in danger—

Supervisor Gallagher (Interrupting)—I would not for a moment interrupt you, except that you are likely to be misunderstood, in view of the fact that a record is being taken of these proceedings. You say the present rates are not unreasonable, and you do not define your meaning, as between the ordinance rate and the collected rate. You might be misunderstood, I say, in view of the fact that a record is being taken, and therefore I call it to your attention. Do you speak of the ordinance rate or the collected rate?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—I am speaking of the rate I have considered of 22 cents a thousand gallons.

Supervisor Gallagher—You will excuse me for interrupting you, but I wanted to have you set right there.

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—That is all right.

(At this time the Mayor requested the Reporter not to take notes for the moment, and thereupon he made a statement substantially as follows: That, in considering the subject of this meeting of the Board for consideration of the report of the Advisory Water Committee, it had occurred to himself and other members of the Advisory Water Committee, that in all probability a reporter would be present to take down the proceedings of this meeting. And he called attention to the fact that he had stopped the proceedings from being reported the time last year when he had desired to address the Board in connection with the matter. He desired to inform the Board, he said, that the City Attorney had taken up the matter with the Spring Valley Water Company, and that a stipulation had been entered into that nothing should be said at this meeting of the Board, or in consideration of the subject, by anyone, should be used hereafter as against the city. Supervisor Gallagher inquired whether it would also include its use at a hearing for the purpose of fixing rates, and the Mayor replied in the affirmative, and called upon the City Attorney to verify the statement, which City Attorney Long did, saying that it was thoroughly understood that nothing that might be said at the meeting should be hereafter used by the Spring Valley Water Company for any purpose whatever, whether in a rate hearing, condemnation suit, or otherwise. The proceedings were then resumed. Reporter.)

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—One of the great troubles we have in San Francisco at the present time is the lack of distributing pipes for our supply. There are only 568 miles of pipe in San Francisco, and of that, 133 miles are of pipe less than 3 inches in diameter, and all of those smaller pipes have been put in inside of the last ten years. In other words, for the last ten years the Spring Valley Water Company has laid no large distributing mains. In the Richmond section alone—

Supervisor Power (Interrupting)—May I interrupt you a moment?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—Certainly.

Supervisor Power—Mr. Chairman, I would like to ask whether the speakers would prefer to continue with all their statements without interruption, or whether they would just as soon answer questions during the time they are making their statements?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—So far as I am concerned, I will be glad to answer any questions as I go along.

Supervisor Power—I wanted to get that data a little more definitely in my mind, in the matter of pipes. You stated a certain number of miles of pipe in San Francisco. I would like, if you are familiar with it, to know whether or not there is more unimproved property in San Francisco at the present time to be covered by the laying of pipes than there is improved property? In other words, such sections as Sunset, Richmond, Ingleside, and University Mound, and all of those unimproved sections, whether or not those pieces of land in San Francisco comprise a greater area than the improved section of San Francisco?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—Well, in mileage, I would say that we should need at least 200 miles more of pipe at the present time to give an adequate service. At the present time there are 568 miles of pipe, and I believe that 200 miles of additional pipe could be laid to advantage. In the Richmond section alone, one 16-inch main, laid about 14 years ago, supplies about 40,000 people, and that is the worst served section in the city. Sometimes on the lower levels, when the water is being drawn, the people on the higher levels have no water; and it is necessary if this system is acquired, to add at least 200 miles more of pipe.

Supervisor Power—That is, to supply the present built-up area of San Francisco?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—No, not the built area entirely, but there is a lot of area, that is paved streets that are not built on, that needs water piping. Now, there are just two things for the city to do, that is, either to buy this property or reject it and go ahead entirely with our municipal system, which we are now starting in to construct. In my judgment, the greatest economy can be obtained by a combination of both systems, by acquiring this property and developing it locally for the extra 25,000,000 gallons a day it will yield, and improving the services in the city, and at the same time developing our mountain sources, and as soon as we have reached the limit of our local capacity, to lay our pipe across the San Joaquin Valley, our iron pipe. That pipe deteriorates, with a life, possibly, of 50 years, and every year we can defer the construction of that pipe across the San Joaquin, we gain so much. It is very nearly sixty miles long there, and requires a pipe of large diameter. Our main work, however, on the other end, our aqueduct, our dam at Hetch Hetchy, our reservoir, completed with a capacity of 400,000,000 gallons a day, inside of three or four years will enable us to develop 50,000 horsepower with our power plant, the income from which will help to pay interest on the initial cost of our mountain investment.

Supervisor Walsh—I would like to ask there, Chief: In your opinion at this time do you think that that would be sufficient to light our streets, public buildings, and operate our municipal cars?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—It would, and in studying this proposition, as you all know, Mr. Freeman revised the original Hetch Hetchy proposition of Mr. Grunsky, which had only 16,000 horsepower provided for, or just enough to pump the water over the hill. The revised proposition of Mr. Manson had very little power. But the new plan of Mr. Freeman, who has had great experience in New York, Los Angeles, and Boston, and is a man of a great wealth of engineering experience, indeed, provides for 50,000 horsepower. Mr. Freeman saw the great future of San Francisco, when it had completed its acqueduct, and he planned it large enough to carry a permanent supply. A tunnel with a capacity of 400,000,000 gallons a day can be built with very little more expense than one of a very much less capacity.

Supervisor Walsh—That is, at Altamont?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—No, at the Sierra, on the other side of the San Joaquin Valley. And I need not tell you, for most of the members of the Board are familiar with Mr. Freeman and with his services to the city, that when this proposition was submitted to him a month ago, and I sent him a copy of this printed report of the Advisory Water Committee, he wrote me a letter on September 1st in which he said: "On first reading, it seems to me that I should be most heartily in accord with the terms of the offer of July 27, 1914, of the Spring Valley Water Company. My experience in the Denver case and in sundry other cases of prolonged litigation convinced me that it is far better for all parties concerned to get this question settled and out of the way, and were I a voter of San Francisco I don't think it would take me long to decide this question. John R. Freeman."

Supervisor Power—I understood you to say that Mr. Freeman in his report did not contemplate the erection of a reservoir within the City and County of San Francisco.

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—I said his report contemplates the Crystal Springs reservoir—in fact, he figures three or four treatments of the aqueduct, and one of them contemplates a reservoir at the so-called San Miguel reservoir site at Sunnyside District. But that would be merely a service reservoir, not a supply reservoir like the Crystal Springs reservoir, but simply a service reservoir.

Supervisor Power—Still, he states in that that the reservoir will hold five times as much as all the Spring Valley distributing reservoirs.

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—But fifteen miles away, at the present time, the present established reservoirs in San Mateo County have 29,000,000,000 gallons capacity, and in case of any shortage here, they can draw from those reservoirs and replenish the smaller reservoirs in the city. Now, personally, as an official, I responded to the request of the Board in segregating these properties. I am responsible for this segregation and I am willing to assume it as being correct to the very best of my judgment. So far as the other figures are concerned, I think the acquisition of this property will be desirable, for the city, and personally, I am going to vote for it if it is submitted to the people.

Supervisor Power—I just want to ask you one more question. In your report, submitted to the Board last fall by resolution of this Board, as to all properties needed and necessary in connection with the system, you reported that these present lands were absolutely necessary, or included them, rather, and I concluded they were absolutely necessary, because all lands necessary to be included were asked to be so included. Now you have excluded them, certain of them, from your present report, and from these present negotiations. I would like to know why, if they were necessary when you made this other report in November, 1913, they are not necessary now as a part of the water supply?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—Because, with those strips which are reserved, running diagonally through this particular land, on which we have the right to install pumps and draw all the water underneath all the land, we are amply protected. If we can save the price of that land in the cost of our plant and get all the water that we need out of the land, I believe it is a very desirable arrangement. And in regard to that part of it I am willing to amend my original report. As I said in my original statement to your Board here, I did not care originally, from a legal point of view, to jeopardize any of the rights of the water underlying that land, and I therefore put the whole 5000 acres in, though I did seriously consider including some of this land then. But now that we have the right to withdraw the water from underneath the land, no harm is done the city by excluding it. In fact, it is my policy to exclude every acre of land that is not desirable or necessary for a water supply. Should the 69,000 acres be acquired, we will have over three times the area of the City and County of San Francisco, and every additional piece of land that we have that is an unnecessary piece, will be an additional expense for caretakers, and therefore mean higher rates.

Supervisor Power—Will you state the valuation of that land, the valuation to Spring Valley of the land excluded—

Mr. O'Shaughnessy (Interrupting)—I didn't value that. The City Attorney employed real estate experts to value it. But I am satisfied Mr. Steinhart could tell you the value of the excluded lands.

Supervisor Power—Did you not have to place a valuation on that part of the Pleasanton lands in order to arrive at your detailed valuation of the properties of the Spring Valley, or was that data gathered by the City Attorney's office?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—The valuation of the lands was entirely within the jurisdiction of the City Attorney and his real estate experts.

Supervisor Bancroft—Mr. O'Shaughnessy, do you consider that this offer is a better offer than the $37,000,000 offer—that is, better for the city?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—I think it is very much better than that.

Supervisor Bancroft—But you can't say that you think it is as good or better than the $35,000,000 offer?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—You mean of 1910?

Supervisor Bancroft—Yes.

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—No, it is not as good as that $35,000,000 offer.

Supervisor Bancroft—But you think it is better than the $37,000,000 offer?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—I do.

Supervisor Power—I was about to ask that question and an explanation why you consider it a better offer, in view of the fact that the city offered $37,000,000, and this offer totals up, with allowing of capital expenditures and the appraisment on those Pleasanton lands, which were included at the time this $37,000,000 offer was made—

Supervisor Vogelsang (Interrupting)—The water rights included, Mr. Power?

Supervisor Power—I say the lands included.

Supervisor Vogelsang — Oh, the lands?

Supervisor Power—Yes. It totals up somewhere around $39,000,000. Will you explain why it is a better offer than the $37,000,000 offer to the city?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—I will tell you why. We are acquiring property just for a water supply. Every million or two million dollars we can save in lands is a substantial saving. It is of no value—any extra land that does not produce any more water, in my judgment as an engineer, is of no value. And our expense and our burden is going to be very heavy to build this Hetch Hetchy project, to keep the outlay down as much as possible. Therefore, if $2,000,000 worth of land can be excluded, I think it is a very desirable arrangement.

Supervisor Power—You think that is what makes it a better offer?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—I think that's what makes it a better offer.

Supervisor Power—Do you think, if that is the case, that the engineers of the Spring Valley Water Company would purchase the Pleasanton lands or recommend the purchase of the Pleasanton lands, unless they thought they were absolutely necessary for the water supply or the protection of it?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—It was not the engineers of the Spring Valley Water Company that recommended the purchase of that land. I believe it was the attorneys of the Spring Valley Water Company. The owners of some of that land sued the Spring Valley, and were recovering heavy judgments—in one case as high as a half million dollars—for lowering the water plane, and to protect itself the Spring Valley Water Company had to buy all those lands, acquire the rights to lower the water plane. Under this arrangement, that right is transferred to us. We have the right to lower that water plane as much as we please, without any damages being given to any of the owners of this property.

Supervisor Power—If that surface should be put to use, would it endanger the purity of the water, the underground supply?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—Not materially, because the gravels are down a depth of 30 feet to 100 feet below the surface, and between the water-bearing gravels and the surface are tremendous bodies of impervious clay. So there is little danger of contamination. In fact, at the present time, all those lands are being farmed, and I believe the water from the Pleasanton supply is the purest of any of the sources that Spring Valley has.

Supervisor Power—Do you think there will be any danger?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—No remote danger even.

The Mayor—Are there any further questions?

Supervisor Power—I presume the City Engineer will be back with us again when we deal with the whole question to answer questions that may be asked of him, until the whole case is in.

The Mayor—There is no doubt that both the chairman of the committee and every member of the committee will be glad to be called forward at all times. If there are no further questions to be asked the Chief Engineer, I am now going to ask the City Attorney to present the legal phase of the matter, and of the data which he has gained and which prompted his recommendation to the Advisory Water Committee.

Supervisor Gallagher—It is after half-past six, Mr. Chairman. Are you prepared to take the Board to dinner?

The Mayor—Yes, I am.

Supervisor Gallagher—I am prepared to go.

Supervisor Hayden—I move we proceed with the matter before us, Mr. Mayor.

Supervisor Vogelsang—Without any reflection whatever upon the munificence of the invitation, I can't very well go. I am going home

The Mayor—If there is no objection, then, we will hear from the City Attorney.

City Attorney Percy V. Long—Mr. President and members of the Board: I will only detain you a few minutes myself, and leave to Mr. Steinhart, who has been in active charge of the greater part of the work in connection with the condemnation proceedings, to elaborate any general figures I may give you.

I take it that the sole question that the Board wants to consider at this time is the question of the value of the offer made by the Spring Valley Water Company. On the 5th of February, 1912, the Board of Supervisors passed a resolution, or a declaratory ordinance, rather, the first step in a chain of steps to be taken by this Board toward the acquisition of the present water supply for San Francisco. That resolution declared the necessity, declaring and determining that the public interest and necessity demand the acquisition, construction, and completion of a public utility, to-wit, a water supply and works, to be owned and controlled by the City and County of San Francisco, to furnish water as a part of the Lake Eleanor and Tuolumne system, and directing the Board of Public Works to secure from the City Engineer and place on file through the Board of Supervisors plans and estimates of the cost of original construction and completion by the said City and County of the public utility herein named, and designating sources of supply of the Spring Valley Water Company as available sources for obtaining a sufficient supply of good, pure water for the City and County of San Francisco, and declaring that the acquisimittee to consider and report upon the entire subject-matter of the purchase of these properties—

The Mayor (interrupting)—Mr. City Attorney, if you will pardon me just a moment. I can see clearly that the hour is growing late, particularly from the remarks that have been made. I am also aware of the fact that more than one member of the Board has an engagement this evening. I should think it would be just as well now to know whether or not the Board desires to remain in session, take this matter up, stay with it until we finish it, or does the Board desire to put it over until some other day? I think it is just as well now to know what the wishes of the Board are in the matter.

Supervisor Gallagher—It would take an hour for the City Attorney, no doubt, and in all likelihood an hour for the members of the Board. I am willing to stay here an hour and settle it up this evening.

Supervisor Walsh—Me, too.

Supervisor Gallagher—Or to agree with any other plan. I think the members of the Board are entitled to some consideration, and I am perfectly willing to sit another hour, even cutting out the dinner hour, and getting through with it.

The Mayor—I don't like to start the Attorney's case with an idea that it shall be hurried. The City Attorney has a lot of very valuable information for you. If it is the intention of the Board to go one by one before the matter comes to either a question of voting upon it or some action on the part of the Board, I think we ought not to do so now.

Supervisor Walsh—I would move you, Mr. Mayor, that we take a recess and return here again at eight o'clock.

Supervisor McCorthy—But some of us have engagements.

Supervisor Walsh—The only engagement you can have on Monday night is one with the Board. I have one, too, but I am willing to come here and finish this ont. I have a meeting that I will have to cut out in order to finish this up.

The Mayor—If I am helping any members of the Board by what I have to say, or the Board can act upon it without any member of the Board absenting himself, and I understand that you are all anxious to stay with this thing until it is finished and it is so with the Advisory Water Committee—if it would suit the members better to take a recess until tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock, when every member will guarantee to be present—if that, I say, suits the members of the Board, we will pursue that course. If some of you have engagements tonight for dinner and after dinner, since we must have eighteen members of the Board here when we take final action, it seems to me that would be the better plan. If there is any member of the Board who finds it impossible for him to be here and stay with this thing tonight, why, let us postpone the matter until two o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Supervisor Vogelsang—I think that's a very good suggestion—either two o'clock or an evening session, although I think two o'clock would be preferable. There are several committee meetings, but I think we will have no difficulty in giving such attention to this matter as is necessary.

Supervisor Jennings—I have a meeting with several committees of different organizations at 3:30, but I can come back here after 3:30.

The Mayor—You are a member of the Advisory Water Committee, Mr. Jennings. You can be back here when action is taken. Do I understand that it is the wish of the Board that we now adjourn and meet again at two o'clock tomorrow afternoon and finish the discussion that has been started this afternoon?

Supervisor Vogelsang—I make such a motion, Mr. Chairman.

The Mayor—Has any member of the Board any objection? I say this now, because the City Attorney's arguments will take an hour or an hour and a half.

Supervisor McCarthy—Then Supervisor Vogelsang will take a couple of hours.

Supervisor Vogelsang—Mr. President, I trust that it will be understood that two o'clock means two o'clock as John Walsh keeps the time.

Supervisor Gallagher—I only want this understood, in addition to that, that on this matter there will be a continual call of the members. All of the members, except in the case of Supervisor Jennings, who has already stated that he will have to leave the meeting and then return at a little later hour, should be here, otherwise we are not dealing with the matter in a proper way, in my judgment. I think we should proceed under a call of the house.

The Mayor—In order that we may take up the roll call for the introduction of resolutions, and that we may take up any intervening business, we will take a recess now on motion duly seconded, until two o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Supervisor Power—Does that mean that other matters are passed until tomorrow?

The Clerk—We will lose a week's advertising. There is only one more important matter pending here.

The Mayor—All in favor of taking a recess until tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock will say aye.

The motion is carried and it is so ordered.

The Board here took a recess until the following day, Tuesday, September 29, 1914, at two o'clock p. m.

SECOND DAY, TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 29, 1914.

At the chambers of the Board of Supervisors, City Hall, 1231 Market street, San Francisco, Tuesday, September 29, 1914.

An adjourned meeting of the Board from Monday, September 28, 1914. His Honor Mayor James Rolph, Jr., in the chair. There were present a full Board of Supervisors, viz.: Supervisors Paul Bancroft, Con Deasy, A. J. Gallagher, J. Emmet Hayden, Fred L. Hilmer, Oscar Hocks, Thomas Jennings, J. C. Kortick, William H. McCarthy, Ralph McLeran, Charles A. Murdock, Charles Nelson, Edward L. Nolan, Henry Payot, James E. Power, Fred Snhr, Alexander Vegelsang and J. O. Walsh.

The Mayor—The Board will come to order.

Supervisor Walsh—I ask a call of the House, Mr. Chairman. All of the members should be in their places upon such an occasion as this.

The Mayor—Call the roll, Mr. Clerk.

A roll call disclosed thirteen members present.

The Mayor—When we took a recess yesterday afternoon, we did so just as the City Attorney was beginning to explain to the Board the facts and the figures which he has gathered in the past many months concerning this water purchase proposition, and I am going to ask the City Attorney now to proceed with the report that he started to make yesterday afternoon.

Supervisor Walsh—Mr. Mayor, I do not want to object, but I thought the understanding when we took a recess last night was that all of the members of the Board of Supervisors would be here at two o'clock today. I do not object to starting in with the matter right now, and have no desire to prevent the proceeding with tion of the properties of the Spring Valley Water Company is necessary and desirable as a part of such public utility. At the same meeting they appointed an Advisory Water Comthe matter, but I think the least the Supervisors could do is to be here when such importnat business is on hand. I am satisfied, Mr. Mayor, to go ahead, but I will object to those supervisors coming in here later and asking for information about what we have been informed on during their absence.

(The remaining supervisors entered the hall within a few minutes.)

The Mayor—Proceed, Mr. City Attorney.

Mr. Long—Mr. President and members of the Board: At the outset yesterday I called attention to the fact that the Board of Supervisors, on the 8th of February, 1912, took the first step necessary in the matter of commencing proceedings for the calling of an election to authorize the issuance of bonds for the acquisition of the Spring Valley Water system, and in that ordinance they declared that the necessity existed for the acquisition by the city of that property, and directed the Board of Public Works, through the City Engineer, to place on file with the Board of Supervisors plans and estimates of the cost of original construction and completion by the said city and county of the public utility herein named, and to place on file with the Board of Supervisors plans and estimates of the cost of obtaining from the sources of supply of the Spring Valley Water Company mentioned in Sections 3 and 4 of this ordinance a sufficient supply of water for the City and County of San Francisco, and its inhabitants, such sources of supply and works to be used in connection with and as a part of the Lake Eleanor-Tuolumne system heretofore authorized by vote of the electors of the said city and county on the 14th of January, 1910. Subsequent to that date, after a series of negotiations, with which the members of the Board are familiar, the Advisory Water Committee keeping the Board informed from time to time, the Board of Supervisors, on the 8th of December, 1913, adopted an ordinance declaring and determining that the public interest and necessity required, by the City and County of San Francisco, the acquisition of certain properties for public use, and instructing the City Attorney to commence and prosecute proceedings for the condemnation thereof, and then referred to the properties as being those described in a list and report filed by the City Engineer with the Board of Supervisors.

Pursuant to that ordinance, and with funds provided by the Board of Supervisors, the City Attorney and the City Engineer engaged a corps of engineers and accountants to inventory and appraise the properties of the Spring Valley Water Company, and that inventory and appraisment was, about the 1st of July of this year, practically completed.

Every foot of pipe, every yard of brick work, every foot of road fences, in fact, all the structural properties of the Spring Valley Water Company, were ascertained, the quantity measured, and a reproduction price placed upon them by the engineers engaged for that purpose by the city. In other words, they figured what would be the cost to produce those properties at the present time, with modern machinery and with machinery at considerable less cost than what it cost the Spring Valley Water Company at the time the structures were completed, and that was made the basis of the estimates. From that our engineers deducted what, in their judgment, was the depreciation since the time the structures were completed and arrived at the figures which Judge Sullivan read to you yesterday.

In order to expedite the condemnation proceedings it was necessary to secure from the Spring Valley Water Company a stipulation that certain technical objections should not be made, but would be waived, and in order to facilitate the trial, it was agreed that judges should be brought here from the interior, and that the controversy should be submitted to those judges without the intervention of a jury.

As we progressed in our preparation for the trial of the case, it soon became apparent that there were certain legal features connected with the condemnation suit, it being a suit of such magnitude, that could not be met by a stipulation, no matter how much the parties on both sides might be willing to agree—there were certain features of this litigation which it is not necessary for me to go into but of which the Mayor and Committee were advised from time to time, that might seriously affect the title to the property, and certainly would if we did not clear up those objections previous to entering upon the trial, and certainly would delay the trial of the case beyond which anybody could fix.

It was during the repeated conferences that were necessary between the attorneys of the Spring Valley Water Company and particularly Mr. Warren Olney, who represented the company in all of the conferences that I had anything to do with, it was during these conferences, I say, in trying to seek a way by which the trial could be expedited and these difficulties which would affect or might seriously affect the title, unless they could be met before entering upon the trial, were discussed, that discussion came up as to the possibility of our being able to meet upon a price which the Advisory Water Committee would consider and which they would be willing to recommend to the Board of Supervisors.

I took the position then that I have taken in all of the condemnation litigation which I have handled for the city for the period of nine years, which has been acquired by condemnation or purchase, between $10,000,000 and $15,000,000 worth of real estate, that when a defendant whose property we were seeking to acquire was willing to make an offer which, in my judgment, was one that the city could reasonably consider, that I would be willing to take that offer and recommend it if, in my judgment, it was such a reasonable offer as could be considered by the city, and then the acquisition of that property at that particular figure and upon that offer would be a matter of policy for the Board of Supervisors and for the voters of the City and County of San Francisco to settle.

At the beginning of these condemnation proceedings, I was extremely desirous of having the City Engineer eliminate as much real estate as he could safely do, for the reason that I believed then, and I believe now, that the city desires to secure a water supply and not real estate, that the purpose in the mind of the Spring Valley Water Company when they bought large quantities of real estate was to secure water, and when it became necessary to acquire real estate in order to acquire water rights, they took upon themselves a heavier burden than was necessary, and I felt that the city should not own any more real estate than was absolutely needed to produce the water required to supply San Francisco. For that reason, I urged the City Engineer to cut out and eliminate from his list as much real estate as possible, and I was especially desirous that he eliminate the big acreage around Pleasanton, in order that the tax payers would not be paying interest upon a large amount of capital invested in land held for the purpose and the sole purpose of getting water.

Previous to 1911, the Spring Valley Water Company owned only a thousand acres around Pleasanton, or at Pleasanton, from which they drew their water supply, a portion of their Alameda water supply, which came to San Francisco. Owing to litigation commenced by farmers in the Pleasanton Valley who claimed that they were being deprived of water for irrigation purposes which was being drawn off below them and taken to San Francisco, the Spring Valley Water Company was required to purchase this large acreage and to purchase it at very high prices, much more than the land was reasonably worth on the market.

Supervisor Hayden—Can you give us that price about, at this time?

Mr. Long—I think in the neighborhood of $1,720,000.

Supervisor Gallagher—The Alameda County lands?

Mr. Long—Pleasanton.

Supervisor Gallagher—$2,000,000 it was.

Mr. Long—I think the exact figure is $1,720,000.

Supervisor Hayden—And that was down to what year?

Mr. Long—That was in 1911. The $35,000,000 offer was made in 1910.

Supervisor Hayden—This litigation was pending at that time?

Mr. Long—These properties were not owned by the Spring Valley Water Company at the time they made their offer to the city of $35,000,000, and at that time there was some litigation pending, in fact, one of the arguments that was advanced by some of the opponents to the purchase by San Francisco at the $35,000,000 figure was that the acquisition of the Pleasanton properties would involve San Francisco in almost interminable litigation over their right to withdraw water from the gravel beds underneath and underlying the lands of the Spring Valley Water Company in the Pleasanton Valley. And, as I said a moment ago, the Spring Valley Water Company, in order to protect their rights to withdraw water from those gravels, had to buy this very large acreage there, and I felt it would be economy on the part of San Francisco to eliminate this acreage, so that the city would not have to pay interest on a million or more dollars' worth of land from which they derived no income. But the City Engineer—

Supervisor Power (interrupting)—Mr. Long, do you mind answering a question at this time?

Mr. Long—Not at all.

Supervisor Power—Can you tell me what the assessed valuation of that land is? Have you any idea? In other words, how much taxes would San Francisco have had to pay upon it?

Mr. Long—The lands and water rights were both assessed—have you those figures, Mr. Steinhart, of the assessed valuation?

Mr. Steinhart—Not at the moment.

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—They were assessed for half a million dollars.

Supervisor Power—That portion that is now eliminated?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—Yes, 5000 acres eliminated.

Mr. Long—They paid a very high price for that land. Some of that they paid as high as $1200 an acre for, because they had to have it in order to get rid of that litigation. Mr. O'Shaughnessy felt that he could not jeopardize the right of the city to withdraw water from underneath the land, and there was no way that we saw at the time of condemning the water rights separate from the land without paying an exceedingly high value for it, and leaving the land in the hands of the company. For that reason, those lands were included. Under the present offer of purchase, San Francisco will acquire every right which can be secured by the ownership of that land, to the use of the water and withdrawal of the water underneath the surface of the land, and if those lands were cut out, in the neighborhood of a million dollars of cost to the city, on which the city would have to pay interest, which would amount in the neighborhood of $50,000 a year, if bonds were issued at 4½ per cent, and from which they would derive no return whatever, would be saved. That is the reason that the 5000 or 4800 acres are eliminated from the offer of the Spring Valley Water Company.

There were certain other lands that we desired to have eliminated at that time, and they were in exactly the same condition. The offer gives us all of the water rights that could be secured from any of the lands which the Spring Valley Water Company owns, and which are capable of supplying water.

As Judge Sullivan told you yesterday, there will be included in this offer an acreage of 68,303 acres of land, of which 907 acres are in San Francisco, 24,773 acres in San Mateo County, 29,220 acres in Alameda County, and 13,402 acres in Santa Clara County. The Santa Clara lands are those lands largely lying to the the north of Mt. Hamilton on the Mt. Hamilton watershed, and some along the Bay Shore down the peninsula below Palo Alto.

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—South of Mt. Hamilton, you mean to say.

Mr. Long—South of Mt. Hamilton, I should say. The Mt. Hamilton watershed is draining into the Calaveras reservoir.

When it was first suggested to me by the attorneys for the Spring Valley Water Company that a fair price would be a price considerably in excess of the $34,500,000 for which they now offer the property, and for the same properties—my recollection is that the first figure they mentioned was $36,500,000, and I refused to discuss that amount with them. Gradually, after repeated discussions, they agreed to make the offer, if the city solicited it, $34,500,000. I recommended that offer to the Advisory Water Committee and asked the consideration at their hands of the proposition. I took it up first with the City Engineer, in order to get his judgment and ascertain if, in his opinion, it was a reasonable offer, and one which we could at this time consider. The City Engineer and myself presented the matter to the Mayor, and he called a meeting of the Advisory Water Committee, and after repeated conferences on the subject, calling in the engineers who participated in this inventory and appraisement, and a consideration of their figures, we came to the conclusion, the unanimous conclusion on the part of the Committee, that it was an offer reasonable to the city, that we were getting value for the amount proposed to be paid, and that, as a business proposition, it would pay its own way to such an extent that the taxpayers would not have to furnish one cent for interest or sinking fund for bonds required to pay for this property, and could furnish a considerable amount towards the construction of the Hetch Hetchy project from its operation.

The City Engineer and the City Attorney have spent on this inventory and appraisement of the structures, the lands, the rights of way, the water rights, in the neighborhood of $100,000. At times there have been as many as fifty individuals working on it. I do not think there ever was a more careful checking of the properties of any public service corporation in this country than there has been of the properties of the Spring Valley Water Company. And in our judgment, it seems that the city can relieve its present difficulties or need for water much more quickly and much more efficiently by acquiring these properties at this price than in any other way, and that the property, when bought, will be more than self-sustaining.

No one can prophesy or predict what the judgment of a court will be. But one of the engineers serving the Spring Valley Water Company who spent nearly a year out here was Mr. Allen Hazen, who is one of the leading authorities on the valuation of water in the United States. His standing is so high that Mr. Freeman recommended him, and he was brought out to San Francisco in 1912 to make a report on the Hetch Hetchy project, and to make a report to meet the opponents of that project in Washington before the Secretary of the Interior, a report upon the Sacramento River as a source of supply for San Francisco, in which he reported on the cost and on the probable quality of the water, and he was present at the hearing at Washington and was one of our best witnesses, a man whose integrity has never been attacked and whose ability has never been questioned. And Mr. Hazen's figures, I am told, on these properties that we are preparing to condemn, and his minimum figures, were $42,000,000. He figured the value of their structural properties at nearly $7,000,000 more than our expert did.

Now, there is a wide range of variance of opinion between our experts and the experts of the Spring Valley Water Company, and, as I indicated a moment ago, no one can predict what the attitude of a court in passing upon a case of this magnitude would be. Giving my judgment for whatever it may be worth, I believe that this is the most satisfactory solution of the controversy that the people of San Francisco could arrive at, and I am satisfied from the figures and the reports that have been given me, and the analyses of the various accounts of the Spring Valley Water Company that the properties will prove more than self-sustaining. I know that the acquisition of this property would eliminate many millions of the cost of the Hetch Hetchy system, by reason of the fact that we would not have to duplicate the present distributing system and the present reservoir system of the Spring Valley Water Company, if we make this purchase, whereas we would have to go to quite an expense in duplication if we did not. We shall have to spend a great deal of money upon the Hetch Hetchy water system in the next three years, in order to keep our obligations to the government. There is a matter of ten millions to fifteen millions of dollars that must be spent, and those ten or fifteen millions of dollars the people of San Francisco will be paying interest on during construction before we can get a cent of revenue. And I believe that, as a business proposition, if we can have the present system of the Spring Valley Water Company paying its own way and aiding us to pay part of the cost for the Hetch Hetchy system, it will be sound business policy for the people of San Francisco to follow.

Supervisor Deasy—Mr. Long, have the pipes of the Spring Valley Water Company now in use in the distributing system been tested to find out what their condition is now?

Mr. Long—Yes, they have been tested.

Supervisor Deasy—And found how?

Mr. Long—Found in splendid condition—every expert that we have had on those pipes has so found.

Supervisor Hayden—Mr. O'Shaughnessy so states in his letter of transmittal, if I remember—that there was an examination made.

Mr. Long—All those pipes have been taken up, that is to say, in sixty parts of the city sections of those pipes have been taken up and tested. Some of the pipes have been down thirty-five years or thirty-eight years, and they were found in almost as perfect condition as when they were laid, upon the determination being made. We have found, from a study of the methods followed by the Chief Engineer, Mr. Schussler, of the Spring Valley Water Company, that he was exceedingly careful in preparing the pipes before they were laid in the ground, and that the sandy soil in San Francisco keeps the pipes in good condition.

Supervisor Deasy—Has the examination that has been made shown defects in the pipes so that they are in need of repairs?

Mr. Long—They have not been reported to me.

Supervisor Deasy—On Mariposa street, I think, you will find lots of places where that is the case.

Mr. Long—That has never been reported to me.

Supervisor Deasy—Were there any tests made in that district?

Mr. Long—That I don't know. That is a matter for the engineers, but I repeat that no reports have been made of it to me. I have been told by individuals that the pipes were not in good condition, and in every instance I have asked those individuals to give me the facts and to point out the places, and I would have tests made, and I would like to have those individuals or others who know the facts be specific so that they could be called as witnesses, because if such is the case we wanted to know it, because I know there has been much gossip to that effect, but I have never been able to confirm any statement to that effect.

Supervisor Deasy—I have known that in my experience myself—I have found many of the pipes eaten up by electrolysis.

Mr. Long—Water pipes?

Supervisor Deasy—Water and gas pipes, too.

Mr. Long—The gas pipes are not made of as heavy material, or construction, as the water pipes. It is an engineering matter that, of course, I cannot discuss, but none of the reports that have come to me have shown that state of affairs.

Supervisor Nelson—Does this take in the full distributing system in San Francisco?

Mr. Long—Everything.

Supervisor Nelson—What provision is made, where the property holders have paid for the pipes or mains themselves, for their repayment? Has that been deducted on the price here? In many instances for the last five or six years, property holders have been held up by the company and made to pay $500 to $1000 to run the mains. Is that part included in this offer?

Mr. Long—I know nothing about that state of affairs, it has not been called to our attention, no one has told us of pipes they have paid for that they claim to own.

Supervisor Nelson—I had notice served on me last night by a very big man who wanted to know about that, whether the city would take over the distributing system, and would they reimburse him for $960 that he had paid for running a pipe in the Sunset District, I think where he lives, to the Spring Valley main. So I want to know if any light can be thrown upon that point?

Mr. Long—That would be a matter of policy for the city to determine later on. I know nothing of that.

Supervisor Nelson—Does it include the full distributing system? It is supposed to include all the pipes, I assume?

Mr. Long—The pipes—

Supervisor Gallagher (interrupting)—Their appraisal does not include pipe extensions made by citizens themselves. When a man puts in a pipe in that way, as a natural consequence that pipe belongs to that man, and it cannot belong to the Spring Valley Water Company, and the amount of money involved in that item, in my judgment, would not exceed $10,000, in any event.

Mr. Long—I should imagine it would not be any greater than that, because the pipes are the property of the owners, as Mr. Gallagher says.

Supervisor Gallagher—The pipes belong to the people who put them down, and the Spring Valley Water Company cannot include those pipes in an offer of sale. Mr. Long, you said we would have to spend ten or fifteen million dollars on the Hetch Hetchy system, I think you said within the next ten years.

Mr. Long—No, within the next three years.

Supervisor Gallagher—Within the next three years?

Mr. Long—I think that is the program of the City Engineer.

Supervisor Gallagher—Can you work that out and show where you are going to spend that money? I can see you spending about nine millions, about eight or nine millions, but I can't see any fifteen millions.

Mr. Long—I may have made the time too short, but that is the impression I have gathered from the statement the City Engineer made to me, and it would include the construction of the Hetch Hetchy dam, the construction of a railroad to cost about $1,000,000, the construction of a power house, the construction of these aqueducts.

Supervisor Gallagher (interrupting)—Which aqueducts?

Mr. Long—Tunnels, I should say, full sized tunnels.

Supervisor Gallagher—What for?

Mr. Long—For the carrying of water down to the power plant.

Supervisor Gallagher—Have you any knowledge that that is contemplated within the next three or four years?

Mr. Long—That is my impression. Isn't that it, Mr. O'Shaughnessy?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—That is part of the plan.

Supervisor Gallagher—Since when has that been adopted? Or when has it ever assumed such definite shape that you can say that we are about to spend ten to fifteen million dollars in the next few years upon the Hetch Hetchy system, when the very first thing you do is to develop the power up there and begin to get a return upon it, before you begin to develop your pipe lines?

Supervisor Vogelsang—You can't develop or even commence to develop power until you build aqueducts to carry the water.

NEW YORK'S MUNICIPAL FAIR EXHIBIT.

New York City's plans for its exhibit at the Panama-Pacific Exposition next year include some unusual features.

The city's building will contain sculptures of its famous citizens, including scholars and soldiers. The building has been designed so as to make its interior a great auditorium divided into twelve large galleries which will contain departmental exhibits.

Along the promenades will be tables bearing replicas of the city's libraries, museums, schools and skyscrapers. The walls will be decorated with elaborate photographs of the city, and three large paintings, each twenty feet long, will portray the ctiy as it looked in 1715, 1815 and 1915.

Traffic in New York harbor will be illustrated by a model and painting thirty-two feet long and twelve feet deep. This will show the city, the upper bay, the East River, the North River and the city's new piers and terminals along the Hudson River.

By moving aside this model a curtain will be disclosed upon which motion pictures will be thrown. A series of characteristic scenes in the city will be shown in these moving pictures.

CITY ATTORNEY OPINIONS.

City Attorney Long has advised the Board of Public Works that a permit for a building which came within the provision under the regulations of the State hotel and lodging house act, granted after the law became effective, was illegal if the plans previously filed did not conform with the provisions of the act. Prior to the time the law became effective many persons filed plans some months in advance of buildings, which when constructed would not conform with its provisions, under the impression that time could be taken in the issuance of a permit. The opinion holds the Board of Public Works was without legal authority to grant permits after the law went into effect.

In another opinion the City Attorney has advised that the scheme to pay members of the Fire Department twice a month cannot be legally done because of the mandatory provisions of the charter, which says "Salaries and compensations shall be payable monthly."

Another opinion advises the Civil Service Commission that where a person has twice been in the service of the city that in an examination for promotion credit for seniority of service can date only from the time of reappointment.

CHURCH STREET CABLE ROAD A DIFFICULT JOB.

City Engineer O'Shaughnessy made an extended report to the Board of Supervisors last Monday, detailing the progress made in perfecting the plans for the Church street railway.

The City Engineer says that since the decision by the Supervisors to have that part of the Church street line between Eighteenth and Twenty-second streets constructed as an auxiliary cable railway, drawings have been secured of such cable grips as are in use in San Francisco and of one grip formerly used in New York. As yet no grip has been devised which the City Engineer would be willing to recommend for use.

In discussing the conditions the City Engineer says:

"As you are probably aware, the construction of this auxiliary cable railway presents a number of problems which are new. The load which will be placed on the grip cars is more than twice as great as the load at present on any grip in use in San Francisco. Part of the time the cable operates winding machinery. The sudden changes of grade which will be encountered renders the design of a satisfactory coupling exceedingly difficult. All of these conditions present problems difficult of a satisfactory solution, but we are proceeding with the work and when we have finally solved the problems will present the plans and specifications for your approval. At the present time it is our hope that these plans and specifications may be forwarded to you about the first of December."

RECOMMENDS BUILDING-HEIGHT LIMITATION IN WASHINGTON.

The Government's Fine Art Commission in its report to the President last week recommended that the problem of height restriction be given consideration, in order that the architectural beauty of the capital may be conserved. This height limitation would not, however, it is gathered from the commission's report, apply to the city as a whole, but would be graded to suit various districts. One specific recommendation is made—that a height limit of 80 feet be enforced for the west side of Seventeenth street, northwest, between New York avenue and F street.

ARKANSAS "BLUE-SKY" LAW SUSTAINED.

Judge Trieber, in the United States District Court at Little Rock, Ark., sustained the State "blue-sky" law. The law was attacked as a violation of the commerce clause of the Federal constitution by a Birmingham, Ala., company. The company's plan was to secure subscribers who should pay a monthly sum for eighty months, at the end of which the money thus paid was to be returned to the subscriber together with a pro rata share of any profits that might be earned by the company.

The company, refused a license to do business by the State Banking Commissioner, appealed to the courts. Judge Trieber ruled that the business of the company did not constitute commerce within the meaning of the constitution.

The Treasurer has sold over $300,000 of bonds over the counter during the past ten days, and only about $200,000 remain on hand of the lot recently put on sale. These are mostly of $100 denomination and should be attractive to those of small means who wish to make a safe investment.

The Board of Public Works has directed the City Engineer to report upon the widening of Circular avenue, between Diamond street and Sunnyside avenue.

The public pound reports 491 animals impounded during the month of October. Dogs killed, 335.

INSTALLMENT TUNNEL TAX PAYABLE NOW.

Tax Collector Bryant has completed preparations for the collection of the second installment of Twin Peaks Tunnel assessment from those who executed agreements to pay on the installment plan. There are some 9000 bills to be paid and more than $300,000 will be collected, making $1,500,000 available for the construction of the tunnel. Payments may be made now, the date of delinquency being December 28th next.

The third installment of the Stockton Street Tunnel assessment will be collected at the same time.

Redemption of property sold for non-payment of the Twin Peaks Tunnel assessment is being made, but there are 600 parcels yet to be redeemed. Certain lots in blocks in Sunset, Lakeview, City Land and on the easterly or down town side of the proposed tunnel, have had certificates of sale issued either to private bidders or to the city, and owners are inquiring daily in regard thereto, consulting the assessment maps in the Tax Office, with a view to redeeming their property.

Individual notification of the installment being due will not be made, as property owners have already been advised that all installment payments are due in December of each year. It is advisable for property owners to pay as early as possible and thus avoid the rush of the closing days.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE POLICE COMMISSION.

The only business transacted by the Police Commission on November 2 was the appointment of Scott A. Ray, Thomas Mulrany and Jesse T. Bledsoe as special police officers. The only permits granted the week previous were to Dennis Marcudas for a billiard parlor at 605 Jackson street and to Hans Dodel for a museum at 1518 Fillmore street. All other permits were refused.

SAN BRUNO AVENUE TO BE COMPLETED.

Work on the uncompleted portion of San Bruno avenue, which is to connect with the highway into San Mateo county, has commenced and will be completed in record time.

The Federal Construction Company, which has the contract, has a large force of men employed and has promised City Engineer O'Shaughnessy that the completed road will be turned over to the city and be ready for traffic by January 10.

This highway, when completed, will shorten the distance to down the peninsula points by five miles and will be an important factor in the development of adjoining territory.

The Discussion Before the Board of Supervisors Concerning the Purchase of Spring Valley Water Properties

This is the second installment of discussion before the Board of Supervisors concerning the acquisition of the water properties of the Spring Valley Water Company, and is a transcription of the shorthand notes taken at the meetings of said Board on September 28th and 29th. The final installment will be published next week.

Supervisor Gallagher—Correct, but what will you estimate that to cost?

Supervisor Vogelsang—What is the total mileage of that tunnel, Mr. O'Shaughnessy?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—About twenty miles.

Supervisor Vogelsang—And I suppose most of that twenty miles is through solid rock, is it not?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—Solid rock, yes.

Supervisor Vogelsang—And a tunnel which will carry 400,000,000 gallons of water a day is of what dimensions?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—About ten and a half feet in diameter.

Supervisor Vogelsang—About ten and a half feet in diameter. Now, twenty miles of tunnel through solid rock, they would naturally have to—

Supervisor Gallagher (interrupting)—May I interrupt you to say that I don't propose to believe anything you say on the subject of how much it is going to cost to build the tunnel through rock, because you are a lawyer and don't know anything about it.

Supervisor Vogelsang—I understand that and I am not attempting to tell what it is costing us.

Supervisor Gallagher—Yes, you are.

Supervisor Vogelsang — Nobody knows until the tests are made up in the country through which the tunnel is to run, and when that is done the engineer's estimate will be forthcoming.

Supervisor Gallagher—Who has given this $15,000,000 estimate now, if nobody knows anything about it?

Supervisor Vogelsang—I am not standing for the $15,000,000 estimate, because I don't know whether it is true, or not. But I do know from what I have heard from the Engineer that the dam itself will cost in the neighborhood of $3,000,000—is that right. Mr. O'Shaughnessy?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—Yes.

Supervisor Vogelsang—And I know from the engineer's statement that the railroad construction will be in the neighborhood of a million dollars—we are talking now not of the roadway up there that shall carry the materials, which is costing us $150,000. But all of this is going to be dependent upon the financial market, as well as other things, because we have got to market these bonds in order to have the money to use, and for that reason we can't be positive as to the date when the money is going to be expended.

Supervisor Gallagher—Then the City Attorney's statement goes for naught. He says ten or fifteen million dollars within three years, and you say he doesn't know what he is talking about.

Supervisor Vogelsang—I don't say he don't know what he is talking about.

Supervisor Gallagher—You don't say it in words.

Supervisor Vogelsang—Take it as I say it. There is no necessity of indulging in any sharpness in debate here. The proposition I am making is apparent to you as well as it is to every citizen in San Francisco, that with the present condition of the money market, it is impossible to sell bonds that are authorized for this construction at this time, and we don't know when it is going to be in such a condition, the money market, that those bonds can be marketed. Until that is done, the work cannot be done.

Supervisor Gallagher—The point I am making is simply this: I am talking about that statement made by the City Attorney, that within the next three years ten or fifteen millions of dollars would have to be spent on the Hetch Hetchy. I want to know where that estimate may come from, and how it comes that we are to spend so much money within three years.

Supervisor Vogelsang—I suppose the engineers can answer that part of it, so far as that is concerned.

Mr. Long—I may, Mr. Gallagher, be in error, but I gathered from a conversation with Mr. O'Shaughnessy, in which he outlined what he thinks his program will be and about the amount, and if I am in error, I would like to be corrected by him. Chief, will you make a statement as to that?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—The cost of the dam at Hetch Hetchy will be approximately $3,000,000.

Supervisor Gallagher—Taking how long to build?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—Taking about three years to build. The railway which we will build, will cost, according to Mr. Freeman's estimate, a million and a quarter. We are now completing the survey of that road, and in a few months will have the final figures. We are building the upper section of it, ten miles long, at the present time, through the heaviest grades, for about $15,000 a mile, so I have hopes that we can get it through for about $12,000 a mile with the equipment we shall have. So a million and a quarter will cover that expense. Twenty miles of aqueduct from the Early intake at Moccasin Creek to our first power plant, where we will develop 50,000 horsepower, will cost about $250,000 a mile, five millions. That is five and three are eight millions, and one and a half, say nine and a half millions, making, with allowance for contingencies, possibly ten million dollars as sufficient to cover that section of the work and development. Now, to bring that power from that point into San Francisco, 160 miles, along a pole line, will cost about $7,000 a mile—about a million dollars more. And the equipment and the machinery and so on will cost another million. So that will make ten million and two million or twelve million. At the same time, this section of aqueduct connected to the city, from Sunol over here, should be under construction, and that will cost probably four million to five million. So that would make very nearly the figure the City Attorney has suggested.

Supervisor Gallagher—That is an increase of about $6,000,000 over the figures you gave me.

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—I gave you the figures for the power plant.

Supervisor Gallagher—You gave me $9,000,000.

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—For the power plant.

Supervisor Gallagher—And it is not contemplated building across the valley and it is not contemplated developing the 400,000,000 gallon daily supply until we are ready to receive it.

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—No.

Supervisor Gallagher—Aren't your figures rather high in that connection?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—No, because we have got to build this aqueduct to the full capacity.

Supervisor Gallagher—I agree with you there.

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—It won't do to build a small one. We must protect our rights to the fullest extent, and it is also an economic advantage to bring down the fullest amount of water, because then we will get the fullest development of power.

Supervisor Gallagher—You might be building up for that, but at your present rate of horsepower, you are not going to bring down a full supply of water, are you?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—Not across the San Joaquin Valley to San Francisco.

Supervisor Gallagher—Or to the power house from the dam.

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—Yes, to the power house.

Supervisor Gallagher—How much power do you expect to develop in the initial procedure?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—About 50,000 horsepower.

Supervisor Gallagher—All right. How much water do you think it will take for that?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—About 300,000,000 gallons a day.

Supervisor Gallagher—300,000,000 gallons a day?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—Yes.

Supervisor Gallagher—To develop 50,000 horsepower?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—Yes.

Supervisor Power—Then it is that $15,000,000 that you itemize to be expended in the next three years as the City Attorney estimated?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—I think it would be policy for the city to do so.

Supervisor McCarthy—Why not let the City Attorney proceed?

Supervisor Gallagher—You have got your program, so it doesn't make any difference to you.

Supervisor McCarthy—I would like to hear the report and then act.

Supervisor Gallagher—You would like to act because you know what you are going to do.

Supervisor McCarthy—You never know what you are going to do.

Supervisor Gallagher—Some of us will take our time, whether you like it, or not.

Supervisor Power—You say that is the plan for the next two years?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—I think that is a very desirable thing to do.

Supervisor Power—It may be the desirable thing, we all agree to that that it may be the desirable thing to build the whole thing in three years, but I say, is it planned by your office at the present time to do it?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—It is.

Mr. Long—I want to say another thing in that connection, that, in order to protect our water rights, when we make our first diversion, we must make it for a large quantity. That is one of the things that the City Attorney's office has advised the City Engineer on. One of the first considerations is to get the fullest protection for our water rights up there, and comply with the city's franchise, and that is the reason we have urged from the City Engineer to make a development which will use as large a quantity of water as he can possibly use. We believe it is extremely necessary to follow that course. Now, the Spring Valley city pipe distributing system amounts to 568 miles, of which the cast iron pipe is about 14 miles of 3-inch pipe, 70 miles of 4-inch pipe, 105 miles of 6-inch pipe, 138 miles of 8-inch pipe, a little over a mile of 10-inch pipe, 50 miles of 12-Inch pipe, 25 miles of 16-inch pipe, 4½ miles of 20-inch pipe, 3 1/3 miles of 22-inch pipe, 9½ miles of 24-inch pipe, 8/10 of a mile of 30-inch pipe. Riveted wrought iron pipe, there is 3/10 of a mile of 12-inch pipe, 4.6 miles of 22-inch pipe, 2.4 miles of 30-inch pipe, half a mile of 33-inch pipe, 7/10 of a mile of 36-inch pipe, a mile and 7/10 of 37½-inch pipe and 9/10 of a mile of 44-inch pipe.

Supervisor Power—I would like to ask you how that pipe is inventoried—what procedure was had as to inventorying that?

Mr. Long—As to ascertaining the value of it?

Supervisor Power—No, to ascertain that that pipe is laid as you have stated.

Mr. Long—The quantity?

Supervisor Power—Yes.

Mr. Long—I don't know. I don't know what method the Engineer followed. Can you tell us, Mr. O'Shaughnessy?

Supervisor Power—In other words, did it come from our Engineer's office, or was the inventory or figures as furnished by the Spring Valley Water Company?

Mr. Long—I don't know. Mr. Dockweiler and the City Engineer's office gave me those figures, and how they were arrived at, I don't know.

Supervisor Deasy—Is all that 568 miles of pipe in use?

Mr. Long—What is that?

Supervisor Deasy—I say, is that pipe all in use, 568 miles?

Mr. Long—In use? I think it is.

Supervisor Deasy—But you don't know?

Mr. Long—I don't know positively, no.

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—You say how long it has been in use?

Supervisor Deasy—No. Is it all in use now?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—Well, there is some pipe through the burnt district that is in the ground where houses have not been rebuilt again.

Supervisor Deasy—Those pipes have not been overhauled since the 'quake, and there has been no water in them at all.

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—There are very few cases where some houses have not been built and where the pipes are not in use at all.

Supervisor Deasy—They did overhaul one main and got service.

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—They had to overhaul every pipe after the fire and earthquake.

Supervisor Deasy—They did not overhaul it all—there is plenty of pipe lying in the street now that has not been touched since the 'quake, and they had mains on both sides of the street, and they are practically using one now on lots of streets, and that is the matter I want to get at.

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—Every bit of the pipe in this system has been very carefully checked. No reliance has been made upon their statement. I have gone over the ground and gone down and cut out sections of the pipe and tested them, and we are prepared to stand on the accuracy of this statement.

Supervisor Deasy—On the 568 miles?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—Yes.

Mr. Long—133 miles of the pipe is 2-inch and under. There is 31 miles of 2-inch pipe, 86 miles of 1½-inch pipe, a mile of 1¼-inch pipe, 11 miles of 1-inch pipe, a mile of ¾-inch pipe, and .1 of a mile of ½-inch pipe. I suppose some of that small pipe is what Supervisor Nelson has reference to. There are four reservoirs in use on the peninsula with which you are all familiar, Crystal Springs, San Andreas, Pilarcitos and Merced, and San Antonio and Arroyo Valle, aggregating about 5600 acres—5580 acres, on the Alameda side, the Calaveras, three proposed reservoirs which Chief Engineer O'Shaughnessy mentioned to be exact. There are a number of other structures, a long pipe line—there are 9 miles of main aqueducts, riveted wrought iron, running from 13 inches up to 54 inches in diameter. There are 24 miles of 30-inch, 28 miles of 36-inch and 22 miles of 44-inch. And there are 14 miles of auxiliary pipe, running from 3 inches up to 10 inches. There are 15 miles of wooden flumes outside the city, and about seven miles of tunnels—26 tunnels in all varying in length from 11 feet to 7500 feet. There are no other features of this plan that occur to me at this time that have not been covered by Mr. O'Shaughnessy. If there are any questions the Supervisors would like to ask me, I should be very glad to try to answer them.

Supervisor Vogelsang—Mr. Long, I would like you to state, for the information of the Board, some explanation of what is known there as capital expenditures from a certain date to be allowed—of what exact date is that, and what has the capital expenditure been expended upon?

Mr. Long—The capital expenditure is based upon the new additions to the system—

Supervisor Vogelsang—Made since what date?

Mr. Long—Made since, I think, January 1, 1914.

Chief Justice Sullivan—January 1, 1913.

Mr. Long—January 1, 1913, yes.

Supervisor Vogelsang—And of what do they consist?

Mr. Long—They consist largely of expenditures on the Calaveras dam.

Supervisor Vogelsang—The uncompleted dam?

Mr. Long—The uncompleted dam.

Supervisor Vogelsang—And about what proportion is that?

Mr. Long—That Calaveras dam is about one-third completed, the City Engineer tells me, and the $590,000 or $490,000, I think it is approximately—no, $590,000, is largely expenditure on that dam. The dam is about one-third completed.

The Mayor—I think before we get away from the distributing system, there are a few very pertinent questions that have been asked, but I think the Chief ought to advise the Board of those, as he has the Advisory Water Committee. The Crystal Springs dam—

Supervisor Power (interrupting)—Before we get to that, Mr. Mayor, I want to ask the City Attorney a question that I think he, rather than the Engineer, will be able to answer. I would like to know how you account for the discrepancy in the number of acres that are excluded from this purchase now and those that were excluded from your condemnation proceeding? There were in the condemnation proceeding excluded, in Alameda county, 2593 acres, and you now exclude 7376 acres, or a difference of 4853 acres—

Mr. Long—For the reason, as I explained it at the outset—

Supervisor Power—I haven't finished my question yet.

Mr. Long—Oh, pardon me.

Supervisor Power—The total number of acres excluded now are 31,566, and the number of acres excluded in the condemnation proceeding was 27,325, a difference of 4241 acres. I would like to know where the difference of six hundred and odd acres comes in between the 4853 and the 4241 acres. In other words, are we securing any additional land from the Spring Valley Water Company over and above what we were to secure when you commenced condemnation proceedings?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—That is described in the report of the Advisory Water Committee, Mr. Power, as belonging to the Nussbaumer Tract.

Supervisor Power—What?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—That is described in the Advisory Water Committee's report as the Nussbaumer Tract, and it is referred to in the correspondence with the Spring Valley Water Company.

Supervisor Power—Is that tract included in the condemnation proceedings?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—It is included in the condemnation proceedings, but a great deal of it is up near Mrs. Hearst's on the northerly side of the creek, and in this revised appraisal, all the higher land has been excluded, and the land down in the river where the water rights are has been retained.

Supervisor Power—I don't know whether I have made myself clear, or not, Chief. But taking the summary of your Advisory Water Committee's report—

Mr. O'Shaughnessy (interrupting)—That will balance if you take that 600 acres.

Supervisor Power—That 600 acres was not on the condemnation proceedings?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—It was.

Supervisor Power—How do you make it balance? I have taken the total acreage you have in your condemnation proceedings, and deducted that from the total acreage that you now have excluded, and it gives a difference of 4241 acres. I have taken your figure that you now have in your report of the acreage excluded from the Alameda county lands and deducted from that the acreage that was excluded by condemnation, and I get a difference of 612 acres, as I have explained before.

Supervisor Hayden—How much time, Mr. Long, was devoted to taking this inventory by the expert engineers?

Mr. Long—Nearly a year.

Supervisor Hayden—A year's time?

Mr. Long—Yes. Later on, Mr. Power, Mr. Steinhart will explain that, as he had active charge of all of those properties, the listing of those properties, and he can give you an explanation of that. There were some strips taken afterwards, in order to protect those rights in Pleasanton, and I am not familiar with the exact details. He will give you the information later on.

Supervisor Power—It seems to me it is a simple matter of figures that, if you folks on the Advisory Water Committee have given this the time and attention that I feel you have for the last several months, it should be an easy matter for you—simply a matter of value.

The Mayor—The Chief is working on it, and we will have it in just a moment.

Supervisor Power—If Mr. Steinhart has it, well and good.

Mr. Steinhart—I haven't it exactly, only I know the amount of the land in Pleasanton is given as greater than it actually is, because the strips are not deducted—how much that would account for, I don't know.

Supervisor Power—I think there is one portion of the report here that says it is 80 acres.

Mr. Steinhart—Then there is another acreage at the wells, and that accounts for part of it.

Supervisor Walsh—I move that we keep going, Mr. Mayor.

Supervisor Gallagher—Has Mr. Long concluded?

Mr. Long—Yes, unless there are questions to be asked.

Supervisor Power—I want to ask another question, when we pass the question with reference to that 600 acres.

Mr. Long—The Pleasanton land in the Nussbaumer tract, Mr. O'Shaughnessy is figuring upon.

Supervisor Power—Do you know whether those 4800 acres of land excluded are used for, or rather, what they are used for at the present time?

Mr. Long—Some of them are used for farming and some of them are not used at all.

Supervisor Power—Some of them are used for farming?

Mr. Long—Some of them are used for farming, yes.

Supervisor Power—Do you know the returns of those used for farming purposes at the present time?

Mr. Long—I think the figures are all lumped, the returns from the land.

Supervisor Power—I will put it in another way. Do you know whether or not the returns received from those lands—I will assume the taxes to be $10,000, you said a valuation of $500,000, and if it is a dollar tax, it will be $5,000 taxes. Are they getting a greater return than $5000 for those lands?

Mr. Long—I think they are. I can say, Colonel, that the Spring Valley Water Company received about $105,000 a year from all lands owned, and of this amount there was derived from the lands to be taken over by the city $42,659.30. the balance being on lands not to be acquired. That includes—

Supervisor Power (interrupting)—What is your figure that their total income is?

Mr. Long—From rents of land and sales of crops $105,095.

Supervisor Power—Where do you get that figure? These figures. taken from the Advisory Water Committee's report, are $132,092.

Mr. Long—This figure was made up on the revenues for the year 1911-12.

Supervisor Power—This other figure is for the year 1913?

Mr. Long—Yes. I have the figures for 1911 and 12.

Supervisor Vogelsang—This figure in this report includes the sale of crops as well as rent of the land?

Mr. Long—Yes. The figures I was reading from are the figures for 1911 and 12. The income from the lands they obtained included the San Benito lands and the Coyote Creek lands and a number of lands never used in connection with the water system at all.

Supervisor Power—Have you figured what their income will be from the lands that they retain—have you that figure?

Mr. Long—I have not for the year 1913.

Supervisor Vogelsang—I think, Mr. Long, that those figures are for the year 1913-14, are they not?

Mr. Long—The figures in the printed report, yes.

Supervisor Vogelsang—In the other report of Mr. Moody's, in the analysis of the operating expenses, etc.—

Chief Justice Sullivan—1913, it is.

Supervisor Vogelsang—Yes, 1912-13. On page 13 of this copy recently made, the income derived from land rentals and crops is given as $105,094.04, and of this amount there was derived from the lands to be taken by the city $42,659.30, and evidently that would be on the lands retained by them $62,435.74, which, as has been stated, of course includes whatever income comes from the retained Merced lands, from the Coyote Creek lands and San Benito lands, as well as others, and of this there are some 12,000 or more acres, if I understand it, in the San Benito and Santa Clara lands, fit for farming purposes.

Supervisor Power—I would like to ask the Supervisor if this report is different from the one before me.

Supervisor Vogelsang—I think it is a little bit. I think it is a later compilation, although I haven't compared it.

Mr. Long—I think it for the year 1911 and 12.

Supervisor Power—Who made it?

Mr. Long—The same man who made the other.

Mr. Steinhart—He only made one.

Supervisor Vogelsang—Oh, yes—it is under date of August 10, 1914. It may be a little fuller.

Supervisor Power—Do I understand there is a different figure in that report, and that it is more recent than that of the Water Advisory Committee on the rents and sale of crops?

Supervisor Vogelsang—It is an amplification of it.

Supervisor Power—I suggest, Mr. Chairman, if there are any reports that have supplemented the Advisory Water Committee's reports before us, that a copy be furnished to each member of the Board.

Mr. Long—This report of 1911-12, which Mr. Moody made up for me, is an analysis of all their operating expenses, and of all their costs and probable cost to the city. The report made to Mr. Sullivan was later than this, I think, and took it right up to date, the 10th of August.

Chief Justice Sullivan—I told Mr. Moody I was preparing a report, and to make a very careful examination of the books of the company, and to report to the Advisory Water Committee the total amount of money received by the Spring Valley Water Company from all sources, included in which would be the lands which the city was to acquire, and lands which the Spring Valley Water Company was to retain, and these reports here, these exhibits annexed to the report, were made under instructions from the Advisory Water Committee. This statement appearing here on page 18 purports to be a statement of the gross operating revenue for the year 1913. I was assured by Mr. Moody, who has been in the employ of the city for quite a while for this particular purpose—I was informed by him that this is a correct statement of the total sales, $3,251,411: from rents and sale income received by the Water Company for the year 1913. From water of crops, $132,092.64: from miscellaneous sources, $77,463.84, making a total of $3,420,967.48. I know of no other reports made prior to the presentation of this report by Mr. Moody, or made subsequently to the filing of this report. Mr. Long apparently has some report in his possession made by Mr. Moody for the year preceding the year 1913.

Mr. Long—Yes.

Chief Justice Sullivan—This statement contained here in the report of the Advisory Water Committee recites the situation for the calendar year 1913. We could not get a statement for the year 1914, on account of its being an uncompleted year. But I think we can rely on the accuracy of Mr. Moody, who certainly is a very competent expert, and I think you can take those figures as being correct figures.

Supervisor Power—I want to state, Mr. Chief Justice, I am satisfied to take these as correct figures, but at the same time I don't think there should be any information given to us by any member of the Board, or by any member of the Advisory Water Committee that is in conflict with this report.

Supervisor McCarthy—I think that Mr. Moody has given this report of the fiscal year 1912-13, and the figures in the report of the Advisory Water Committee are for the calendar year 1913.

Chief Justice Sullivan—I asked him to give me a report for the calendar year 1913. I did not care to have the fiscal years, I wanted the calendar year.

Supervisor Power—Then the figure we consider correct is one—

Chief Justice Sullivan (interrupting)—That is in the report.

Supervisor Power—Which is for the calendar year?

Chief Justice Sullivan—The calendar year 1913.

Supervisor Vogelsang—This one is probably correct, but it takes in six months of the year 1912 and six months of the year 1913.

Supervisor Power—I understand, Mr. Long, you say the receipts from the Pleasanton lands, the sale of crops or rental or whatever source of revenue they have, exceeded the taxes to be paid on said land—

Mr. Long (interrupting)—I haven't analyzed that, but that is what I made reference to. The tax would have to be paid by the taxpayers of San Francisco, by way of interest on bonds. If we took those lands at a valuation of a million dollars, we would have to pay interest on bonds to that amount, which, at 4½% per annum, would be about $45,000 a year in interest—that is what I had in mind. The interested people of San Francisco would have to pay the bonds and interest on the acquired land.

Supervisor Power—What about the difference of $64,000 between the total sources of income from rent of land and sale of property and the revenue of $68,000 that they will receive from lands that they still hold?

Mr. Long—That includes about a thousand acres of land down in San Benito county, and—

Supervisor Power (interrupting)—I don't care what it includes, but I say, what do you think about the $64,000 additional revenue taking care of the redemption and taxes that you refer to—that is what I intended to say?

Mr. Long—That might take care of it, if we acquired all of their lands. But that would necessitate the acquiring of other lands, not only of all their lands down there, but the lands at Lake Merced and lands that they rent in Santa Clara county and lands that they rent in San Benito county, and I take it the larger rentals they get are rentals on the land at Lake Merced.

Supervisor Power—Do you think that those are greater than the rental on the Pleasanton side?

Mr. Long—I do, because the Pleasanton lands, much of that is given up to alfalfa.

Supervisor Power—Are there any hog ranches on those Pleasanton lands that you know of?

Mr. Long—I never heard of any.

Supervisor Vogelsang—It must be remembered by the Supervisors that there are 17,501 acres of retained lands in Santa Clara county, and 691 in San Benito county, from which, no doubt, a large portion of the revenue comes.

Supervisor Power—We don't know that.

Mr. Long—A large portion of this Pleasanton land at the upper end I do not think is farmed at all. It is kind of marshy.

The Mayor—Now, Mr. Steinhart, the City Attorney advises me he has finished, could we hear from you?

Supervisor Power—Just one minute. I believe I asked the Engineer a question, and he said the City

Attorney could better answer it, the City Attorney or his experts, as to the appraisement that they placed on the excluded Pleasanton lands.

Mr. Steinhart—That is less than the amount that was paid for those lands. The experts went over all the lands, which I know, because I went with them at the time, and all of the Pleasanton lands that were purchased by the Spring Valley Water Company were declared by them to be worth considerably less than was paid by the Spring Valley Water Company for them. So the valuation they placed upon them was less than the Spring Valley Water Company paid for them. In other words, if it came to a condemnation proceeding, it is hardly reasonable to suppose that a court would not allow a valuation that was close to the actual value paid for those lands in as recent a period as 1911. But, as a matter of fact, we consider that, if we paid that value for them, we would be paying more than the land is worth. The situation in Pleasanton, as something has been said about that, and I am a little familiar with it, is something I would like to make a statement about.

Supervisor Power—Mr. Steinhart, before making it, would you give me that figure? You say "less than they paid for it."

Mr. Steinhart—I can't give you the figure offhand, but I went over the lands with them, and they were pointed out, acreage by acreage, and we compared them, without taking the figures down, with the amounts paid. For some of those tracts they paid as high as $400 and $500 an acre, in some of the big acreages, and in some of the very small tracts they paid as high as $1200 an acre—those were extremely small tracts, of course.

Supervisor Power—Do I understand you to say you haven't that appraisement?

Mr. Steinhart—I can't give you that offhand. It would be in the neighborhood of $1,300,000 or $1,200,000. roughly—I can't give you the figures exactly. But the fact of the matter is, the Pleasanton situation was this: and to be safe about that, let me put it at $1.500,000—it is less than $1.720,000. I can state that, Mr. Power. The fact of the matter is, as I started to say, that the Pleasanton wells have always been located on certain lands owned by the Spring Valley Water Company. There were certain lands to the north of those lands owned by the Spring Valley Water Company, the owners of which particular land commenced suit against the Spring Valley to restrain that company from taking water from the lands that they owned, upon the ground that the taking of the water from the Spring Valley Water Company's lands would lower the water plane on their lands to the north. In order to compromise those suits, and in order not to be in litigation (and frankly, Spring Valley was not in a condition at that time to be in litigation, they had to make one contention on one side of the matter, as far as the city was concerned, and another one on the other side), they bought the lands and paid extremely high prices for them. Since they acquired those lands, they have not gotten any additional water in their Pleasanton watershed, and they have dug no wells upon the lands acquired. In other words, they bought those lands to take away the club that was being held over them. We consider that, legally, we are acquiring the club under this agreement. The City Engineer tells us that we are, from an engineering standpoint, acquiring the water. So, under those conditions, there is absolutely no reason for taking those lands and paying an additional amount for them. The interest on those lands, the interest upon the bonds necessary to get those lands, plus the taxes that you would have to pay on those lands, would more than equal the amount you would get from them in revenue. As a matter of fact, gentlemen, there is nothing that I can add to what City Attorney Long has said to you already, and—

Supervisor Power (interrupting)—What do you base that on, Mr. Steinhart?

Mr. Steinhart—It is very simple, Mr. Power. If you buy $1,700,000 worth of land and pay 4½% interest on that, you are paying about $75,000 a year interest. In addition to that, Mr. O'Shaughnessy has told you that the taxes on those lands, as they are assessed at $500,000, and the tax rate in all those communities is between 2 and 3 cents on the dollar, probably in the neighborhood of 3 cents, and 3 cents on the dollar on $500,000 is $15,000 a year, which, added to the $75,000 interest on the bonds, is $90,000, and there is $90,000 as compared to the income on all the excluded lands of $64,000.

Supervisor Gallagher—Supervisor Power, you are not opposed, are you, to the elimination of every ounce of land that comfortably and safely can be eliminated for the purpose of this water supply, provided that in that elimination the city gets value, that is, so that there is a reasonable reduction of cost of plant to us? In other words, don't you agree with the idea that all lands that can be eliminated ought to be eliminated, and that the city ought to have a sufficient deduction in price to make up for that elimination?

Supervisor Power—I would answer that, Supervisor,, that I do not.

Supervisor Gallagher—Do you want that land?

Supervisor Power—I think from a business standpoint, in taking over these properties, the best proposition the city can take it over on is to take all the land that the Spring Valley Water Company has at this time. Then the city could proceed to take such steps as are necessary to handle that land, and eventually dispose of it. If it is worth that to them, it is worth it to us, and if it is going to increase in value in the hands of the Spring Valley, it is going to increase in value in the hands of this city, and I contend that this increased value of the land would eventually be the means of assisting us—

Supervisor Gallagher (interrupting)—That is a straight out proposition of going into the real estate business rather than buying a water plant.

Supervisor Power—I answered your question.

Supervisor Gallagher—I say, that is the proposition.

Mr. Steinhart—There is very little I can add, gentlemen, to what has already been said by Chief Justice Sullivan and City Engineer O'Shaughnessy and Mr. Long. There is one thing that I do want to call your attention to, and I think that is the only thing I can contribute at the present time. The proceeding most comparable to a condemnation proceeding, in other words, the proceeding most comparable to a court proceeding such as would be a condemnation proceeding, is the rate proceeding that was had before Judge Farrington. That is the only judicial proceeding that has been had in which was involved the valuation of the Spring Valley Water Company's land. That proceeding was a lengthy proceeding. Experts were hired on both sides, the matter was gone into at great length, and the court gave a judgment at that time as to what it believed the value of the property to be, after hearing all the evidence. Comparing the values ascertained by the court at that time, in order to try to get at what the value might be held to be by a court at this time, the figure of $34,500,000 compares favorably. The figures read yesterday by Chief Justice Sullivan show, roughly, a valuation of about $13.900,000 for the physical properties. Now, as a matter of fact, taking the valuation found by Judge Farrington, upon the physical properties of the Spring Valley Water Company's plant in 1903, and adding to that the improvements, extensions and betterments made since that time, and then depreciating them along the same line of depreciation as was applied by Judge Farrington, and the depreciation is rather a high one, we get a valuation for their physical properties in excess of $13.922,000, you get a figure in the neighborhood of about $14,300,000, plus about $280,000 for stock on hand—(Judge Farrington did not include stock on hand in his valuation of the physical properties, whereas in the valuation of the physical properties given yesterday at the figure of $13,922,000, there was included the stock on hand). Therefore, under the light of Judge Farrington's decision, the valuation on the physical structures would be considerably more than the valuation here of $13.922.000, given by Chief Justice Sullivan yesterday—it would be in excess of a million dollars over that, would be nearer to $1,500,000 additional.

Supervisor Hayden—There was no valuation at that time for going concern or water rights, was there?

Mr. Steinhart—I will come to that —there was an allowance for water rights, yes. The real estate in San Francisco, valued by Chief Justice Sullivan yesterday at $1,400.000 is a fair valuation, in that it is a valuation practically conceded on all sides. That does not include the Lake Merced properties. The 823 acres of Lake Merced property were valued yesterday, as given by the Chief Justice, at $2000 an acre. That is by no means an excessive valuation of the Lake Merced properties. When we get the 823 acres there, we get some extremely good property. There is about 172 acres of that which lies between the two arms of the lake that is good level property, that is high-class real estate, and the intention, as I understand, is to use it as a park. That property is of high value —there is no doubt about that. We get about 700 feet frontage, I understand, I can't state it positively, along Sloat Boulevard. This is extremely high-class property, and property that is worth $5000 to $6000 an acre. As a matter of fact, the last sale in that neighborhood, or one of the last sales in that neighborhood, was the sale made across the way from the Spring Valley Water Company's Lake Merced lands, being a sale made corresponding to the Forest Hill section, and that was at $5000 an acre. Of course, that was very good property, being property fronting on the boulevard, and having that frontage it was better than the average. That was sold by a benevolent society to the Forest Hill people or people connected with the Forest Hill property. The other sales thereabouts have been in excess of $2000 an acre. There is some property in that Lake Merced district to the west of Lake Merced that is also high-class property, it is property that has an overlook on the lakes and from that standpoint has a value, a high value scenically. Some of the property, of course, is not so high class, which accounts for the valuation of $2000 an acre. But that valuation, I repeat, is by no means an excessive valuation as compared with prices obtained for property sold in that neighborhood.

The properties outside of San Francisco were valued at $100 an acre. Judge Farrington valued the Lake Merced property as a whole at $1250 an acre, and Judge Farrington's decision values the property outside of San Francisco at $97 an acre, which was in 1903. The value represented or given by the Chief Justice yesterday is the valuation of $100, practically the same as Judge Farrington's valuation, but eleven years later. There is no question that if Judge Farrington's valuation of $97 an acre was a fair valuation eleven years ago, then $100 an acre is exceedingly low now; and if the court in 1903 could legitimately, after hearing testimony, and Judge Farrington went into the matter at great length, find a valuation of $97 an acre, certainly a court in 1914 might find a considerably higher valuation. That is particularly true when you consider that there is included in this property, property in San Mateo county which property has gone up very much in recent years, such as the property around Crystal Springs. That property, if it were not used for watershed purposes would be used for residential purposes, as is the case with the Woodside district. This property, in fact, backs up against the Easton subdivision, and in the condemnation suit Spring Valley would use the Easton sales to boost the prices. Compared to Judge Farrington's figure of $97.50 an acre, the valuation of $100 is, I repeat, by no means excessive.

Rights of way, as stated by the Chief Justice, were stated to be of the value of $525,000, taking Judge Farrington's decision and adding to that the rights of way acquired since that time. The reservoir sites were taken on the same basis as Judge Farrington, after listening to the testimony, allowed. Riparian and other water rights, are matters always open to more or less discussion. Judge Farrington allowed a valuation of $63,360 a million gallons daily for water rights. He allowed that, independent of the physical structures that were a part of the plant. In other words, he simply took an output of about 33,000,000 gallons a day, and he multiplied the 33 by the $63,000 and found the valuation. In taking that method, the value that would be arrived at for water rights is a great deal higher than the valuation arrived at here. In other words, taking the basis of $63,000 a million gallons daily, the question then would be as to the output. At the present time the output is 40,000,000 gallons. It is conceded that with the Calaveras water supply, the output will be 60,000,000 to 65,000,000 gallons a day. The Spring Valley contends, as you will find in a paper written and published by them, from their report at the Hetch Hetchy hearing at Wasihngton, that it owns water rights or an output very much greater than is stated in the figures here.

Going concern value was not valued at all by Judge Farrington, but in the Omaha case, which Chief Justice Sullivan referred to yesterday, the Supreme Court of the United States distinguished between rate fixing cases and a condemnation case, and held that, in a condemnation case, going concern value had to be considered.

So, as I say, comparing those values to a value obtained by the only other judicial procedure we have to compare with, the values are not excessive, and the value of $34,500,000 is not too high.

Supervisor Jennings—May I be excused for a little while, Mr. Mayor?

The Mayor—You will be available, will you?

Supervisor Jennings—Yes.

The Mayor—The Chief Justice has some further figures that I would like to ask him to read in presentation of the matters.

Chief Justice Sullivan—Among the very important reasons that impelled the Advisory Water Committee in making this recommendation is the fact that the Spring Valley Water Company will not make any further extensions. It has so declared itself, and there apparently is no power to compel the company to increase its source of water supply or to extend its distributing system. The company is now supplying the city to its full capacity, about 40,000,000 gallons a day. Its refusal to furnish any more water or to extend its system means that San Francisco is now and will continue to be practically at a standstill. Richmond, Sunset, Ocean View, Holly Park and other districts of San Francisco will not be developed. We are today practically non-progressive as far as population is concerned. The census showing the population or increase in population in the City of San Francisco from 1900 to 1910 shows that San Francisco progressed less than any other city in the State. Of course there is a good reason for that—the earthquake and fire—and we can all account for the non-increase in population, attributable to those causes. But from 1910 to 1914, San Francisco has increased less than other cities in the State. For instance, Alameda City, a little city across the bay, from 1910 to 1914, according to the United States census reports, increased to the extent of 12% in population. Berkeley increased 26% in population. Oakland increased 21% in population—nearly 22%. San Francisco increased about 7½% in population, or less than 2 per cent per annum. I have here in my hand a report given to me a few minutes ago or sent to me by the Railroad Commission, showing that the transbay traffic from Oakland, Alameda, Berkeley, San Rafael—or from Alameda County and Marin County—amounts to 110,000 people a day. That is a very significant figure. That is about 55,000 people each way. Included in this 110,000 is the daily overland traffic. So, deduct 10,000 from that, and the Railroad Commission says about 90% of the daily traffic represents commuters. Say the overland traffic and traffic from the interior amounts to 10,000 passengers a day. That is probably in excess of the amount. But let us take it, then, that 50,000 people a day come to San Francisco, earning their living here, getting their money here, and going back to their homes. And, mind you, those figures do not include the peninsular traffic, traffic from San Mateo, Redwood, Santa Clara and other towns south of San Francisco. Those 50,000 people come from Alameda, Oakland, Berkeley and from Marin County to San Francisco daily, and go back again in the afternoon. While they earn their money here, they spend it in their homes. These 50,000 people represent, I assume, at least two more dependents each, the one supporting two others. That means a population of 150,000 people supported by commuters. And until we have water facilities, you cannot expect the people to come here and vote here.

There are two vital things necessary to resurrect San Francisco: First, you must have water; next, you must have railroad facilities. Fortunately for the City of San Francisco, we are now bent upon carrying out municipal ownership to a good extent, and I believe that every dollar derived from the successful operation of the street car system of San Francisco should be put into extensions. But it is folly to extend your railroad systems to the outlying districts for the purpose of carrying people there if, when they get there, they can't get water. One is just as essential for the success and prosperity of San Francisco as the other. San Francisco is bound to be at a standstill until we get water.

I am heartily in favor of the Hetch Hetchy system, have been from the early start, fought for it from the very start with Mayor Rolph and others who were intensely in earnest upon the subject. But I am informed by the engineers that it will take eight years to perfect the system, to construct the necessary dam at Hetch Hetchy, the necessary tunnels, the necessary conduits, and bring the water to San Francisco, to construct the necessary reservoirs and lay the necessary pipe lines to this city—eight years before the city will receive a dollar of income, and during that period of eight years you will have expended in interest alone nine millions of dollars, according to calculations which I have made. Not a dollar of income coming to the city during that period of time, unless you acquire the Spring Valley water system. If you acquire the Spring Valley water system and construct the Calaveras dam, lay a distributing system in San Francisco in the outlying districts, you will have, inside of two years or three years at the farthest, a system that will bring you a profit of $3,000,000 at least per annum, enough to meet the maturing bonds, and pay interest on bonds issued to purchase Spring Valley Water Company's properties.

I believe that the Spring Valley Water Company's directors have in the past not treated the city fairly. I think they have been mercenary. I think those men who have built up fortunes at the expense of the City of San Francisco should have offered better terms to San Francisco. But yet, here we are, and we are confronted with this situation, we must make the best of it, and those are the reasons that impelled the Advisory Water Committee, among other reasons advanced, to recommend to the city the purchase of the Spring Valley system.

And assume that you do construct the Hetch Hetchy system and spend the $45,000,000 granted by the city, construct a duplicate system here, artificial reservoirs instead of the natural reservoirs now owned by the Spring Valley Water Company. At the end of eight years, you will have the municipal system, but there will be two systems, the city could not compel the consumers to deal with it, to buy its water. There are 80,000 service connections now of the Spring Valley Water Company. Assume that we go right straight forward, complete our system, then at the end of eight years, having spent nine million dollars in interest alone, we will be confronted with competition. How, then, will we get the interest necessary to pay the great expense incurred for the construction of the Hetch Hetchy system?

These facts induced us, among other reasons, to make our recommendation to this Board. And I believe as firmly as I know I am here talking to you that it is for the best interest of the city to make this purchase, extend our water system, then extend our street car system, and put San Francisco in a way to make it the metropolis of the Pacific. We are bound to take back at least one-half of those commuters who live across the bay because they can't get car facilities and can't get water. And as soon as we have the Spring Valley water system, and as soon as we have our municipal water system extended to the outlying districts of the city, San Francisco will be put in a position on the Pacific Coast like that occupied by New York on the Atlantic Coast.

Supervisor Nelson—This $34,500,000 offer that has been made, does that include everything—there is no possible litigation that might occur later on in regard to any lands?

Chief Justice Sullivan—If the city accepts the offer of the Spring Valley Water Company, all litigation between the water company and the city will cease, the Spring Valley Water Company agreeing to give a good and sufficient deed conveying all its right, title and interest to all of these properties to the city. Of course, where there are six or eight thousand acres of land to be purchased, there may here and there be some pieces affected by some trifling imperfection. But it is agreed that the title shall be a good, marketable title, and if any piece of property which the Spring Valley Water Company has agreed to sell to the city is affected by a bad title or clouded title, a title that will not hold water, then an allowance must be made by the Spring Valley Water Company, according to the terms of the proposition.

Supervisor Nelson—In other words, they can't come back to the people and say, "There is litigation pending here and there which will cost something," the same as the last proposition submitted to the voters?

Chief Justice Sullivan—As I understand it, there is no serious litigation now that we know of. I understand there is a suit involving the Lake Merced tract, brought by a Miss Mahoney, and I further understand there is absolutely nothing in her claim. If that was a valid cloud upon the title, the city would not buy it. It is incumbent upon the City Attorney to see that you get a good and valid title, just as your attorney would advise you regarding the title of any piece of property that you might be buying.

Supervisor Power—Judge, will you tell me how, if we purchase the Spring Valley properties under these conditions, we will improve the conditions, insofar as the water supply to the outlying district is concerned? I agree with you that you have hit the nail on the head in that particular thing, but I would like to know how, without the expenditure of about three million dollars, you would remedy the conditions now prevailing in the outlying districts?

Chief Justice Sullivan—If the Spring Valley Water Company sells to the city today, there are certain districts crying for water now that could be helped immediately by the extension of the system. The city here can use the bond money that came from the sale of the Hetch Hetchy bonds, but it cannot make a very extensive addition to its plant, because the water is not there to supply the people at the present time. There may be now in the Crystal Springs and Lake Pilarcitos and Lake Andreas enough water to supply the city for a year—over a year, I am told. So the city could at once lay pipes to the outlying districts. In two years we will have constructed and completed the Calaveras dam, and will have the additional water coming from there, to the extent of at least 50%, a 50% increase in the water brought here to San Francisco, and that would be enough water to supply a city of 750,000 to 800,000 population. There isn't a district in San Francisco today that, after two years, won't get all the water it wants, if the city will purchase the Spring Valley Water Company's property.

Supervisor Power—As a matter of fact, don't you know that those districts can be supplied that are most in need of water at the present time?

Chief Justice Sullivan—The Richmond District can be supplied at once and the Sunset can be supplied at once, can they not?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—By making pipe extensions.

Supervisor Power—I would ask the Chief Engineer of the city, touching upon the report he submitted regarding an underground system, is there any section that cannot be supplied at the present time from that underground source?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—What is your question?

Supervisor Power—I say, is there any section of the city in the outlying districts, we will say, that cannot be supplied from the underground sources outlined in your report made in May, 1914?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—There are sections north and south of the Park, Sunset and Richmond, that can be supplied from that source.

Supervisor Power—Can't the other outside lands be?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—They could be if we had the water on this side.

Supervisor Power—Still, if we take the Spring Valley Water Company's property, we still have to build a distributing system to those points?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—Well, but you can make additions from the present completed system of the Spring Valley Water Company easily, but to go from the Richmond section and to get across to University Mound is a complicated arrangement—the reservoirs of the Spring Valley Water Company are scattered all around in different localities, and by laying certain pipes and putting in more pumps, the water can be much more economically served to those localities from the present.

Supervisor Power—But nevertheless, that supply is there, and those districts can be supplied without the purchase of the Spring Valley Water Company.

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—The prospects are very good.

Supervisor Bancroft—How much water—is there enough for the Richmond and Sunset, enough to supply those districts if they were completely built up?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—There is not.

Supervisor Power—Do you think that, by the time the Sunset and Richmond districts are entirely built up, that you can have the Hetch Hetchy system in here?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—I am afraid you are impeaching my professional skill.

Supervisor Power—I don't say that with any reflection at all. I would state offhand that, take around the Richmond District, within the next ten years, it will be entirely built up. I would say in the next fifteen years, perhaps, the Sunset District will be entirely covered by residences. I supplement the question of the Supervisor, on that showing, that the supply that is there now, that you say is three million gallons daily, is ample for the present needs and for the needs of the next three or four years, is it not?

Supervisor Gallagher—How much is the underground supply?

Supervisor Power—About three million gallons.

Supervisor Gallagher—There is nearly 8,000,000 gallons a day being taken from the ground right now. That is 11,000,000 all together.

Supervisor Power—I mean the additional supply he expected to get out of these wells. Am I not correct?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—That is correct, and Mr. Gallagher is also correct in stating that there are eight and a half million gallons derived from wells. While that water is very good for laundry and manufacturing purposes, we think it is not desirable for drinking purposes, and we try to secure our locations where there is no contamination of the water for drinking purposes, and the cleanest source I see now is the Sunset section south of the Park.

Supervisor Power—Chief, there are two questions I would like to ask. One is, if the Calaveras dam is completed, is the present pipe line or aqueduct or conduit or by whatever system it is carried from the Alameda side to this side—is that sufficiently large to carry also that supply?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—No, sir. That might be strained to its utmost capacity now. That is a 36-inch pipe line, and by gravity from Sunol, we take about 15,000,000 gallons a day to Belmont. About a year ago, a plant was put in operation at Ravenswood, by which the discharge of water was increased through that pipe, and its capacity increased about 6,000,000 gallons a day, so that 21,000,000 gallons a day is now the utmost that can be taken from that side by the present pipe system. To bring additional water from Sunol and Pleasanton, an additional pipe line from there into San Francisco must be built.

Supervisor Power—What is the estimated cost of that?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—About $3,000,000.

Supervisor Power—I understand that $3,000,000 must be expended, then, before you can use the Calaveras supply complete?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—That is correct.

Supervisor Power—To build the pipe line or system of pipes in the outlying districts, if you take the system to cover all the needs of the outlying district, I judge from the body of your report it would cost something in the neighborhood of $3,000,000?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—It would cost at least $2,000,000.

Supervisor Power—That is $5,000,000, then, if we purchase the Spring Valley Water Company's properties, in addition, before the outlying districts can be supplied?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—I think immediately, inside of six months, we could furnish relief to the Richmond and Sunset sections from our proposed well system.

Supervisor Power—I would like to ask further—and by the way, we could furnish that, of course, irrespective of our action on the purchase of the Spring Valley properties.

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—Irrespective of your action on that, we can produce, I think, from three to four million gallons a day from the wells we are now testing and sinking. So that would afford immediate relief, and it would be installed inside of six months, if the funds are provided.

Supervisor Power—That system can be made part of the Hetch Hetchy system?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—The pipes can be so laid as to be eventually a part of the system.

Supervisor Power—That would only leave the other outlying districts to be taken care of, and in order to do that, you would have to install a new pipe system or tap onto the system of the Spring Valley Water Company?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—We would have to attach to their system.

The Mayor—Mr. Gallagher asked some questions about the pipe system, and also that question bore largely upon the question of the cost of the building of the Crystal Springs dam. I think the Chief ought to explain to us what his views are in regard to the value of the Crystal Springs dam, what it cost and what it would cost to duplicate it today, and something about the distributing system generally. Will you do that, Chief?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—In the inventory of values, Crystal Springs dam is valued at $1,567,000. That is due to a depreciation that has been placed on it. All the physical properties of the Spring Valley Water Company have been valued at cost of reproduction, and then depreciation has been figured on each structure, and bedrock unit prices used in making those valuations. Now, that dam actually cost, according to the books of the Spring Valley Water Company, about $2,300,000 or $2,400,000, and a similar dam now being built at Peekskill Reservoir, New York, thirty miles west of the City of New York, for its water supply, is costing $8,000,000. In building the Crystal Springs dam, Mr. Schussler, who is one of the greatest engineers in the world, made a tremendously wide base. So that, by a comparatively moderate expenditure, of about half a million dollars, the capacity of that dam can be increased 50 per cent. In other words, instead of holding 22,000,000,000 gallons, which it does now, by expending half a million dollars on it, it can be increased to 30,000,000,000 gallons. Another feature that was discussed here was about this distributing pipe system. We had our men go all through the city and make excavations in the street, at possibly 50 different points, and go down and examine the pipe, and we cut out sections of it and took it into the yard and tested it. We have been very nearly two or three months doing this with the present consulting mechanical engineer of the office in actual charge, and a most careful appraisement was made of all this system. Some of this cast iron pipe has been in for fifty years, some for forty years, and a great deal for twenty-five years, and we found it in a very excellent condition. The life of cast iron pipe is about 100 years, and in placing our valuations on it, we took the life of the pipe and its condition and depreciated it for the number of years it was in the ground. Now, if we took and duplicated this pipe system and built parallel pipes all through the city, we would have to be guided by the light of experience. There are 72 miles of high pressure pipe that have been laid by the city, that has cost us on an average, for the labor of placing the pipe, cutting the street and restoring it, $18.000 a mile. We have at the present time in our yards 18 miles of pipe and valves and fittings, at a cost of over $400.000, that we are not able to lay for lack of money.

Supervisor Power--Is that the average of the mileage, all through?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—That is the average all through for the 72 miles. Of course, that pipe was placed deeper than a water service pipe would have to be. The high pressure pipe is placed very deep, and it is also very heavy pipe. But to figure out a low estimate, an 8-inch pipe, as a minimum, and 10-inch pipe, which would be largely used in the distributing system, it would cost us, pipe and labor, very nearly $3 a foot. That would be $15,000 a mile. If we built 700 miles of pipe, it would be very nearly $10,000,000, which would be the cost for a complete pipe system to distribute domestic water to the city. Now, the reservoirs, such as Holly Park and University Mound—

Supervisor Power (interrupting)—While you are on that question, you say it would cost $10,000,000 to build a complete distributing system in San Francisco?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—To build a pipe system, without the reservoirs and without the pumps, and you can't build a distributing system in San Francisco without pumps, because parts of the city are 600 feet above the level of the sea, and the water has to be taken at the lower levels and pumped up to the different higher levels. So, on that account, this city, compared with other cities, is as expensive a city as there is in the United States to distribute water in. Take Chicago, that is on a dead level, only 20 feet above the lake. Take St. Louis, no part of it is over 100 feet above the Missouri River. Take New York, and the highest point there is about 350 feet above the sea. But San Francisco as a water distributing proposition is not a very easy problem. But the point I want to emphasize to you is this, that, if we parallel this system here in this city, it is going to cost us a substantial sum of money. The pipes we have in the street now will remain there in service, most of them for forty or fifty years, by laying larger mains and feeders three or four blocks apart, so as to give them an ample supply of water.

I spoke to you yesterday about the Richmond section where 40,000 people are supplied by one 16-inch pipe. That pipe has been laid in my time, about twenty years ago, to the east of the park, on Stanyan street, when there were only about two or three thousand people in the Richmond section, and all the 8-inch and 6-inch and other pipes all through the Richmond section, with its 40,000 people, have been coupled onto that one pipe, and the La Honda reservoir. But the point I want to emphasize is this: that it will cost us very close to $12,000,000 to get a distributing system built inside the city, if you have no relation whatever with the Spring Valley Water Company.

Supervisor Power—Was that the sum estimated in the $45,000,000 bond issue?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—I believe Mr. Manson estimated about $11,000,000.

Supervisor Power—It was planned then to duplicate or have a system of our own, when the Hetch Hetchy plans were originated.

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—It was. But in Mr. Freeman's revised plan, where he broadened out the scope of our proposition and gave us these immense possibilities which make our power rights so very valuable—he made an estimate of $40,000,000 as far as the city boundary, and did not include any distributing system in his estimate whatever.

Supervisor Power—The reason I asked that question is this, Chief: The people voted that $45,000,000 bond issue, and it was estimated that it was going to cost $11,000,000 or $12,000,000 to have a distributing system, and that is what they voted for when they voted for that bond issue. That is the reason I asked the question.

Supervisor Walsh—I would ask the Chief Engineer what sized pipe supplies over on Scotch Hill and in there, about Twentieth and Bernal streets?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—You mean where the streets are ungraded, Supervisor?

Supervisor Walsh—Both graded and ungraded—right up to Twentieth and Vermont, and in there, toward Utah, right close to the top of the hill there.

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—I would have to bring down my larger map to show those pipes. The map I have here does not show them in sufficient detail.

Supervisor Walsh—The reason I say that is, that the pressure is very, very bad. I was approached on the subject the other night, and that is the reason I wanted the information.

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—I think the pipes are all small there.

Supervisor Walsh—That is what I understand.

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—All pipes laid by the Spring Valley Water Company, as I told you last night, in the last ten years, have been all small pipe, less than two inches in diameter.

Supervisor Walsh—That's what I understand, and also the fire hydrants here are scarcely able to supply water.

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—And the fire engine is hardly able to get up because of the street.

Supervisor Walsh—But they want the water up there, anyway.

Supervisor McCarthy—If we could get the water out after we got the engine up there, we would be all right.

Supervisor Power—Mr. Mayor, I would like to ask the Chief if he has figured out that difference in the acreage as yet.

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—I will have to take that up with you in separate session, Mr. Power. I have the facts here, and there is something to adjust in the Nussbanmer piece and the Pleasanton lands. If you will come up to my office, I will be very glad to settle that with you.

Supervisor Power—It is not a question so much of setting me right, Chief, but I think the judgment of this Board should be formed upon all of the facts. The Advisory Water Committee has spent a considerable time on the matter, and I don't see why there should be a discrepancy of six hundred and odd acres, and I think the people dealing with it ought to be able to figure, if there is a discrepancy, where it comes in.

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—If there is a discrepancy of 600 acres in an acreage of 69,000 amounting to $100 an acre, I don't think it is a very serious matter. However, I will vouch for the accuracy of our figures.

Supervisor Power—Will you vouch for the accuracy of this report?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—The tabulations of the figures in this report were made by Mr. Moody, who was the special expert of the City Attorney, and as we had about forty experts in the last year, I can't vouch for the work of each individual expert.

Supervisor Walsh—Mr. Chief, suppose we agree, that the Supervisors would agree to submit this to the people. Is not this the report we would have to send to the people of San Francisco?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—No, sir.

Supervisor Walsh—Then at that rate the Supervisors would not be in a position to state to the people that they referred to the report and that they would be responsible for the accuracy of the report, if this is not the report.

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—This is the report made by the City Engineer in accordance with the resolution of the Board of Supervisors.

Supervisor Walsh—Then your report, Mr. Chief, is not before the Board of Supervisors. It is only the report of the Advisory Water Committee that is before the Board.

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—Well, the report of the City Attorney, rather, then—

Supervisor Walsh (Interrupting)—I will tell you this, what I am trying to get at, Mr. Chief and Mr. Mayor: That, on account of the fact that not very long ago a report was sent out, and you know the report I am referring to, that is, on the Church street proposition, and I wanted to be in a position as one of the Supervisors of the city, if I convinced myself that that is the proper thing for the City of San Francisco—

I wanted to be in a position to give, when I am asked about the report, a statement that I read the report, I saw the report, and I asked these questions as to the correctness of the report, and that I am willing to vouch for the correctness of it, that nobody will have any come-back later on that it was not done. That is exactly the position I want to be in.

Supervisor Hayden—I would like to ask the City Attorney, following up that request or direction by the Supervisor: What is the status of this question as far as the Board of Supervisors stands now? Up to now, of course, we have had a report of the Advisory Water Committee making certain recommendations, in which they report to the Board of Supervisors that they have consulted with the Spring Valley Water Company, and ask them if they would accept an offer, if made by this Board. Now, providing this Board has come to a conclusion, and is of a frame of mind whereby they are prepared to make an offer such as is recommended by the Advisory Water Committee, what is the procedure or what is the status of the matter at this present moment, if we should so determine?

Mr. Long—It is the duty of the Board, if they so determine, to pass a resolution soliciting an offer from the Spring Valley Water Company, and that is the stage of proceedings at which we are now. Of course, the proper proceeding would be to adopt a resolution, adopting a report of the Advisory Water Committee, and soliciting an offer.

Supervisor Gallagher—The Supervisor has that resolution all ready, so you need not worry.

Supervisor Walsh—He is feeling his way. But I would say, then, Mr. Mayor, do I understand that it is necessary for this Board at this time to make an offer to the Spring Valley Water Company?

Mr. Long—To solicit an offer.

Supervisor Walsh—To solicit an offer, and then this Board in turn, after we receive the offer, will refer the offer to the people of San Francisco for their approval or disapproval?

Mr. Long—Exactly.

The Mayor—We follow the terms of the Charter by proper resolutions of the Board.

Mr. Long—Yes.

Supervisor Walsh—That is why I ask the question.

Mr. Long—After receiving the offer, if you so decided, you would adopt an ordinance calling an election.

Supervisor Walsh—I understand that.

Mr. Long—Then you would give notice of the election.

Supervisor Walsh—I understand all that. But what I was trying to get at was this: In order that we may be correct upon this, that the people, and especially myself—I know all that procedure—would like to know if we have to go before the people on this report of the Advisory Water Committee or the report of the Chief Engineer?

Mr. Long—You go before the people on the report of the Chief Engineer.

Supervisor Walsh—And that we have not seen yet.

Mr. Long—No, because you haven't called for it.

Supervisor Vogelsang—It looks to me as if there was a great deal of apprehension, perhaps, on a lot of very small things here concerning this report. As I understand it—

Supervisor Walsh—Before the Supervisor goes any further, I would like to know if he means apprehension on my part—that I am suspicious of something? If so, why doesn't he call it by the proper name?

Supervisor Vogelsang—Supervisor Walsh, I am not referring to you at all.

Supervisor Walsh—All right, sir.

Supervisor Vogelsang—The matter I am referring to is the discrepancy in acreage here. I can't figure it out, and I don't know—that is the only inaccuracy that I can think of. By some means or other Supervisor Power has reached a conclusion that there is an error in the computation with reference to the acreage of some 600 acres. I suppose it is against us.

Supervisor Power—It is "agin us".

Supervisor Vogelsang—If that be true, it is a clerical omission here somewhere, and that is the only aspect of the case that I know of in which there is anything in the Advisory Water Committee's report that is not in substantial accord with all the reports that have been made. And I think that is a matter that can be subsequently cleared up and explained when all the acreages are properly taken into account.

The Mayor—Suppose we get at the point, Supervisor Power.

Supervisor Power—I want to say, Mr. Chairman, that where I obtained the figures I have in my hand was, the list of properties of the Spring Valley Water Company not included in the properties condemned by the City and County of San Francisco.

The Mayor—You mean another document, other than the report of the Committee?

Supervisor Power—"The following properties of the Spring Valley Water Company are omitted from the list of lands to be condemned by the City and County of San Francisco, filed with the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors on November 25th, as they are, in the judgment of the City Engineer, unnecessary for use in connection with the present water supply of the city or the future development of the water supply."

The Mayor—Where is that referred to in the Advisory Committee's report?

Supervisor Power—He gives a total of 27,325 acres.

Chief Justice Sullivan—How many acres?

Supervisor Power—27,325 acres.

The Mayor—Where do you find the discrepancy?

Supervisor Power—The summary on page 17 of the Advisory Water Committee's report gives the total of the lands held by the Spring Valley Water Company not included in the proposed purchase by the City and County of San Francisco at 31,566 acres. I understand this offer to include, in addition to the lands mentioned in the condemnation list, a total of 4853 acres in the Alameda or the Pleasanton lands. The difference excluded in the Pleasanton lands in Alameda County is 4853 acres, and the difference in the two totals as given in the City Engineer's list to the City Attorney for condemnation proceedings is 4241 acres, the difference between this and the list as given in the Advisory Water Committee's report—

The Mayor (Interrupting)—Is how much?

Supervisor Power (Continuing)—4241 acres, and there is a discrepancy of 612 acres. I merely want to say that I am not laying such particular emphasis on this thing, but it seems to me that experts, as we know them as experts, compiled all these figures and worked on them, I don't see why there should be any discrepancy, and if there is any such discrepancy, there may be other discrepancies in this report.

The Mayor—Chief, look at item 20 on page 16, "A portion of the Nussbaumer tract on Laguna Creek, between Pleasanton and Sunol, 509.59 acres".

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—Yes.

The Mayor—Does that have a bearing upon this point?

Mr. O'Shaughnessy—Yes.

The Mayor—Item 21 is 4875 acres of land in the vicinity of Pleasanton, and it says, "The city is to acquire 738.73 acres, which includes all of the land south of the county road Number 2000, amounting to 654 acres, and an additional area of 84.7 acres, which has been selected by the City Engineer to insure the maximum possibility of the entire water-bearing region."

Supervisor Power—Will you read that again?

The Mayor—It is on page 16 of the report, Numbers 20 and 21. Does that make your 654 acres mentioned there?

Supervisor Power—20 and 21?

The Mayor—That is right, 20 and 21.

Supervisor Power—The expert, if the expert is getting up that part of the report, he has taken that on pages 15 and 16 and part of 17, and then he has made a summary of all of this, and in his summary he gives a total of 31,566 acres. The summary is what counts, and it is not those individual items.

Supervisor Hayden—Why not, Supervisor, prepare a summary for our enlightenment?

Supervisor Power—If I was receiving as much as these experts are receiving, I would probably make one and make a correct one. That is your answer.

The Mayor—Is Mr. Moody upstairs, Chief?

Supervisor Murdock—Mr. President, this is a question of fact. There either is a discrepancy or there is not, and to be compelled to find out in just a minute is no way to do. If we could let this matter rest a little while, until somebody who is familiar with the figures could appear before us, they could probably show the discrepancy, and wherein it lay. If there is a discrepancy, it can be cured. But I suggest it would promote speed if we should go on with the work and leave this matter to be reported upon later by someone.

Mr. Steinhart—The discrepancy is not one that can affect the purchase price or value in any way. As a matter of fact, the valuation given is based upon the figures here given, so it does not make any difference whether the discrepancy exists or does not exist, because it would not affect the valuation of the property as indicated in the offer.

Supervisor Hayden—The figures in this report are the figures we are to be bound by.

Supervisor Power—If the land is worth $1000 an acre, we would be out $600,000.

Mr. Steinhart—But the valuation is based upon the figures in that report.

Supervisor McCarthy—I just found twenty acres, Mr. President—item No. 5 of the City Engineer's report provides for the elimination of 1231 acres of the Lake Merced lands, and the Advisory Water Committee provides for the elimination of 1253.69 acres. They have evidently eliminated more land in the Advisory Committee's report than the City Engineer listed in his report to which the Supervisor refers. The chances are a comparison of those two reports will discover wherein the difference lies.

Mr. Steinhart—It can make no difference in the valuation, because the valuation, I repeat, is made upon the experts' figures as contained in this report of the Advisory Water Committee.

The Mayor—There has been a very thorough appraisement made of this whole system. I have been very much impressed with the work the engineers and the City Attorney have done during the past year. There is an evidence, a book showing some of the work they have been doing, and I should like the Sergeant-at-Arms to pass around to the Supervisors that book, an appraisement of the property of the Spring Valley Water Company, showing the value of every inch of pipe, every nozzle, and every piece of property as has been appraised by those engineers.

Supervisor Hayden—I think if Supervisor Power O.K.'s that, we can go on.

Supervisor Power—I don't doubt the work of the City Engineer.

Supervisor Gallagher—I suggest you take the book to Supervisor Hayden and put him in it and close the cover.

The Mayor—In answer to Mr. Walsh's question, the Chief Engineer guarantees the correctness of the report, Mr. Walsh, and any report that will ultimately go to the people will, of course, have to be absolutely correct and bear the approval of the City Engineer as well as of the City Attorney based upon the compilation of data that have been gathered during the past year and a half. If there is a slight discrepancy here, it has probably come about by some changes that have been made from the time that that first report which Mr. Power has was submitted by the City Engineer, and the changes that have come about since the attorneys and engineers have been working on the condemnation proceedings and upon the negotiations which the engineer and the City Attorney have had in this matter. I hope that Supervisor Power feels that the discrepancy of 600 acres can be easily explained by the facts and figures he will get from the City Engineer, because we will get everything with the exception of the lands that are to be excluded—all the balance must come to the city.

Supervisor McCarthy—I think, Mr. President, if I may interrupt you, a comparison of this report of the City Engineer and the report of the Advisory Water Committee will disclose the differences. For instance, I notice item No. 21 here, and 21 provides for the elimination of 5703.15, whereas in the Advisory Water Committee's report it provides for the elimination of 5283, or almost 420 acres—there is a difference right there. Evidently there is a revised recommendation on the part of the engineers. So that the differences are easily explainable, and there are two or three differences of minor importance, three or four acres—it is simply that the City Attorney in one instance has probably recommended an elimination of 5700 acres, and perhaps on the recommendation of the other engineer has concluded to reduce that to 5200 acres.

The Mayor—That is how it will be arrived at, and the City Engineer says he could guarantee the correctness of the figures then to our satisfaction. If Mr. Moody were in the city today, I would have him come down here and explain this, but he is away. Would any member of the Board like to ask any further questions, or discuss this matter further? What is the pleasure of the Board?

Supervisor Hayden—Mr. President, I think if the discussion is ended and the Board is ready for action, we have reached the time when a resolution will be in order, and I desire to present and have read this resolution.

The Mayor—I think we had better have a call of the house, perhaps.

Supervisor Gallagher—I presume Mr. Jennings is committed to this proposition, as he is a member of the Advisory Water Committee, and I would offer no objection to going right ahead.

Supervisor Walsh—I offer no objection at all.

The Mayor—Mr. McLeran asked me to send for him, and I think it will only take a moment when all the members will be in their seats.

The Clerk—While we are waiting for those gentlemen, there are two matters that came up yesterday relating to the water question that might be passed upon.

(The Board passed to the consideration of other matters for a few minutes, at the conclusion of which all members of the Board were in their seats.)

The Mayor—Now proceed to read Supervisor Hayden's resolution.

The Clerk—Supervisor Hayden presents the following resolution:

J. R. No. 1439.

"Resolved, That the Board approve of the recommendation of the Advisory Water Committee in the matter of the purchase of certain property of the Spring Valley Water Company, and that the City Attorney be instructed to prepare such proceedings as may be necessary to carry out said recommendation."

Supervisor Hayden—I move the adoption of the resolution.

Supervisor Hilmer—I second the motion for the adoption of the resolution.

The Mayor—It is moved and seconded that the resolution presented by Supervisor Hayden be adopted.

Supervisor Gallagher—Under suspension of the rules?

Supervisor Hayden—No, in the regular order of business.

Supervisor Gallagher—I think it will have to be under suspension of the rules.

The Mayor—I think it is a rule of the Board, and that it will have to be under suspension of the rules.

Supervisor Vogelsang—I don't know whether that is true or not, Mr. President. This is a matter that has been set by the Board, if your Honor please, sometime ago, to be presented to us on a certain date, and it was so presented on yesterday, and it is the regular order of business and on the calendar of yesterday. This is a recess meeting of yesterday, and it seems to me that that would take it out of the category of an original resolution introduced by a member to be referred to a committee. This is practically a consideration of a report of a committee of this Board. The Advisory Water Committee was created by the Board of Supervisors. The Advisory Water Committee has made a report. The question now is as to whether or not the report of this Advisory Water Committee be approved. I can't imagine how, under—

Supervisor McCarthy—This is a rule.

Supervisor Vogelsang (continuing) —Yes, "A resolution or a bill shall not be submitted to the Board until it shall have been referred to and acted upon by a committee of the Board." That seems to me to be conclusive—a committee of this Board has acted, has made the report.

Supervisor Gallagher—Read that over again, if you please?

Supervisor Vogelsang—"A resolution or a bill shall not be submitted to the Board until it shall have been referred to and acted upon by a committee of the Board."

Supervisor Gallagher—So far as I am concerned, it makes no difference —I would be more considerate than members have been on similar occasions. I will withdraw objection to adopting it in any way you want to.

The Mayor—Are there any objections on the part of any members of the Board to taking up this resolution now? If not, by unanimous consent, the resolution is before the Board for consideration. The question is on the adoption of the resolution, gentlemen. Are you ready for the question?

Supervisor Power—I want to speak on the resolution, Mr. Mayor. I shall not hope to change the vote of any member of this Board. I think all the members of the Board have given due consideration to the matter, and got their minds fully made up as to what they intend to do. I would say for myself that I have given as much attention to it as I think the subject demands, and I have attempted to be fair and attempted to in every way satisfy myself whether or not, if I should vote for the resolution, that I would be acting for the best interests of the citizens of San Francisco. There are two reasons that present themselves to me that might argue in favor of buying the Spring Valley Water Company's property, or submitting the question of its purchase to the people. The first is as to whether or not a situation confronts us so serious that we must take the property as they have priced it. The second question is, whether or not this offer is a better offer than the offer as turned down by the citizens of San Francisco, of $35,000,000, or the offer of $37,000,000 that the members of this Board, or some members of the present Board, sat on, as a matter of principle, and would not give way to the Spring Valley people on a matter of $500,000. If this offer is better than either of those, then I presume all of us should vote for it.

The first reason I have judged for myself, from the answers given by the City Engineer, and have concluded that no such serious situation confronts us that it is absolutely necessary to have the property of the Spring Valley Water Company. The principal argument, as put forth by the Chief Justice and by the City Engineer, is the necessity for water in the outlying districts. The City Engineer has answered that there are means and provision can be made for the residence and the outlying districts without the necessity of purchasing the Spring Valley properties. Mr. Freeman, in his report, has stated that the acquisition of the Spring Valley Water Company's distributing system and reservoirs is not absolutely necessary as a part of the Hetch Hetchy system. Therefore it simmers down, to my way of thinking, to the question of whether or not we should consent, as members of this Board and representatives of the people, to submit a proposition to them that we feel is more or less of a holdup, the acquisition of the property of which would, on their part, be making a sacrifice.

I feel that, as a representative of the people, I must bring here the best possible business judgment that I can possibly use. I would not as an individual consent to a holdup or consent to the sacrifice of a principle.

I contend, Mr. Chairman, that this proposition is at least $3,500,000 higher than the proposition as turned down by the people, and therefore I say, if you submit to them that proposition, insofar as I am concerned, I feel I would not be using the best possible judgment in supporting you in that action.

As I stated before, it has been proven, insofar as the needs of the outlying districts are concerned, that they can be cared for, that the water can be supplied far quicker and perhaps better by the well system than it can by the works of the Spring Valley Water Company. By the purchase of the Spring Valley Water Company's property, it means the building of a pipe system, and that is going to take a lot longer, I think, than the boring of the wells and connecting up of the same. Furthermore, the Chief Engineer has admitted, even if we dig it, or the people decide to buy it, it would cost $3,000,000 to bring in the additional water that so much argument is made about, from Calaveras, and $3,000,000 more for extensions of pipes in the outlying districts. That is a total of $6,000,000, which necessarily does not enter into the figure of $34,500,000.

I would say, insofar as my judgment is concerned, and as I answered Supervisor Gallagher earlier this afternoon, that if the entire property as owned by the Spring Valley people was submitted, and we had every bit of property and land that they have, I think it would be a far better business proposition than the submitting of an offer of $34,500,000 with certain lands excluded. For myself, I merely want to say in conclusion that I cannot consistently, as a member of this Board, vote to support the resolution.

Supervisor Murdock—Mr. President: I wish to say but a few words. I cannot help saying that I think that if this proposition is not submitted to the people, it will be one of the greatest mistakes this Board has ever made, and if it is not adopted by the people when submitted to them, I believe it to be an equally great mistake. The citizens of San Francisco have made some mistakes of this kind before. The fact that they have made two, that is, that the people have made at least one and the Supervisors two, I think is not to be denied. But the question before us now is the proposition presented to us. Some man might say I could have bought a certain corner lot last year for $10,000, and I didn't do it, and if now the question is shall I pay $12,000 for it, I should not do it because last year I could have bought it for $10,000. In fact, it would all depend upon the income I could get upon the property as to whether I should buy it now at $12,000.

I think this report is very admirable and very well placed, and one of the most encouraging things to me is the prooof that seems to be brought forward that this would be a paying proposition from the first, and what we would save on the property is matter of small importance, if it is going to be profitable, and if, in addition to the first great requirement of supplying the water, the lack of which is such a drawback to the city, is the fact that while we are accomplishing that, we are at the same time getting more money, and will be able from the proceeds of it to pay the bonds and pay for the redemption of it, so that there will be no more increased taxation to the people of the city, and with all that conceded, I can't help feeling that, when the matter is presented to the citizens, as we will be able to present it, that they will see that it is a good proposition for San Francisco, which certainly cannot be held back as it has been, and that is the greatest reason for our lack of growth, and it is the most direct way of stating it. We are not so well assured that water might come from another source for a temporary use, and from my point of view, I think the report is, I repeat, admirable, and I have checked those things off that we could put forcibly to the people in going before them on the proposition, and I am surprised to find that there are at least twelve points that seem to me to be of first importance, and I cannot help feeling that we ought at least not to deny the people the opportunity of purchasing, if they see fit to do so. And for one, I feel that if it is submitted to the people, I shall take a great deal of satisfaction in doing everything I can in trying to state before the people the benefits that will accrue to the city from the acquisition of these properties.

Supervisor Deasy—Mr. President, as a member of the previous Board, I happened to be on the Board that submitted the proposition to the people at the time that the purchase price was $35,000,000. The thing was turned down by the people, and now we have this proposition before us, and I can't get it through my mind as yet why we should give up 5000 acres of land for a half million dollars, when the other proposition was turned down by the people as a whole. Mr. O'Shaughnessy states that the outlying district can be supplied by these wells, and it certainly can be supplied much more quickly than if we take over the Spring Valley system. When this meeting was held at the conference, and at that time it was voted to submit the proposition for $34,500,000 to the Board, I voted against it, and that is the way I am going to vote today.

Supervisor Hayden—I would like to ask the Supervisor, Mr. President, who made some reference to an offer of $35,000,000 during the former Board, and also to the rejecting of the offer of $35,000,000—I presume you meant the one of 1910?

Supervisor Deasy—Yes.

Supervisor Hayden—Do you mean that you recommended the purchase of that property at that time at that figure?

Supervisor Deasy—Yes.

Supervisor Hayden—You did not do anything of the kind. It is a matter of record. Supervisor Murdock introduced the resolution on January 10, 1910, recommending to the people the purchase of the Spring Valley properties for $35,000,000, and it was refused passage by three members of this present Board—Deasy, Nelson and Walsh—and was recommended by four members of this present Board—Hayden, Hocks, Bancroft and Murdock—that is the record.

Supervisor Deasy—Whatever was done at that time, the people turned down the proposition of $35,000,000, and, I believe the city is bonded enough and that they will turn down this.

Supervisor Hayden—But you did not recommend it—I wanted to get you straight on that.

Supervisor Deasy—All right.

Supervisor Walsh—I want to say a few words in regard to the resolution, Mr. President. I will state to you, Mr. President, and also the gentlemen of the Advisory Water Committee and the gentlemen of the Board, the Chief Engineer and City Attorney, that I believe that the committee that was appointed by this Board to make the best bargain they possibly could to acquire this proposition have made as good a bargain as they could on behalf of the people they represent, and they represent as stockholders every man, woman and child in the City and County of San Francisco. I have no doubt whatever that they have made as good a bargain, I say, as they possibly could. And in making that bargain, I really believe, and I believe you gentlemen here believe it, too, that the Spring Valley Water Company's Committee made as good a bargain as they possibly could for their stockholders. We do know, and it can't be disptued by any member of this Board, or anybody else, that the people of the outlying districts, Ingleside, over on Scotch Hill, and other places of the city, have been clamoring for water for a number of years—I don't really know how long. And I do know that the Spring Valley Water Company positively declined to make any extensions, even to put in hyrants for us. We understand, too, that there is no law to compel them to do so.

Now, the Chief Engineer states that these wells that he is boring, not all of them will produce water purified enough for drinking purposes. It may be good for washing and also good for boiler purposes, but not for drinking purposes will it be the best kind of water, except in one district and that is the Sunset. Now are you going to deprive those people from good water to drink? The position that I hold in this matter at this time is that I am willing to submit the proposition to the people and let them take a vote on it. And I want to tell you that I will not prevent any matter being submitted to the people for them to take a vote upon it, and I will not say this, either, that the people made mistakes when they cast their vote. This is the position that we are all in, both for men and measures: As a man stated not very long ago, and I always thought that he was kind of loose in the brain, but this is one thing he did say, and say truthfully: "I am a gambler one day in the year, especially in election years. I endeavor to pick the best man by voting for that man, but sometimes I lose." And I won't say that the people, when they did vote down those propositions, made a mistake. I say they gambled on the best proposition for them, and it is not for us to say whether they made a mistake or not. It was their business. And on this occasion, I am willing to submit it to the people, and then it is up to them to say whether they will accept it or reject it—any proposition, I don't care whether it is only a resolution. I am willing to submit to the judgment of the people just the same as I do on election day. If they defeat me, all right, I won't say they made a mistake, because they gambled and tried to get the best man.

That is the position I hold in regard to these matters, Mr. President—let the people be the judges on it. And if the people think that the bargain is not a good one, they will turn it down. If the people think the bargain is a good one, they will vote for it accordingly, and then it is up to the officials to carry it out. We are practically the custodians of their affairs. We are the directors of this big corporation. And it is for us, not to mistrust our stockholders, but it is for us to submit the matter to our stockholders and let the stockholders be the judges of what is good and what is bad for them, and then, if the stockholders direct us, as officials, what to do, it is our duty to do it and to do it right for them and to the best of our judgment. And at this time I am one of those who will not oppose referring it to the people, and letting them have a vote on it, and let them say whether the bargain is a good one or a bad one.

Supervisors Take Action on Various Matters of Municipal Interest

Owing to the intervention of a public holiday (election day), matters passed for printing the week previous could not be finally acted upon, because of lack of sufficient publication, with the exception of an ordinance directing the Board of Public Works to improve certain streets, for which work $220,000 was appropriated. The streets affected are:

Civic Center, 14 blocks; Fillmore street, 5 blocks; Third street, 8 blocks; Kentucky street, 21 blocks; Eleventh street, 5 blocks; Drumm street, 3 blocks; Belden place, 1 block; Clay street, Drumm street to Embarcadero, 1 block; Ellis street, Larkin to Van Ness avenue, 2 blocks; Ellis street, Steiner to Scott streets, 2 blocks; California street, Presidio to Parker avenues, 5 blocks; Union street, Octavia to Steiner streets, 6 blocks; Folsom street, 1 block; Tenth street, between Market and Division streets, 6 blocks.

Bills Passed to Print.

Ordinances were passed for printing as follows:

Making appropriations of $14,395 for plumbing at the Polytechnic High School; $5056 additional for the Visitacion Valley sewer; $1500 for the equipment of the Central Fire Alarm Station; $2222 additional for concrete trolley poles, and $3000 for expenses of rate litigation.

Ordering the improvement of the roadway of Sloat boulevard for its entire length by the construction of an asphalt pavement.

Ordering the unsold portion of the City Hall, Municipal Street Railway and water bonds to be placed on sale at the Treasurer's office.

Resolutions Adopted.

The Clerk was directed to advertise that bids would be received on November 30 for the sale of $550,000 Library bonds. These may be sold at such discount as will net 4½ per cent interest. The bonds to be offered are a part of the 3½ per cent issue of 1904.

March 9, 1915, was fixed as the date for holding a special election to amend the charter.

The Mayor was authorized to sell certain houses on land acquired for the Twin Peaks tunnel.

Permits to hold street carnivals were granted to the Stockton Street and Broadway Merchants' Association, to the Polk and Larkin Streets District Association, and to the Sunset Improvement Club. It was expressly provided that all gambling and like devices should be eliminated.

Miscellaneous Matters.

The Publicity Committee was directed to give immediate consideration to the matter of extending the boundaries of the city southward, and to invite the residents of San Mateo county to co-operate in respect thereto.

Appeals from the Board of Public Works were denied in the matter of the improvement of Twentieth street, between De Haro and Rhode Island streets, and the improvement of Twenty-ninth avenue, between California and Clement streets.

It was determined that there should be a celebration of the completion of the Stockton Street tunnel, the date to be fixed by the Board of Public Works.

The Mayor was authorized to appoint a committee to devise some scheme for old age pensions for superannuated city employes.

The Dreamland Club was granted a boxing permit.

The Fire Commission was requested to report on the advisability of using salt water from the high-pressure water mains for street and sewer flushing.

The resolution changing grades on Chestnut street was rescinded.

The design for an official badge for the Supervisors was adopted.

It was declared to be the policy of the Board that no more transfers should be made from the interest account of the Stockton street assessment fund, and that the same be kept intact for the security of any bonds that may be issued.

Roberts, 2200 Great Highway; George Hart, Forty-ninth avenue and Irving street; Steimpke Hall, Octavia, between Union and Green streets, and Mary Calamaro, 257 Arkansas street, in place of 1501 Kentucky street.

PROGRESS ON SAN BRUNO AVENUE.

The City Engineer has reported that all right of way difficulties on San Bruno avenue from the junction of Railroad avenue to the county line have been successfully overcome, and that a thoroughfare 85 feet in width, graded, sewered and paved with asphalt will result in the near future, giving an outlet from the industrial centers along the bay front to those of northern San Mateo county. Legal obstacles which have delayed the work on San Bruno avenue, near Silver, have finally been swept aside and contracts for grading and paving of San Bruno avenue from Dwight street south and between Oakdale and Silver avenues have been let and the work has been started by the contractors. Unless weather conditions preclude, San Bruno avenue from Army street to the county line will be a complete, smooth and well-paved avenue by the middle of January.

TELEPHONE LITIGATION MAY BE SETTLED.

The Board of Supervisors, at its meeting on Monday, started proceedings which may lead to the settlement of the litigation pending concerning the consolidation of the Pacific and Home Telephone Companies. The committees on Public Utilities and Telephones and Telephone Rates submitted the following report:

San Francisco, November 9, 1914.

Your Committee on Public Utilities and your Committee on Telephones and Rates have long had under consideration the settlement and compromise of the existing litigation between the city and the telephone companies.

Your committees have given the matter careful and painstaking consideration and have concluded that it is vastly to the benefit of the city to compromise this legislation along the lines suggested in the accompanying resolution. This settlement provides additional revenue to the city in the sum of $6,000 per month, which will increase year by year so that during the remaining life of the Home franchise the city will receive, for the privilege granted in this settlement, approximately $2,500,000, and this without altering the telephone situation in this city.

The proposed settlement is to be approved by the State Railroad Commission, as were similar settlements made with the cities of Oakland and Berkeley.

The city maintains unimpaired her right (1) to acquire the city plant of the Pacific States Telephone and Telegraph Company by voluntary purchase or by condemnation; (2) to award a franchise to a competing company; (3) to construct, maintain and operate a system of her own.

It must be borne in mind that the Home franchise contained a provision that a transfer thereof might be made with the consent of the Board of Supervisors. If this consent be now given, upon the terms proposed, the city's revenues will be vastly benefited and the telephone situation in San Francisco will remain unchanged.

Respectfully submitted,

ALEXANDER T. VOGELSANG,
FRED L. HILMER,
J. EMMET HAYDEN,
PAUL BANCROFT,
Public Utilities Committee;
JAMES E. POWER,
OSCAR HOCKS,
FRED L. HILMER,
Telephones and Rates Committee.

The following resolution was thereupon adopted:

Whereas, The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company now owns, maintains and operates a telephone system in the City and County of San Francisco under and by virtue of a franchise granted to its predecessor in interest by Order No. 2186 of the Board of Supervisors, approved March 24, 1890; and

Whereas, On the 3rd day of October, 1906, by Ordinance No. 75 (New Series), a franchise was granted to the Home Telephone Company of San Francisco to construct, maintain and operate a telephone system in the City and County of San Francisco; and

Whereas, The performance of the conditions of the franchise to the Home Telephone Company of San Francisco is secured by a bond in the amount of $250,000; and

Whereas, On the 15th day of March, 1912, the Bay Cities Home Telephone Company sold and transferred to the Home Long Distance Telephone Company and on said date the Home Long Distance Telephone Company transferred the same to the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company of San Francisco all its telephone plant and property in said city and county except the franchise of said Home Telephone Company of San Francisco; and

Whereas, There is now pending on appeal in the Supreme Court of the State of California an action entitled City and County of San Francisco vs. Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company, Bay Cities Home Telephone Company, Home Long Distance Telephone Company et al., wherein and whereby it is sought to have set aside the sale and transfer of property heretofore made as aforesaid; and

Whereas, The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company has offered in compromise of said litigation and in consideration of receiving from the City and County of San Francisco consent to a transfer of the said Home Telephone franchise to said Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company to pay to the City and County of San Francisco 2 per cent of its gross receipts annually from the telephone business in said city and county as provided in said franchise and to comply with the other conditions therein specified; and

Whereas, It is to the best interests of the people of this city and county that this litigation should be compromised upon terms favorable to and protecting their interests; and

Whereas, Said proposed compromise will add to the revenues of the city approximately $75,000 per year; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the City Attorney be and he hereby is authorized and directed to enter into negotiations with said Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company and said Bay Cities Home Telephone Company looking to compromising and settling the pending litigation upon the following terms, viz.:

1st. The City and County of San Francisco to consent to the sale and transfer by the Bay Cities Home Telephone Company to the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company of the franchise granted by Ordinance No. 75 (New Series), as aforesaid:

2nd. The City and County of San Francisco to dismiss the appeal heretofore taken in the above entitled case and to consent to a release of the bond filed by the Bay Cities Home Telephone Company under said franchise.

3rd. The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company to agree to accept said Home Telephone franchise and the conditions thereof, especially those relating to the payment to the City and County of San Francisco of an amount equal to 2 per cent of its gross receipts annually.

4th. The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company to furnish for municipal use, free of charge, such telephones as may be required by order of the Board of Supervisors, not exceeding 1,000 in number, and two conduits for the municipal fire and police telegraph service.

5th. The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company to file with such written acceptance a bond running to the City and County of San Francisco in the penal sum of $250,000, conditioned on the faithful performance of the terms of said franchise.

6th. The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company to agree that consent to such transfer shall in no wise be deemed a waiver or abridgement of the rights and powers of the City and County. (a) to acquire at any time hereafter the physical properties and franchises of said Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company situated in this city and county by voluntary purchase or by proceedings in condemnation; (b) to at any time grant, upon such terms as may be proper and lawful, a telephone franchise to any competing company; (c) to establish, construct and operate a competing municipally owned telephone system.

Be it further

Resolved, That if the foregoing terms and conditions shall be accepted by the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company the City Attorney be and he is hereby further authorized and directed to take the necessary and proper proceedings before the Railroad Commission to secure their approval of said transfer of franchise upon conditions stated; and be it further

Resolved, That the City Attorney prepare and submit to this Board an ordinance formally authorizing the transfer of such franchise and prescribing all necessary conditions to insure the faithful performance of the said terms of such transfer by the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company.

EXAMINATION FOR COURT STENOGRAPHERS.

An examination of applicants for positions as court stenographers will be held Saturday afternoon, December 12, 1914, at 1:30 o'clock, in the Mission High School building, Eighteenth and Dolores streets.

The subjects of the examination and their relative weights on a scale of 100 are: Shorthand writing, 68; typewriting, 2; experience, 30.

Each subject will be marked on a scale of 100. The product of the total credits awarded on a subject and the weight of the subject will constitute the rating on that subject. By dividing the sum of the ratings by the sum of the relative weights the general average percentage is ascertained.

Shorthand Writing—To determine the qualifications of competitors in shorthand writing, tests will be given at a rate of about 150 words a minute. . In the transcription of shorthand notes, form, spelling and punctuation will be considered. Under this subject applicants will also be examined as to their ability to read back their shorthand notes to the examiners quickly and correctly.

Typewriting—Competitiors will be required to copy an exercise containing about 240 words. For each word omitted, added or substituted, one credit will be deducted. For each minute over ten minutes taken in copying such exercise, three-fourths of one credit will be deducted. For each other inaccuracy one-half of one credit will be deducted.

Experience—For satisfactory proof of faithful employment as a court stenographer or as a stenographer in the general reporting business, credit will be given as follows: Five years, 100 credits; four years, 85; three years, 65; two years, 50, and one year, 25.

Each competitor must provide himself with pen or pencil and paper for making shorthand notes. Each competitor must also furnish his own typewriter, which must be delivered at the Mission High School building, properly tagged, between the hours of 9 a. m. and 12 m., on Saturday, December 12, 1914.

PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION NOTES.

The largest of the many exhibits thus far received on the grounds of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition is that of the United States Steel Products Company. This exhibit has been given three-quarters of an acre of space at the south end of the Palace of Mines and Metallurgy and the work of installation has begun. The exhibit consists in large part of big models of factories and mills properly lighted with modern hygienic appliances. Wax models also will be added to demonstrate proper hygiene and general welfare of workmen.

* * *

Commissioner-General W. D. Egilbert of California has appointed James L. Farmer of New York as chief of exhibits of the California state exhibit at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition. The 58 California counties are preparing the exhibits for the California building, which is the largest state building ever erected at any exposition. The California building will be the exposition's host building and will be dedicated about the middle of November.

* * *

As a small hint of what the visitor to the Panama-Pacific International Exposition in 1915 may expect in landscape gardening, the setting out of the grounds of 704,000 golden flowering plants in the last three weeks of October may be considered. These are a small part of the great scheme that is being followed.

* * *

Louisiana's site on the grounds of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition was dedicated on October 22. Justin F. Denechand, commissioner of immigration of Louisiana and executive commissioner from that state to the exposition, arrived to represent his state. A luncheon was given in his honor by the president and directors of the exposition at the Palace Hotel and this was followed by a review of troops at the Presidio and the ceremonies on the Louisiana site. He said New Orleans and his state were good losers and would support the 1915 exposition in every way.

* * *

There are 3752 men and women actually employed on the work of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition either on the grounds or in the down town office building. There are employed on the exhibit palaces, 723; on buildings of the states and nations, 1026; on concession buildings, 646; building exhibit booths, 138; clearing grounds, 378; electricians, 112; firemen, 74; guards, 119; sculptors, 40; gardeners, 98; office employes, 298.

* * *

Norway will dedicate a site and break ground for a Norwegian pavilion on the grounds of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition on October 31. Other nations have used silver and gold spades in the formal ground breaking, but Norway will use two shovels of special significance, having a part in Viking romance. One is an ide shovel of the "paddle" type, made of wood from the ship "Victoria", of the Sir John Ross Arctic expedition. The wood is held together by thongs and the blade is tipped with whalebone. Walrus tusks form a part of the handholds. The other shovel is one brought through the Golden Gate by Captain Roald Amundsen, discoverer of the Northwest passage and the south pole. It was a part of the "Gjoa", which now rests in Golden Gate Park.

* * *

The state buildings now under construction on the grounds of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition represent a cost of $1,200,000. The cost represented by the foreign pavilions now in course of construction is $1,000,000. These figures are exclusive of the costs of interior fittings and furnishings, landscape gardening, installing of exhibits and maintenance. The states most recently taking steps to construct buildings are Alabama and Nebraska. The nation starting a pavilion most recently is Switzerland.

Captain Asher Carter Baker, U. S. N. (retired), director of exhibits of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, has left San Francisco for Europe, where he goes as a special commissioner of the exposition to assist European exhibitors in the final preparation of 1915 exhibits for shipment and display. No nation participating has changed exhibit plans because of the war.

* * *

Five hundred tons of material for the Japanese pavilion at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition arrived on October 23 from Yokohama. The structure was built in Japan and then "knocked down" to be brought to San Francisco in parts.

The Discussion Before the Board of Supervisors Concerning the Purchase of Spring Valley Water Properties

This is the third installment of discussion before the Board of Supervisors concerning the acquisition of the water properties of the Spring Valley Water Company, and is a transcription of the shorthand notes taken at the meetings of said Board on September 28th and 29th. This completes the publication.

Supervisor Hocks—In regard to Supervisor Deasy making the remark which was answered by Supervisor Hayden, I want to inform this Board that the matter was proposed to the people by the Taylor administration, and the election was fixed to be held in the month of January, 1910. The Taylor administration, and Supervisor Murphy was sitting with us at that time, were present and submitted the matter to the people for $35,000,000. The first meeting we had under the McCarthy administration, Supervisor Murdock introduced the resolution offering to purchase the Spring Valley properties for $35,000,000. Mayor McCarthy, who was just installed in office, was opposed to the passage of the $35,000,000 purchase, and stated so openly in the Board, and it was defeated, I believe, by 1250 votes. A few months later, or probably the end of that year, Supervisor Walsh and myself were members of the Public Utilities Committee at that time, and we had a meeting in the Mayor's office in the Crocker Building, discussing the purchase of the Spring Valley, and I stated at that time, "Your Honor, it is practically your fault that we did not get Spring Valley at that time for $35,000,000. And now the gentlemen are here asking a price of $40,000,000 or $42,000,000" which they wanted at that time—Captain Payson and Mr. Anderson.

Supervisor Walsh—They did not set any price.

Supervisor Hocks—But they wanted a higher price than $35,000,000. We have now got a proposition of $34,500,000, and I hope this time the Board will see the necessity.

Supervisor Walsh—The reason that I opposed it then, and if the same reason confronted me I would oppose it now, was that all the lands you are trying to exclude, both the Pleasanton lands and the Beard Rancho, were under a cloud, the title, and it was in the Supreme Court at the time, and we were going to buy a big lawsuit if we bought it. And if the same thing confronted us now I would oppose it just as hard and as diligently as I did then. Because lawsuits are costly, we have our rate suits in the courts now, until it amounts to two millions of dollars impounded, and why don't they come to some termination? If we bought at that time, not only would the Lilienthal estate over there in the Pleasanton Valley, but the Beard estate also could keep the city in court for the next forty years. That is the reason I opposed it. Why, Mr. Chairman, last Saturday was the Inland Water Ways Convention at Stockton, and one gentleman from Merced there stated that Mill & Lux kept a matter in court for about fifteen years, and the farmers paid the attorney $30,000 for his fee, and the attorney has at this time $300,000 in notes to defend the farmers around Merced in that suit. That would be the same thing with San Francisco in buying a lawsuit at that time. And now that I understand, by the Advisory Water Committee, that the deeds are clear, the road is clear, there is no impediment in the way, for that reason I am willing to submit it to the people, because I believe in submitting a matter of this kind to the people.

Supervisor Hayden—I would like to ask the Supervisor, just as a matter of friendly exchange of questions, if at the time of the $35,000,000 proposition, as we understood it, in 1910, you spoke about the litigation that was pending at that time?

Supervisor Walsh—Yes.

Supervisor Hayden—The advice we received today from the City Attorney and the City Engineer and from the Advisory Water Committee, is that it cost nearly $2,000,000 to clear up the litigation.

Supervisor Walsh—Yes.

Supervisor Hayden—Which would have made the calulation at that time $37,000,000. So you see we are not very far off, Mr. President. It really justifies the position the Advisory Water Committee is taking, and justifies this Board in giving it their recommendation, in comparison with what was really a $37,000,000 valuation in 1910.

Supervisor Walsh—I agree with that, too, and I also agree and state to this Board that the Spring Valley Water Company only owned at that time 83,000 acres, and since then I understand they have acquired acreage to the amount of, I think, 103,000, or thereabouts—I don't know how much it is exactly. That is the reason that I objected to it at that time, and I am certainly willing at this time to submit it to the people. That is the reason I made the point here a little while ago that I wanted to have the corrected report to go before the people on, that the people will not say that they did not get the correct report. And before I go back to the proposition, if it is submitted, I want to have the correct report from the Engineer's office, in order that the people of San Francisco may read it just the same as I do, and all I have got and all the voter would have would be the City Engineer's report and he is a man of practical knowledge of those things. I want the people of San Francisco to be supplied with the same information that I am getting here today.

Supervisor Nolan—Were the suits, Supervisor Hayden and Supervisor Walsh, suits that involved the entire properties in the event of their purchase some years back?

The Mayor—No.

Supervisor Gallagher—Will the Clerk read the resolution of Supervisor Hayden again?

The Clerk—"Resolved, That the Board approve of the recommendation of the Advisory Water Committee in the matter of the purchase of certain property of the Spring Valley Water Company, and that the City Attorney be instructed to prepare such proceedings as may be necessary to carry out said recommendation."

Supervisor Gallagher—Mr. Chairman, some of the members of this Board today, in voting for that resolution, are going to do something they are pretty well noted for—they are going to do a somersault. However, I do not propose to do that. I propose to stand by whatever declaration my previous votes in this Board have indicated on this subject, not only now but in the past.

I want to say to you that the position taken by Supervisor Walsh, that he is perfectly willing to submit any proposition to the people, is fundamentally correct. But Supervisor Walsh, as well as every other Supervisor here, must make up his mind that when he was elected to this office there was put in his trust matters of vital interest to the people, and that when he submits this offer to the people, when he votes in favor of a resolution so submitting it, he must be prepared to do one of two things, to go before the people and say, "I stand for this as one of your trusted officials and one of your stockholders," or, "I am against it." And why. It would be a perfectly easy proposition for this Board of Supervisors to simply shove the thing along to the people, to sit quiet and say, "There it is. Do as you please with it." We could have settled many troublesome questions that way. But your responsibility began with your consideration of this, and ends with its submission to the people, with or without your approval. I don't propose that this offer shall go to the people unless I know exactly in my own mind that I would be willing to go before the people and say to them, "I approve it now as I approved it in the Board, and I will never have any reason to change my view on it, and I believe the people ought to adopt it."

I am not going for one moment to question the sincerity of any of the men who have spoken to us on this question. It is rather the wrong place to indulge in flattery, but I have faith in your City Engineer, I believe in his integrity, I have a greater faith, perhaps, in his sincerity. And that same statement can be extended to the chairman of this Advisory Water Committee, and to all of its members, as far as I am concerned, yourself, Mr. Chairman, City Attorney Long, Supervisor Jennings, and so on. But it does not mean that, because I have faith in them, and because I believe they are honest men—it does not mean, I say, that I am not honestly differing with them. I say frankly to you, this question of the purchase of the Spring Valley properties is not a question of politics, and politics should not be played on or about it. And no member of this Board is faithful to his trust if he does not approach this problem in the spirit of a desire to do the best he can under the circumstances for the people.

So that jockeying for position, so that framing resolutions to get credit, so that being talked to on the outside as to how you will vote upon this thing, concerns me not a bit at this time. There is one thing in all of this that you can't get away from, and that is this: First of all, the people of San Francisco, tired out by constant haggling, tired out by constant actions of the Spring Valley Water Company, directed you to do one thing, and up to this moment that is all you have been directed to do, and that was, build, construct and bring into San Francisco a municipal water supply. Further than that, the people have never given you any power.

Now, the record of this thing is illuminating, very, very much so. Should we today do the thing some of us said we would not do, and that is, accept the price that Spring Valley says is right, rather than the price that we think is right?

If I make any mistake here, I wish to be interrupted. But I submit right now that I am correctly informing this Board, that the top price, or rather, the price set upon that property by your City Engineer—as it stands today before this Board, with every item included, and with every item excluded, is $32,000,000 or a little above—some odd hundred thousands of dollars. And the price proposed to be paid for it is $34,500,000, with some additions, amounting, I presume, to approximately $35,000,000.

Right here I ought to stop, I think, long enough to say this: that I have stood for the purchase of this property at $35,000,000, and was glad to stand for it, and believe that every man, regardless of what reasons he gives now or what reasons he gave then, who opposed it and prevailed upon the people to not accept it made a tremendous mistake, and a mistake that has proven today to cost the people of San Francisco millions and millions of dollars. If there is any consolation in the thought that they can justify the position they took at that time by any stretch of words, as to titles and other things, they can have it. So far as I am concerned, I am afraid that they shall always have to take the responsibility of having caused the people of San Francisco to spend a good deal more for this plant than we really ought to have to pay for it. At the meeting of this Board, held on—I haven't the date of the meeting, but I have the resolution. Do you know the date of this meeting?

The Clerk—February 17th, I think it was.

Supervisor Gallagher—In the month of February, 1913, we find this in the records of the Board: "Special order of business. Spring Valley purchase. Motion. Supervisor Bancroft moved the suspension of the rules and the consideration of the following matters: Spring Valley Water Company declines city's offer. The following matters were presented by his Honor the Mayor and read by the Clerk. Spring Valley Water Company declines city's offer and consenting to arbitration." And then there is included a letter from the Spring Valley Water Company submitted by the Mayor, followed by several communications between the Mayor and the company. Thereafter, at a following meeting, there was submitted a resolution by Supervisor Bancroft, as follows: "Resolved, That the City Attorney be and is hereby directed, for and on behalf of the City and County of San Francisco," and so on—that is the condemnation resolution. And then Supervisor McCarthy's substitute is as follows: "Whereas, after one year's negotiations with the Spring Valley Water Company, the city Advisory Water Committee has been unable to secure a fair offer for the properties of the Spring Valley Water Company, despite the fact that the committee's last offer aggregated in the minimum at least $42,125,000; and whereas, the Spring Valley Water Company has peremptorily terminated negotiations with the city by accepting the resignation of its negotiating committee and by subsequently arbitrarily repudiating, in its refusal to accept the State Board of Railroad Commissioners, its offer to arbitrate the value of its properties before a fair and impartial board; therefore, be it Resolved, That the City Attorney is hereby instructed to furnish the Board of Supervisors at the earliest possible moment the form of procedure to be followed in condemnation proceedings for the acquisition of such holdings," and so on, "of the Spring Valley Water Company." Now, that resolution, at a former meeting, or resolutions similar, tied by this Board on a nine to nine vote, and I could wish for nothing more today, and I have never wished it before, probably I could only wish it for today, than that some of those members who stood up under the guns of criticism, who took every shot that was leveled at them from every quarter, stood absolutely stiff on this proposition; the price for Spring Valley will have to be fair to the people of San Francisco, or condemnation must proceed. I am satisfied that the resolution presented by Supervisor Hayden would not be adopted, as it does not deserve to be. The very opening remarks of the Chief Justice in presenting this matter were what? There is no desire to rush matters, he said. And right there, whether he knew it or not, he struck the crux of the whole situation. What is there imperative in now presenting to the people and recommending to them the purchase of this property at a price admittedly, without question or reserve, two and a half million dollars above what our engineer really thinks it is worth? What is there in this situation today different from a year ago, if you will, that permits us to say we should stop where we are, we should let the condemnation proceedings lie? Is it the outlying districts? If it is, then let me call the attention of the Chief Justice to this fact: that there are nearly 10,000 flats in San Francisco that are idle, that have water. And that is room for approximately 40,000 people.

The Chief Justice says, further, there are just two things to do, buy this property or go ahead and construct our municipal system. I would answer that by saying there are three things to do: buy, construct, or wait, or construct and wait. You have plenty of work to do in the Hetch Hetchy mountains, plenty of work, before you need think, if you want to, of the necessity of taking over this supply.

This is a fact that cannot be disputed and will not be disputed by any man who knows the water situation: If this city and county desired tomorrow, it can provide nearly every citizen who wants water with water, and it can provide it through its own pipes—that is, it would not provide it tomorrow, but could commence tomorrow.

Now, what is the situation that confronts the people? Are we attempting to make them so desperate in this Spring Valley situation that, perforce, they must take this property, whether they like it or not? I don't think so. I don't think so, and I think I am able to prove that. The people in these outlying districts have proven and the district vote on the question of the purchase of this matter before, would indicate very clearly that those people are perfectly willing to wait, if necessary, until this price reaches what we consider is a real fair price, and then purchase the plant, and they are willing to wait for water, if they have to, and I think that would be the expression you could take from them—they are willing to wait for water, if they have to, rather than to have the city held up and made to deliver on the price that Spring Valley says it must have.

You haven't got a price from Spring Valley. What you have got here is what they say they will sell for—take it or leave it. Your offer to the Spring Valley Water Company, authorized by the supervisors in the Mayor's office, was along this line, if you will remember: it was that this offer would be made with the understanding that above that price they would not go, but as much lower than that price as we could get, we would go. And we find ourselves today in this situation, that the price we set in the Mayor's office as the very highest price that we would make, is the price we are asked to recommend to the people. By the way, that $2,400,000 additional that we pay for this plant is interest on $45,000,000 at 5% for a period of one year. And further than that, I would like to see somebody tell me that, with the expenditure that will be needed to bring enough water to the people of San Francisco, over and above the 40,000,000 gallons, that there will not be, with that expenditure, a reduction in the amount of money earned at least for that year and for some time afterwards by the companies or by the properties, even if we own it. There isn't any question about that.

Now, if the need for water in this city is pressing on you so heavily that you are forced to do one of two things, either buy this plant at a price which is not agreeable to us, but which apparently must be agreeable because the company insists upon it—and I don't dispute their right to ask what they think their property is worth. I don't dispute their right to ask for it, but I do dispute their right to tell me as a legislator of this city and county that I have got to pay their price. That is what I dispute, and that is what I do not propose to stand for. You could, if you wanted to, direct your attention to this water problem sincerely, and could relieve every citizen now clamoring for water, and many more to come—you could offer to purchase the Calaveras end of their system. You may as well admit now that you want to pay $34,500,000 for this property, and you can't bring in to San Francisco from the Calaveras end of it a drop of water without the expenditure of nearly $5,000,000. That ought to be said, and frankly said, and it won't be disputed—I don't think it will be disputed even by the City Engineer.

Now, here is what you expect us to do. You expect us to ask the people of San Francisco to approve a proposition to pay $34,500,000 for a property which was offered to them for $35,000,000, with approximately 31,000 acres of land taken out of it. The supervisor here said something about buying a lot. I believe he said that, because he wanted to buy a lot, and because he could not get it for $10,000 now while he could a year ago, that is no reason, if he wanted it badly enough, why he should not pay $12,000 now. But if he didn't want it so bad that he absolutely and positively and imperatively had to have it, he would not buy it, would he, at that advanced price?

This is the situation at this moment, so far as the Spring Valley water properties are concerned. The City Attorney says the city wants to secure a water system, not real estate, and I believe he is absolutely right. I don't care how much of their land you take out with propriety and with safety, so long, however, as you adopt this principle in doing it, that if there be five or ten or fifteen thousand acres of Pleasanton lands, or other lands, out of the reckoning, you make a corresponding deduction in the price of the property. Isn't it fair and isn't it honest, isn't it just to presume that there should be a corresponding reduction in the price to the people? Who ever heard of the City and County of San Francisco, or anybody else, buying, offering, for instance, $5,000,000 for land in the Civic Center, and then permitting the fellow to take out five or ten lots in there and then giving him the $5,000,000 for what is left? That is not business; you know it is not. The City Attorney says there is a wide difference between our experts and those of the Spring Valley Water Company. Why, of course there is. And whenever have they agreed, and when will they agree? Our experts on the one hand, honest men, paid to do a public duty, giving advice which they consider a fair or a valuation which they consider fair, and on the other hand, an appointee paid by the company, with instructions to make that price to look as big as possible and to justify it, no mater how—why, of course, they will disagree.

I want to point out this very important fact in connection with this Spring Valley matter: this is the first time in the history, as I understand it, of the City of San Francisco, that we have had a real appraisement of this property. This is the first time that we have been able to say, with an expert's opinion behind us, what we think it is worth. This is the first time we have been able to get out of the dark and into the light, and to give us as mere laymen what we think the land is worth. And it being the first time, our City Engineer tells us thirty-two millions—thirty-two millions, crowded down, he says, I will admit, to the point that he could crowd it, and the other people say they will give it to you for $34,500,000. Well, now, as between those two things, where do we find ourselves? Must we go to the people and say to them, "You have got to buy this property and you have got to buy it now?" Is our City Attorney ready to say now that if he goes to court, he is sure that the judges will render a verdict way in excess of this price? Is he prepared to say that? Is he prepared to guess at it? He is prepared to say "I think" or "Perhaps the court may do this." But he does not know—he does not know, and I think he is too wise a man, and so is our City Engineer, to say that they are willing to go into court with their minds made up that, with their expert knowledge and advice on this problem, that their expertness will be knocked so far that we ourselves will think we made a mistake in employing them. Not at all. I am going to hang to them and I am going to have faith in them and I am going to believe that their figures are correct, until it is proven otherwise. And even if it is, the people of San Francisco will never be found in that desperate strait that they will submit to a price which all necessity and reasonableness dictates is not one that they can fairly and favorably pay. They are not that kind of people, and they can't be made to do it.

Now, that is all I have to say on it. If this resolution here of Supervisor Hayden was a simple proposition to secure the will of the people on it, so that we might all go out and say what we think about it, I don't know that I would offer much objection. At that point, after it was in the people's hands, I would be expected to say what I thought of it. And I think the supervisor is perfectly right in putting into it a proposition for definite approval, for positive approval, so that we may, those of us who are in favor of it, take our full share of responsibility, and those who are opposed to it, take their full share of responsibility.

I think if you felt the pulse of the people, you would find they are not willing, they were rather fatigued from this whole situation, and they are of the opinion that they would like to see it fought out on legal lines, that they would like to know what this property is worth from the mouths of those qualified to say, and they would like to see you proceed with the construction of the Hetch Hetchy system, and bring that water or the power, at least, to the City and County of San Francisco, and they might be ready then to give you some other directions in the premises. But they are not in those straits. I say I have made the fight in this Board for water in the outlying districts. I say it, and it cannot be disputed, that, afternoon after afternoon, I have sat here, have pleaded for these districts and relief has not been given. The difference as to policy, difference as to method—all right; but the situation is there just the same, except that we are just now moving into Richmond and into Sunset to give those people that relief that has been asked by them for so many years. As far as I am concerned, I am willing to take all the responsibility that goes with disapproving this resolution. I repeat that I am confident that the people of San Francisco want to see this thing fought out. Or, in lieu of that, they want a price submitted to them, which, on its face, appeals to them in its fairness. They are not of that attitude that the Chief Justice would convey, that the people, on their knees, are begging this corporation to deal with them fairly, begging it to give them some relief, begging it to give them their property at an increased price. Not at all—that is not the kind of people we have in San Francisco. My judgment of the people on this matter is that they will tell Spring Valley to go to hell until they get the property for the price they think they ought to have it for, and then they are willing to pay it.

Supervisor Bancroft—Mr. Gallagher has referred to the condemnation resolution which I introduced in the Board about a year ago. I have no apologies whatever to make for the stand that I intend to take upon this question at the present time. It is true that nine members of this Board refused to offer the price that Spring Valley wished for their property. We considered that they were attempting to hold the city up for too much money, that the proposition of Spring Valley was too high, and I for one did not feel that we should permit the Spring Valley Water Company to take advantage of the city and get the last possible cent. Now, so far as introducing the resolution of condemnation was concerned, as chairman of the Building Committee, I have at one time or another introduced resolutions ordering the City Attorney to condemn several hundred pieces of property in San Francisco, and in not more than four or five cases have those condemnation suits ever gone to trial. We ordered the City Attorney to condemn every piece of property that was to be in the Civic Center. For instance, in the case of the Mechanics' Library Block, the owners of the property at first desired $1,000,000 for that property. We ordered the property condemned, after considerable negotiations the owners of the property offered to sell the block for $700,000. I held a meeting, called the members together, submitted all the appraisals we had, and we accepted the offer of $700,000, although the price was a trifle over the appraisements that we had. There has never been a single case that I can recollect where the City Attorney has, after being ordered to condemn a piece of property, and after having advised the Building Committee to accept a compromise offer, and after the Building Committee has recommended such settlement to the Supervisors—there has never been a case, in my recollection, that the Board of Supervisors have refused to accept such compromise offer. I think the cases are identical here, and I am willing, on the statement made by Mr. O'Shaughnessy, that the offer which is now before us is a better proposition for the city, to accept the compromise proposition, and hope to submit it to the people.

Supervisor Vogelsang—Mr. President: There is so much to say upon this question, to this Board, perhaps, and to the people certainly, that it would take a great deal of time that we have not now to express the views and ideas that I have upon the subject. I therefore shall endeavor to confine myself to a very few moments, and to say a few things that present themselves most forcibly to me.

It is to be understood, in the first place, that this administration went before the people three years ago, upon a platform calling for the submission of a proposition for the acquisition of this water supply. It seems to me that we are bound by our contract with the people, those of us who were elected upon that platform at least, to fulfill that declaration and obligation. This water question has been before the people of San Francisco for forty years. It was important that San Francisco own her water supply forty years ago. It has become increasingly important up to this time. It is more important and more essential at this time than ever it was. I agree thoroughly with what the gentlemen have said here concerning the purchase of 1910 that was submitted to the people. I consider that it was a tremendous error. I consider that it has cost the city more millions of dollars than we can compute. But, Mr. President, today the necessity for a water supply is greater than ever it was. It is a shame and a disgrace that the greatest city on the Pacific, practically speaking, should have not in her own possession her water supply. Our city is suffering and has suffered for forty years from the control of this great necessity by a private corporation. We have been driven to this necessity of going to the mountains to secure an independent supply. And we have secured it after many, many years of effort and striving and twisting and turning in the City of San Francisco, the State of California, and the capitol of the Nation at Washington. And the rights that we have that we may now avail ourselves of, are only six or eight months old. And we have difficulties yet to bring that water here. It is not a question of going right at it—we are going to be hampered and hamstrung and have Oregon boots attached to our municipal leg by everybody who considers he is deprived of a right or a privilege by the bringing of that water here. It is in my opinion, as I have always said, water insurance for San Francisco for eternity; and that is what it is. To say that you will bring that here immediately is absurd. I never have felt that way. I feel, sir, that this is a proposition that must be worked out as time passes and as convenience permits. It is a supply that must be brought to San Francisco's door at some day. And at the time it is brought here, it must be stored in the neighborhood of San Francisco, in such manner that she can consider herself free from any accident or any war or any other thing that might destroy the water connection of this great municipality. It is a question altogether of the future in its larger aspects. We must have every reservoir site and every drop of water that is locally available, in addition to that. We do not know how fast that development can be made, because we do not know how soon or by what means the money to do it will be placed in our hands. And we cannot saddle this people with an enormous bonded indebtedness that brings no revenue.

The speech made by the Chief Justice a while ago upon this proposition is an exact repilica of what I would desire to say, insofar as those things are concerned. Now, the question is of revenue after we get it here. The company that now has water and supplies us is not going to be put out of business by the bringing of Hetch Hetchy water here. The proposition is highly probable that there will be full market for all the domestic supply when the Hetch Hetchy arrives at San Francisco. That supply may be furnished to other municipalities, may be furnished to other places, but its beneficial use will be continued. And when we come to San Francisco, if we parallel, as has been stated, the distributing system of San Francisco, we will have two sources selling water, one of them already intrenched, all connected to 80,000 consumers or more, and it is not in the realm of the possible that everybody will abandon the one to take on the other. It will be confusion worse confounded, and it will mean detriment and damage to our streets and our city by the installation of another system.

There are many ways by which this could have been reached, perhaps, other than that which we have found. But we have striven here, Mr. President, you have been earnest, sincere, and honest in all of this, the Chief Justice has acted with the utmost relentlessness towards the corporation in bringing himself and bringing this offer before this Board. We have done all that it is humanly possible for honest, sincere and God-fearing men to do to solve this problem. And I say that it is the best that can possibly now be done. If it be postponed, it will only mean more cost.

So far as the value is concerned, I consider and I am willing to say to the people of San Francisco today, tomorrow, and on the eve of election, that it is far and away to their interest, to their great beneficial interest, to accept this offer and put the ownership of the greatest necessity of the people in the possession of the people themselves. There is no city in the country that does not own its water supply other than this. It is an anachronism that we do not own ours. It is my theory, as was stated by the Chief Justice, that the only two things that San Francisco needs to be a great city, in order to be the peerless mistress of the Pacific, is a supply of water for every citizen who is charmed by her location, charmed by her climate, charmed by her people, and desires to live here. But we can't do it. It is nonsense to say that we do not need this water. We need every ultimate drop of it. We need the extensions of these mains over all the city. The next problem is one of transportation, which we are reaching as rapidly as possible, and in which we are making remarkable, world-noted progress. I think that matter will soon be finally settled—at least I think it is possible. And with those two propositions, the water and transportation, behind us, and in the ownership of the city, there is no imagination that can foretell the progress and the development of this warder of the Golden Gate.

Now, so far as the temporary supplies are concerned which would come from subterranean sources in the city, Mr. President, I do not wish to sound a discordant note in that, but I do not want to depend for my domestic supply of water upon the wells, the shallow wells of any city. They will be good for a time, perhaps, and they must all be tested in the last analysis as to their capacity. The engineers have made their estimates, based upon what they have found in testing the wells. Now, those judgments may be fully borne out, they may be borne out more than fully, but at the same time there may be a lack greater than they anticipate there. And a succession of seasons of drought will affect the water plane of the City and County of San Francisco as it affects every other.

Now, as to the elimination of lands, there is nothing to be said with reference to any eliminations except those at Pleasanton, and that is a most wise and a most businesslike proposition, first, to leave out the value of the lands as lands and take from all of those their water capacity.

I do not care to extend these vociferous remarks much further, Mr. President, at this time. I only want to say that, in the interest of the women and children of San Francisco, who have no water, in the interest of the development of this city, which is arrested and which is damaged millions of dollars a year for lack of development, the city here that is, we hope, the pride of America in its business section, millions invested in buildings, millions in stocks of merchandise, millions in leases, that were only justified by an expectation of a population here sufficient to maintain them. And the city is committing municipal suicide in not furnishing to these unpeopled acres and hills a water supply in order to put a population here to justify what other things we have done.

Now, in conclusion, I want to say that, in season and out of season, since my advent upon the Board, I have urged and prayed for a consummation that would mean the ownership by the city of a water supply. I consented with much reluctance to the condemnation proceedings, because I know the interminable difficulty of carrying out within any reasonable time a suit at law involving a greater amount than has ever been known in a similar proceeding in the history of the English-speaking races, so far as I am advised. But I did consent to it, because I knew it would give to us an analysis of the properties that we should have to present to a court as our estimate of value, and those estimates that have been made, Mr. President, have been made with the idea of presentation to the court to the best possible advantage to the city, and that meant the scaling and the cutting down to the very bone of everything. We have made, not a bargain proposition of this valuation, but we have made a valuation here of all of these properties as a war measure, as our presentation of the matter to a court, knowing and feeling that we undoubtedly must, as the engineers who are charged with the responsibility, and the attorneys themselves, in the discharge of their duties, must, do the best they can for San Francisco.

Now, somewhere, it does not matter where, but somewhere between the valuation fixed by the experts that would be called by the other side and the experts called by our side, the real truth lies. Now, where is that truth? We must not arrogate to ourselves the conviction that we know the truth. It lies at the bottom of the well. And, according to our modern civilization, the only one who can produce it to the satisfaction of the people is the judicial officer under the judicial system that we have adopted. Now, in all the experience of such litigation, where such questions arise, it has been the common experience that the truth is somewhere between those two extremes. We do not know where it is. But I am serenely confident, Mr. President, that in no judgment of any court would a valuation of this property in condemnation be less than the amount that this committee has recommended to this Board for submission to the people.

I hope that the resolution will be adopted, and that in due course it will be presented to the people.

They may reject it. They have rejected good things before, and they may do it now. But we are doing our simple duty, we are doing the thing we promised to do when we were elected. And it is for them to accept or reject. I believe, upon a proper presentation of this, aside from politics, it is not, as the Supervisor has said, a question of politics, it is not a question that should divide the people upon any lines whatsoever, it is a question of business judgment, and it is one to be solved with care and with prayer, and so I believe that upon such a proper presentaion of this, it will be adopted by the people. I am willing cheerfully to accept full responsibility for this report and for presenting it to my fellow citizens.

Supervisor Gallagher—I want to make this correction, Mr. President. I know that I talked quite a long time, and I haven't any right to take the floor again, but Supervisor Bancroft made a statement after I sat down. I said the record was illuminative. Listen to this by Supervisor Bancroft himself—at the meeting of January 20th he said: "Mr. Bancroft. I am glad to hear from Mr. O'Shaughnessy. I think the taxpayers, however, are entitled to hear from another engineer, who is at least of equal prominence with Mr. O'Shaughnessy. But I don't want to say any more about that. I want to explain in a few words why I am willing to vote against this $37,000,000 offer. In the first place, I think the $35,000,000 offer of a few years ago was very liberal. I knew that there was more than one supervisor in the Taylor Board who thinks an offer could have been secured at that time for $32,000,000. Whether that impression is true, or not, I am satisfied that the offer was liberal, probably several million dollars more than the property was worth at the time. Then I voted for it and I will do so again, because I have always taken the stand that I am willing to give the company a good, liberal amount of money for their property, several millions, in fact, above the worth. I, as you all know, am in favor of immediate condemnation. I say that the difficulties of condemnation have been greatly exaggerated. The Building Committee through the City Attorney's office bought $3,000,000 worth of property in the Civic Center all within a year, and we certainly had no difficulties at all in our work. I think and have good reason"—and this is very important, Supervisor—"I think and have good reason, to base this statement, that by excepting certain properties of the Spring Valley Water Company which are not needed for water supply in San Francisco, by eliminating certain properties we could buy the Spring Valley Water Company's property, such as we need for our use, using it in connection with the Hetch Hetchy system, for not to exceed $25,000,000. And I don't think we ought to pay $37,000,000 to buy a lot of property which is unnecessary, when I have reason to believe that for $25,000,000 we could buy sufficient of the Spring Valley's property for our own purpose." And today you will give them $9,000,000 more. Justify it if you can.

Supervisor Bancroft—Mr. President, a man is at liberty to think anything he likes. He may be right or he may be wrong. As far as this engineer to whom Mr. Gallagher referred, that I stated at the outset of that quotation, I am glad he brought that up, because that was one of the main reasons why I voted against offering the Spring Valley $37,000,000, and that was because Mr. Freeman, one of the most eminent engineers in the United States, who has worked with the city in these matters for years, disagreed with Mr. O'Shaughnessy, or at least he did not favor the offer of $37,000,000 or $37,500.000, but thought it was too much. But Mr. Freeman agrees at the present time with the offer that is now under consideration, agrees that it should be accepted.

Supervisor Gallagher—Yes, but you said you thought you could buy this property, and you must have known what you were talking about and thinking about—you said you thought you could buy it for $25,000,000, and you now offer $9,500,000 more.

Supervisor Bancroft—I said I thought so. I was probably mistaken.

Supervisor Gallagher—Oh, that is different.

Supervisor McCarthy—Mr. President, I do not want to prolong this argument unnecessarily, but inasmuch as Supervisor Gallagher has referred to resolutions introduced by me, and has drawn an indictment regarding members turning somersaults, and has made some insinuations against those who, as usual, do not think with him, I would like to reply to those portions of his remarks which affect me personally. I think Supervisor Vogelsang has covered the matter completely, and my remarks are simply directed to the resolution which I presented in February of 1913, providing, first, to accept the offer of the Spring Valley Water Company to arbitrate and naming the Railroad Commission, and then subsequently providing for condemnation. That resolution was introduced after an offer of $36,500,000 had practically been agreed upon by seventeen members of the Board, and by many members of the Board who have since left, and others who have been defeated. Supervisor Andrew Gallagher did not sign this report. But at that time he at least consented by his silence to the offer of $36.500.000. There was no eloquent denunciation directed toward you or toward the Advisory Water Committee, or toward the seventeen members of the Board, nor do the records show that Mr. Gallagher in any way, shape, manner or form, indicated that he was opposed to the offer. In fact, as I have said, he acquiesced in his silence to the $36,500.000 proposition.

Supervisor Gallagher—I do not want to interrupt a fellow member, but I will say this, and I think it is only fair—

The Mayor (interrupting)—Do you yield, Supervisor?

Supervisor McCarthy—I have no objection.

Supervisor Gallagher—I think it is only fair for him to say that, when I sign a thing I stand for it, and when I don't sign it, I don't stand for it.

Supervisor McCarthy—There was no statement of that kind emanating from Mr. Gallagher at the time. The offer of $36.500.000 was made to the Spring Valley Water Company, was made, as I have said, upon the recommendation of the Advisory Water Committee and of seventeen members of the Board of Supervisors. When it was rejected it was suggested that an offer of $37.000.000 be made, and we said no at least some of us so said, and Supervisor Gallagher said no, that when they walved a gun under our noses, we were not going to stand and deliver, but we were willing to pay $36.500.000. We asked the City Engineer the other day, and we asked Mr. Steinhart, who has compiled these figures which are before us now, whether or not this offer was less than the $36,500,000 offer which we had all subscribed to, and both of them said that it was less. So at least those members who advocated the condemnation proceedings at that time, and who have consistently followed the condemnation proceedings, and who have fathered appropriations in this Board against the denunciation of Mr. Gallagher himself, and who have been consistent and as consistent as Mr. Gallagher himself, have succeeded in making the Spring Valley come down between at least a half million and a million of dollars.

Supervisor Gallagher—Can you prove that?

Supervisor McCarthy—It is simple of proof. This offer is less than $36,500,000, and the offer that was to be made at the time was $37,000,000. If that does not make a difference in price of between half a million and a million dollars I don't know anything about mathematics. The situation, Mr. President, is this, as it appears to me: that Mr. Gallagher who has fought so diligently and so earnestly and so untiringly, and who says "I have made a fight for the outlying districts, I have made you dig wells in the outlying district, I have made you buy pipe for the outlying district," now, instead of letting them go to hell wants to tell them to go to hell. That is the situation, Mr. President. Every one of us here have agreed that we have got to get water into San Francisco. They say, "Don't buy the Spring Valley system; build your own system." And yet they are told by the engineer, and by the way, I question the consistency which says, "Chief Justice, I respect you, Mr. Mayor, I respect you, Mr. Jennings, I respect you, Mr. Vogelsang, I respect you—but I think you are a lot of fools when you recommend the $34,500.000 purchase of this property. I believe in your honesty, I believe in your integrity, I believe in your ability. But I don't think you ought to make an offer of $34.500,000."

Are there any figures presented to show that this offer is not justifiable? Isn't this the result of months and months of time and thousands of dollars which we have paid for information? And now the Advisory Water Committee comes in and the only solution that Mr. Gallagher offers you is condemnation, and as Mr. Vogelsang has said, you go into court with a confessed valuation of your experts of $34,500,000. The Chief Justice has presented all the figures, they have been agreed to by the Chief Engineer, they have been subscribed to by Mr. John R. Freeman, and you go into court stating that you cannot secure a lesser value for the Spring Valley's property, or such properties as are described, for less than $34.500,000. Now, the Spring Valley Water Company necessarily, if the condemnation proceeding continues, must present a valuation greatly in excess of this. And with the technical knowledge and with the experts on the one side, and with the quibbles of the law on the other, the judicial mind, which will not be able to grasp the entire situation as it is presented by experts, must of necessity draw a mean between the two values. And what will condemnation bring you? It must bring you a greater valuation of these properties than is here recommended. And then you have got to go with that to the people, and you have got to justify your refusal to accept this offer.

I don't agree, Mr. President, that this is the offer of the Spring Valley Water Company. I don't agree that they have put us into a corner to shake us down. I contend, on the contrary, that we have stood pat and firm, and we have said to them, "You have got to come to us with an offer which we can justify, which we can recommend, which we can stand upon." And I say this, it is your offer now, it is your valuation of $34,500,000, it is not the Spring Valley's valuation, it is the Advisory Water Committee's valuation, it is the report of every engineer that has been available, it is the report of your City Attorney—those are the people who have fixed this valuation, not the Spring Valley Water Company.

And now I want to say this in conclusion, that when Mr. Gallagher denounces the gentlemen who have explained their position on the original offer of $35,000,000, let him take heed and let him take warning that, some day in the future, the record is not sprung upon him when he was opposed to a valuation fixed by his own experts, authorized by a committee which he himself approves, that it does not come back to him.

I am not afraid, Mr. President, of any changes that I may have made. In this instance I have been consistent, and I am not afraid to go before the people and to endorse this report, because I believe that that is the safest, sanest and surest way of securing properties which are asbsolutely essential to us and to the city's growth.

Supervisor Power—I would like to ask the Supervisor a question. The Supervisor contends that this offer is less or a better offer than the offer of $36.500,000. I would like to ask him if he feels that the city has gained an advantage in this, if the Spring Valley Water Company would take but two days to consider the proposition, whereas they spent five weeks on the consideration of whether or not they would accept the previous offer submitted by the Board of Supervisors?

Supervisor McCarthy—I will answer the gentleman by saying this, that I don't know the length of time the Spring Valley Water Company took to consider this time, I don't know that it took them two days or two weeks. But if it has taken them two days, I imagine the Spring Valley Water Company has come to the conclusion that they either have to face the condemnation suit, or that they must accept what the city considers a fair offer. I believe they are prepared to handle the condemnation suit, but I also believe they are willing to end these negotiations, and I believe their stockholders are tired of this continual bickering, and that they want a settlement and that they are willing to accept this settlement. I have no doubt that, if the representatives of the Spring Valley Water Company were here, they would try and persuade us they were giving us a bargain. I believe the Advisory Water Committee has presented its statement, and that perhaps the Spring Valley Water Company realizes the danger of a condemnation suit as well as we realize it, and for that reason they agreed to accept the offer, although I have no right to think for the Spring Valley Water Company, nor do I attempt to.

Supervisor Power—I offer the following amendment to the resolution as submitted by Supervisor Hayden, Mr. President, and move its adoption

The Clerk (reading)—"Resolved, That the City Attorney be and he is hereby instructed to take the necessary procedure to prepare an offer to the Spring Valley Water Company from this Board of $32.000.000, with such lands excluded as are designated by the City Engineer in the report of the Advisory Water Committee as unnecessary in connection with the system."

Supervisor Gallagher—I second the motion.

The question was called for from the floor.

CITY BONDS SELLING RAPIDLY.

On October 26 the Board of Supervisors were to receive bids for the purchase of municipal bonds to the amount of $1,742,500, of which $1,517,500 were five per cents. No bids were received for any of these bonds.

Thereupon the Treasurer was authorized to sell the entire lot "over the counter." A demand for these bonds at once set in and on November 17 all of the larger denomination of the five per cents were disposed of and also a goodly number of the $100 bonds—so-called baby bonds. Altogether nearly $1,400,000 bonds were sold in three weeks. All that remains of the five per cents are about $165,000 baby bonds, and nearly $20,000 of these were sold yesterday. Within a week these will probably be taken.

San Francisco will then have sold all of its bonds bearing five per cent interest, and the public will have to be satisfied with four-and-one-halfs.

There are now $225,000 four and one-half per cent water bonds on sale at the Treasurer's office.

A sale of $550,000 Library bonds is scheduled for November 30. These bear three and one-half per cent interest, but the charter provides that they may be sold at a discount that equals four and one-half per cent to the purchaser.

TO BEAUTIFY VACANT LOTS.

The Board of Supervisors last Monday adopted the following resolution:

Whereas, It is of the utmost importance that the City of San Francisco present a creditable appearance during the coming year, and that, so far as possible, it shall be beautiful and attractive, and

Whereas, Ordinance No. 1874 makes it imperative that all rubbish and debris on vacant lots be removed by the owner, on thirty days' notice, and the enforcement of the ordinance is made the duty of the Police Department, therefore be it

Resolved, That the Police Department be requested to begin at once the rigid enforcement of the ordinance, selecting first the most untidy and offensive lots in the center of the city, in the vicinity of the Exposition grounds, and on the main lines of travel.

Resolved, That all lot owners be requested to co-operate in this purpose by acting at once, in advance of the enforcement of the ordinance by the Police Department, that the cleared-up lots may be seeded or planted to flowers before the winter rains. That the work may be done economically and uniformly, arrangements have been made with the San Francisco Co-operative Employment Bureau, 335 Main street, to relieve lot owners of all possible trouble. When requested by mail or by telephone (Sutter 2542) a representative will call and arrange for the entire work, giving, if desired, an estimate of the cost involved. As the bureau has constant applications for work, those placing an order will be helping the unemployed in the best possible way.

Resolved, That the offered co-operation of the State Federation of Women's Clubs be thankfully accepted and that the Park Commissioners and superintendent be asked to take general supervision and to assist them by advice and by any possible contribution of plants and seeds.

Resolved, That the Board of Public Works be urged to exercise its full power in compelling the repair of defective sidewalks and in keeping especially clean during the Exposition year the streets of the city.

PLAYGROUND COMMISSION NOTES.

Joseph R. Hickey has assumed the duties of superintendent of playgrounds, vice Geo. A. Schlitter, resigned.

The surface of the new Spring Valley playground, Broadway, between Polk and Larkin streets, has been completed, and plans for the installation of apparatus are being perfected.

The Park Commission has turned over the entire area of Hamilton Squire to the jurisdiction of the Playground Commission. This space when improved will be one of the finest playgrounds in the United States.

Numerous requests for playgrounds in the outlying districts are being received in the office of the Commission. Owing to the insufficient appropriation made by the Board of Supervisors, the Playground Commission is unable to meet these demands.

JOTTINGS OF MUNICIPAL INTEREST.

Bids for the construction of a power house in the Civic Center will be received by the Board of Public Works on December 2.

Consideration of the report of the City Engineer recommending the rejection of the Islais Creek incinerator will be taken up for discussion before the Board of Public Works next Monday.

At a recent meeting of the Fire Commission, Secretary Kennedy was authorized to advertise for bids for the purchase of tractors, combination chemicals, gasoline pump engines and straight chemicals, involving an expenditure in the neighborhood of $100,000. The plan of the commissioners is to substitute tractors for horses on old-style horse-drawn apparatus.

The baseball teams of the Boldemann Chocolate Company defeated a team composed of the members of Engine Company 35, S. F. F. D., last Saturday by a score of 16 to 10. The teams of Engine Company 35 and the County Clerk's office will contest at Hopkins Park on November 28 at 2:30 p. m.

CHICAGO PROVIDES WINTER JOBS FOR LABORERS.

About $175,000 will be spent by the city of Chicago in laying water mains this winter. The City Council finance committee authorized the water bureau October 16 to carry on this work so that the laborers, who usually are laid off during the winter, may be kept on the payroll.

This is one of the city's plans to keep all of its employees at work during the winter. It was not intended to lay the water mains until next spring.

ADVERSE REPORT ON INCINERATOR.

Following a test run of thirty days, and more than a year's time spent in giving the contractors who built the Islais Creek Incinerator an opportunity to conform with the required specifications under which the contract was executed, City Engineer O'Shaughnessy has made a report to the Board of Public Works recommending that the plant be rejected because it does not meet the requirements of the specifications, and that demand be made by the city for the return of all moneys which have been advanced by the city to the builders.

Such a report has been anticipated for some time, and is made reluctantly, for the reason that it was the hope that the specifications might be fulfilled and one unit of a garbage disposal system of the city placed in satisfactory operation. With this idea all time reasonable has been given to the contractors. There have been innumerable test runs and changes made by the contractors in the hope that all the requirements might be met and the final summing up of the result has been rejection by the City Engineer.

PANAMA CANAL EFFECT ON SAN FRANCISCO SHIPPING.

Since September 1 the export business of San Francisco has increased ten-fold, it is reported, by virtue of the low freight rates to eastern ports via the Panama Canal. All the more interest is manifest in this condition because two of the best European customers, France and Germany, have received nothing on account of the war. Before the canal opened three steamship lines carried on a desultory trade between San Francisco and Atlantic ports via the Isthmian and Tehauntepec railroads. Now there are no less than eight steamship companies operating between San Francisco and eastern ports, and it is reported that no one of these is able to carry all the freight offered it. Within the past two months an average of one steamer has left San Francisco every two days bound for Atlantic ports. The shipments have been to Eastern States and England almost exclusively, the latter country receiving from San Francisco $4,000,000 worth of merchandise shipped by water since September 1.

TO THE DEPARTMENT OF ELECTRICITY.

All matters relating to electrical installations either in buildings or streets.

TO THE WATER AND LIGHT INSPECTOR.

TO THE POLICE DEPARTMENT.

All complaints of non-enforcement of ordinances and requests for such permits as the Police Commissioners may grant.

Communications relating to education, parks, playgrounds, civil service, should be transmitted directly to the commissions having control of the subject.

In case any department or officer fails to acknowledge the receipt of the communication or fails to give attention to the matter stated therein, then such dereliction should be brought to the attention of the Mayor.

PRIZES FOR ENGINEERING STUDENTS.

Students of the leading engineering schools have been offered an opportunity to compete for $1,000 in prizes for essays on highway construction. The subjects suggested cover a wide range, including factors which should govern the choice of types of pavements and roads and the materials used therein; an ideal paving program for a city of 25,000; economics of highway construction, and half a dozen related topics. The prizes are offered by the Barber Asphalt Paving Company to promote investigation of highway problems by engineering students and to encourage them to enter a field of work where there is great need for trained men.

LOS ANGELES TO CONDEMN LIGHTING SYSTEM.

The city of Los Angeles has filed a petition with the State Railroad Commission asking for an appraisal preliminary to a condemnation of the distributing system of the Southern California Edison Company. The system is desired by the city for the purpose of distributing current from its aqueduct generating plant. The purchase price will be paid out of the proceeds derived from the sale of $6,500,000 in bonds authorized early this year.

FEDERAL RESERVE BANKS NOW HOLD $170,000,000.

Washington, Nov. 18.—Federal Reserve Board officials viewed with sharp interest today reports of first operations of the twelve regional banks in the new currency system. Gold and lawful money amounting to $170,000,000 had been transferred from the member banks to their reserve institutions, and it was estimated that about $70,000,000 remained to be shifted to meet present requirements.

EXPOSITION NOTES.

From the interest that has been manifested in the ceremonies that are to mark the formal opening and dedication of the California building at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition it is estimated that a larger number of Californians will be attracted to the Exposition grounds on Saturday next than has attended any Exposition event to date.

In addition to the representatives of the various county Exposition commissions and the county auxiliaries of the Woman's Board of the Exposition several of the counties will send large delegations in special trains and by special steamers. These counties at present include Marin, Santa Clara, Los Angeles, Yolo, and all of the counties represented in the Sacramento Valley Exposition Commission. Special boats will be run from Sacramento, Los Angeles, and Stockton. Two special boats will also be run to the Exposition grounds by the Key Route System, one arriving at the Exposition grounds at 12:15 and the other at 2:05 p. m.

Following the dedication ceremonies there is to be a reception and dansant in the county display section of the building under the auspices of the Woman's Board, to which the public is invited. A committee of fifty San Francisco society women is to assist as hostesses at the reception, with Mrs. Phoebe Hearst, Mrs. Hiram Johnson, Mrs. C. C. Moore and Mrs. James Rolph, Jr., in the receiving line.

Construction work has begun on the House of Hoo Hoos, the unique building which in addition to constituting the clubhouse for the lumbermen's conventions which will meet at the Exposition next year, will house a comprehensive series of exhibits of every sort of commercial lumber in use on the Pacific slope. Logs of every species will be used in its construction, and growing trees of many lumber sorts will be shown in the gardens adjacent. It will be erected at a cost of $50,000.

The American-Hawaiian steamship Panamanian, which arrived Tuesday from Atlantic ports by way of the Panama Canal, brought the first consignment of the New York State exhibits to be shown at the Panama-Pacific Exposition. This preliminary shipment, weighing nearly 4,000 pounds, consists in part of wax and plaster models, architectural ornaments and booth material for that part of the Empire State exhibit to be installed in the Palace of Liberal Arts.

Salvador Poditano, resident commissioner of Argentina, received announcement from his government Tuesday that the government transport Palimmo is being used to transport Argentina's exhibits to the Panama-Pacific Exposition, following the sinking by the Germans of the first shipment on an English merchantman, Vandijk. The transport left Buenos Ayres November 16.

THE WIDENING OF BERNAL CUT.

At a meeting of the South of Army Street Improvement Association recently Mayor Rolph announced that he would do all within his power to see that provision was made in the next budget for an appropriation for the widening of Bernal cut. He held that it was an improvement which would be beneficial to all the city and the expense should not be borne by the creation of an assessment district. Superintendent Ahearn of the Southern Pacific announced that his company was ready to begin to do its part of the work within sixty days after notification.

CHANGES IN GRADE.

Bills have been passed by the Board of Supervisors changing and re-establishing grades on Galvez avenue, between Keith and Mendell streets, and establishing grades on the Great Highway, between Point Lobos avenue and Balboa street; on Ingalls street, between Hollister street and Jamestown avenue, and on Ingerson avenue, between Hawes and Jennings streets.

Heavy Traffic Barred From Bridge.

The Board of Public Works on November 19, 1914, recommended to the Board of Supervisors the closing of the Fourth street bridge to vehicular and street car traffic for the reason that an inspection of said bridge by the Board of Public Works and the City Engineer revels the fact that the bridge is in a dangerous condition.

As the closing of the bridge would be a great inconvenience to the public, the Board of Public Works has been instructed to divert heavily laden vehicles to the Third street bridge and permit the street cars and vehicles carrying a load not to exceed two tons to cross the Fourth street bridge.

FEW FIVE PER CENT BONDS LEFT.

Treasurer McDougald reports that only $50,000 five per cent bonds remain unsold and these are all $100 Municipal Railway bonds. With the sale of these bonds all of the various issues bearing this rate of interest will have been disposed of, and those who desire to invest in San Francisco securities will have to content themselves with bonds bearing four and one-half per cent interest.

The municipal bond market appears to be rapidly improving, and it would not be a surprise to the city officials to receive offers very soon for a lot of the four and a half per cents. It is even possible that a bid will be received for the Library bonds next Monday. These are three and one-half per cent bonds, but may be purchased on a four and a half basis.

EXTENDING TIME FOR PAYMENT OF TAXES.

The Board of Supervisors last Monday adopted a resolution requesting the Legislature to pass a law permitting counties and cities and counties to extend the time for the payment of taxes.

In presenting the resolution the argument in its favor was that in many cases the money is collected months in advance of the time its use was demanded and that such being the case it was an economic waste to have money lying idle which might be of great use if permitted to remain in circulation.

Another argument was that under the present law the first installment of taxes become delinquent on November 30, a period when people desire to use the commodity for holiday purposes. Another and more potent argument was that coming at such a time, persons in paying taxes were obliged to withdraw money from the banks, where it drew interest with the result that coming at the end of the quarter there was a forfeiture of interest, which in many instances amounted to a considerable sum, meaning much to the individual with such an account.

Los Angeles and other cities can now extend this time, but in the case of counties where state taxes have to be collected action by the Legislature will first have to be taken.

REPORT OF DEPARTMENT OF ELECTRICITY.

Following is a report of operations in the Department of Electricity for the month of October, 1914:

Fees received for inspection of wiring............	$1,095.23
Fees received for inspection of sign permits.......	15.00
Fees received for fire tapper service.............	21.00
	$1,131.23

Housemovers' deposits, $175.

In the Inspection Bureau 947 applications were received, 2576 inspections made, 981 installations approved, 527 found defective and 101 non-record installations reported. Premises found locked, 183. Total number of reports left on file November 1, 1914, 2453.

Signals handled by Central Fire Alarm Office were: First alarms of fire, 95; second, 4; third, 1; direct, 34; still, 71; total, 205. Including: False alarms, 13; vicinity, 12. Police calls, 10,389.

On outside construction the 665 fire alarm boxes in service were inspected and turned in for test. There were four fire alarm boxes repaired in shop, and, on account of repairs made to box wires, fifteen were out of service temporarily. There were thirty pieces of line trouble removed and 293 miscellaneous complaints attended to. There were installed eight outside local bells, transferred ten and removed two.

In the machine shop there were repaired eight fire alarm boxes, one fire alarm box auxiliary attachment, one fire alarm line key, one fire alarm line relay, seventeen letgoes, two D. of E. police panels, two Gamewell police boxes, nine engine house registers, one 6-inch single stroke bell, one sounder, five Sechrist switches, two B. & W. push buttons, one remote control switch. Repairs were also made to the department's automobiles, shop tools and overhead and underground construction tools. There were painted and varnished 88 fire alarm shells. The instruments for the new fire alarm switchboard for the Central Fire Alarm Station are being manufactured.

BOSTON TESTS WATER CURTAIN.

Prominent fire officials of Boston were present recently at a unique demonstration of automatic fire apparatus when ten thousand gallons of water a minute were poured down the sides of the Filene building, covering every side with a curtain of water.

The street was roped off to prevent teams and pedestrians being swamped by the water, and throngs of people were attracted to the unusual scene.

Four hundred and seventy-nine water plugs lined the roof, coping and windows. They are controlled by mechanism in the basement. All apparatus was put into use in one minute without any previous preparation. This system of fire protection is said to be the best in the country for use in department stores.

PERMITS GRANTED BY POLICE COMMISSION.

At a meeting of the Board of Police Commissioners held on November 16, 1914, the following permits were granted:

Persons receiving the "Municipal Record" and removing to a new location MUST send their old and new addresses to J. S. Dunnigan, clerk of the Board of Supervisors, if they wish to continue receiving the paper. SITE OFFERED FOR BAY VIEW PARK.

The city has been offered a tract of seventeen acres of land in the Bay District to be used for park purposes. The offer came from the Crocker Estate Company, the Bay View Land Company and Henry A. Crane.

The tract offered the city for a park is on an elevation, commanding a panoramic view of the city, the bay and the shores of Alameda and San Mateo counties. It has an elevation of 450 feet at the highest point and adjoins on the northwest eight acres owned by the city and county.

Only one condition is made to the offer. That is that the adjoining tract owned by the city shall be set aside and used solely for a park and playground. It is stipulated that should the city at any time use the property for other purposes, the seventeen acres gifted to the city shall revert to the original owners.

If the city accepts the gift on the terms prescribed, then the donors also will deed to the city, for the sole purpose of constructing a public road, certain lands outside the seventeen-acre tract.

A representative of the donors, in a letter to the Supervisors, refers to the proposed gift as follows:

"Unfortunately, in the past, this district has been entirely overlooked in the apportionment of land for public park purposes, and, therefore, the accompanying tender is made to provide an area, sufficient in size, from which a commanding view of the bay and large portions of the city and portions of Alameda and San Mateo counties may be freely viewed at all times.

"The growth of the industrial area which is trending toward the southern section of San Francisco is resulting in the erection of many homes in this district, and the occupants thereof will benefit greatly if a park is established here."

The Supervisors referred the matter to the Park Commission for its advice as to whether the offer is a desirable one for the city to accept.

MEETING OF THE FIRE COMMISSION.

At the regular meeting of the Board of Fire Commissioners on November 18, S. J. A. Spear, Chas. W. Mulloy, John J. Brophy and Martin J. Kearns, certified by the Civil Service Commission from the captain's eligible list, were appointed captains in the department.

A communication signed by Thomas McGlynn, Daniel J. Riordan and Jos. Burnett, members assigned to permanent theater detail, by reason of injuries received in discharge of duty, requesting that they be allowed 24 hours off duty every two weeks. Put over to hear argument from men.

R. E. Higgins, gatehouse keeper at Ashbury tank, requested that he be allowed salary during sickness received in discharge of duty, from November 7 to November 16, 1914, said application bearing the approval of the superintendent of the high pressure system. Granted.

A communication was received from the children of Mrs. J. Harris of 828 Elizabeth street, expressing appreciation of the services rendered by the members of Engine Company 24 on the occasion of the recent fire at her residence. Filed and copy of letter to be sent to Engine Company 24.

MAYOR PUTS LID ON STREET CARNIVALS.

Mayor Rolph has returned to the Board of Supervisors, with his disapproval, a resolution granting a permit for a street carnival on Kearny street, which was to have been held December 8 to 13.

In expressing his disapproval, Mayor Rolph said:

"I am impressed with the belief that, if permits are granted for street carnivals, they should be limited to celebrations of a general character, or of a local character of benefit to the whole city, for some physical improvement of a permanent kind, or some industrial development of importance. In other words, the turning over of the streets or any part of the city should always be for a public purpose.

"There is another consideration pertinent at this time:

"Our citizens are called upon for contributions in the interest of humanity abroad and charity at home, to an extent beyond that of any recent years. Anything in the nature of a carnival exploitation that diverts money from such lofty purposes should be avoided as far as possible.

"Another feature that has appeared to me in some of the recent carnivals:

"It brings the young together on the streets without sufficient family protection of parents or near relatives, producing an indiscriminate mixing under circumstances that I feel are not conducive to public good.

"I therefore return same resolution with my veto of the same."

PERMITS PENDING BEFORE POLICE COMMISSION.

The following applications for permits will be considered by the Board of Police Commissioners at a meeting to be held November 30, 1914, at 7:30 p. m.:

Restaurant (to purchase and remove)—Peter Handabaka, to purchase of Cesar L. Conti, 2689 Mission street, and remove to southeast corner Clay and Sansome streets.

Kinetoscope keeper (new)—Henry Leonardy, 630 Irving street.

Pawnbroker (new)—Abraham N. Jackson, 212 Mechanics' building.

Second-hand dealers (new)—Harry Davis, 1483 Ellis street; Ely Portugeis, 469 Valencia street; (to remove): Joseph Nossen, from 68 Clay street, to 33 Drumm street.

Billiard parlor keepers (new)—Samuel Nebolsin, 78 Clay street; Joseph Vicicia, 609 Third street; Frank L. Marsala, 729½ Howard street; (to remove): Elias Saadallah, from 207 to 276 Fourth street.

NEW MORTUARY TO BE DEDICATED.

The name of the "City Morgue" has been changed to something more euphonious, viz.: "The City Mortuary." The new quarters, located in what is known as the County Jail building, in Merchant street, between Kearny and Montgomery streets, will be ready for occupancy on Saturday, November 28th. At that time Coroner Leland intends to throw open the new department for the inspection of the public. The basement and first and second floors of the south wing of the building will be devoted to this branch of the city government. This department will be equipped with the most modern appliances and conducted in the most up-to-date manner of any similar institution in the United States.

On the basement floor will be installed the most modern means for the preservation of the remains of unidentified persons, where they may be kept until positively identified or until the probability of identification ceases. This floor is provided with the indirect lighting system, is finished in white and will be maintained in a strictly sanitary and wholesome condition.

On the first floor will be located the autopsy room, the autopsy surgeon's office, the sterilizing room and the viewing room all finished in white tile, so as to insure perfect sanitation.

The viewing room is a model of neatness and orderly arrangement, with high ceilings, tile floor, with large windows on three sides and thoroughly ventilated with the latest and most approved ventilating system available. This room is modeled along the lines of the most modern undertaking parlors, and is so furnished as to relieve the place of the atmosphere that usually surrounds city mortuaries.

On the second floor are located the main offices and the inquest room. The offices are arranged with a view to providing the most efficient service to the public by the office staff. Under the directions of Coroner Leland a deputy coroner and assistant deputy are on duty at all times of the day and night, in order to obviate any unnecessary delay in removing bodies to the Coroner's office. The inquest room is neatly and plainly furnished and is planned to seat the witnesses and spectators interested in the cases inquested. It is so arranged that the testimony of the witnesses may be taken with dispatch. Off the inquest room is a jury room, appropriately furnished, where the juries will retire to deliberate upon their verdicts.

Nothing has been left undone to make this department a credit to the city of San Francisco. In fact, so well has this work been planned and executed that already many inquiries have come to Coroner Leland from Eastern cities relative to the details of construction and equipment, to be used as a guide for the creation of similar establishments in the respective cities.

PROPOSE TO ABOLISH AUTO HEADLIGHTS.

In the City of Baltimore it is seriously considered to propose to abolish altogether the use of headlights on automobiles within the city limits. Other cities have passed regulations which forbid any automobilist from using any lights within the municipal boundaries except the side lights and the rear lights.

It is claimed by the advocates of such a restrictive measure that the fierce, blinding headlight is not needed along the lines of usually well-illuminated city streets, while on the other hand the use of the lights is productive of danger and discomfort.

In summer time these headlights are veritable nuisances to those who have to remain in town during the greater part of the heated season, and who seek the front steps as the place of chief comfort after dark. It matters not whether an automobile is standing still with its headlights turned on or whether it is running along the highways, the glare of the big front lights is blinding and hurtful to the eyes of other people. Moreover, it floods the streets with a blaze of light during seasons when a more subdued illumination is the only thing comfortable.

But this is not the worst item. The flash of the headlight interferes with safe chauffeuring along those highways where there is a large volume of automobile traffic. Anybody who has ever had the fierce rays of a modern electric headlight hit him squarely in the eyes, knows full well that for the moment he is utterly blinded. If he happens to be at the wheel of an automobile he is perfectly helpless until the angle of the approaching machine is altered. This blindness is dangerous to traffic. It prevents the drivers of machines for the moment from seeing other cars on the highway, from seeing pedestrians who may be crossing the street, or from seeing other vehicles that may be traveling the same highway. It also temporarily shuts out from view any obstructions in the roadway. Hence the unnecessary prevalence of night accidents.

It is claimed, therefore, that aside from the fact that the headlights are a source of discomfort, they are also a direct cause of avoidable casualties.

If they are not needed at night, why should they be used? In the country, where highway illumination is lacking, the headlights are indispensable. In the city, where the streets are all well lighted, the big headlights of an automobile are altogether superfluous. The sidelights and back lights will suffice all requirements of safety.

SUGGESTED AMENDMENTS TO THE CHARTER.

The Board of Supervisors has fixed the 9th day of March as the time for holding a special election at which amendments to the charter will be voted upon. So far the following amendments have been suggested and their consideration is pending before the Judiciary Committee:

4. By Supervisor Suhr relating to employees in Sheriff's office.
5. By Supervisor McLeran relating to civil service, sections 3, 8, 9 and 10 of article XIII. (Firemen's amendment.)
6. By Supervisor Walsh providing for official advertising in Municipal Record.
7. By Labor Council et al. as to contracts in favor of home industry.
8. Vacations for employees.

In addition to the foregoing the Mayor has been authorized to appoint a committee to formulate an amendment providing for pensioning superannuated municipal employees.

The Board of Public Works has released the Federal Construction Company from its contract for the paving of San Bruno avenue, between Oakdale avenue and Steuben street. In order that the improvement may not be delayed, the Supervisors have adopted a resolution authorizing the grading and curbing of the avenue by the Street Repair Bureau of the Board of Public Works, funds having already been provided in a budget appropriation.

EXPOSITION NEWS NOTES.

The first stake for the Canadian Pacific building on the grounds of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition was driven on November 6th. The first swing of the hammer was made by Mrs. G. M. Jackson, the wife of the Canadian Pacific's agent in San Francisco. The building is to be 60 feet by 60 feet and will be between the structures of the Great Northern and the Grand Trunk System on the Esplanade.

* * *

The one thing necessary to make the Exposition complete has been added. Work has begun on a special building to be used as a bank by the Anglo-California Trust Company. It will be at the head of "The Zone" and will be fitted with safety deposit vaults and every appurtenance of a modern banking institution.

* * *

A steamer load of materials and exhibits from Australia and New Zealand has arrived on the grounds of the Exposition. There are 78 tons in the shipment. The greater part of it was for the New Zealand pavilion. The consignment for the Australian pavilion consists of 200 beautiful specimens of tree ferns, which will surround the structure.

* * *

James Cooley of New York has been appointed manager of the World Polo Tournament of the Exposition. He will co-operate with Captain E. D. Miller of London, who was made superintendent of tournaments, and in case the war does not permit Captain Miller to come to the United States in 1915 Cooley will have full charge.

* * *

The average daily attendance at the Exposition during the month of October was 9498. The total for the month was 294,433. The largest single day's attendance during that period was on October 11th, when 31,000 persons passed through the Exposition turnstiles.

* * *

Work of installation of the United States Bureau of Fisheries' exhibit at the Exposition has begun, and I. M. Dunlap, chief clerk of the bureau, is in charge of the exhibit. The bureau has taken 10,000 square feet of space in the Palace of Food Products. Thirty aquarium tanks and two pools are being installed. The large specimens, such as the several varieties of seals, will be placed in the pools. A special car will be sent from Washington to bring the Eastern specimens to the Exposition.

* * *

Norway dedicated her site and broke ground for her national pavilion on the grounds of the Exposition on Saturday, October 31st. Ground was broken with a snow shovel used by Captain Amundsen on one of his expeditions.

* * *

The Panama-Pacific International Exposition has announced the appointment of Eugene Pirard, the noted Belgian art museum expert, as superintendent of galleries of the Palace of Fine Arts. Pirard's home is in Liege, Belgium, and since the destruction of that city in August he has had no word from his father, aunts and uncles, or from relatives of his wife who lived in Louvain. Pirard has been engaged for twenty years in classifying and putting in place paintings and sculpture.

* * *

The Exposition has started on the era of dedicating State buildings. On October 31 the Oregon building was dedicated with a dance and social program. Plans are in progress for the formal dedication of the Washington building, and the California building was the scene of a dedicatory dance on November 21st. The California building is the largest ever erected by any State at any exposition and is the second largest building on the Exposition grounds. When completed and furnished it will represent an expenditure of $2,000,000. It will be the host building of the Exposition.

* * *

G. A. Dennison, chief of the department of horticulture of the Exposition, has received from a firm in St. Albans, England, a letter stating that shipments of shrubs and trees from Europe for the Exposition will proceed as planned before the war.

* * *

Oscar H. Fernbach, who went to Mexico recently as United States commissioner to exploit the Exposition, has returned to San Francisco. On the route returning he stopped at Havana and found great enthusiasm there for the Exposition.

* * *

Another great shipment from Japan for the Exposition arrived in San Francisco on November 16th. It included 550 tons of decorative, building and garden materials for the government building and more than 200 tons of exhibits. This is the third great shipment and there will be at least one more before Japan has brought her representation to the Exposition. Japanese workmen came with the first shipment and are engaged in preparing the pavilion and exhibit booths.

* * *

The building of the State of New York practically stands completed on the grounds of the Exposition, and bids were asked on November 7th for the construction of the structure of New York City. The State appropriated $700,000, but the great Eastern metropolis thought this would not insure sufficient representation for its own wonders, and promptly appropriated $100,000 for a New York City building and exhibit.

* * *

A train of eleven full cars, carrying a part of Cuba's horticultural display, has arrived on the grounds of the Exposition. The shipment includes great palm trees, cocoanut palms, coffee trees in fruit, bread fruit, bananas and scores of other tropical varieties. Cuba is to be given a place of honor under the dome of the Palace of Horticulture.

EXAMINATIONS BY CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION.

The Municipal Civil Service Association at its last meeting discussed the matter of examinations for promotions in the tax office and other departments. It was announced that a date (December 5th) had been fixed for the examination for promotion from clerks to deputies in the Tax Collector's office and that a communication would be addressed to the Civil Service Commission suggesting that an open examination be held immediately thereafter for deputies in that office, the information being that there were twelve positions of temporary deputies and only about eight clerks eligible to take the promotional examination.

The attention of the Commission will be called to the necessity and importance of proceeding as expeditiously as possible to fill all promotional positions in the other offices subject to the civil service provisions of the charter.

To complete the plans of the money raising campaign to the Associated Charities, a meeting will be held in the rose room of the Hotel St. Francis Friday. All those who have promised to help in meeting the $30,000 deficit which threatens the life of the Associated Charities will be present. City officials and the officers of men's and women's clubs will be prominent in the gathering.

It is stated that a proposition to abolish the assembly branch of the Legislature is being considered by some of the state's statesmen.

The inmates of the Relief Home were treated to their usual turkey dinner on Thanksgiving.

Vol. VII—No. 49. SAN FRANCISCO, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 3, 1914.

Business Transacted at Weekly Meeting of the Board of Supervisors

At the meeting of the Board of Supervisors last Monday, the Mayor's veto was sustained whereby he refused to approve of the resolution granting the privilege of a street carnival in Kearny street.

No bids were received for the purchase of $550,000 Library bonds, and an ordinance was passed to print putting these bonds on sale at the Treasurer's office.

Last Thursday having been a holiday, and matters passed to print the previous week not having been sufficiently published, only new business was on the calendar for action.

Resolutions Adopted.

The following resolutions were adopted:

Authorizing the Mayor to enter into an agreement with the Panama-Pacific Exposition Company whereby the company will be permitted to use a lot of land on Polk street in the Civic Center for a powerhouse to furnish light and heat for the new Auditorium until the municipal power plant is ready to operate.

The Mayor was authorized to sell two shack buildings on Julian avenue heretofore used by the School Department.

The Assessor was authorized to correct certain erroneous assessments.

The City Engineer was directed to prepare plans and submit estimates of cost of an extension of the Municipal Railway from Fourth and Fulton street through Golden Gate Park and into the Sunset district.

Contracts were awarded for furnishing some hospital equipment.

The City Attorney was authorized to employ assistance in the condemnation of certain property in Poopenaut Valley, Tuolumne County, needed by the city as a site for a power station.

The City Engineer was requested to make a report on the erection of a shelter station on Lincoln way for the benefit of the inmates of the Relief Home; also as to the possible use of the Second street pumping station for generating electricity for municipal purposes.

Public Work Ordered.

Bills were passed to print ordering the construction of a concrete pathological and garage building at the San Francisco Hospital; the installation of a vacuum cleaning system and fire escape standpipe at the same institution; also for the construction of sewers in Nineteenth and Twentieth avenues, from Quintara street to Lincoln way.

STARTING THE TWIN PEAKS TUNNEL.

Preliminary work was started on the Twin Peaks Tunnel this week, when one hundred men started tearing up pavements in the vicinity of Seventeenth and Castro streets. A large crowd watched the workmen throughout the day.

All sewer, water and gas mains and the pipe of the high pressure auxiliary system in streets which the tunnel will cross in the Eureka valley will have to be changed to the new grades before any excavation can be made.

City Engineer O'Shaughnessy stated that the preliminary work would occupy about two weeks, after which steam shovels would be put to work. The first shovelful of earth will be turned by Mayor Rolph at the eastern portal, Seventeenth and Collingwood streets. The festivities of the occasion are being arranged by Supervisor J. Emmet Hayden.

Two acres have been leased at the western portal of the tunnel for a construction camp. Buildings will be erected for the housing of men and horses.

BIDDERS OFFER TO BUY BONDS.

Sacramento, Cal.—During the winter it may be possible to have construction work in progress upon the $1,329,000 new annexed district and high-pressure water system in Sacramento, for which bonds have been voted, according to the announcement of City Commissioner of Finance F. E. Shaw. About $33,000 worth of bonds already have been sold. The United States Cast Iron Pipe Company, which is one of the largest pipe manufacturing concerns in the country, has informed a Shaw representative that it is anxious to take over the entire job and will market the bonds if it can do all the work. As a result of this offer it is probable that the commission will call for bids upon the entire job, with the understanding that the first which gets the contract must place the bonds upon the market. Dr. Shaw points out that if the big pipe job were in progress during the winter it would help relieve any unemployed problem Sacramento might have.

THE 4 PER CENT MUNICIPAL BOND COMING AGAIN.

So great has been the improvement in the market for municipal bonds that the reappearance of the 4 per cent long term municipal bond is believed to be not far away. Four weeks ago municipalities of high credit standing were eager to borrow money for short terms at 5½ per cent and 6 per cent. Some tax exempt municipals in New England are now selling on a 3.90 per cent basis. Short term municipal paper is selling on a 4.10 per cent to a 4.50 per cent basis. The New York City one, two and three-year revenue bonds are around a 4.60 per cent basis.—Financial World.

ISLAIS INCINERATOR REJECTED.

The Board of Public Works last week made a formal order rejecting the Islais Creek incinerating plant, which has been under test for a considerable period of time, requiring the removal of the furnaces and operating machinery and demanding a return of all money paid by the city on account thereof.

The order was based on a report of the City Engineer, wherein the summary of his conclusions were stated as follows:

The plant does not meet the first guarantee that no nuisance is created in its normal operation.

The plant does not meet the second guarantee that no odors, obnoxious gases, smoke or dust escape from the building or the chimney.

The plant does not meet the third guarantee in the requirement that the temperature in the combustion chambers shall at no time fall below 1250 degrees F. It does meet this guarantee in that the average temperature maintained in the combustion chambers is in excess of 1500 degrees F.

The plant does not fully meet the fourth guarantee that the residue from the furnaces shall be thoroughly burned hard and free from organic matter.

The plant fully meets the fifth guarantee that the flues, dust collectors, furnaces and combustion chambers shall be so arranged that it should not be necessary to shut down any one unit for more than 48 hours in any one week in order to thoroughly remove dust and ashes.

The sixth guarantee that the pounds of refuse per hour which will be incinerated per square foot of grate area shall not be less than stated in the contractor's bid is fully met.

The seventh guarantee that the average cost per ton at each plant for incinerating refuse shall not be greater than stated in the contractor's bid is fully met.

In his letter transmitting the report from which the foregoing conclusions are taken, Mr. O'Shaughnessy recommended the rejection of the incinerator, under a contract provision to the effect that if the plant did not fulfill all the contract guarantees the city might refuse to accept the plant, in which case the contractor should return to the city within thirty days all money paid to him by the city on account.

MATTERS BEFORE THE FIRE COMMISSION.

CHICAGO HAS MUNICIPAL DANCE HALLS.

To guard against the evils of privately conducted dance halls, Chicago will this week open its own halls. They will be under the city's department of public welfare. City officials will attend the grand opening, and Mayor Carter Harrison will speak. Women's clubs are to furnish the chaperones, under Mrs. Leonora Z. Meder, head of the welfare department.

PITTSBURGH BEAUTIFYING ITS HILLS.

Pittsburgh's slowly developed esthetic taste is turning to the bare hills of the city for expression. The bald knobs that wall in the city of Pittsburgh and give it a bare, rubbed horizon line are to be transformed into vine-clad and tree-crested hills. Public Works Director Robert Swan and George W. Burke, Superintendent of City Parks, have imported from Asia Minor large quantities of lycium vine. The drab slopes are to be planted with this vine, which, when matured, has a bright red hue. It requires no attention and very little nourishment. Another quality that recommends it to Pittsburgh is that it is impervious to smoke, gases, fogs and weather. Upon the summits of all the hills sumac trees and a species of sturdy locust will be planted. Superintendent Burke declares that within ten years the hills of Pittsburgh will be as noted for their beauty as they now are for their ugliness.

GREATER NEW YORK LAND VALUES.

The land now included within the limits of the Borough of Manhattan was purchased in 1626 from the Indians by Peter Minnet for sixty guilders, the equivalent of $24. It was supposed that the purchase included 2200 acres instead of about one-half that area.

The purchase afforded a site for New York City, which has now grown to 209,218 acres. The area of the five boroughs of the city is shown in the following table:

Borough—	Acres.	Sq. Miles.
Manhattan	14,038	21.93
Bronx	26,017	40.65
Brooklyn	49,680	77.62
Queens	82,883	129.50
Richmond	36,600	57.19
Totals	209,218	326.89

Remarkable as this growth has been, the increase in land values has expanded Peter Minuet's sixty guilders into $8,390,185,572. This is shown in the taxable valuations set down in the tax list for 1914, as follows:

Borough—	1914.
Manhattan	$5,437,019,030
Bronx	664,393,313
Brooklyn	1,710,471,995
Queens	494,601,906
Richmond	83,699,328
Total	$8,390,185,572

There are no Indians now left near the limits of New York City, excepting the few remaining members of the Montauk tribe at the eastern end of Long Island.

TUNNEL TAXES DUE.

Tax Collector Bryant has reported that the second installment of the Twin Peaks Tunnel assessments, where agreements have been signed, is being paid in large numbers. The sum of approximately $50,000 has been collected to date, including interest and redemptions, and this will be swelled to $400,000 before December 28, 1914, when the second installment will become delinquent.

The second installment payment includes one-tenth of the original assessment plus six months' interest on the unpaid balance at 7 per cent from July 1, 1914, to January 1, 1915.

Property owners are bringing in their first installment receipts to facilitate securing of their new bills and some of them are settling balances in full to avoid paying any further interest after this year. All installment payments, beginning with the third, will be due in December of each year hereafter and will bear interest for one year at 7 per cent.

The third installment of the Stockton Street Tunnel assessment has also been collected in the sum of $15,750, and many balances in full are being paid thereon.

SAN FRANCISCO ITEMS FIFTY YEARS OLD.

A writer who has been looking over the files of old papers finds the following news items were published fifty years ago this month:

The Volunteer Fire Department of San Francisco had many combative individuals in its membership, and big fights between rival companies were of frequent occurrence. One of these, of large proportions, occurred on Sunday morning, December 11th, after a fire had been put out on Stockton street. Paving stones, sticks of stovewood and other missiles were freely used, and over twenty of the fighters received serious injuries. People returning from church while the riot was in progress made quick departure for safety, and the police were unable to cope with the fighting crowd.

The city of San Francisco made a contract during this month with a party named Kennard, of Boston, to erect and put into operation an electric fire alarm service.

Patsey Marley and Johnny Devine left San Francisco December 22d with several hundred sports on the steamer "Antelope" and went to San Pablo Point, where they had a prize-fight. It lasted three hours, with 142 rounds. The referee decided Devine to be the winner on a foul, but the stakeholder declared Marley the victor and refused to hand over the purse. Considerable fistic trouble was expected to result from the difference of opinion between the sporting fraternity.

Special efforts were made in San Francisco to enforce the Sunday law, forbidding theatrical performances on the Sabbath, and on Christmas night a score of managers and actors were arrested.

The high cost of living did not appear to interfere with the feasting enjoyment of the day. Turkeys, dressed, retailed at 35 cents a pound, fresh butter was $1 a pound, and a quality not so fresh from Oregon sold at 70 cents; fresh eggs were selling at 90 cents a dozen, and Los Angeles oranges were priced at 10 cents apiece.

COST OF STREET REPAIRS IN CHICAGO.

The Chicago municipal asphalt plant has effected a decrease in cost of repairs, and during 1913 asphalt pavements were repaired at a cost of 81.1 cents per square yard, or 87.1 cents per square yard allowing for plant depreciation and interest on investment. At a total cost of $62,637.03, or $1.175 per square yard, 53,342 square yards of brick pavements were repaired. Granite block pavements to the extent of 59,345 square yards were repaired at 53.2 cents per square yard, or a total of $31,593.04. Macadam pavements cost 12.16 cents per square yard, 1,880,365 yards having been repaired at a cost of $227,443.03. Of cedar block pavements 2595 square yards were repaired at a cost of $524.49, or 20.25 cents per square yard.

LINCOLN HIGHWAY CELEBRATION.

Detroit, Mich.—To fittingly celebrate the successful completion of a year of progress on October 31, the Lincoln Highway Association has decided upon a unique way of forming a blazing line of bonfires to mark the transcontinental trail from coast to coast, a distance of 3400 miles. In addition to this celebrations were held in about 2000 cities and towns along the route. Among these were Newark, Trenton, Philadelphia, Lancaster, Chambersburg, Pittsburgh, Canton, Mansfield, Bucyrus, Lima, Fort Wayne, Elkhart, South Bend, Chicago Heights, DeKalb, Dixon, Clinton, Cedar Rapids, Omaha, Kearney, North Platte, Cheyenne, Evanston, Ogden, Salt Lake City, Ely, Reno, Carson City, Sacramento, Oakland and San Francisco. Vice-President Pardington of the association reports that the first year of the national highway has seen 2700 of the 3400 miles marked by signs for the guidance of tourists. By spring it is expected that the entire route will be marked with red, white and blue signs. There will be at least five markers to the mile, and 17,000 will be needed to finish the work. In addition to marking the trail properly, many of the feeders also have been tagged.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE PARK COMMISSIONERS.

At a meeting of the Board of Park Commissioners held November 19th, 1914, the following business was transacted:

By instructions received from H. H. Hart, Assistant City Attorney, the Secretary was instructed to inform the Playground Commission that it will be necessary for them to transfer that portion of Hamilton Square transferred to them by resolution of the Park Board, June 16th, 1911, to the Park Commission before the whole of Hamilton Square can be placed under their jurisdiction.

Chief of Police D. A. White forwarded a copy of report of Captain James Kelly and Officer R. Tatham relative to the necessary convenience station at Tenth avenue and Fulton street.

The request of Lieutenants Chaney, Ord and Corlett, representing the polo players of the officers of the Presidio, requesting the privilege of using the inner portion of the stadium for polo practice, was referred to Superintendent McLaren to report at the next meeting relative to damage done to the lawn after a practice game.

The request of Theo. Hittell for permission to dump sand in Golden Gate Park in the neighborhood of Twenty-second avenue and Lincoln way was granted, subject to directions of Superintendent McLaren.

Journal Resolution No. 1521 of the Board of Supervisors, which relates to the beautification of empty lots and which asks that the Board of Park Commissioners take general supervision and to assist and co-operate with the State Federation of Women's Clubs by giving seeds and plants, was referred to Superintendent McLaren.

A request for a buck deer for breeding purposes from Mrs. Horace Nelson of Halfmoon Bay was referred to Superintendent McLaren with instructions to grant request with certain conditions to be imposed by him.

The request of Miss Maude Lissak, Lafayette Kindergarten, for Christmas tree was granted.

A letter of thanks was ordered sent City Engineer O'Shaughnessy for his prompt action in regard to repairs at Union Square.

A request of the Board of Public Works for granite lamp bases which were formerly a portion of the coping around the old City Hall and which are now desired to replace damaged stones around the Hall of Records was granted.

Three members of the Indoor Yacht Beach Club appeared before the board protesting against the action of the police in removing a brush shelter that they had erected on the ocean beach as a protection from the sun and also as a windbreak. Referred to Superintendent McLaren.

HOW BOSTON REDUCES THE FIRE HAZARD.

Fire Commissioner John Grady, in the Boston City Record, describes the method of inspection by members of the fire department and its effect as a means of fire prevention:

"The Boston Fire Department has in practice today an inspection system, which for some time appeared to be only a theory. About six months ago it was decided that whether we had laws or not something must be done by this city to cut down the enormous loss from fire under which we were laboring. After careful consideration the 'moral suasion' plan was adopted and the inspection system put into practice. Two lieutenants were detailed to inspect buildings in certain sections of the city. The class of buildings decided upon were hotel, apartment and mercantile buildings. The greatest fire risk exists in these buildings and it was felt that the inspection system should properly start where the greatest danger existed. The plan was to make the owners of property see where the serious mistakes were by bringing the matters to their attention in a proper and effective way. Since the beginning of this inspection system the inspecting force has been greatly enlarged and inspections are being made in all parts of the city. I give below a few figures which show the amount of work that is being done and that is necessary in order that the inspections may have the proper effect.

"Number of premises inspected from April 12 to November 1, 1914, 2000; number of inspections made by chiefs and subordinate officers, 15,277; special inspections, 2000; number of recommendations offered, 1800; number of recommendations adopted, 1725.

"Some of the recommendations have entailed the expenditure of large sums of money, but it is gratifying to state that in almost every case the Fire Department officials have been met with the hearty co-operation of property owners.

"The inspectors have been carefully instructed in their work, just what to look for, and just how to go about their duties. Business is done only with the men in charge of a building and everything is carefully explained to him. After the inspector completes his inspection a report is forwarded to headquarters stating the conditions found and offering recommendations for their corrections. At headquarters the recommendations are carefully gone over and requests from the Fire Commissioner to remedy the conditions set forth are mailed to the owners. When conditions are found that are dangerous and liable to cause fire the Fire Commissioner has the authority to demand their correction. This is immediately done. A follow-up system is in force in order to find out whether or not the recommendations have been adopted. If the conditions which are liable to cause fire are not corrected the owner is notified a second time, and if no action is then taken, prosecution is immediately commenced. Considering the large number of cases reported, the number of cases turned over to the police are comparatively few.

"Of course, it will take a long time to cover the entire city, as buildings have to be inspected over and over again to see if the recommendations are receiving proper attention. The inspecting force must necessarily be small, as the fire fighting strength of the companies must not be weakened. The work is being done, and done well, and with the continued hearty co-operation of householders and property owners much good is bound to result."

ACCEPTANCE OF PARK GIFT RECOMMENDED.

Recommendation has been made by the Board of Park Commissioners that the city accept a gift of 17 acres of land in the Bay View district, which has been tendered the city for park purposes by Henry A. Crane and the Crocker Estate Company. The gift is conditional that the city include in the tract eight acres of land adjoining, which with that proffered will make a fine park site.

Where to Make Complaints

Citizens can benefit themselves and at the same time expedite the transaction of public business by observing the following general rules regarding the transmission of complaints.

TO THE SUPERVISORS.

All requests for new legislation or changes in the ordinances, for appropriations, for such permits as the board can grant, in relation to the conduct of public service corporations, for the installation of street lights, or for any service beyond the power of any other department to grant.

TO THE BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS.

All matters relating to streets, including grading, opening, improvement, repair or cleaning thereof, to sewers, to the construction of buildings, or any other construction work under its charge, to house numbering, to the maintenance of public buildings and all matters of an engineering nature.

TO THE BOARD OF HEALTH.

All matters relating to sanitation and the enforcement or non-enforcement of sanitary regulations, the abatement of nuisances, etc.

TO THE DEPARTMENT OF ELECTRICITY.

All matters relating to electrical installations either in buildings or streets.

TO THE WATER AND LIGHT INSPECTOR.

All complaints as to improper service or charge for gas, electricity or water.

TO THE FIRE DEPARTMENT.

All requests for additional fire protection, including fire alarm boxes, complaints against such things as increase the fire hazard, and the enforcement of fire protection ordinances.

TO THE POLICE DEPARTMENT.

All complaints of non-enforcement of ordinances and requests for such permits as the Police Commissioners may grant.

Communications relating to education, parks, playgrounds, civil service, should be transmitted directly to the commissions having control of the subject.

In case any department or officer fails to acknowledge the receipt of the communication or fails to give attention to the matter stated therein, then such dereliction should be brought to the attention of the Mayor.

PERMITS GRANTED BY POLICE COMMISSION.

At a meeting of the Board of Police Commissioners held on November 23, 1914, the following permits were granted:

Retail liquor dealers—Burns & Graham, to remove from southeast corner Twenty-fourth and Capp streets, to southwest corner Twenty-ninth and Sanchez streets; Chris T. Sarris, to purchase of George Capitan, 1874 Union street, and remove to 219 O'Farrell street.

Miscellaneous—Lachman & Sattler, kinetoscope keepers, 1969 Chestnut street; Sam Spiros, billiard parlor, 232 Stevenson street; Alexander MacGregor, intelligence office, to purchase of William E. Clark, 1112 Market street.

SHACKS FAST DISAPPEARING.

With the removal of the last of the frame shack buildings from the Embarcadero, the removal within the next two weeks of a few on Larkin street, between Golden Gate avenue and Turk street, and peremptory notice served by President Reardon of the Board of Public Works on the Irvine estate to remove the ones now standing on Market street, east of Marshall Square, all of the objectionable frame shacks within the fire limits will soon have disappeared. The managers of the Irvine estate have claimed that their hands were tied by the condemnation suit instituted by the city to secure the land on which the shacks stand for Civic Center purposes and for this reason they were unable to comply with the request for removal. The phase of the case has been referred to the City Attorney for investigation, but unless the city is legally estopped, President Reardon says that he will issue orders to have the shacks torn down.

COLLECTS TAX ON IMPOUNDED MONEY.

Gold coin and currency to the amount of $72,129.31 has been paid into the Tax Collector's office by seven local banks pursuant to an order of the United States District Court directing that the sums making up this amount be paid in response to the tax levy on the money impounded in the Spring Valley rate cases. Although the money taxed, representing the amounts impounded pending a disposition of the suit brought by the water company to invalidate the rate fixed by the Board of Supervisors, has been accumulating for several years, this is the first time it has been subjected to taxation.

ADOPT ORIGINAL PLANS.

The Building Committee of the Board of Supervisors has decided to adopt the original plans for the group of buildings at the new San Francisco Hospital, which includes the Tuberculosis Hospital, against which there have been many protests in a site with the other buildings. All protests against the Tubercular Hospital have been referred to the Board of Health.

STREET ACCEPTANCES.

Bills have been passed to print by the Board of Supervisors providing for the full acceptance of the roadway of Leese street, between Mission and Park streets; Leese street, between Park street and Richland avenue; crossing of Leese street and Richland avenue; intersection of Leese and Park streets.

For the conditional acceptance of the roadway of First street, between Brannan street and the Embarcadero, including intersection of Bluxome street; Gough street, between Chestnut and Lombard streets.

Treasurer McDougald has sold the last of the Municipal Street Railway bonds, which closes the sale of all of the five per cent bonds of the city. Henceforth only four and a half per cent bonds will be on the counter. With improving market conditions these bonds will doubtless be in demand.

Bids will be received next Friday by the Board of Public Works for the equipment for the Civic Center power plant, for underground distribution system in Civic Center, and on December 9 for lighting system for the Geary street car barn and for cast iron water pipe.

The Coroner's office has been duly installed in its new quarters in Merchant street, between Kearny and Montgomery streets.

The monthly report of the Poundkeeper shows that 505 animals were impounded during November; 325 dogs were killed.

The new asphalt plant has been completed and accepted by the Board of Public Works.

DEMOCRACY IN LOCAL MATTERS.

In the schoolhouse in Belleville, Wisconsin, a few evenings ago, upon motion of the Catholic priest, the Methodist minister was elected president of the community's social center for the coming winter.

Then three basketball teams were formed, including the priest, the minister, the blacksmith, the editor, a farmer, the keeper of the village restaurant, a dentist, a clothier, a teamster, a druggist, a garage owner, the banker, the saloon-keeper, a hardware merchant and a house painter.

They differed in religion, in politics, in incomes, in social status, about as widely as men can differ. But in the common school building, in the free democracy of the social center, they agreed to lay aside their differences for the novel purpose of discovering how much good fellowship there was in meeting together, now and then, as equals, as brothers.

In the democracy of play, in the democracy of frank, fair discussion of public questions, they are finding out, these differing men of Belleville, that, as human beings, they're amazingly alike, once you get below the surface.

And out of this agreeable discovery will come, for Belleville, more tolerance, more kindliness of feeling, more give and take, than it had ever known before. Even when they shall differ again—as, of course, they often will—it won't be with as much bitterness, as much bigotry, as much mean hate, as of yore.

It's a wonderful solvent, is brotherhood.—Stockton Record.

SUCCESSFUL WEED SLAUGHTER.

Following in the steps of Berkeley and other California cities which have undertaken to minimize the weed nuisance, Los Angeles this year carried on a heavy compaign, which has just come to a close. In the systematic effort to place vacant property in a presentable condition, 2,044 lots were cleaned by the forces of the city, for which the property effected was assessed. In addition, 9,800 property owners voluntarily co-operated with the city in this work. Another campaign is planned for next year which will begin some time in May, after the grass and weeds have reached maturity, and before they have begun to go to seed.

NOTICE—TUNNEL TAXES DUE.

Installment of Twin Peaks and Stockton street tunnel assessments on signed agreements only are now payable at City Hall, 1217 Market street. If installment is not paid before December 28, 1914, entire unpaid balance must be paid in twelve days therefrom, or property will be sold for delinquency. Bring first installment receipts at once and get new bills. E. F. BRYANT, Tax Collector.

A resolution was adopted by the Board requesting that the Judiciary Committee of the Board of Supervisors place on the ballot a charter amendment designed to make statutory the positions of Health Officer, Chief Sanitary Inspector, Superintendent of the City and County Hospital and Superintendent of the Relief Home.

Complaints having been filed with the Health Department owing to the fact that the eyesight of numerous bystanders has been affected after watching the operation of an electric welding machine used by the track men of the United Railroads, a communication was directed to be forwarded to the United Railroads asking that they post a conspicuous sign warning the public against watching this operation for any length of time, and the Board of Health also desires to warn the people against the practice of staring at this light, as it no doubt is injurious to the eyesight.

INSTRUCTION IN CITIZENSHIP.

The method of attaining citizenship has been dignified and its possession made more valuable by the simple process of accepting school certificates in lieu of a public examination before the court.

At the regular monthly recognition service for new citizens at the Los Angeles High School on Wednesday evening, November 25th, for the first time in history, citizenship papers were presented to a class of twenty-one, the members of which had completed a special course in the high school and had received certificates therefor—the only further requirement being the proof by witnesses of residence and good character.

The Superior Court has recognized the value of citizenship certificates by issuing the following notice:

"In the Superior Court of the State of California, in and for the County of Los Angeles—Notice—

"In re application for citizenship. Hereafter, until further order, applicants who present certificates from public schools will be admitted to citizenship under proof by witnesses of residence and good character alone, and without the usual examination in open court."

REPORT ON CHURCH STREET RAILWAY.

The report of the Board of Public Works and City Engineer on the construction of the Church street line of the Municipal Railway system, together with maps, plans and specifications, was formally presented to the Board of Supervisors last Monday afternoon. The report consisted of a resolution of the Board of Public Works and a communication of the City Engineer, as follows:

Resolution No. 34638, Second Series.

Whereas, The Board of Supervisors, by Journal Resolution No. 1411, directed the Board of Public Works to prepare plans and specifications for the construction of the Church Street Municipal Railroad, as per outlined plan proposed by the Church Street Railroad Non-Assessment League, known as Plan No. 7, which was presented to the Board of Supervisors on July 13, 1914, by the Church Street Railroad Non-Assessment League, and which proposed the construction of a cable railway transportation system on the steepest portions of Church street, south of Eighteenth or of Dorland street; and

Whereas, The Board of Public Works, in conformity with said Journal Resolution No. 1411, of the Board of Supervisors, directed the City Engineer, by Resolution No. 32927, Second Series, approved September 16, 1914, to prepare plans and specifications for the construction of the Church Street Extension of the Municipal Railway in accordance with the plan designated in said Journal Resolution No. 1411;

Resolved, That the Board of Public Works hereby transmits to the Board of Supervisors the plan and specifications prepared and submitted by the City Engineer in conformity with the provisions of Journal Resolution No. 1411, of the Board of Supervisors, for the construction of a cable system extension of the Municipal Railway on Church street, and in so doing respectfully directs the attention of his Honor the Mayo, ex-officio chairman, and the members of the Board of Supervisors to the expensive and probably dangerous character of such cable construction on a street with such heavy grades to surmount as are experienced on Church street, and further calls attention to the fact that in the event of the Board of Supervisors approving such plans and putting them into effect the Board of Supervisors will act without the approval of this project by the Board of Public Works.

Passed by the following vote Monday, December 7, 1914: Ayes—Commissioners Fraser, Judell and Reardon.

Communication of City Engineer.

To the Honorable the Board of Public Works of the City and County of San Francisco.

Gentlemen:

There are transmitted herewith two (2) copies of Specifications No. 11093, Contract No. 23, Section "B" of the Municipal Railway System, for the construction of the Church Street Line, Auxiliary Cable System.

These specifications have been prepared in accordance with the provisions of your Resolution No. 32927 (Second Series), passed September 16, 1914, pursuant to the directions embodied in Journal Resolution No. 1411 of the Board of Supervisors.

As more fully set forth in a letter addressed to the Board of Supervisors on September 10, 1914, the method contemplated in these specifications for overcoming the steep grades on Church street is undesirable from a mechanical standpoint, will be dangerous to passengers on the Church Street Railroad, and will result in an unwarrantable expense in operating the road.

Should the Board of Supervisors pass an ordinance directing your Board to proceed with the construction of the Church Street Railroad with a cable auxiliary in accordance with these specifications, arrangements should be made by the Supervisors to secure a suitable lot for the construction of the cable powerhouse. This lot should be approximately 50 feet on Church street by 160 feet deep. Arrangements should also be made with the United Railroads at once for the joint use of their track on Market street and on Church street from Market street to Sixteenth street by the city, as indicated in so-called Plan No. 7.

It is estimated that the cost of the work contemplated under these specifications will be in excess of $300,000. Prospective bidders should be allowed at least ninety (90) days in which to prepare bids for the work and the bond of the contractor should be fixed at not less than $150,000.

Specifications for the standard double track electric railroad construction from Van Ness avenue and Market street to Church and Dorland streets, and from Twenty-second and Church streets to Thirtieth and Church streets can be prepared during the period of advertisement for bids under these specifications, provided they are approved, and the necessary arrangements are made for the use of the tracks of the United Railroads.

Respectfully submitted,

M. M. O'SHAUGHNESSY, City Engineer.

The matter was discussed by the Board of Supervisors to a considerable extent, and a motion to order the construction of the work resulted in a tie vote, nine Supervisors voting aye and nine voting no.

It was then decided to hold a special meeting on Tuesday evening, December 15, at which time an endeavor will be made to settle the controversy.

BY WAY OF INFORMATION.

Every once in a while a suggestion comes to the Board of Supervisors that salt water from the high pressure system should be used for street sprinkling and sewer flushing.

The plan suggested cannot be adopted for the following reasons:

Salt water causes rapid corrosion of the iron pipes and increases depreciation. Fresh water is therefore used. This is purchased from the Spring Valley Water Company and pumped into the high reservoirs. It would cost more to use this water than it does to use the water from the ordinary low pressure hydrants.

MATTERS BEFORE THE FIRE COMMISSION.

At the regular meeting of the Board of Fire Commissioners on December 2 the following appointments were made from the civil service lists: John E. Gavin, captain; John F. Kearney, lieutenant; Albert L. Blanchard, fireman.

A communication was received from the Mission Garage, commending the department for services rendered at a fire at 1507 Valencia street on October 13.

The Chief Engineer submitted a report from the Superintendent of Engines relative to the speed and endurance test of the squad wagon furnished the department by the American-La France Fire Engine Company, which took place on November 21st. Another test is to be run.

The following list of applications for transfers to positions posted as vacant since the last meeting of the Board, as follows:

Chas. J. Cullen, from captain Engine 10 to captain Engine 22.

Timothy Flynn, from lieutenant Chemical 8 to lieutenant Engine 31.

H. J. Donnadieu, from lieutenant Water Tower 1 to lieutenant Chemical 4.

Olaf Ellingsen, from hoseman Engine 24 to hoseman Fireboat 1.

A MILESTONE IN MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP.

The City Council of Los Angeles has passed a resolution authorizing and directing the City Attorney to proceed with the condemnation of that part of the plant of the Southern California Edison Company desired by the city for the purpose of municipal distribution of the electric power to be generated by the Owens river aqueduct water. The proceeding will be conducted before the State Railroad Commission which under laws recently enacted in the state is authorized to fix the price for utilities taken over under condemnation, saving an immense amount of time heretofore wasted in the impanelment of a jury and the interminable process of the usual trial in a court of law. The price fixed by the commission will be paid out of the sale of $6,500,000 worth of bonds, voted for a distributing system, but not yet sold. It is anticipated that the company will resist the proceeding and carry its opposition to the court of last resort. The Council resolution is the first step in a remarkable and novel method for the condemnation of public utilities by municipalities, and the subsequent proceedings will be watched with keen interest by all students of civic affairs.—Outlook.

Where to Make Complaints

Citizens can benefit themselves and at the same time expedite the transaction of public business by observing the following general rules regarding the transmission of complaints.

TO THE SUPERVISORS.

All requests for new legislation or changes in the ordinances, for appropriations, for such permits as the board can grant, in relation to the conduct of public service corporations, for the installation of street lights, or for any service beyond the power of any other department to grant.

TO THE BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS.

All matters relating to streets, including grading, opening, improvement, repair or cleaning thereof, to sewers, to the construction of buildings, or any other construction work under its charge, to house numbering, to the maintenance of public buildings and all matters of an engineering nature.

TO THE BOARD OF HEALTH.

All matters relating to sanitation and the enforcement or non-enforcement of sanitary regulations, the abatement of nuisances, etc.

TO THE DEPARTMENT OF ELECTRICITY.

All matters relating to electrical installations either in buildings or streets.

TO THE WATER AND LIGHT INSPECTOR.

All complaints as to improper service or charge for gas, electricity or water.

TO THE FIRE DEPARTMENT.

All requests for additional fire protection, including fire alarm boxes, complaints against such things as increase the fire hazard, and the enforcement of fire protection ordinances.

TO THE POLICE DEPARTMENT.

All complaints of non-enforcement of ordinances and requests for such permits as the Police Commissioners may grant.

Communications relating to education, parks, playgrounds, civil service, should be transmitted directly to the commissions having control of the subject.

In case any department or officer fails to acknowledge the receipt of the communication or fails to give attention to the matter stated therein, then such dereliction should be brought to the attention of the Mayor.

CIVIL SERVICE ASSOCIATION HAS INTERESTING SESSION.

At the regular meeting of the Municipal Civil Service Association on Tuesday, December 8th, six new members were admitted and introduced and seven applications for membership were referred to the executive committee.

The pension committee will be invited to meet with the executive committee at a special meeting to be set for the purpose of co-operating with said committee in its work. In relation to the proposed charter amendment designed to change section 9 of article 13, relative to sex selection, the Association adopted a resolution to the effect that the judiciary committee, Board of Supervisors, be advised that we are not in favor of the amendment in its present form, but we do not under any circumstances favor a sex discrimination in the selection of employees. Further, that we recommend to said committee to change the wording so as to make it read that when the head of a department or office specifies sex he must satisfy the Civil Service Commission as to his reason for selecting male or female, as the case may be.

The Association placed itself on record as endorsing proposed charter amendment covering section 5, chapter 4, article 8 (Police Department), which has been drafted by the general clerks.

The executive committee on November 27, 1914, met with representatives of the Scannell Club for the purpose of discussing the various proposed charter amendments which are fathered by said club. The executive committee reported that these amendments have been very carefully discussed and recommended to the Association to approve and endorse said proposed amendments as submitted, and further that the Board of Supervisors be apprised to such action and the Scannell Club advised that they may use the name of this Association as freely as they may choose as endorsers of their movement. This recommendation was unanimously adopted.

Vol. VII—No. 51. SAN FRANCISCO, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 17, 1914.

Supervisors Vote to Reject Cable Scheme for Church Street Railway

The Board of Supervisors held a special meeting on Tuesday evening for the purpose of deciding whether the proposed Church street line of the Municipal Railway should be operated by a cable over the Church street hill or whether the plan of the City Engineer should be followed. There was a large attendance of interested citizens and the matter was debated at length and it was 1 o'clock before the final vote was taken.

By a vote of 9 to 8 (one Supervisor being absent) the Board refused to adopt the cable plan and ordered the work to proceed along the lines originally laid out—that is, that the road must be built within the appropriations already made.

Proceedings of Regular Session.

At the session of the Board of Supervisors last Monday afternoon the protest against the closing of certain streets contiguous to Islais Creek was overruled and the streets ordered closed. The streets exist only on the map, and by closing them the area can be developed as an industrial and manufacturing district.

Appropriations.

Among the items of appropriations finally passed were: $5105 for instruments, etc., for central fire alarm station; $12,000 for central power station in the Civic Center; $23,964 for underground conduit system for Civic Center; $11,950 for equipment of central power station; $208,900 for the municipal car barn. In addition, $3000 was set aside for the purchase of right of way for Lincoln boulevard and $3500 was transferred to the Park fund for the purpose of improving McKinley Square. The improvement of Buena Vista avenue, from Buena Vista Terrace to Duboce avenue, was ordered.

Ordinances Finally Passed.

Final action was taken on the following ordinances:

Repealing the ordinance recently passed prohibiting the showing of battle scenes at moving picture exhibitions.

Amending the tunnel procedure ordinance, so as to permit the extension of time for the payment of installments of assessments. (This does not affect the Stockton street tunnel assessment, but applies only to that of Twin Peaks.)

Granting to the Frapoli Estate the right to construct a spur track at Davis and Chambers streets.

Street Work Ordered.

The following streets were ordered improved:

Ocean avenue, between San Jose and Onondaga avenues, by the construction of concrete curbs and asphalt pavement, with catchbasins, culverts, etc., at intersections.

Cotter street, between Mission street and the Ocean Shore Railway, by the construction of granite curbs and asphalt pavement, and the same improvement of Santa Rosa avenue, from Mission street to Alemany avenue.

The crossing of Onondaga and Cayuga avenues, by the construction of curbs, catchbasins, culverts, sidewalks and asphalt pavement.

Ripley street, between Alabama street and Peralta avenue, by the construction of sewers.

Raymond avenue, between San Bruno avenue and Sawyer street, by the construction of sewers.

Arlington street, between Charles and Miguel streets, by the construction of granite curbs, sidewalks and asphalt pavement.

Resolutions Adopted.

Resolutions were adopted as follows:

Granting the State Improvement Company the privilege to explode blasts in Keith street for construction of a sewer.

Directing the clerk to advertise for bids for constructing fire alarm standards.

Authorizing the City Attorney to institute condemnation proceedings to acquire a sewer right of way at College Homestead.

Requesting the City Attorney to advise the Board as to

TRANSACTIONS OF THE PARK COMMISSION.

At a meeting of the Board of Park Commissioners held December 1, 1914, the following business was transacted:

Acting President Lindley called the attention of the Board to the action of the Board of Public Works, to wit: They permitted the Fay Improvement Company to excavate on the Great Highway for a sewer without consulting the wishes of the Park Board. After full investigation, Commissioner Lindley submitted a written opinion on the right of the Park Commissioners to be consulted and some guarantee given that the Park Board will not be at any expense in replacing the street in as good condition as before the excavation was made.

Upon motion of Commissioner Spreckels, seconded by Commissioner Greenebaum, the views of Acting President Lindley, as contained in the letter he submitted, were unanimously approved, and the secretary directed to send a copy to the Board of Public Works.

In the matter of certain lands in the Bay View District for park purposes. These lands are tendered by the Crocker Estate Company, the Bay View Land Company and Henry A. Crane. The secretary was instructed to advise the Board of Supervisors that, after a personal examination of the site by President Metson and Superintendent McLaren, the Park Commissioners beg to urge the Board of Supervisors to accept the land, the same being well adapted for park purposes.

The secretary was instructed to communicate with the City Attorney requesting an opinion from him as to the liability of the Park Board in the case of John Cahill. Mr. Cahill's thumb was injured while employed at the Ocean Beach; he did not report the accident to the secretary, but reported directly to the Accident Commission. The thumb was fractured and afterwards it was found that the physician attending him had not properly set the bone. Now the bone must be broken and reset, putting Mr. Cahill to additional expense and great financial loss.

The request of the California Associated Cycling Clubs asking permission for the use of the Stadium bicycle track Sunday afternoon, December 27, 1914, was referred to Superintendent McLaren.

The request from Paul Cademartori for a lease of about twenty acres of land in the northwest corner of Balboa Park, to be used for truck gardening, was referred to Superintendent McLaren.

"Tape-worm" election tickets used at Vallejo, Solano county, California, when Newton Booth was elected Governor, were offered and accepted for the Park Museum. Secretary to thank the donor, Mr. G. W. Lyford.

A communication was read from A. S. Baldwin to President Metson with plans and perspective of proposed gateway to be erected at the entrance of Arguello boulevard to Golden Gate Park by Mrs. Crawford W. Clarke, in memory of her husband, who derived much pleasure in his many visits to beautiful Golden Gate Park during his declining years. Mr. Baldwin states that Mrs. Clarke has much admiration for the present excellent administration.

The secretary was instructed to thank Mrs. Clarke for her generous offer and for her kind expressions of admiration.

The plans and specifications were approved by Commissioner Cummings and unanimously adopted by the Park Board, and the secretary was instructed to notify the architects, Bliss & Faville, to proceed with the work.

Summary of Revenue Stamp Tax Law as Affecting Legal Documents

Under this act it is unlawful to record instruments required to be stamped unless stamps of the proper amount shall have been affixed and cancelled, and it is unlawful for the Recorder to accept instruments for record unless properly stamped.

The following rulings (approved by the Internal Revenue Collector) are based upon decisions rendered under the act of June 13, 1898, and upon such decisions as have already been rendered under the act of October 22, 1914. They may be reversed by later constructions of the law. All parties are referred to the Collector of Internal Revenue for final decision on points in doubt:

Conveyances.

When the value of the property conveyed is more than $100 and not over $500, the tax is 50 cents; for each additional $500 or fraction thereof 50 cents. In determining the amount to be taxed, deduct from the true value of the property conveyed the amount of liens or encumbrances thereon.

Deeds signed, sealed and delivered prior to December 1, 1914, do not require stamps, though offered for record after that date.

Deeds which convey only a part interest are taxable only for the true value of the part conveyed.

Sheriff's deeds and commissioners' deeds are taxable.

Bonds of public officials, state, county, or municipal, not taxable.

Bonds required in legal proceedings are not taxable.

> (112) The first requirement necessary to subject any given certificate thus generally described to tax is that it shall be one which is required to be given by law, national, state, or municipal. All such are taxable, except those coming within the exemption of Section 17—that is to say, those which are given strictly in the exercise of the functions, governmental, taxing, or municipal, of the state or corporation.
>
> (92) Certificates required by law issued by any department or officer of the government at the request of private persons, solely for private use, should be stamped. The stamp should be furnished by the person applying for the instrument and for whose use and benefit the same is issued, and should be affixed before the document is delivered.

Certificates of birth, marriage, and death, given in pursuance of the laws of the state requiring the collection and registration of vital statistics as a basis for the administration of public health laws, or to be returned to any officer of a state, county, city, or town, to constitute part of a public record, require no stamps. Such certificates, however, when issued to private persons for private use, are subject to the 10-cent stamp tax.

> (86) Letters of administration and other probate papers, certificates of sale for unpaid taxes, and certificates of redemption, no stamp required.

Stamps should be affixed to a vacant space on the face of the instrument or on the margin (not on the outside or cover), and should be cancelled by writing in ink, across the face of the stamp, the initials of the party making the cancellation, and the date of cancellation, thus: A. B. C.
12-1-'14.

Provided, that the cancellation of a stamp of a value in excess of 10 cents should also include perforation or three incisions across the face of the stamp.

Stamps may be purchased at certain banks and from the Internal Revenue Collector, Custom House.

The County Recorder does not sell revenue stamps.

The use of postage stamps in lieu of revenue stamps is not allowable.

EXTEND TUNNEL PAYMENTS.

On recommendation of the Lands and Tunnel Committee, the Board of Supervisors has adopted a resolution extending the time for the payment of tunnel assessments until March 26. There is no pressing demand for the money now for construction purposes, and to enforce a collection or to impose a penalty, it is thought, might work a hardship on many of the property owners affected.

CARING FOR OLD EMPLOYES IN MUNICIPAL SERVICE.

Social workers through their enthusiastic activities have forced upon the attention of all in recent years the necessity and desirability for studying the employment problem from its humanitarian point of view. The results of their propaganda are evident in the welfare work of large corporations—the sick benefit, accident and life insurance features—and the passage generally of workmen's compensation laws. Because of the prominence of organizations which have entered into this work the impression might be gathered that such provisions are quite general, whereas investigation would show that such provisions were the exception rather than the rule. The smaller industries are far behind in their study of the needs of their employes.

It is quite certain, however, that the corporations have made as great progress as governmental organizations, though insanitary and dangerous occupations are exceptional in governmental service. Pension systems have long been the rule for members of police and fire departments. In some cities the school teachers are included, but seldom does the pension system extend to other departments. There is need, however, for general consideration of this problem, as was emphasized in the annual report of the bureau of water of Philadelphia for 1913.

The oldest regularly paid employe in that bureau is 88 years old, while forty-eight employes, or about 4 per cent of the total number, are 70 or more years of age. A much larger number are between 60 and 70. The present practice of the bureau is to continue an employe at full pay until long after he can perform his duties. The work, on the other hand, requires that most of the employes have reasonable physical vigor and activity, as well as skill and experience. The time comes when inactive men are not only of little help but frequently a positive detriment.

It is hardly necessary to discuss the subject at length. Its mere statement is sufficient to point the need for investigation. Fortunately, there is much experience to be drawn upon from the police and fire pension funds. If municipal administration is to keep pace in the modern movement for proper treatment of employes, the matter of retiring incapacitated men or otherwise providing for them in a fair and equitable manner should be given careful consideration.—Engineering Record.

ORIGIN OF FIRES.

Investigations made by the Wisconsin Legislature into the causes of fires occurring in forty-four cities, with an annual fire loss of $44,000,000, showed that the presence of rubbish caused 4452 fires and that 2663 originated in the careless use of matches. Nearly 17 per cent of all the fires are due to these two causes.

SUGGESTIONS FOR IMPROVING POLICE SYSTEMS.

A. E. Griffiths, former Chief of Police of Seattle, recently returned from a tour of investigation in Eastern cities, where he made a study of methods of organization and operation of police departments. In his report to the Mayor, he related his experiences and stated his recommendations.

He found that there was no standardization of police work; that it was a mooted question whether the chief should be appointed from the department or should be a civilian; that police functions did not rest upon a scientific basis. He suggested that efforts should be made towards standardizing the organization, broadening the work and improving the personnel of police departments; that special courses be given by our educational institutions. High school graduates and college men should be encouraged to enter the police profession. If this were done, in time increased intelligence and efficiency of the police would make them able to do very many of the duties now done by other employes and reduce the number of and total cost of public servants.

Furthermore, police departments of big cities should exchange members. It would pay well if for a time each year one or more members of the department were allowed and enabled to study police methods and social conditions in some other large city. This practice could be followed without favoritism and with little extra cost. The good results would soon be obvious throughout the department.

More and varied municipal duties should be assigned to the police. By so doing the usefulness and self-respect of the members of the department would be greatly increased. There is scarcely any municipal errand, or inspection work not technical, which the police may not readily be trained to do and which the police would not soon very cheerfully do. In different cities, the police take out election supplies, watch the polls and report returns; do much inspection work and serve notices of all kinds; grant licenses and collect fees. In all cities their eyes may be kept open to almost every municipal activity and their investigations and complaints relate to the doings of nearly every municipal department and violations of all ordinances.

NEW STATE FINANCIAL MEASURES.

Two emergency acts, each considered likely of passage, will be presented to the next Legislature to make good the deficiency in the school fund, which will be short $800,000 this year by reason of adoption of the constitutional amendment abolishing the payment of poll tax.

One of these measures will be an act appropriating the desired sum from the collateral inheritance tax fund, which this year by reason of the unexpected settlement of several large estates, is more than $2,000,000 in excess of what it was expected to be.

This action was suggested by State Superintendent of Schools Hyatt at the convention of County Superintendents of Schools, which has just closed at Riverside. The deficit caused by the abolishment of poll tax was given full discussion at the convention, and before adjournment a resolution was unanimously adopted calling on the Legislature to take this action, and each County Superintendent of Schools present pledged himself to present the matter personally to his legislative delegation and ask that they vote for the bill.

The other measure, which it is said will increase the revenues of the State by $3,000,000 annually, was proposed by State Controller Chambers at the State convention last week of the County Assessors. He stated that he had been authoritatively informed by the liquor interests of the State that no objection would be made to the enactment of a bill providing that each saloon of the State pay an annual license of $100, which would provide for the schools what money had been lost by abolishment of poll tax.

STATE VOTE ON BONDING ACTS.

The Secretary of State has issued a statement of the vote cast in the various counties of the State for the several officers and propositions voted on at the November election.

In this connection it is interesting to note the vote cast on the various bonding propositions.

The San Francisco State building act obtained a majority vote in seventeen counties out of fifty-eight. The majorities in these counties were as follows: San Francisco, 57,560; Sacramento, 13,074; Alameda, 10,283; San Mateo, 3205; Marin 2941; Santa Clara, 2136; Kern, 1789; Los Angeles, 1777; Contra Costa, 1655; Placer, 981; Solano, 642; Napa, 257; Yuba, 242; Plumas, 77; Nevada, 40; Del Norte, 15; Inyo, 11.

The heaviest majorities against the act were cast by: San Bernardino, 6490; San Diego, 4514; Orange, 4110; Riverside, 3952; Fresno, 3512; Santa Barbara, 2030. In the northern counties the adverse majorities were small.

The Los Angeles State building act received majorities in only four counties: Los Angeles, 64,152; Sacramento, 10,933; San Francisco, 4290; Orange, 110. The act was defeated by over 65,000 votes.

Sacramento's State building act received a majority in twenty-one counties. San Francisco gave the largest majority, viz.: 30,464. Sacramento gave itself a majority of 19,764; Los Angeles, 8018; Alameda, 1761. The majority in favor of the act was 27,211.

The State Fair Grounds bond act received a majority in sixteen counties. San Francisco gave the largest majority—22,246. Sacramento gave 18,190, and in the remaining counties the majorities were small. Los Angeles gave a majority of nearly 18,000 against the act. The majority against the act in the whole State was 41,043.

The above figures show that San Francisco acted with generosity towards its sister cities of Sacramento and Los Angeles. Sacramento also treated San Francisco very fairly.

The southern part of the State was against all of the above acts except the one in which Los Angeles was interested.

PLANKS IN A PUBLIC UTILITY PLATFORM.

The following is a condensation of a paper of Delos F. Wilcox, the well-known public utility expert, read before the American Mayors' Conference at Philadelphia, November 13 and 14, 1914:

I have sometimes spoken of the relation between a city and its privately owned public utilities as an irrepressible conflict. The expressions "traction war," "gas fight," "telephone controversy," "electric light dispute," etc., are familiar to everyone. In the picturesque language of the newspaper and the street, public service corporations have long been described as public enemies, and the attitude of belligerency toward them has become chronic in many, if not most, American cities.

While this antagonism often assumes exaggerated, unintelligent and even fantastic forms, and while there is a substantial community of interest along many lines between the public and the utility corporations, we must not blink the fact that there is a permanent and fundamental conflict of motives between them. No amount of regulation and no possible development of good will and the spirit of co-operation can change the fact that private corporations operating municipal utilities do so for profit and for as much profit as they can get, while the consumers and the public strive to get as much service as they can at the least possible cost.

The discussion of plans of campaign against high rates, poor service, political interference, financial tyranny and all the rest of the evils which we have set out to smite can only lead to confusion of counsels unless we clearly grasp certain underlying issues involved in the relations between the cities and the public utilities. Without having definite thoughts on these issues, we can not think straight on anything else, and without knowing what any particular speaker's thoughts upon them are, the rest of us can have no measure by which to gage the importance or fathom the meaning of what he says.

The underlying issues are:

(1) What shall be the recognized character of public utility investments?

(2) What shall be the attitude of the city toward public utilities as money earning enterprises?

(3) What attitude shall the cities take toward ultimate municipal ownership?

I shall answer categorically, according to my lights, the questions I have propounded under these three heads:

(1) Character of the Investment.

Public utility investments should be placed upon a non-speculative basis, and their security should approximate that of municipal bonds.

In the establishment of the non-speculative character of these investments, cities should not undertake to make good past losses.

So far as future investments in the standard utilities are concerned, the cities should assume the risks of loss due to unforeseen causes, and should substantially guarantee the integrity of all investments made at the request or with the approval of public authority.

(2) Public Utilities as Money-Earning Enterprises.

In my judgment, public utilities should not be regarded as a legitimate source of profit to be used for the relief of general taxation.

Compensation for franchise grants, and special taxes or license fees imposed upon public service corporations, should not be encouraged, unless the proceeds of such compensation or taxes are to be used in paying for the property.

Every individual public utility should be made to render a clear account of itself, and, as a general rule, should be self-supporting.

Public utility services should be rendered as nearly at cost as practicable, except that the rates should include a sufficient contribution to retire the investment with a definite period of time.

Public utilities should receive credit for all the service rendered by them to the city and its various departments, but only under unusual conditions should the city assume to subsidize a public utility service out of the proceeds of taxation or otherwise.

(3) Ultimate Municipal Ownership.

In my opinion, cities should not assume that public utilities are to remain permanently as private investments under private operation.

On the contrary, they should assume that all the well established utilities will sooner or later be publicly owned, private capital being entirely exluded from the public streets except as it is loaned to the city.

In their franchise grants, and in all contracts affecting rates or granting privileges, the cities should establish the option to take over the utilities either at pleasure or at reasonable fixed intervals.

Wherever possible, the cities should go still further and without more delay definitely set in motion the machinery necessary to compel the gradual withdrawal of private capital from the public streets and the gradual acquisition of the utility plants by the cities as public property.

PERMITS PENDING BEFORE POLICE BOARD.

The following applications for permits will be considered by the Board of Police Commissioners at a meeting to be held December 28, 1914, at 7:30 o'clock p. m.:

THE UNEMPLOYED PROBLEM.

At another meeting of the mayors of bay cities in this city yesterday it was agreed that care for the unemployed should be along the following lines:

Registration of unemployed of each community.

Residents with dependents to have preference and secured employment at a wage sufficient to purchase necessities.

Residents without dependents to be given an opportunity to earn food and lodging.

No wages for transients and little consideration for those who crowd into California during the winter months.

The local committee on the unemployed has appointed as a finance committee to raise funds by subscription and otherwise, Theodore Johnson, Adolph Uhl, Rev. F. W. Clampett, Henry Sinsheimer and Rolla V. Watt.

Mayor Rolph has issued a notice to the heads of all city departments calling attention to the proclamation of Governor Johnson declaring next Saturday to be a legal holiday, so that they may have ample time to notify all city employes that all public offices in the city and county government will be closed Friday, Saturday and Sunday next.

MOTOR BUSSES IN CITIES.

Albert B. Moses in Seattle Municipal News.

The motor bus, as a form of transportation, is forcing itself upon the attention of the public. In European cities, where operated for several years, it has resolved itself to a more definite basis than in American cities. In the former, quite definite information is obtainable regarding the actual operation expenses, but even there figures submitted vary in the cases given. At present, London seems to have been operating at the lowest expense per mile. The largest company in that city, operating 73 routes covering a distance of 671 miles, reported in 1913 a total increase of vehicles of 219 per cent over 1910, and an increase of passenger traffic of 150 per cent in the same period. It is stated in general that one-third of all the traffic in London is conducted by auto bus. This immense increase would seem to demonstrate its success.

In Paris also, it has become a favorite method of transportation. It may be stated in general that conditions are more favorable to the operation of municipal busses in the cities quoted than in this country because of lower wages paid.

It is claimed unfair to compare the auto bus with the street car transportation because the former is run on streets maintained by general taxes while the street railway maintains the street area occupied by its lines. It is demonstrated that the wear and tear on macadamized pavements by motor delivery trucks is serious. On city streets of first-class pavement, stone block, wood block, asphalt or brick, it is no more injurious than other traffic, and probably less than heavy steel-tired, horse-drawn trucks.

It is said in an official report that there is comparatively little noise with this form of transportation though the traffic be very heavy. This is minimized largely by the contact of rubber tires with the pavement.

The noise of dense traffic, and especially heavy street cars in large cities, has materially affected properties such as hotels and office buildings. While this traffic brings trade to these localities it causes disturbances to rest as well as hindrance to transaction of business. This has become a municipal problem, especially in Europe. This new form of transportation suggests a possible remedy.

Corporations with street railway franchises have become much more considerate of the public comfort, as could be illustrated in several cities since threatened by this invasion of a new form of transportation.

In certain cities the auto bus is geared so as not to exceed the speed limit, usually about 12 miles per hour. It is generally accepted that this form of transportation exceeds somewhat in speed the street car. In London, from 9:00 a. m. to 7:30 p. m., including stops for 77 routes, the average speed per hour is 8.1 miles. The New York motor bus somewhat exceeds the street car speed from point to point, probably caused from larger number of stops of street cars due to greater passenger capacity. The motor bus travel is faster in Paris than in London, due to less congestion of traffic in the former.

The life of the motor bus should be from 10 to 12 years. Usually it is from 5 to 7 years because of replacement by improved types. Such a vehicle may be in use 90 per cent of the time. It is necessary, however, to have the wearing parts interchangeable and easily replaced. A thorough overhauling is given once a year when the license is renewed and most of the parts are changed. It is claimed that accidents increase with this form of transportation, but that they can be materially reduced by efficient handling, proper designing of car and by placing all systems under one control, having uniform rules.

The first cost of auto transportation is small as compared with street railway systems, where $30,000 to $60,000 per mile is expended in permanent improvements. This saving amounts to 65 per cent to 80 per cent.

It is generally recommended that regulation of this traffic be kept under one control. If the field be left open without restriction, many will enter the service and be compelled to withdraw in favor of stronger companies. This would result in monopoly. It is necessary to have avenues given to traffic with rules and regulations all emanating from one source, to obtain the highest efficiency.

Regarding the cost of operation, it is difficult to reach a definite conclusion. In London, figures vary up to 17 cents per mile, including interest and depreciation. In Paris it is given as 21.65 cents. In this country it is 23 cents as nearly as can be obtained. Motor truck makers estimate $10 to $16 per day for running expenses. A Chicago line furnishes motor busses on a $20 per day guarantee. This, in addition to all expenses, includes a profit. So profitable and serious a competitor to all other forms of transportation has this become, that the stock in one of the large auto bus companies of London was bought by electric railway holdings and £100 shares that had stood at £18 in December, 1909, had risen to £400 in June, 1913.

The cost of motor busses in London is quoted as $3500 to $4000 and in numbers are obtainable at $2500. A fleet of 20 costs $50,000. In this country prices are quoted from $4000 to $6000.

This form of transportation is very rapidly increasing in popularity in this country. New York, Pittsburg, Chicago, Detroit, Los Angeles and many other cities, including Seattle, are using the motor bus. A legal phase now being tried is the forcing of transfers between street car systems and auto bus systems.

A brief review of the points for and against auto transportation is here given.

Some of the advantages are:

1. Each vehicle is an independent unit and a break down of one does not derange the entire system.
2. Its movements are adapted to street traffic according to conditions imposed: The routes of the busses may be changed without expense either permanently or temporarily as in case of improvements, fire, etc.
3. It leaves the entire street for traffic, thus two vehicles traveling side by side may clear the crossing.
4. Passengers enter from the curbing, avoiding traffic.
5. Point to point speed somewhat greater.
6. A decided lessening of noise of traffic.

Some of the disadvantages are:

1. The limited capacity and rush hour traffic necessitating more vehicles and laibility of accident. This may be partially offset or overcome by rigid municipal control.
2. More vibration in riding than in street cars, hence less comfort.

The information obtained advises strict municipal regulation of routes, type and size of motor bus and rules for their operation. The successful operation and mechanical dependence to be placed on the motor bus and its heavier type, the motor truck, is well illustrated by the attitude of European nations in their military preparations. England, Germany and France have aided the purchase of trucks by subsidy. Such trucks must be able to transport and haul sixteen tons and negotiate a fourteen per cent grade and travel on level roads at ten to fourteen miles per hour. The governments allow a purchaser annual installments and maintenance charges. It is said that Europe's preparations for war have brought about greater efficiency in the building of motor trucks. Official trials required a run of at least fifteen hundred miles over very difficult roads.

The motor bus has passed the experimental stage. Its efficiency and mobility will make it one of the most popular forms of urban and interurban transportation in the near future. Its permanence is assured.

PROCEEDINGS OF POLICE COMMISSION.

At a meeting of the Board of Police Commissioners held on December 21, 1914, Police Officer John J. Quigley pleaded guilty to the charge of "intoxication while on duty," preferred against him by Captain John Mooney, and was fined $25.00.

Frederick C. Dittmas was removed as special police officer, and George Sieberst was appointed.

Miss May C. Mulvey, rank No. 29, was appointed a temporary telephone operator in this department on December 18, 1914, and ended her employment as such on December 21, 1914.

CAR SERVICE BEGINS ON STOCKTON STREET TUESDAY.

The official inauguration of regular street car service on the Stockton Street Municipal line will be celebrated Tuesday, December 29, under the auspices of the Down Town Association, which will have as its guests Mayor Rolph, the Board of Supervisors and city officials and the officers of the North Beach Promotion Association, the Chinese Six Companies and the Stockton Street Tunnel Association.

Arrangements are in the hands of a committee composed of Byron Mauzy (chairman), James Sorensen and A. R. Fennimore.

The official party will assemble at the mouth of the tunnel, where brief speeches will be made commemorative of the importance of the new street car service as a link between the downtown retail district, the new Chinatown and the business and residence section stretching away to North Beach.

Luncheon will be served aboard the cars en route to Fort Mason, where Major-General Arthur Murray will meet the party with United States troops and a military band.

In the lead and behind the procession of special cars will be cars occupied respectively by the Municipal Band and the Chinese Six Companies' Band.

Thomas A. Cashin, Superintendent of Municipal Railways, has arranged to sidetrack the special cars at the military reservation so as not to interfere with the operation of the regular service which will be inaugurated as soon as the line is declared officially open. Every one from the Mayor down will have to have a 5-cent fare ready to secure admittance to the cars.

MUNICIPAL RECORD

1c. Paid
San Francisco Cal.
Permit No. 145

Vol. VII—No. 53. SAN FRANCISCO, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 31, 1914.

San Francisco's First Tunnel Successfully Completed and in Use

The Stockton Street tunnel has been completed, accepted, and was dedicated to the use of the public by appropriate ceremonies last Monday night. The cars of the Municipal Railway commenced operating through the tunnel on Tuesday.

The project for a tunnel in Stockton street from Bush to Sacramento streets was first broached shortly after the fire, and a franchise was granted in 1907 to a private corporation to construct a street railway through the hill from Market street to the North Beach waterfront. The project proved too great for private financing, and the franchise was abandoned in favor of a municipal undertaking.

A large amount of preliminary work had to be done before a start could be made. The charter was amended in 1910 so that the city could have legal authority to undertake the project, and following the adoption of the amendment an ordinance had to be prepared so that the procedure would be adequate for its successful financing. The method called for an assessment of the entire cost upon an assessment district which would be benefited by the proposed construction. There were no precedents for such work in the State, and an original scheme had to be worked out in its minutest detail. The "Tunnel Procedure Ordinance" was framed and adopted in September, 1911, and the engineering department immediately took up the practical part of the work.

The report of the engineer, showing the assessment district, the plans and specifications, and the amount of individual assessments, was filed April 19, 1912. The estimated cost, including possible damages and incidentals, was $631,879. This amount was assessed against 1,443 parcels of lands extending from the south side of Market street to the bay shore on the north. A year was spent in public hearings and in making minor corrections in the details. An action at law, involving the legality of the proceedings, was commenced and resulted in establishing the validity of all that had thus far been done. Damage claims had been settled amounting to nearly $200,000, and bids for construction were received in April, 1913. Actual construction commenced in the month following.

It opens a direct line for street car and vehicular traffic between the downtown district and the Panama-Pacific Exposition grounds, and will greatly aid the rapid development of the North Beach territory.

bottle on the tunnel was performed by Eva Lastreto, a seven-year-old miss residing in the neighborhood. She repeated a neat speech with faultless voice, which was as follows:

> By the completion of this, the Stockton Street tunnel, the first of our city's tunnels, may not only the northerly part of San Francisco become more closely linked to the rest of our beloved city, but also may all the other tunnels of our city find in closer ties all our city's peoples, making us all united in heart and in happiness.
>
> To the utility and convenience of our people, and to herald it to the credit of those loyal citizens and officials whose efforts built it, we now dedicate this tunnel.

After the ceremonies there was dance music and a parade through the tunnel, and at its conclusion the City Engineer formally declared the enterprise completed.

The inauguration of service on the Stockton Street line of the Municipal Railways was similar to that attending the opening of the other lines. There was a large crowd present, and the Mayor formally announced the opening of the new road and presented the same to the people of the city.

There was a procession of eight cars filled with city officers and representatives of various civic organizations. The run to the Fort Mason terminus was made without incident, and more speechmaking was there indulged in.

With the road formally opened a four-minute headway will be maintained, to be increased as the business of the road demands. For the present about twelve cars will be in operation. Until 6 o'clock at night the terminal will be at the government transport docks within Fort Mason grounds. After that hour, until 7 o'clock the next morning, cars will be run only as far as Van Ness avenue.

OPINION OF CITY ATTORNEY ON PUBLIC UTILITY RATES.

The City Attorney has rendered the following opinion to the Supervisors in relation to the effect of the recently adopted constitutional amendment in relation to fixing public utility rates:

December 24, 1914.

Gentlemen: I am in receipt of your request for an opinion as to the present powers of the Board of Supervisors in the matter of fixing rates in the City and County of San Francisco for water, gas, electricity, heat, and telephones for the year 1915, and whether or not your Board should follow its former and regular procedure in such matters until the Legislature shall have made operative the constitutional amendment recently adopted by the people of the State, by which section 23 of article XII of the constitution of the State was amended. The amendment authorizes the Legislature to vest power in the State Railroad Commission to fix rates to be charged by the public utility corporations of this State.

Opinion.

Prior to the recent amendment above referred to, article XII, section 23, of the constitution declared certain utilities to be public utilities,

> Subject to such control and regulation by the Railroad Commission as may be provided by the Legislature. . . . The Railroad Commission shall have and exercise such power and jurisdiction to supervise and regulate public utilities, in the State of California, and to fix the rates to be charged for commodities furnished, or services rendered by public utilities as shall be conferred upon it by the Legislature. . . . From and after the passage by the Legislature of laws conferring powers upon the Railroad Commission respecting public utilities, all powers respecting such public utilities vested in Boards of Supervisors or municipal councils, or the governing bodies of the several counties, cities and counties, cities and towns in this State, or in any commission created by law and existing at the time of the passage of such laws, shall cease so far as such powers shall conflict with the powers so conferred upon the Railroad Commission.

There was, however, included the following proviso in this section of the constitution:

> Provided, however, that this section shall not affect such powers of control over any public utility vested in any city and county or incorporated city or town as, at an election, to be held pursuant to laws to be passed hereafter by the Legislature, a majority of the qualified electors voting thereon of such city and county or incorporated city or town, shall vote to retain, and until such election such powers shall continue unimpaired.

This amendment was adopted by the people of the State on October 10, 1911. At the special session of the Legislature of 1911 there was passed the act known as the "Public Utilities Act," which was approved December 23, 1911 (Extra Session 1911, page 18). This Act was adopted to make effective the constitutional authorization thus given to the Legislature to vest such powers in the Railroad Commission. The constitutional amendment was not self-executing. The Legislature recognized the inhibition against vesting control in the Commission with reference to utilities over which control had already been given to any city and county or incorporated city or town, unless an election was held in accordance with laws to be thereafter passed by the Legislature, at which election the people of any such city and county or incorporated city or town might determine either to retain such powers or to transfer them to the Railroad Commission. This recognition is seen in section 82 of the Public Utilities Act, which repeats the exact language of the above proviso of the constitutional amendment with reference to this local self-control. This section has never been amended or repealed by the Legislature.

At a later date in the same extra session of the Legislature, there was approved, on January 2, 1912 (Extra Session 1911, page 168), an Act prescribing the procedure by which the proposition of giving up such local control might be submitted to the voters of any such city and county or incorporated city or town. This Act, after prescribing the procedure by which either the local legislative body, or the voters by petition, might cause such a question to be submitted at an election, provided for the submission at any such election, of ten definite propositions, to-wit, whether the municipal corporation should retain its control over

1. Railroad corporations;
2. Street railroad corporations;
3. Common carriers, other than railroad and street railroad corporations;
4. Gas corporations;
5. Electrical corporations;
6. Telephone corporations;
7. Telegraph corporations;
8. Water corporations;
9. Wharfingers;
10. Warehousemen.

The Act then provides that with reference to such of the above ten public utilities as the people should determine to retain control, that control would be so retained, while in the case of any of these utilities where a majority of the electors determine to relinquish control, that upon a proper certification of the vote being made to the Railroad Commission the Commission would be empowered to act.

There was never submitted to the people of this city and county any proposition to relinquish the authority of the municipality, as so authorized by the State constitution and Acts of the Legislature. Clearly then, up to the time of the recent amendment to section 23 of article XII of the constitution all control continued in the Board of Supervisors of this city and county. The only question then is whether the recent amendment to section 23 of article XII of the constitution has changed the situation, and I am clearly of the opinion that until the State Legislature makes effective this constitutional amendment no rate-making powers are vested in the State Railroad Commission so far as San Francisco is concerned.

The amendment continues the language above quoted, including the statement that these public utilities are "subject to such control and regulation by the Railroad Commission as may be provided by the Legislature." And also the language to the effect that the Railroad Commission shall have and exercise such power and jurisdiction to supervise and regulate public utilities and to fix the rates to be charged for commodities furnished or services rendered by public utilities "as shall be conferred upon it by the Legislature." Also, there is repeated the language that "from and after the passage by the Legislature of laws conferring powers upon the Railroad Commission respecting public utilities, all powers respecting such public utilities vested in boards of supervisors," etc., shall cease to be exercised by the local legislative bodies.

With reference to the above-described proviso which secures local control on this subject by cities and counties and incorporated cities and towns until the same is voluntarily relinquished, the amendment consists in depriving such local communities of the opportunity to so vote upon this question except with reference to local police regulations and powers. This police power is continued until voluntarily relinquished by vote of the people. The proviso now reads as follows:

> Provided, however, that this section shall not affect such powers of control over public utilities as relate to the making and enforcement of local, police, sanitary and other regulations, other than the fixing of rates, vested in any city and county or incorporated city or town as, at an election to be held pursuant to law, a majority of the qualified electors of such city and county or incorporated city or town, voting thereon shall vote to retain, and until such election such powers shall continue unimpaired. But if the vote so taken shall not favor the continuation of such powers they shall thereafter vest in the Railroad Commission as provided by law.

The above portion of the amendment is the only portion in point for the purposes of this opinion. It will be seen that the only change is to strip cities and counties and incorporated cities and towns of their power of election heretofore given by the constitution and to authorize the Legislature, so far as the fixing of rates is concerned, to pass such legislation as they may desire without first calling upon the voters of the local communities for an expression of their views on the subject. There remains, however, the old language which clearly states that any such regulation by the Railroad Commission must be authorized expressly by the Legislature. There also remains section 19 of article XI of the constitution, which authorizes municipal corporations "to regulate the charges" of persons or corporations which supply the inhabitants of such municipalities with "light, water, power, heat, transportation, telephone service or other means of communication." Inasmuch as the Legislature has not yet given any authorization under the amended section of section 23 of article XII, and since the people of our city and county have never consented to the relinquishment of such control under the old law, you are advised that your Board should follow its former and regular procedure in the matters referred to in your communication until the Legislature shall have made operative the constitutional amendment.

Respectfully,

PERCY V. LONG, City Attorney.

DEDICATION OF THE NEW AUDITORIUM.

The City of San Francisco and the Panama-Pacific International Exposition will jointly celebrate the completion of the beautiful new auditorium building with a great masque ball on January 9th and at the same time will officially open the year which above all others will bring the whole Pacific coast to the attention of the world.

The history of the auditorium is one of keen interest to all of us alike for the building will stand always as a monument to the civic spirit and farsightedness of the officials of the city and of the exposition.

Ground was broken on July 1st, 1913, and from that time on there has been no let up in the spirit which has pushed the work through to completion in record time.

On April 23d, 1914, the cornerstone was laid with impressive ceremonies in the presence of a great multitude of enthusiastic citizens. Mr. Charles C. Moore, president of the Exposition, and Mayor James Rolph, Jr., jointly laid the cornerstone in which had been placed various records and mementos of the occasion. Mr. James McNab acted as the chairman of the day. President Moore, Mayor Rolph, Chairman McNab and Mr. R. J. Taussig made addresses and Miss Mary Elizabeth Payne sang.

The building is impressive both from within and from without with the wide arched corridors with many exits and many entrances into the huge auditorium room and the smaller committee rooms which are capable of seating fifteen hundred to two thousand people at one time. The big room has seating capacity for eleven thousand persons, there being sixty-five hundred seats on the floor and forty-five hundred seats in the gallery.

Messrs. John Galen Howard, Frederick W. Meyers and John Reid were the architects designated by the city to design the building and see to the carrying out of the specifications. The general contract was awarded to the Lindgren Company.

The building covers 265 feet by 400 feet between Larkin, Grove, Hayes and Polk streets, and is the first unit of the civic center planned buildings to be completed.

The main hall in which the dance of January 9th will be held is the largest dance floor in America, being one hundred and ninety feet square and one hundred and twenty feet in height. The lighting is all done by the semi-indirect system in order that there shall be no glare or shadows and an abundance of light is assured when it is considered that the lights in this room alone represent thirty thousand candle power. Perfect ventilation is secured by nineteen motor driven fans having a capacity of one hundred and forty-five thousand cubic feet of air per minute. This makes it an easy matter to change the air completely in ten minutes.

Aside from the two banquet halls which are sixty by one hundred and thirty feet in area which flank the huge main hall on the ground floor there are numerous smaller committee and meeting rooms on the three floors above.

The building is without any question the finest of its kind in the world. Into its construction have gone brains and materials, the very best in each case that could be secured. The exterior is of granite with genuine Tarernelle Fleuri marble trimming. The interior corridors are granite walls with arched granite roofs and cement tile floors edged with Victoria Pink Tennessee marble. The floors are of hard maple wood, there being over fifty-five thousand square feet on the main floor. The total cost of the building was over one million two hundred and fifty thousand dollars and the property upon which it stands brings the total cost to about two million dollars.

The festivities which will open the beautiful new building have been planned with the view of bringing home to the people of San Francisco the opportunities which lie before them during the Exposition year.

This is to be the first great celebration and dedication in connection with the Exposition during 1915. The building is to be used by the Exposition and under their management during the year and then will be turned over to the city to be used for all time to come as a great meeting place.

Already the numerous civic bodies of the city have made extensive plans for the celebration and without a single voice of dissent they are doing all that they can to make the affair the greatest one in the history of California.

It has been planned to make the masque ball the most important part of the celebration program in order that all who attend may have the chance to enjoy to the full all that is provided rather than to have the dedication ceremonies of a more formal and restricted nature.

Plans have already been made in view of the urgent demand for reservations to take care of more than thirty thousand people. Not only are the people of San Francisco taking a keen interest in the ball, but many visitors from the southern part of the State and from the north will be in attendance.

SEATTLE MAY ACQUIRE MORE STREET RAILWAYS.

Seattle.—The City Council, in committee of the whole, voted to submit to the voters at the March election the question of purchasing the Seattle, Renton and Southern street car system for $1,500,000, as a part of the municipal railroad system. Final action will be taken shortly.

TRAFFIC INDEX PROVES SUCCESSFUL.

The regulation of street traffic has been greatly aided in a number of American cities by the use of marked zones upon the pavements. One detail alone has obstructed the wider and more satisfactory use of the system. Paving brick offers the solution to this perplexing detail.

In both Detroit and Dayton this method of regulating street traffic has proved very successful.

No satisfactory method for marking zones has yet been developed among the police officials who have experimented with the zone idea. They have searched arduously for a white paint durable enough to stand a reasonable amount of street wear when applied to the surface of a pavement. Constant repainting of the pavements at considerable expense has been an accompaniment of traffic zone experiments wherever tried.

The use of anything so impermanent as paint on the surface of a public highway, of course, manifests the experimental nature of the present traffic zone era. When such means of regulating traffic have become standardized and wholly accepted, permanent markings will be needed.

Brick paving offers the best possible medium for such permanent marking. By laying lines of light brick against a dark brick background, or vice versa, lines can be established which will be visible for half a century if left alone, or can be altered at trifling cost to conform with changes in regulations.

The object of the traffic zone system, so far, has been to keep the different currents of street traffic apart, particularly to indicate spaces within which the right and safety of the pedestrian must be respected. Street crossings are outlined with a 10-foot margin back of which vehicles must remain until signalled to proceed by the traffic officer.

Zones are also marked at points in the street where pedestrians enter and leave cars. The lines here inclose a space perhaps 10 by 30 feet in area parallel to the car tracks. Within this space the passenger can wait for the approaching car with a feeling of security that is impossible when the auto driver is not accustomed, by some visible sign, to steer clear of such spaces.

The problem of auto storage in business centers offers another function for marking. Detroit has set aside a portion of a wide, downtown plaza as a place for the parking of vehicles. Markings keep the machines in a straight line and indicate how much space each vehicle may use.

St. Louis has made attempts on several streets to establish an exclusive, one-way traffic compensated by a return traffic on a parallel street. This leaves one side of the street for parking vehicles, spaces being marked at right angles to the curb.

In the same city there is an attempt to divide auto traffic at street intersections, so that vehicles turning to the right will keep to the curb, while those going forward or to the left will steer near the center line of the street.

The time is probably at hand when travelers at congested crossings will find their way plainly indicated for them by traffic markings. The mosaic effects possible with varying shades of brick offer a method of marking that should be wholly satisfactory.
